NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED IN UP-TO-DATE LAUNDRY WORK.

We run the laundry and take care of all details, but you "boss" it. We do what you tell us to do. It may give you a new sensation to find that you get a domestic finish when you ask for it, and to discover that your collars are actually ironed in the way that the maker intended them to be ironed.

We are running a laundry with the most improved methods and appliances. We use pure water and good soap. We are using two things that are not commonly used in laundries—care and intelligence. If you have found a laundry that pleases you perfectly, we have nothing to say to you. If you have any reason to be dissatisfied, we would like to give you a practical demonstration of our way of running a laundry.

Tell us where and when to call for your work, when you want it delivered, and let us know any particular thing that you would like to have done with it.

We want you to understand that we are running this laundry for you, and that your wishes are to be regarded in every particular. We will give you just exactly what you want, if we can find out what that is. Perhaps you believe that it is impossible to have your laundry well handled without irritation and annoyance to you. We are sure that you are mistaken. May we have an opportunity of demonstrating it?

In Time for Holidays New Easy Payment Plan 75c a Week---

Glad we hit on this plan when we did. It took resolution, but you "folk" who want to do lots of gift-buying, yet haven't enough cash to match the "want," should have a chance.

So here it is—your 75c each week will now let you choose what you will, when you will, how you will, from this, New Jersey's grandest, most elaborate furniture display! And prices as low—often lower than "Cash Houses!"

Here is one of dozens of departments:

A Superb Fancy Chair Stock--

Nothing to equal it in all Newark—a display reaching from Market to Campbell street—every sort of wood, covering, shape, price, naught but newest styles. Fine gilt cornet and tete-a-tetes, maple, oak, mahogany, cherry, enamel rockers, seats and odd chairs—plain and richly upholstered, all colorings, and materials. Yes, there are fully 200 sorts—and all worth having for the choicest, most sensible gifts. Priced as low as $1.75 to $30.00.

Want a Stove or Range?

Best save time, energy and dollars, by coming where stoves and ranges are made a special thing—not of second importance. We're generally conceded to be the city's stove as well as furniture centre.

We can't help adding a word on "Portland Ranges"—the pen always slants that way! It's the one worthy range now on sale—9,000 bought!

evidently, and the business should be done by all means. Buildings require paint. Of course, a house may be left unpainted and left to become weatherbeaten and a wreck. That doesn't pay, though; it's much cheaper to paint, and our paints in all colors are the best in the market for durability under the most trying conditions. They are well adapted to our exposure and we sell everything in the line of paints and painters' supplies at short prices.

People We Know.

They are Plainfield People and What They Say is of Local Interest.

When an accident like the following occurs, right here at home, it is bound to carry weight with our readers. When so many strange occurances go the rounds of press; are published as facts; when the intelligent reader knows they cannot be true, there is no wonder that people become skeptical. On one subject skepticism is rapidly disappearing. This is due to the actual personal experience of our citizens and their public utterances regarding them. The doubter must doubt no more in the face of such evidence as this. The public statement of a reputable citizen living right here at home, one whom you can see every day, leaves no ground for the skeptic to stand on.

Mrs. Wm. H. Ludlow, of 88 Jackson Ave., says: "I was troubled with symptoms of kidney complaint, such as backache and a sort of dull pain across loins for several years. If I sat for any length of time and attempted to rise I had a sharp pain in the kidneys. Walking any distance or much standing aggravated the difficulty. I could not rest well at night from the fact that I had to be contantly changing about from one position to another trying to free myself from pain. I used quite a number of remedies but got no permanent relief. I was prevailed upon to get Doan's Kidney Pills from L. W. Randolph's drug store. In justice to them I must say they did me a great deal of good. It is seldom that I feel any pain in my back and when I do a few doses of this remedy never fails to relieve me. I know others who have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results. From my experience I can honestly recommend to all who suffer from Kidney Troubles."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

SAY GOMEZ IS BEATEN

Spanish Claim a Victory Over the Insurgents in Cuba.

REPORT ABOUT SANGUILLY

Claimed that the Rebel Chief Has Offered His Services to Blanco. Pando's Peace Commissioners Probably Hanged.

Havana, Cuba, Dec. 14.—It is officially announced that the Spanish forces under Gen. Pando, in Puerto Principe, have been pushing the insurgent Gen. Maximo Gomez so closely that he was obliged, with about two hundred men of his escort, to seek refuge in the woods and mountains of Las Delicias.

It is announced semi-officially that Gen. Sanguilly, the insurgent leader, has written to Marshal Blanco, offering his services unconditionally.

Not a single commissioner sent by Gen. Pando to different parts of the island to negotiate with the insurgents for the acceptance of autonomy has returned, which seems to confirm the reports that some of them have been hanged by the insurgents and that others have elected to remain with the enemy.

It is reported, for instance, that Juan Delgado, the insurgent leader, has hanged the two commissioners who were sent to him with peace propositions.

A dispatch from Madrid says that the Autonomist Cabinet for Cuba will not be formed until the Reformists and Autonomists unite. Reformist Deputy Amblard, who is now in Madrid, will, on his arrival in New York, offer Manuel Rafael Angulo, a member of the Cuban Revolutionary Junta, a portfolio in the new Autonomist Cabinet in order to induce him to return to Cuba.

Want a Protectorate.

Some of the richest Spaniards of Cuba have held meetings here, at Cienfuegos and at Sagua, to consider the advisability of petitioning President McKinley for the establishment of a United States Protectorate, if, within six months, the Government's plans for the pacification of the island give no result.

The Government at Madrid has cabled to Marshal Blanco ordering him to procure by all possible means supplies for the troops and others in need of them, inasmuch as the agitation in Cuba on this subject is contrary to the interests of the present monarchy and in favor of the Carlist agitation in Spain.

Later advices from Madrid seem to show that Deputy Amblard will be intrusted with other offers to the Cuban Junta in New York. He is said to have informed the Spanish Ministers that he counted upon the adherence of Gen. Sanguilly to the new order of things, and if it is true that the latter has offered his services to the Captain-General, the influence of Amblard at Madrid will be greatly increased. He is said to have already received considerable sums of money for expenses, and it is further stated the Reformists and Autonomists here will not definitely complete their union until his return to Havana.

Blanco's Organ in New York.

New York, Dec. 14.—Another step was taken in Gen. Blanco's policy of conciliation to disarm criticism in the United States in the appearance yesterday of a newspaper in this city called Cuba, and printed in English. It is under the editorial direction of Senor Escovar, formerly editor of La Discusion, in Havana, and Dr. Manuel R. Angulo, a well-known Cuban lawyer and a man of letters.

Cuba is devoted to an ingenious attempt to show that the so-called autonomy offered to the island and rejected by the patriots is really what the people desire.

Senor Sagasta Ill.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Late advices from Madrid, of a confidential character, are causing fears in Administration circles that Sagasta's physical weakness and ill health may cause him to break down under the terrific strain which the opposition are placing upon him.

An intimation has been received that should he break down, the crisis, which is deemed inevitable at some future day, would be precipitated, and the Administration would have to act at once or be pushed into hostilities with Spain by a Congress which would decline any longer to stand the outrage of Spanish rule in Cuba.

WEYLER IS INDIGNANT.

Says Spain Will Find Some Way to Avenge American Insult.

Madrid, Dec. 14.—In the course of an interview Gen. Weyler said he could not understand how it was that when the late Cabinet under Senor Canovas intimated to the Government at Washington that it approved the system followed by him in Cuba and that Spain would never consent to intervention on the part of the United States, the Washington Government said nothing, but now the President of the United States has insulted Senor Sagasta's Cabinet and slandered the army of Spain.

Gen. Weyler said he believed that the Spanish Government would be obliged to publish the note sent by Senor Canovas to the Government of the United States, and in one way or another protest against President McKinley's utterances in regard to Spain and Cuba. The Government, he declared, would find means to avenge the insult contained in the message, as well as the threats of intervention.

Gorman Was Disqualified.

Bridgeport, Ct., Dec. 14.—The boxing bout last night between Mysterious Billy Smith, of Boston, and Johnny Gorman, of New York, was stopped in the fifth round by Referee Jimmy Carroll, who disqualified Gorman for wrestling, and declared Smith the winner.

More Gold Is Coming.

San Francisco, Dec. 14.—The steamship Moana, from Australia, due here next Thursday, carries $1,375,000 in gold. This gold is shipped in payment for American grain. The total shipped from there since Aug. 1 is $11,375,000.

If you are ill you need a doctor in whom you have confidence.

If you need a remedy you want one that has been tested for years; not an obscure, untried thing that is urged upon you, or on which you save a few cents—that is no consideration as against health.

FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Seventeenth Annual Convention in Session at Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 14.—The seventeenth annual convention of the Federation of Labor promises to be the most important ever held. Nashville labor organizations have been preparing for the convention for weeks, and have secured a large fund for the entertainment of the delegates. A barbecue will be given to-night. To-morrow night a mass meeting will be held, with a view to interesting all Nashville in organized labor, and speeches will be made by prominent visitors. Thursday night there will be a 'possum supper, and at intervals during the week the visitors will be carried to points of interest around the city.

Among the important questions that will come up will be that of enforcing the demand for an eight-hour day, beginning May 1, next year. Government by injunction also promises to be a fruitful subject of discussion.

The principal other questions for consideration are: Methods for more thorough organization; the immigration question; defining more clearly the attitude of the trade unions in regard to political parties and political action; higher dues; the creation of a defense fund; the appointment of special organizers to assist unions already affiliated in a more thorough organization of their various crafts, act as arbiters in disputes with employers, organize new unions, preach the benefits of thorough organization, and boom the labels of the various unions.

Besides these, there are other subjects, such as the establishing of postal savings banks by the Government of the United States, and the formation of new national unions from the scattered locals.

These are the principal measures, which it is known beforehand will be brought forward. Many others, which have to do with the welfare of the masses will undoubtedly come up for consideration. There is also a question between the machinists' and printers' unions for the control of the linotype tenders.

The election of officers is not being discussed much as yet, but there is apparently very little opposition to the re-election of President Gompers. Among the delegates present are Havelock Wilson, a member of Parliament from London, England, and Edward Harford, also of London, ex-secretary of the Railway Employes' Organization.

The attendance is about as large as the Federation ever had. There were 125 delegates in the hall of the House of Representatives at the State Capitol when the Federation was called to order by President Gompers yesterday. The address of welcome was made by Hon. William A. Amison, ex-president of the International Typographical Union, to which President Gompers responded briefly.

President Gompers read his annual report in the afternoon. In the course of his address Mr. Gompers said that with but two exceptions all the affiliated national unions report a large increase of local unions and in membership. There is an increase of about thirty-four thousand members in the organizations affiliated, and for whom per capita tax is paid, over the number at the end of the last fiscal year.

Referring to the firing upon striking miners at Latimer, Pa., by a Sheriff's posse, Mr. Gompers says:

"An incident connected with the miners' strike requires special mention here. While the body of unarmed and defenseless miners were marching upon the public highways from Hazleton to Latimer, Pa., they were met by the Sheriff of the county with a posse of armed mercenaries, who, without cause or provocation, and in violation of the best constitutional and natural rights of man, turned upon them and in cold blood murdered twenty-two and maimed and crippled as many more of them.

"All reports agree that the men attacked were violating no law, guilty of no wrong, many of them shot to death while fleeing from their malignant pursuers.

"This crime against our laws, this brutality against defenseless men, the wail of widows and orphans, the wounded pride of American citizenship and common humanity cry out not only that justice shall be meted out to these modern hyenas, but that never again shall so great a wrong be inflicted upon any people under the cry that the men killed and wounded are foreigners, but even though this be true, these foreigners were lured here by the cupidity of mercenary corporations.

"It is submitted that though a man be a foreigner, there are some rights, some protection to which he is entitled, which even corporations and their hirelings are bound to respect."

As to boycotts, Mr. Gompers declares that it is manifest that the workers should have the same right which other citizens enjoy—the right which neither constitutions grant nor courts can deny—the right to stand by friends, patronize our sympathizers and co-operators and to withhold patronage from those who are antagonistic to the cause.

UNION COUNTY APPOINTMENTS.

Politicians Say Cross is Slated for Judge and Vail for Prosecutor.

It is said in political circles that the slate has been made for Judge of Union county and Prosecutor of the Pleas to succeed Judge Thomas F. McCormick and Prosecutor Fred C. Marsh, both Democrats.

The knowing ones claim that former Speaker Joseph Cross, who at one time was District Court Judge, has been decided upon as Judge, and that former Senator Benjamin A. Vail, of Rahway, will be the next County Prosecutor. Mr. Vail is at present City Attorney of Rahway, and, if he had his choice, would like to be Judge, but it is said that whether the appointment is made by Governor Griggs or by acting Governor Voorhees, Mr. Cross is certain of getting the plum.

With the filling of the above appointments the Republicans, for the first time since Union county was created in 1857, will be in possession of every county office.

Writ of Attachment Issued.

Justice Nash has issued a writ of attachment in the suit of Mrs. Julia Rogers against George Willey. The writ was placed in the hands of Constable Moffett to be served. City Judge DeMeza is the attorney for the plaintiff. The claim is for an alleged board bill.

Dead to the World.

James Lambert, son of John C. Lambert, who has a large distillery near Dog Corners, was arrested by Patrolman Myers last evening for being drunk. He lay on the sidewalk and was unable to move. This morning he was sentenced by City Judge DeMeza to pay a fine of $2 for his indiscretion.

ABBE RICHER GIVES UP HIS LOVE.

She Goes to a Convent and he to a Monastery to Do Penance.

The pathetic story of Abelard and Heloise, was re-enacted in Ottawa, recently. The modern story relates to the pitiful love of an Ottawa Catholic priest, the Abbe Richer, and Miss Cote, a beautiful young girl of 17. The Abbe braved his church until the last moment, his affection for his lovely bride overcoming all his scruples and fears.

The affair abruptly terminated, however, as a result of a visit of the Rev. Father Mangin to Abbe Richer. Father Mangin was closeted with Abbe Richer for over three hours. What occurred is known only to themselves, but the result of it was that the lovers were sent to a convent, where she will, probably, spend the rest of her life.

The priest is liable to do pennance for two or three years in a monastry.

When the girl was taken away from her lover she cried bitterly and wished to die rather than be buried in a convent. Extraordinary pressure was evidently brought to bear upon the Abbe Richer, for he was firm in his determination to give up his priesthood and live with Miss Cote.—New York Sun.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

A poor man succeeded in gaining admission to the presence of the wealthy Baron Rapineau, to whom he told the harrowing story of his misfortunes and his destitution in such eloquent terms that the baron, moved to pity, and with tears in his eyes and voice broken with sobs, said in faltering accents to his servant: "Jean, turn the poor fellow out. He breaks my heart."—Le Chronique.

Next to having wealthy Americans live in England, the English people would like to have them die in that country. It is said that the heirs of William Louis Winans, of Baltimore, who died recently in England, will have to pay into the British Treasury a probate duty of $961,200.

Among the pastels which Rosa Bonheur has been recently exhibiting in Paris is the picture of bisons on a snowy plain, for which she secured models from Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show when this was in Paris. She visited the exhibition frequently, and the result proves that she made a careful study of Colonel Cody's troop of buffaloes.

The great wall of China was recently measured by Mr. Unthank, an American engineer. His measurement gave the height as 18 feet. Every few hundred yards there is a tower 25 feet high. For 1,300 miles the wall goes over plains and mountains, every foot of the foundation being of solid granite, and the rest of the structure solid masonry.

WILL REVISE RECORDS.

ADVISORY BOARD OF HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION MEET.

The Board Organized With Prof. Meredith as President—Will Make Numerous Recommendations to the Association.

Athletics have been steadily advancing among the boys of the Plainfield High School during the last few years. Not only have the athletes of the school been doing much better work, but they have had the advantage of better opportunities to do good work and distinguish themselves. The changes in the constitution of the Athletic Association of the High School has put the control of athletics on a far more substantial basis than ever before. One of the features of the new constitution is an advisory board to exercise a restraining and guiding influence over all the important acts of the society. Yesterday afternoon the board, which is composed of one faculty member, Prof. A. B. Meredith, and two alumni members, Thomas A. Cuming, '93, and Charles B. Morse, '95, met and organized.

Prof. Meredith was elected president of the board and presided at the meeting. The affairs of the society were discussed and the board was unanimouslp in favor of the proposed entertainment for the benefit of the association this winter, and agreed to do all in their power to assist the association in arranging for it.

After some discussion the board decided to recommend that the association adopt a set of standard records, consisting of those usually included in scholastic games, and that the old records of the association in those events be revised to date. The following events were selected as the best for the standard events of the association: One-hundred-yards dash; two-hundred-and-twenty yards dash; four-hundred and-forty-yards run; one-mile run; two-hundred-and-twenty-yard hurdle race; one-third-mile walk; putting the shot; throwing the hammer; throwing the discus; pole vault; running high jump; running broad jump and standing broad jump.

Two sets of bicycle records were decided upon, one consisting of competition records made from standing start at any regularly sanctioned event, and the other made from flying start at any trial against time, with or without pacemakers. The distances for the records are one third mile, one mile and two miles.

All records in other events besides the cycle contests, may be made either at any regularly sanctioned games or in the presence of three witnesses, one of whom shall be a member of the advisory board or their representative, and duly timed by three competent time-keepers with stop watches, if it be a track event, or duly measured by three competent measurers if it be a field event.

All claims for records are to be made to the board and duly attested by the proper officials and witnesses. These recommendations will be presented to the association at the next meeting, after which the board will probably take charge of the compiling of the revised set of records.

DETECTION OF COUNTERFEITS.

Scientific Methods which Help Women's Unerring Instinct and Touch.

The Governor of the Bank of France has found that his lady clerks are the best detectives of forged bank notes and of debentures with altered numbers. He has now entirely entrusted the work of detection to a feminine corps. He believes the delicate tact of their fingers helps them, and he fancies that many of them really scent a bad note. They feel, in fingering the forged notes, the difference, however slight, between them and the real. He never knew a note that had been laid aside as doubtful, after being thus felt, to be anything but a forged one. The means for bringing to light falsified numbers on debentures are worth being brought under the notice of stockbrokers and bankers. The fair detective first spreads the suspected debenture on a well-lighted table with a number of others, and sets them one by one beside it. The genuine numbers are always written with clerkly regularity. The man or woman who wrote them did so mechanically; but a forger's hand is always influenced by hope or fear. It is not probably his business to do nothing but write figures and fill up forms. It nearly always happens that his state of feeling is betrayed in the more symmetrical figures of his forgery. The next thing to notice is the difference in the color of the ink. It is never of the same shade as that in the original. Should it be darker or lighter, the suspected debeuture is taken to a dark room and placed under a strong reflector.

Differences that did not appear are now seen. The unaltered figures are shiny, because ink is oxidized; the new ones are of a duller black. In some angles of the light one does not see the original figures at all, but the added ones plainly. They are then damped with alchol, to make the paper transparent. The difference of character between what was first written and what was added is thus brought out more distinctly. A magnifying glass is next used. Tremors of the hand, skillful scratchings and alterations of figures are made manifest. On the wrong side of the numbers being lightly brushed with plombagine, the new figures stand out in stronger relief than the old. The final operation is "the wash" of the debenture. It is first washed with a camel's-hair brush dipped in a mixture of one part of castor oil to six parts of alchol, at a heat of 95 degrees. The primitive figures now appear more distinctly than the added ones. The second wash is of soda and water, in the proportion of 2 to 100. The added ink, if at all fresh, disappears, and the original number stands out clearly. If notice has been given of the loss of a bond, with the original number, it will go hard with the person who has presented the "cooked" one, unless he can show that it was thus when his broker conveyed it to him.—London Truth.

RARITAN RAGING AGAIN

SURROUNDING COUNTRY INUNDATED BY OVERFLOW OF WATER.

In the Vicinity of Somerville the River Was Nearly a Mile Wide in Some Places—No Great Amount of Damage Done.

The Raritan valley is again suffering from a sudden rush of water from the hills. The heavy rains of yesterday were very severe in the district drained by the Raritan river, and the little brooks that feed it were swelled far above their usual size. The heavy downfall continued until early this morning and at the same time the water in the Raritan river began to rise.

According to the sayings of the oldest inhabitants, the high water comes twelve hours after the rain. This applies particularly to the portion of the Raritan valley in the vicinity of Bound Brook. Yesterday the water in the Raritan began to rise slowly. This morning found the lowlands that bound the Raritan for many miles covered with water. In the vicinity of Somerville the river was nearly a mile wide in places, the meadows having been flooded. All the tributaries of the Raritan were converted into raging torrents and overflowed their banks where the land was low. The Millstone brook roared along angryly and submerged several of the bridges that cross it.

Somerville was dry enough, but the lowlands by the Raritan not far from the county seat were all overflowed, and farmers found their way to their homes suddenly cut off by the water.

The residents of Bound Brook found the lowlands that border that town on the east and west flooded. Bound brook has gone over its banks and flooded the meadows that surround it. The eastern end of the new road embankment that leads eastward from Main street, on which the trolley tracks are laid, was covered by the waters. The water was up level with the bridge on the new road that spans Bound brook and the adjacent meadows. The principal thoroughfare between Bound Brook and Dunellen was slightly submerged near the Bound Brook end. There were many pools of water all along it and the mud was very deep.

The Raritan was considerably higher than usual but not high enough to endanger property in Bound Brook. The water was slowly rising and is expected to reach its highest this afternoon. While the roads leading to the town may suffer from the flood, no danger is anticipated for Bound Brook itself as it will be necessary for the water to rise many feet before the lower portion of the town will feel any effects of the water.

The streams in Washington Valley were much swollen by the heavy rains of yesterday. The large pond of the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company, near Washingtonville, was completely filled and a thin stream began to flow over the new spillway. Owing to the great width of the spillway, the water was not very deep as it passed over. The dam stood the strain and showed no signs of weakening.

Stony brook, as it flowed through the notch, was greatly swollen by the rains, and overflowed its banks near Peter Pfinger's hotel in the notch and covered the road to the depth of nearly a foot. The water came right up to the steps of Pfinger's hotel but did not invade it. It was at its height, this morning and as the morning advanced it began to recede and soon left the road uncovered. The water is still very high.

Ladies' Night at Park Club.

Last evening was "ladies' night" at the Park Club, but, owing to the storm, there were but very few of the ladies of the club present. Those who attended spent the evening in playing cards, bowling, and playing pool and billiards.

—It was J. E. and not W. E. Townsend who was re-elected to the office of warden of the Royal Arcanum.

FOR VOORHEES IN 1898.

UNION SENATOR'S CHANCE FOR GUBERNATORIAL NOMINATION.

Former Assemblyman Codding, of Westfield, Talks of the Political Situation—Says Voorhees Won't be Turned Down.

Former Assemblyman Chas. N. Codding, of Westfield, is one of the men who is considered to be in close touch with Senator Foster M. Voorhees, and his opinions upon matters affecting the Union county Senator's interests are therefore of value.

Mr. Codding was seen by a reporter of The Daily Press yesterday and conversed freely upon political topics. In answer to a query concerning Senator Voorhees' chances to become acting Governor, he said:

"The election of Voorhees as president of the Senate and his consequent elevation to the office of acting Governor is now practically conceded. The members of the upper house have decided this matter, and their endorsement, backed by that of Gov. Griggs and United States Senator Sewell, settles the matter."

"What do you think of Senator Voorhees' chances to become Governor by the votes of the people next year, Mr. Codding?" the Press representative asked.

"The Senator's chances for the Republican Gubernatorial nomination in 1898 are exceedingly good," was the reply. "In the first place we must not forget that he is a man popular with the people. The Republican party will probably have a hard battle to carry the State next year under the best circumstances that we can hope for, and the leaders will hardly feel inclined to lay themselves open to the charge of having turned down a man who has the popularity with people Voorhees has."

"Another reason why Voorhees will not be turned down in '98," the ex-Assemblyman continued, "is that such action would create dissatisfaction which would injure the chances which the Republicans will have of controlling the Legislature when the time comes for the election of a successor to United States Senator Sewell. That office, of course, is to be the great bone of contention, and it would be the height of folly to allow any unpleasantness to occur in the party which would affect the issue in any way. You may depend upon it that such a thing will not be allowed to occur."

A vision of future Republican harmony must have come to the ex-Assemblyman at this point, for he ceased talking and the well-known pure white smile made its appearance upon his features.

Small Attendance.

Rev. C. E. Herring, Miss Petrie, E. E. Anthony, Ira Travell and Sexton Ross were the only people who attended the Christian Endeavor meeting at the First Presbyterian church last evening. It was expected Rev. W. E. Davis, of Lebanon, Hunterdon county, would be present to deliver an address on "Good Citizenship," but the very heavy storm kept him away. Mr. Travell went to the station to meet him, but he failed to appear. Those at the church enjoyed a social chat, after which the meeting adjourned. Another similar meeting, at which time a speaker will be present, will be held at an early date.

A Religious Topic.

Rev. Dr. W. J. Swaffield, the eloquent pastor of the Summit Avenue Baptist church, of Jersey City, will deliver an address tomorrow evening in the chapel of the Park Avenue Baptist church to which the public are cordially invited. The topic will be "The Holy Ghost, Its Need, Work and Results."

Decision Reserved.

The case of Mrs. Phillips, of North Plainfield, against the Metropolitan Insurance Company, appealed from Justice Mattison's court, was argued before Judge Bartine Friday. Decision was reserved.

SEWELL'S BIG SURPRISE

SAYS THAT VOORHEES IS THE LOGICAL CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

Union County Republicans Promise to Fare Pretty Well in the Distribution of Public Plums—Where Voorhees May Vote

Senator Sewell has sprung a big surprise in a Washington interview, in which he expresses the opinion that Foster M. Voorhees' service for a year as ad interim Governor will make him the "logical candidate" of the Republicans for the full term in the fall of next year. The politicians who have all along understood that the General is not particularly partial to the Union county statesman and that his Gubernatorial preference is Pitney, of Morris, or Gardner, of Atlantic, are wondering what he can mean by this latest manifesto.

The seating of John Kean as his colleague in the United States Senate is presumed to be the big aim the General has in view just now. With Voorhees, of Union, serving as Governor, and Codding, of Union, clerk of the new Assembly, which is likely to be, local objections might handicap the promotion of John Kean, of Union, to the United States Senate. There seem to be in the face of things, therefore, two reasons—one a personal and the other a political one—why Senator Sewell should not be booming Voorhees for next fall's nomination.

It is said among those who are closest to General Sewell that Voorhees goes to the ad interim Governorship on the express understanding that he is not to be a candidate before the next State convention. With such a bargain confronting him, it would not make much difference whether Mr. Voorhees is a "logical" or an "illogical" candidate. Some of Mr. Voorhees' friends say, however, that Voorhees and Kean have buried the hatchet and that Voorhees is to win the Gubernatorial nomination next fall by doing yeoman's service in behalf of Mr. Kean's candidacy for the United States Senate.

It is still an open question at Trenton whether, upon his accession to the acting Governorship, Senator Voorhees should resign his seat in the Senate. The Constitution devolves the duties of the Governorship upon the president of the Senate, and enacts that in case of his removal or resignation, the Gubernatorial prerogatives shall fall to the Speaker of the Assembly. The phraseology of the bill of rights seems to contemplate the continued connection of the president and acting Governor with the Senate.

It is proposed to dodge the issue by having Voorhees, when he shall become acting Governor, abstain from active participation in Senate work without actually resigning his Senatorship, and leave his duties as Senate president in the hands of a president pro tem. It is usual for a presiding officer on leaving his chair to name the member of the body to fill it. But Mr. Voorhees will permit his fellow Senators to make the selection for him.

It is intimated that if a two-thirds vote, which will be impossible without Mr. Voorhees' presence in the Senate, be required on any vital question pending in the Senate, he will be in position to cast it. A two-thirds vote is needed only to suspend the rules or to convict on impeachment proceedings.

Application for a Trolley Franchise.

The township committee of Cranford received a petition signed by President Chandler W. Riker, of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, asking for a franchise to construct and operate a trolley road in the township on South avenue, from the township line of Westfield to that of Linden. The committee decided to call for a meeting of citizens to be held in the opera-house next Monday night to consider the matter, and to defer action on the application until after the citizens' meeting was held.

Another Trolley Road Planned.

It is reported that the Brown Woollen Mill Company of Somerville are contemplating the construction of a trolley road from Somerville to Pluckamin. As planned, it is said that it will run over private property most of the way, but will be next to the public highway. One of the principal ideas in building the road will be to provide a way of transporting the products of the new woollen mill at Pluckamin to Somerville to connect with the Central railroad.

Miss Anna M. Burr President.

The new building of the Young Women's Christian Association, of Harlem, was formally opened Monday evening with interesting exercises. The building, costing $110,000, is situated on West 124th street. The president, Miss Anna M. Burr, has many Plainfield friends. She is the daughter of Stephen H. Burr, who was for a number of years a resident of Plainfield.

"AD" FOUND A RELATIVE

THE LATE MISS LYNCH'S SISTER IS $300 RICHER BY REASON OF IT.

Mrs. Lindsay Believed in the Efficacy of Advertising and She Received Prompt Results—An Odd Tale of the News.

INFORMATION wanted concerning the whereabouts of a Mrs. O'Donnell, (last heard of was living in Newark, N. J.,) sister of Margaret Lynch, late of Plainfield, N. J., who died December 10th, 1897, aged about 40 years. Something of vast importance to Mrs. O'Donnell, if she will call or send address to MRS. LINDSAY, 424 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J.

The story of the death of Miss Margaret Lynch, who was taken ill on West Front street, last Thursday evening, and was taken to the Muhlenberg Hospital by Chief Grant and Sergeant Kiely, had an interesting sequel in this city today.

Miss Lynch had no relatives in this city, but Mrs. Lindsay remembered hearing her speak of a sister named Mrs. O'Donnell who lived in Newark, and she at once began a search to discover this sister. An advertisement was inserted in a Newark daily paper, asking Mrs. O'Donnell to communicate with Mrs. Lindsay.

Miss Lynch had been boarding with Mrs. Lindsay, at 424 West Front street, and after her death in the hospital it was found that she was possessed of considerable property. Mrs. Lindsay was puzzled for a time to decide what disposition to make of the goods, which were of considerable value.

The advertisement was successful beyond the expectations of Mrs. Lindsay, for today Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Donnell called upon Mrs. Lindsay and proved their relationship to Miss Lynch. The O'Donnells live on Centre street, Newark, and happened to read the paper containing Mrs. Lindsay's advertisement.

The estate which is worth about $300 will be settled at once.

GETTING PRACTICE IN LEGAL WORK.

Young Law Students Conduct a Mock Trial in Vigorous Fashion.

The Plainfield Debating Society held a successful mock trial last evening for the edification of its members. The case was that of the State against Wm. Swalm, who was charged with feloniously stealing a light overcoat and derby hat, the property of Edward Baker. Baker was represented in the matter by the youthful would-be attorneys, Harvey Linbarger and Wm. Sweeney. V. W. Nash, Jr., and Charles Dunlap constituted themselves as the legal advisers of the poor prisoner. Lawyer Francis J. Blatz made a grave and dignified Justice, thoroughly posted in all branches of the law, while Wm. Stimpson acted in the capacity of court constable.

To prove their case the prosecution supported the statement of the complainant with the remarks of their witnesses, Harry Rogers and George Neilson, who quailed before the searching cross-questions of Nash. The defence claimed that it was all a mistake, and Harry DeMeza and Rufus LaRue testified to that effect. The sarcasm of the representative for the complainant, Will Sweeney, was without effect, and the Justice pronounced the prisoner not guilty.

SUIT FOR $100 000.

United States Circuit Court Appealed to to Satisfy Mrs. Brewer's Claims.

McNabb & Clark, the Plainfield lawyers, have started suit in the United States Circuit Court for their client, Mrs. Sarah Brewer, of New York, against the Cripple Creek Corporation, of Colorado, for one-twenty-seventh interest in the corporation. The interest amounts to nearly $100,000. Mrs. Brewer's husband was a member of the corporation and died several years ago without making a will. According to the laws of Colorado, the wife becomes the sole heir in the event of there being no will. She has been trying to secure an accounting for the last three years, and has now decided to bring suit. The papers in the case have been filed by her attorneys.

Stole a Bicycle.

A thief visited the little shop in the rear of the residence of G. Q. Dolliver, 17 Manning avenue, between the hours of 7 in the evening and 6 in the morning. In the shop was the Apollo wheel, model 1895, belonging to Chas. M. Dolliver. The wheel has now disappeared and the thief left no trace behind. The shop was unlocked and the thief had merely to lift the latch and enter. A distinguishing feature of the wheel was the yellow enameled forks, the remainder of the wheel being enameled black.

—A meeting of the Plainfield Camera Club was held Monday evening. Three names were added to the membership of the club. The committee in charge of the recent exhibition made a partial report of the exhibition and reported that it was a financial success.

IN HONOR OF SON'S WIFE

CHARMING SOCIAL AFFAIR GIVEN BY MRS. DAVID MOORE.

The Interior of the House Magnificently Decorated for the Occasion—Those Who Assisted in Entertaining the Guests.

The beautiful home of Mrs. David Moore was opened to her friends yesterday afternoon and evening, when she gave an "at home" in honor of her son's wife, Mrs. Walter Jefferson Moore. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Moore were married a short time ago and are now residing at the Moore residence on Central avenue.

The interior of the house was magnificently decorated for the occasion. The large rooms were thrown together and the whole house was thrown open to the guests. Palms and potted plants were on every hand and so arranged as to make a charming display. In the large hall the musicians, consisting of a harpist, violinist and pianist, were screened behind a bower of palms and other large plants. The music was delightfully rendered and continued though the afternoon and then for an informal dance later in the evening for the young people who assisted.

Mrs. David Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jefferson Moore, and Miss Morton, of New York, received the guests in the drawing room, which was also handsomely decorated. Mrs. W. J. Moore was attired in a beautiful bridal gown of white satin.

The dining table was artistically decorated in green and white, in which ribbons and white carnations were principally used. The silver candelebra with the white candles and the green shades made a delightful effect. Mrs. James DeGraff and Mrs. T. C. Davis presided at either end of the table. A caterer was in charge of the refreshments which were served by waiters who passed about silently but quickly and saw that the wants of all were attended to promptly.

The guests were escorted from the library to the dining room by Miss Moore, Miss Clara Moore, Miss Annie Stewart, Miss Mabel Wilder, of New York, Miss Grace Day and Miss Edith Gilbert.

Three hundred invitations had been issued but owing to the heavy rainfall that continued all the afternoon and evening, there were about one hundred and fifty who were present.

During the evening there was an informal dance for the young people who remained.

TOOK THE WATCH WITH THEM?

Sevengala Brothers Charged With Not Keeping Their Promise.

If the charges made against the Sevengala Brothers by John Stevenson and his daughter Mabel, of West Second street, are true, these workers of hypnotic wonders are somewhat given to tricks that are queer.

Stevenson charges that the brothers have in their possession the gold watch which was won by Miss Mabel for making the best guess as to the number of pounds which the subject who was thrown into an hypnotic sleep would lose during his twenty-four hours' dose. The young woman guessed six pounds, and the sleeper lost exactly that amount.

When the time came for the watch to be handed to Miss Stevenson, it is charged that the Sevengalas demanded two dollars of her, and when this was refused, handed her the watch, but immediately secured possession of it again, saying that it needed to be repaired. The company left the city shortly afterward, and Miss Stevenson claims that she has not seen the watch since.

Meeting for Children.

There will be a special rally of the children's auxiliary to the Town Improvement Association Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. The children will take part in a fable upon birds. All members are urged to be present and the public is invited. The password will be omitted at this meeting.

MERCHANTS ARE ACTIVE

SIGNS OF A BIG HOLIDAY TRADE, WHICH IS INCREASING DAILY.

A Press Representative Visits the Leading Jewelers and Piano Dealers and Finds Much to Attract the Buyers.

In no line of trade is there more activity in anticipation of the holiday business than is apparent among the jewelers of this city.

The establishment of J. H. Doane on Park avenue is one of the places where artistic jewelry is attracting the notice of buyers of holiday goods. Besides the complete stock of watches and chains, stone rings, link buttons, in gold and silver, there is on exhibition a special assortment of silver novelties. The sale of the popular Vive cameras, for which Mr. Doane is the agent in this city, is very large, as they make very acceptable Christmas gifts.

At Collier's jewelry store is shown an assortment of silver novelties which is second to none ever seen in this city. It includes silver-backed brushes and combs, hand-mirrors, silver mugs, manicure sets, fern dishes, with ferns, and other silver specialties. A specialty at this establishment is opal rings, of which an unusually fine stock is shown. All the goods sold here are either solid gold or solid silver. No plated wares are kept in stock.

Musical instruments are an attractive article in the holiday trade this year, and one of the centres of supply in this line is the store of Richard Menzel on West Front street. Here can be found all the standard makes of pianos, organs, mandolins, guitars, banjos and zither-harps. The sale in this last article has been extremely large this season, as it is easy to learn and has all the tone quality of the zither.

Holiday goods can be found at the "Fire-place Store" of Curtis M. Thorpe, 310-312 Park avenue. A suitable and useful present can be found there from his stock of andirons and fire-sets, in brass and iron, bellows, brushes and everything for the fire-place.

The firm of Vanderbeek & Sattels, the Park avenue piano dealers, is making a specialty for the holiday trade of the celebrated Crown pianos and organs. The Crown piano, with the new orchestral attachment is a really wonderful instrument, enabling the player to imitate no less than sixteen different musical instruments.

CADET CORPS ORGANIZE.

Leal's Pupils Will Soon be Ready for Military Drill.

Now that the Leal Cadet Corps has been regularly organized and has been holding several drills, it promises to be a flourishing organization. The officers were elected at a meeting of the corps held Tuesday. Henry Leal was elected first lieutenant, Orville T. Waring second lieutenant and Thomas Thomas as first sergeant. The other officers will be selected later. Captain George F. Edwards will act as commandant of the company and at present there will be no higher cadet officer than first lieutenant.

At the meeting of the company Tuesday the uniform was selected. It was decided to have a dark blue blouse coat with standing collar and "L. C. C." in gold on the collar. The trousers will be a lighter blue with a white stripe down the side. The caps will be dark blue with the spread eagle on them and also the initials "L. C. C." The uniforms will be here next week. They are being made by a Philadelphia firm. The company now number thirty boys and will probably increase in numbers during the winter.

Dissension Among Rathbone Sisters.

There have been slight dissensions in the ranks of Minerva Temple, Rathbone Sisters, and four of the well-known members have withdrawn from the temple. They are Mrs Eva Moore, Mrs. M. Stevens, Mrs. William J. Ford and Mrs. I. Boehm. This action was taken at the last regular meeting of the temple.

ITALY IS AFTER HAYTI

Belief That She Will Start to Bombard Port-au-Prince.

HAS CLAIMS LIKE GERMANY

President Sam May Be Forced Into a War by the Indignant Populace. The New Ministry Is Looked Upon Favorably.

Port au Prince, Dec. 15.—There is now great danger that this port will be bombarded by Italian guns. Trouble of a kind similar to the recent Lueders affair is the cause of the menace.

Italy has long had claims against Hayti, and these, it is alleged, have never been settled. One claim, which has been pending since 1893, was the case of a merchant at Port de Paix, whose vessel and cargo, worth $80,000, were, it is alleged, illegally seized and sold by the Haytian Government. The other case was that of an Italian fisherman, who was assassinated here last October, the man who was accused of committing the crime not having been brought to justice yet.

Italy, it is reported, intends to push the settlement of these claims at once, and rumors have reached here that Italian war ships are being sent here to back up the demands.

The new Ministry is looked upon favorably, and it is thought the proclamation will have a good effect in quieting the people, who have been threatening an uprising ever since the late Ministry surrendered to Germany's demands.

Washington, Dec. 15.—If Italy follows the course pursued by Germany in collecting an indemnity for the murder of an Italian subject and the illegal seizure of an Italian vessel, the belief prevails in Washington that President Sam will be forced by his people to declare war.

Minister Leger says that he has received no information in regard to this latest phase of Hayti's international troubles, but he expects that he will be early advised of the matter in order that he may make suitable representations on the subject to this Government.

Mr. Leger has repeatedly said that the people of Hayti would oppose a tame compliance with Germany's demands, and while the Haytians have no fortifications and a navy hopelessly inferior to that of Italy, members of the Haytian Legation expect their Government will not comply with any peremptory demand which may be made by Italy unless it should be shown that there is justice in the claim presented by the Italian Government. These gentlemen believe their Government is not responsible for either of the matters brought to its attention by Italy.

It is expected by the authorities that in case Italy should determine to push her claims against Hayti, the Haytian Government will ask this Government to use its good offices for the settlement of the incident. Until fully acquainted with the facts the President will probably outline no policy, but should it be shown that the Italian claims are just the Administration will not interfere unless Italy should attempt to make a permanent landing on Haytian soil. This latter eventuality is not considered a possibility by the authorities, and should the Italian claims be just the Administration will probably have nothing to say.

The United States cruiser Marblehead will remain at Port au Prince until Hayti's troubles are over.

MRS. LANGTRY BARRED.

The London Jockey Club Practically Brands Her.

London, Dec. 15.—The report that Mrs. Langtry will be again taken into society is more than offset by a resolution that has been passed by the Jockey Club which is aimed directly at her and at the Prince of Wales. It has created no end of talk.

The resolution says that "for the future ladies other than the wives, daughters and sisters of the members of the club will be admitted to the inclosures and private stands of the club at Newmarket and on other race courses only on presentation of a voucher, signed by a member of the club, together with the payment of £1"

There has been a general impression that Mrs. Langtry has had the freedom of the race track, but this is not true. Until the death of her husband, two months ago, she was kept out of the inclosures and private stands of the Jockey Club.

Senator Hanna Very Ill.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The Times says that Gen. Grosvenor, in a private conversation, stated that Senator Hanna is in an exceedingly bad way and subject to heart failure in a form that demands absolute and imperative rest. He is now taking things as easily as possible, and will subject himself to no more annoyance or exercise than possible. He is naturally restive about the Ohio situation, but expects to be re-elected without trouble. Whether he is or not he will go abroad at the command of his physician, and if elected to succeed himself, Mr. Hanna will have a standing pair for the next year.

Delay for the Treaty.

Washington, Dec. 15.—It is stated today that the Hawaiian treaty will not be taken up until after the holidays. The reason assigned for this further delay is the necessity of having the President here to bring the influence of the Administration to bear in favor of annexation. The anti-annexationists not only contend that the treaty cannot command the necessary two-thirds vote, but they say that every day's delay is making converts to their side.

Spain Tries to Buy Cruiser.

London, Dec. 15.—The Spanish Government, it is again announced, is negotiating with the Armstrongs, this time for a cruiser of 4,000 tons, said to be worth £300,000 ($1,500,000), built for Japan, but which Japan does not want. The vessel is said to be practically ready for sea.

El Reno, Okla., Dec. 15.—The Stock Exchange Bank has failed. The liabilities are $50,000 and the nominal assets $70,000.

SUPPLIES FOR YUKON.

Forty Tons Cross Chilkoot Pass Ice Sleds with Sails.

Port Townsend, Wash., Dec. 15.—The steamer Alki arrived yesterday with forty passengers, nearly all of whom are from Dyea, Skaguay or Sumdum. There was but one man—Hearn—from Dawson City. He and seven others left Dawson two days after Jack Dalton's party, but six of the crowd turned back after ten days' travel up the river, and Hearn and one other man came on to Juneau, via Chilkoot Pass. Hearn came on south, leaving his partner in Juneau.

He has nothing to report from Dawson in addition to news brought out by Dalton's party. He confirms the report that food is very scarce, and that there will be suffering there unless provisions arrive by the middle of February. Hearn is from Colorado. He owns a claim in the rich group on Bonanza Creek, but he has not worked it. He expects to return in the Spring.

Packing over Skaguay trail has been resumed, the pass being reported in good condition. Forty tons of provisions were started over the pass the day the steamer left Skaguay, which was Dec. 8. The coldest weather experienced at Skaguay and Dyea this Winter was 4 degrees below zero.

A. C. Sands, superintendent of the Northwest division of the Sunset Telephone Company, sailed on the Alki from Skaguay and Dyea, whither he went several weeks ago to look over the field with a view of constructing a line over the pass.

"I shall certainly report to my company favorably," said he, "on the plan of constructing a telephone line from Sheep Camp to Lake Bennett, and possibly recommend that a line be established from Skaguay to Lake Bennett over the White Pass. Both are destined to be busy thoroughfares, not only during next season, but for several seasons to come."

Sail Sleds with Supplies.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 15. — Moran Brothers have made the announcement that all details had been completed for the construction of sixteen river steamers for the Yukon Company. Next week the framing of the hulls will be commenced, for which forty acres of tide lands have been leased. Within two weeks 1,200 men will be at work. The steamers will be completed and towed to the mouth of the Yukon by the time the river opens for navigation. The contract price is $1,000,000.

On the City of Seattle, which sailed Monday night for Dyea and Skaguay, Alaska, were 275 passengers, including Dr. William C. Misener, of San Francisco, who will attempt to reach Dawson City this Winter with supplies. He is taking with him a large sled equipped with a sail for the purpose of crossing the ice. The sled will carry about two tons. At Dyea Dr. Misener will be joined by his two brothers, who have already engaged dogs and Indians for the overland trip.

The story that an Indian named Auk had come out from Dawson City, bringing the news that a large number of people were fleeing from Dawson is generally discredited here. G. W. Wood and other arrivals from Juneau say Auk's answers to questions indicate he did not come from Dawson.

Dogs for the Klondike.

New York, Dec. 15.—The steamship British King, which arrived here yesterday from Antwerp, brought a consignment of seventy Eskimo dogs. They are to be shipped to the Yukon, where they will be used in the transportation of supplies by sledges over the mountains to the Klondike. The consignment is the first of the kind that has ever been received in this city. It is understood that the dogs are the property of a San Francisco corporation.

GUARD FOR DURRANT'S PASTOR.

Police Believe that the Life of the Rev. Dr. Gibson Is in Danger.

San Francisco, Dec. 15.—A local paper says the police and the people of Emanuel Baptist Church believe that the life of the Rev. George Gibson, Theodore Durrant's former pastor, is in danger. The police have warned the reverend gentleman to protect himself against the possibility of harm.

The warning has been heeded and Dr. Gibson is protected night and day. One of the members of his congregation has volunteered his services as bodyguard, and the police will detail an officer to attend every public service at Emanuel Church.

Since the murder of Blanche Lamont in the church many attempts have been made to cast suspicion on the pastor, and his refusal to be drawn into the case, even as Durrant's spiritual adviser, has caused some comment.

Chief Lees, who made a most careful study of both murders, says there is not a single clew connecting the clergyman with either the Minnie Williams or the Blanche Lamont murder. This comes with all the more force from Lees, as he started in with a strong prejudice against Mr. Gibson because of his efforts to suppress the facts and exclude reporters from gaining information about the crimes.

Durrant will be resentenced to-day and it is believed Feb. 7 will be fixed as the date of execution.

$60,000 Racer in New York.

New York, Dec. 15.—Hamburg, the racehorse for whom it is said $60,000 was paid a few days ago in Kentucky, arrived in Jersey City over the Pennsylvania Railroad yesterday. He was in a special car and was accompanied by another racer. The car was immediately transferred to a float and shipped to Ulmer Park, near Coney Island, where Hamburg will be kept at Lakeland's stables.

Mr. C. M. Dixon, a well known merchant, of Pleasant Ridge, Fulton Co., Pa., has a little girl who is frequently threatened with croup, but when the first symptoms appear, his wife gives her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which always affords prompt relief. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—A pleasing programme will be rendered at the entertainment in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church tomorrow night by the Church Choral Society.

After hearing some friends continually praising Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Curtis Fleck, of Anaheim, California, purchased a bottle of it for his own use and is now as enthusiastic over its wonderful work as anyone can be. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—A Forefathers Day service will be held in the Congregational church, this evening at 8 o'clock.

Don't be persuaded into buying liniments without reputation or merit—Chamberlain's Pain Balm costs no no more, and its merits have been proven by a test of many years. Such letters as the following, from L. G. Bagley, Hueneme, Cal., are constantly being received: "The best remedy for pain I have ever used is Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and I say so after having used it in my family for several years." It cures rheumatism, lame back, sprains and swellings. For sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—There was only one session in the Plainfield public schools yesterday on account of the storm.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.
At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagah, Ind. Ter. Chief. This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and la grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—This afternoon the Woman's Home Missionary Society of Grace M. E. church are holding a regular meeting.

The Discovery of the Day.
Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discoverey is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits." Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and today stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

—A meeting of the Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will be held Friday afternoon in the parlors of the church from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Robbed the Grave.
A startling incident of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicans had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

SAYS WEEKS DID THE KILLING.

Boinay Declares His Wife Urged Him On to Crime.

Bridgeport, Dec. 15.—Charles A. Boinay, charged with the murder of Marcus Nichols at Daniels Farms, was compelled throughout last week to sit quietly and listen to the swearing away of his life by his alleged accomplice, David Weeks, and, worse than that, by his wife, was yesterday called to the stand in his own defense, and instructed to tell the story of his life.

After telling of his early life, and of how his first crime was committed, he plunged into the story of the murder of Nichols.

Up to the time of the actual committing of the crime Boinay's story agreed with that told by Weeks. He narrated how the robbery was planned, how they watched the house, lying in wait in the barn, their first entrance into the dwelling—all coincided with the story previously told. But the contradictory point was reached when he came to tell about the shooting, of which he accuses Weeks of being guilty.

As told by the prisoner, both men held in their right hands revolvers as they forced open the door.

"We landed in the middle of the floor," said Boinay, "and as we did so, Mr. Nichols exclaimed, 'Get out of here!' We told him to hold up his hands, to which he responded by unexpectedly hitting me over the head with his lantern. This dazed me and I dropped my revolver. Then Weeks fired two shots and Nichols fell to the floor. Miss Nichols ran upstairs one flight and down another, and I followed her. While I was upstairs I heard two more shots fired."

In reply to his attorney, Boinay continued that his wife and mother-in-law were aware that they were going to commit the robbery, and when they returned Mrs. Boinay said: "While you and Dave were away I went over to Sister Curtis' house and stole some chickens, and so you are not the only persons who know how to poach."

He also told how he divided the money with his wife, giving her $62. He likewise told of their departure from the scene of the crime, and how the Wednesday following, while at Garrisons, N. Y., with Dave Weeks and his brother, Will Boinay, he first learned of John Weeks' arrest on suspicion. How he remarked to his brother that John was innocent and that Dave responded, "Yes, I shot him myself."

EIGHT HOURS A DAY'S WORK.

Federation Army of 600,000 Will Begin a Crusade.

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 15.—The real work of the seventeenth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor began yesterday when the committees appointed to consider the various suggestions made by President Gompers in his annual report began to file their reports.

The eight-hour day question is far and away the chief topic discussed by the delegates. They represent an enrolled army of 600,000 wage earners, and the sentiment seems practically unanimous that agitation in favor of the general adoption of the eight-hour day shall be at once begun and pushed vigorously in every labor organization in the land. The feeling, however, is that May 1, 1898, is too soon to adopt it.

The only man mentioned so far as a possible candidate against President Gompers is Harry Lloyd, of Boston, and even his candidacy has not proved very strong, Gompers' friends claim. There are a few delegates opposed to Gompers, but he seems to have a majority of friends.

Every indication is that Kansas City has a cinch on the next place of meeting.

Secretary Morrison's report made a remarkable showing as to strikes—that 165,407 people were benefited, while only 940 received no substantial advantage.

It was recommended that the per capita tax be increased from 1 cent to 5 cents per month.

One of the latest arrivals is Isaac Cowen, representing the striking engineers of Great Britain, who is seeking financial and moral support in the fight for the eight-hour day.

Applications for membership in the Federation have been received from more than five hundred unions throughout the country. Organizers are actively at work in every section, and it is expected that next year will be even more successful than the last, when 34,280 new members were admitted in 217 separate organizations.

Washington Memorial Building.

Washington, Dec. 15.—A meeting of fifty prominent women interested in the projected University of the United States was held at the Raleigh Hotel yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Ellen A. Richardson, of Boston, chairman of the Executive Committee of the George Washington Memorial, presided. Several committees were appointed to further the plans of the organization for raising money to build the Washington Memorial Building, which, it is hoped, will form the nucleus of the National University.

Alexander McDonald Dead.

Lynchburg, Va., Dec. 15.—Alexander McDonald, ex-Minister to Persia, died here yesterday afternoon. He was born in Lynchburg about seventy years ago. In 1891 he was elected to represent the Lynchburg District in the Virginia Senate, and was a member of that body when appointed Minister to Persia.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Two lives were lost and $70,000 worth of property destroyed in a fire at Duryea, near Scranton, Monday night.

Herr Richter said in the Reichstag at Berlin that if England adopted the same course as America in the Dingley tariff, sugar bounties would soon be abolished.

Gen. Miles has issued an order to the army providing instructions for the artillery in the use and preservation of the batteries at the new military posts along the seaboard.

FIVE NEGROES LYNCHED

Louisiana Mob Holds an All Night Carnival and Hang Three.

FORM OF TRIAL ACCORDED

Victims Strung Up One by One as Fast as Sentenced—Three Others Whipped and Ordered to Leave the Country—Two Shot to Death.

New Orleans, Dec. 15.—Iberville parish has seen many lynchings, but none more sensational than that which occurred yesterday morning near the little town of St. Gabriel. Three negroes were hanged by a mob and three others were brutally whipped and ordered to leave the country.

George Bubur kept a store on the Brown plantation at St. Gabriel, and was murdered on the night of Nov. 27. The murderers robbed the store and got away with a considerable amount of money. A few days afterwards six negroes accused of the murder were arrested at Plaquemine, the seat of justice of Iberville, and confined in the jail there. The murder had been most brutal, and there was much talk of lynching the prisoners.

Thomas Jones and James Lovigne, the latter a cripple, were among those arrested. They were brought to this city for safe keeping. They were removed to Bayou Goula, three miles from the scene of the murder, last week, and once more the people of the country parish declared their intention to lynch them.

To prevent this, the negroes, with the others charged with the Bubur murder, were placed aboard the train and started for New Orleans Monday afternoon, it being the intention to keep them here until time for the trial. When the train was three miles from St. Gabriel an armed mob stopped the train at the point of weapons, took the negroes from the law officers and took them to the woods.

Judge Lynch's Court sat in the woods deliberating by the light of pine torches. A form of trial, hasty and one-sided, was given to the terrified prisoners. Each was tried separately, and a verdict of guilty was quickly reached.

Thomas Jones was the first victim. He was strung up in the presence of the other prisoners, giving them a good idea of what their fate was to be. Then Jim Lavigne was hanged to the same tree, and half an hour later another negro whose name is not reported shared the same fate.

The mob's thirst for blood had apparently been quenched, for the other three negroes were sentenced to be whipped and banished from the parish. They were tied to trees and beaten until nearly dead, and then warned never to show their faces in the neighborhood again. They made off through the swamp as fast as their wounds would permit. The mob dispersed at daybreak, leaving three dead negroes hanging to a tree.

Two Shot to Death.

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 15.—Information comes from Kennedy, seventy-two miles west of here, that Lewis and John Bonner, negroes, were taken from Howe Monday night by bands of whitecappers and shot to death.

Lewis Bonner was a United States witness and also a State's witness against whitecappers who murdered another negro three months ago. This is supposed to have been the cause of the murders.

ANOTHER BOND ISSUE?

Comptroller Eckels Gives His Views on President McKinley's Message.

St. Louis, Dec. 15.—James H. Eckels, Comptroller of the Currency, when asked if he agreed with the recommendations as to the currency made by President McKinley in his recent message to Congress, said:

"I think they are good as far as they go. He does not go far enough, in my poinion, when he says certain things ought to be done if possible. Things that ought to be done should be done, and especially when they so vitally touch the country's life. The President admits that the $346,000,000 greenbacks and $12,000,000 Sherman legal tenders should be taken up, and would, I dare say, like to see it done; but it is a conditional problem with him. Those notes are simply a debt, and the only way to get rid of a debt is to pay it."

"How would you pay such a vast sum at one time?"

"I would issue long-term 2½ per cent. gold bonds, and call those tenders in. Then these issues could be made gold certificates."

"Will the Dingley law produce enough revenue to pay current expenses?"

"All tariff laws are problematical. So far the law has not been the success predicted for it, but as times improve the revenues will increase, and it may produce better results."

To Fight American Shoes.

Washington, Dec. 15.—A British corporation has arranged to start a shoe factory at Galashiels, Scotland, capable of turning out 20,000 pairs of shoes weekly. United States Consul Fleming, at Edinburgh, in reporting the fact to the State Department, says this is the beginning of an attempt to compete with American shoemaking, and that a number of these factories are to be established in different parts of the United Kingdom.

The British reports show that more than 45 per cent. of the total imports of shoes into the British colonies are of American manufacture.

Indiana Lynchers Betrayed.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 15.—Gov. Mount has in manuscript the names of the men who, according to Peter Hostutler, made the mob who lynched the five thieves at Versailles. It was Hostutler who, acting as a decoy in the employ of Ripley County, brought about the arrest of the men who were lynched. Having failed to collect from the county $250 in promised reward, he now proposes to bring the lynchers to justice.

To Suppress Dreyfus Stories.

Paris, France, Dec. 15.—The Government, it is announced, contemplates the suppression of the newspapers which are alleged to be systematically inventing Dreyfus stories.

A BOARD OF TRADE.

The editorial in yesterday's Press concerning the really stupendous amount of money that is invested each month by Plainfielders in out-of-town enterprises made many a business man stop and ponder on the benefits that would accrue to him if only a part of the sum was invested in a local industry. The Press suggested an active Board of Trade as a step in the right direction. Here is what the Elizabeth Journal says about a Board of Trade:

The Board of Trade in every city which takes an active interest in the business questions and matters of public policy that affect the community may be of great public benefit and utility. It should cultivate a close connection between the business organizations of the city and the city officials, in order to bring about the greater prosperity and welfare of its inhabitants. Party politics should be kept strictly outside of it; the public interest should be its paramount concern. There are plenty of other influences which bring party politics into city government, but a Board of Trade should be on absolutely neutral ground. There is frequently noticed a tendency in Boards of Trade to conduct their affairs as if they were a perpetual committee of the whole. This seems to be a mistake. A number of small committees constantly at work, each taking cognizance of one particular department of city affairs, should bring up its monthly report at the usual meeting in exactly the same way as is done in the City Council and at the Board of Education. This makes the work of the whole board much more expeditious, effective and telling than a whole lot of miscellaneous talk which, while it may be very useful in eliciting opinions, very often leads to no practical result.

Judge Lippincott, of the Supreme Court, makes public announcement in regard to his alleged candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor next year as follows: "I have never consented to give the matter any consideration whatever. I have never consented, do not now consent, and shall not in the future under any circumstances consent to the mention or use of my name in connection with the nomination."

A SCHOOL IN NEED OF FUNDS.

The New Brunswick Theological Seminary Must Have $1,500 at Once.

Financial troubles are embarrassing the New Brunswick Theological Seminary. A special committee, appointed by the General Synod, after investigating the affairs of the seminary, has reported that $1,500 is needed before January 1st to meet the obligations of the institution. The committee also reports that the income from the property funds has declined in the last few years and a substantial addition must be made to the funds in order to provide for the care of the seminary property in the future.

The results of the same decline of income are also felt on the educational side. Instructions in elocution and music have been given up this year. There is also a prospect of a reduction in the professors' salaries, which, according to the committee, are none too large at present.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manuufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

—Patrolman Wm. J. Mattox was in Newark yesterday attending a meeting of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association.

—A regular meeting of the Society of Young Friends will be held this evening in the meeting-house on Watchung avenue.

—Pretty designs and choice patterns in pure linen handkerchiefs are as easy to get as those that are not, if you will come to Peck's.

—Instead of the regular mid week prayer meeting at the Crescent Avenue church, Robert Speer, of New York, will address the meeting.

—This evening after the regular prayer meeting at the First Presbyterian church the Christian Endeavor Society will hold a special meeting.

—Testimony in the Rachael A. Clark will case has been completed and a time will be set for argument before Judge McCormick, at Elizabeth, at an early date.

—Miss Charlotte Messersmith sang a solo at the Monroe Avenue M. E church last Sunday evening. She was accompanied by Miss Mabelle Force.

—At the Sunday afternoon meeting of the W. C. T. U. last Sunday, Miss Charlotte Messersmith sang an alto solo, accompanied on the piano by Miss Mabelle Force.

—The singing section of the Gesang and Turn Verein met last evening and rehearsed several new pieces of music. It is expected that a concert will be given at an early date.

—The attendance at the public schools yesterday on the part of the girls and young women was much larger than anticipated. Nearly the full membership was present.

—Robert E. Speer, who has just completed a visitation of missions in Russia, India, China and Japan, will speak in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church this evening at 8 o'clock.

—Owing to the storm the quarterly meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church did not take place in the chapel of the church yesterday afternoon as was expected.

—The Alert hose carriage was considerably delayed in going to Monday night's fire by a hitch in the mechanism that opens the doors. One door failed to open and Driver Townley had to get down and open it.

—The sidewalk on Putnam avenue, near Richmond street, was shown by yesterday's storm to be sadly in need of change. The stones are several inches below the surrounding lawn and a deep puddle is formed.

—Frank Haurand, bartender for his brother, Henry Haurand, at the Central Cafe, has resigned his position and will engage in no work until after the holidays. He has not yet made up his mind what line of business he will enter.

—Contractor Patsy Christmas has completed a six-inch sewer connecting the Scott Press Works with the Richmond street sewer. He is now working on an eight-inch sewer to connect the Potter Press Works with the Grant avenue sewer.

—A delightful entertainment has been arranged for the Park Club for tomorrow evening. The Plainfield Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club will render several selections and Miss Grace E. Overton, of Washington Park, a student at the Emerson College of Oratory, will also take part in the programme.

—The members of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., are planning to have a Christmas tree this year. The similar event last year was such a success that they have been led to try it again. Each member will receive a present from the tree, and nothing but useful gifts will be distributed.

It May Be

that the "cheap" worthless boxes that are offered by many dealers make you skeptical as to the real worth of those HONEST PIANOS we are offering at $178 cash or $198 on easy time payments. If you are, we ask you to look at these. They are thoroughly good Pianos that we know will give satisfaction. All colors of wood. All improvements. Exchanged if not satisfactory. Made by one of the best known manufacturers in the country.

The proof of their popularity is shown by the imitators they have called forth. Contrast them with the Pianos(?) you are offered at other stores at around the same price. An equally good Piano would cost $275 anywhere else.

Fifty dollars mark-down on all regular lines, good till end of year.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

Allan Wilson is detained at home by a serious illness.

Mrs. T. C. Bodine has returned from a visit with New York friends.

Mrs. H. L. Terry is visiting Mrs. Sherman Cooley, of Flemington.

Mr. Chamberlain, of Plainfield, was in the borough yesterday on business.

Mrs. Stevens is reported as being much improved from her recent illness.

A meeting of the Building and Loan Association will be held next Monday evening.

Mrs. Johnson is confined to her home by illness. Owing to her age recovery is very slow.

Mrs. W. H. Hamilton, of Westfield, spent yesterday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Bodine.

The Jersey Central pay car was in town yesterday, and the hearts of many men were made happy.

The tickets are selling rapidly for the entertainment to be given in the M. E. church tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Hetfield, who has been quite ill for sometime past, is now much improved and is able to sit up every day.

A dance will be given at the home of Goldson Smalley, Greenbrook, next Friday evening. The music will be furnished by Frazee, of Plainfield.

John Tingley and family have returned from Summit, where they went to attend the funeral of the late George Tingley, who died a few days ago.

Officers were nominated at the meeting of Wm. G. Holton Council, Jr. O U. A. M., last Monday evening. The election will take place Monday evening.

Sometime ago Isaac Stites advertised his property for sale, and gave as his reason for so doing that it is too near the sewer beds. That was about two months ago. This week he received a reply from a man named A. J. Noel, of Hasbrouck Heights, who signified a desire to buy the property, provided it was something that he could dispose of. Mr. Stites is inclined to think that the lettter was a practical joke perpetrated by some Plainfield man.

Last Monday evening the Independent Order of Foresters met and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Chief ranger, John Logan; vice-chief ranger, William Dunham; chaplain, James Touzeau; recording secretary, Charles Carpenter; treasurer, John Peters; financial secretary, W. Wyckoff; senior woodward, Benjamin Carpenter; junior woodward, Magnus Johnson; senior beadle, Isaac Stites; junior beadle, Henry Kirchner; court deputy, A. S. Gaston; court physician, P. W. Brakeley; trustees, Charles English, F. W. Vail; past chief ranger, Louis Snyder. The representative to high court will be elected at the July meeting.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Miss Mattie Brown is visiting friends in Elizabeth.

Goodwill Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will meet tomorrow evening.

Fanwood Council, No. 744, held an interesting meeting last night.

Dr. F. W. Westcott was initiated into the Rahway Lodge, I. O. F., at its meeting Monday evening.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the Scotch Plains Baptist church will hold a special meeting in the church parlors Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Hearing Adjourned.

The hearing in the rule to show cause in the Perry divorce case before Vice Chancellor John R. Emory, at the Branch Court of Chancery, was adjourned yesterday to December 28th by consent of the solicitors in the case, McNabb & Clark for the plaintiff and Alvah Clark, of Somerville, for the defendant.

Edward Brown, of Clinton avenue, has been ill for a few days.

Edward Lotz has been placed in charge of the Mountain Park Inn for the winter.

WESTFIELD

VARIOUS BITS OF NEWS.

WESTFIELD HAPPENINGS SERVED UP TERSELY FOR THE PRESS.

Many People Go and Come in the Pretty Suburban Town—Items Interesting Because of Their Brevity

Westfield Lodge, No. 169, I. O. O. F., will hold a meeting tonight.

The Westfield Township Committee will hold a meeting in the town rooms Friday night.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church will meet in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon.

The Central Railroad Company will sell a lot of unclaimed freight at the freight station next Monday.

The Woman's Association of the Congregational church sends a missionary box to a western preacher this week.

The meeting of the Social Club, which was to have been held last evening, was postponed on account of the storm.

The ladies of the Congregational church will enjoy a "Dorcas afternoon" in the church parlors tomorrow. The meeting will close with a devotional half hour.

The I. O. S. will hold a meeting at the residence of Harry Green, on the Boulevard, tomorrow night, at which time Dr. R. R. Sinclair will deliver a lecture on the subject of first aid to the injured.

Hook and Ladder Company No 1 at its meeting Monday evening elected C. H. French a delegate to the fire department for two years, and J. W. Dawes, Irving I. Ross and C. H. French representatives to the Firemen's Relief Association.

A number of Westfield people will attend the rally of the Union Fresh Air Mission Association which will be held tomorrow evening at the People's Home church, on East Eleventh street, New York. The association is in charge of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp.

The Westfield Exempt Firemen's Association held its monthly meeting in the fire department rooms last evening. The committee on the new constitution and by-laws made its report, which was laid on the table until the next meeting when a vote will be taken on its adoption.

The Westfield Club gave a successful progressive euchre party in the clubhouse last evening, and in spite of the storm the attendance was large and the interest in the game strong. There were thirteen tables. The first lady's prize, a silver teapot, was awarded to Mrs. J. C. White; the second lady's prize, a set of bone dishes, went to Mrs. Brown. The gentlemen's prizes were also awarded, a silver-backed comb to Lawrence Bastable, and a silver frame and picture to W. E. Tuttle. At the close of the euchre games there was dancing, the music for which was furnished by J. DeWitt, of New York city.

THEATRICAL.

The famous colored soprano, Mlle. Cordelia McClain, has been engaged for the prima donna roles of the opera song in the last act of "Darkest America," which will be seen at Music Hall at an early date. Mlle. Cordelia has a very sweet voice and is assisted by Lawrence Chenault, the Queen City's famous tenor. More than fifty people are in the cast of "Darkest America."

After a short absence John E. Henshaw and May TenBroeck, supported by an excellent company, present the musical farce, "Dodge's Trip to New York." It has something of a plot, which serves to hang the specialties on. These are of a rattling, up to-date order, and follow on each other's heels in rapid succession, which makes the breezy melange anything but tiresome and monotonous. The fun and merriment comes fast and furious and one is kept, it is said, in a good-natured and hearty laugh all the evening. The company in its entirety appears here next Monday, Dec. 20th.

OAK TREE.

Rev. Mr. Jones visited in Plainfield yesterday afternoon.

There will be a pig-killing and coonhunt at Ed. Campbell's Christmas morning.

George Reighton, of Plainfield avenue, has the contract for remodeling Judge Steele's barn.

The children of Marconnier chapel are making elaborate preparations for the Christmas festival, which will be held Wednesday, December 29th.

Judge Steele, of Brooklyn, who purchased the Creiger property near Oak Tree, is building a handsome new residence. William H. Brokaw, of Plainfield, has the contract for the carpenter work. The foundation has been laid.

Charles C Brower is just recovering from a serious accident which he met with last week. He was working in a tree, sawing off a limb, when the limb broke before he expected it and the end struck him in the face. He fell backward, catching his foot in a crotch in the tree. He hung there for several minutes, and at last freed himself and fell to the ground. He started to crawl to the house, but was found by some workmen and carried in. His leg was severely wrenched and bruised and it will be some time before he will be able to use it again.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

South Plainfield is to have a hall for entertainments, dances and the like in a very few weeks. The old mill at South Plainfield, which was purchased by F.A. Pope, of Plainfield, has been torn down and in its place a hall is being erected. It will soon be completed.

The young people of South Plainfield have decided that there is sufficient talent in the place to attempt amateur theatricals. With that end in view, they have organized an amateur dramatic association and will begin in a short time to rehearse some drama that will soon be selected. It is planned to give the play in Pope's new hall.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The programme is now nearly complete for the supper of gymnasium members which will be held in the small hall of the association building Thursday evening.

The basket ball team of the Newark Academy will come to this city Friday night to play the return game of basket ball with the evening class team of the Y. M. C. A. A closely-contested game is expected.

Fifty have already subscribed for the course dinner which is to be enjoyed by the members of the physical department tomorrow at 6:30 o'clock.

Mr. Heywood's Bible class for members of the physical department only, which meets at the Y. M. C. A. every Sunday afternoon, is growing in popularity. There were nine in attendance at Sunday's session.

Oh, little chillun, de worl' so wide
Dat de mo'ners moan en sigh:
Dar's a turkey roostin' on de yuther side,
But he roos' too high—too high!

Oh, turkey meat
Is mighty sweet;
But de mo'ners weep en sigh;
Hit's a long, rough way
Whar de turkey stay,
But de turkey roos' too high!

Oh, little chillun, de night so long,
En de moon go sailin' by
Dar's a turkey singin' of a sweet, sweet song
But he roos' too high—too high!

Oh, turkey meat
Is powerful sweet;
But de mo'ners weep en sigh;
Hit's almos' day
Whar de turkey stay,
But de turkey roos' too high!

Oh, little chillun, de storm come down
En de lightnin' blaze de sky,
En he light de road ter de turkey town,
But de turkey roos' too high!

Turkey meat
Is mighty sweet;
But de mo'ners weep en sigh;
Dar's a joyful day
Whar de turkey stay,
But de turkey roos' too high!

THE ARTIST'S LOVE.

"Why is it a law of nature that tall women must marry short men? I want to marry. But what man of decent stature will wed five feet nine? I refuse to marry anything under six feet, so I shall have to die an old maid. It's very hard."

"You will scarcely be measuring the man's inches when you fall in love, Anna," said her friend.

"I shall measure his inches before, and so I shall not fall in love, wise Lu—don't you see?"

"And you would rather marry a man like Charlie Langley, six feet of well-built stupidity, than, we will say, Mr. Royce, who is clever and——"

"Handsome, and almost a pygmy. I allow Mr. Royce to be the miniature model of what a man should be—but I do not wish to marry a model, I want the man.

On the other side of the thick-set hedge stood Owen Royce, the clever little artist, of whose future great things were predicted. Walking carelessly beside the overhanging hawthorn and wild rose, he had been caught and held by a straggling thorn; while impatiently unfastening the detaining bramble the words spoken in the garden had fallen on his ear. He was clear of the thorns at last; he was standing erect and still in the meadow, his eyes on the low summer sun, and with a thorn in his heart piercing and hurting as no mere physical pain could do.

Anna stood armed with her golf clubs on the Manor terrace; Louisa stood beside her, a study in drab, a foil to the fresh, brilliant coloring of her friend.

"Now, Mr. Maxwell is what I call a man, Lu," the girl was saying.

"He is big and well-made. I cannot speak as to his head-piece. And he appears to have no dislike to a tall woman, my dear," said Louisa, dryly.

Anna twirled her club.

"No, I do not think he dislikes me. Jack has asked him to stay on for the club-hunting."

"Has your brother persuaded Mr. Royce to remain as well?"

"Yes; his picture will give him quite another month's work. He has grown very stupid lately. I cannot think what has come to him; he paints and paints, and is as dull as an owl," and she moved off to join the stalwart young Maxwell, who was patiently awaiting her pleasure at the park gate.

Louisa went back to the house to speak with Mrs. Waymoor, the widow lady of the Manor. At the door she came on the artist, who stood watching Anna and her companion crossing the park, watching so intently that he was unaware of her neighborhood until she spoke. He turned with an apology.

"I was watching the golfers; they make a handsome pair, do they not, Miss Blackston?"

She followed his gaze; when she looked back at the man, two queer little upright furrows marked her forehead.

"You admire her?"

"I am an artist. I must admire her.'

That evening, after the choir practice, she said abruptly to Anna,—

"My dear, I think why Mr. Royce has grown stupid is because he loves you."

"Loves me! Mr. Royce! Why, if he wore elevators in his boots he would barely reach to my shoulder. It never occurred to me that the little manikin could fall in love. How absurd!"

Louisa turned, almost angrily.

"Though it has not occurred to you it might to him. And you are such a fool that you cannot see the man in him!"

"Why are you cross, Lu? Mr. Royce is clever and I like him; he is very kind. But he is in love with his Academy picture, not with me."

So, through the glorious S p e r i o days Anna golfed, hunted and c r e with Gerald, and the artist pain trying to forget the pain which h him in its grasp.

He had been painting hard down the wood until the afternoon sun w low. At last he put up his brushes started on his two-mile walk b the Manor. Gerald Maxwell overtoo him and the two men went on t g e e They stopped at the foot of the r way embankment, lounging a this the rail, to watch the express p s The artist stood silent, content to l s ten. Then, to their right, along the line, came the beat of flying hoofs; both men turned to see and both gave a simultaneous exclamation of ho ror as round the bend, out of all co rol galloped headlong beside the m t ls Anna's bay mare, tearing furiously on toward the rushing train, then round ing the opposite curve. Anna sat back in her saddle, white as death, trying to stay the runaway, but powerless against the creature's mad fright.

"She may pass safely on one side," gasped Gerald.

Even as he spoke the mad brute plunged into the centre of the iron road. She seemed for the first time to sight the train whistling and screaming out its warning, but powerless to check in time. She reared straight up, and then stood planted and immovable in the centre of the metals staring, paralyzed with terror, at the advancing monster. It had all happened in a second or so, leaving but scant time for thought or action. Both men shouted to the girl to fling herself off, but she, too, seemed turned to stone. She sat dumb, looking before her with agonized eyes, though her trembling hands yet mechanically strove to turn the horse. In half a minute it would be too late. Gerald flung up his arms, shouting his warning. He stood there alone, the artist was gone; he had scaled the steep embankment, his small lithe figure springing up it like a cat; one hand strong as steel with dumb-bell exercise, was on the horse's bridle, backing her a step to the side, the other was on the girl, pressing her from the saddle, telling her to fall—to trust him and fall. Thank heaven! She understood and obeyed. Amid the thunder and crash of the train he knew that she had swung clear of the metals There was a blow and he was down and all was dark.

It was a miraculous escape. Maxwell wiped the moisture from his brow as he told the story; Royce had rushed in with the train almost on him, when it seemed that horse, man and girl must all be cut to pieces; nothing but his wonderful quickness had saved Anna, who, bruised and shaken, had yet fallen clear of worse harm. Poor "Black Bess" was cut to bits. Royce's face was terribly cut by the blow which had felled him, yet, mercifully he had fallen stunned, in the hollow between the rails, and so had escaped with his life; but he would never paint more, his right arm had been frightfully crushed; amputation had had to follow as his only hope of life

The Manor people nursed him devotedly through his illness; nothing they could do could, they felt, repay what they owed to him. He was very grateful for their care and attention He made no allusion to his ruined career, though his eye sometimes rested on the half-finished picture which stood in his room. He looked resolutely at the reflection of his scarred face, at the empty right sleeve. He had all his life looked at trouble between his eyes; he had never shirked or quailed before it. The man's spirit at least, was no small one. But as Christmas neared and he grew fairly convalescant he began to grow restless. In spite of protest, he declared himself well enough to return to his rooms in town. He had stayed at the Manor to paint, now he must trespass no longer.

"Dear old chap, why go?" said Jack. "The mater worships you. Can we not amuse you here? Anna will try to; she will read to you, sing to you. Surely you might stay for Christmas with us?",

He smiled, but repeated that he must go.

Then Anna learned their guest meant to quit them. Anna had changed of late; she professed to be tired of dancing, she said she no longer cared to hunt, that she liked best to be quiet at home. She had grown very gentle, very womanly, and her gray eyes would become wonderfully soft and tender when they rested on Owen Royce's disfigured face and poor maimed body. They became strangely wistful now as she said softly,—

"But we would rather you stayed."

"Still I must go," he answered, picking up his book with unsteady fingers.

She was behind his couch, and stood looking at him in silence.

Then the man on the sofa saw a tear splashed down. It lay on the scarlet silk cushion, a round, dark stain. He raised himself quickly and looked at her. Yes, the tears were raining down her face. With his left hand he caught her dress.

"Anna," he said, hoarsely, "did you guess then, that I loved you?"

"Yes," she said in a whisper. "I read it in your eyes when you caught my horse's head on that awful day. Louisa had guessed it before, and told me, but I had not believed."

He was lying back again on the cushions, watching her with quiet, hopeless eyes.

"Yes, heaven knows I loved you," he answered. Then he told her what on that summer's day he had overheard in the vicarage garden. "You did not love me then, Anna. Now, I am disfigured and a cripple. You are kind and good—I understand—but it is only pity you can have for me. You would not marry me, save in pity."

She was on her knees beside him, half laughing, half crying.

"In pity! In pride and joy. Did I not say, 'a tall woman must marry a small man?' Are you too proud to take a tall wife, Owen? Must I die an old maid because I am overgrown? Don't you know that to me you stand high among men; that your scarred face is your V. C., that your empty sleeve is your badge of glory? Don't you know that had you died under the train, I should have had no wish to live? I knew whom I loved then. If you are too proud to marry me because of your poor arm, because of my heedless, stupid speech—then I am not too proud to say that your pride will make one wretched woman. And, Owen, I am not too proud to accept your pity—but the pity is yours, not mine, to give."

A good deed is never lost; he who sows courtesy reaps friendship, and he who plants kindness gathers love.

Her Face Was Her Fortune.

A Brooklyn Girl Marries Through Taking Capsuloids.

A marriage occurred in Brooklyn last week which possessed many interesting features. The bride says that she does not believe she would have been married had it not been for Capsuloids. She had been ailing and weakly and had used every effort to secure color and health. She heard that Capsuloids filled the veins with rich, red blood, tone the nerves, imparted strength to the limbs and so she determined to try them. The result was all that she had expected, and she is now a rosy, happy, healthy bride, all because Capsuloids filled her blood with nature's iron or Hæmoglobin.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price from The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York.

NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED IN UP-TO-DATE LAUNDRY WORK.

We run the laundry and take care of all details, but you "boss" it. We do what you tell us to do. It may give you a new sensation to find that you get a domestic finish when you ask for it, and to discover that your collars are actually ironed in the way that the maker intended them to be ironed.

We are running a laundry with the most improved methods and appliances. We use pure water and good soap. We are using two things that are not commonly used in laundries—care and intelligence. If you have found a laundry that pleases you perfectly, we have nothing to say to you. If you have any reason to be dissatisfied, we would like to give you a practical demonstration of our way of running a laundry.

Tell us where and when to call for your work, when you want it delivered, and let us know any particular thing that you would like to have done with it.

We want you to understand that we are running this laundry for you, and that your wishes are to be regarded in every particular. We will give you just exactly what you want, if we can find out what that is. Perhaps you believe that it is impossible to have your laundry well handled without irritation and annoyance to you. We are sure that you are mistaken. May we have an opportunity of demonstrating it?

Furniture for Remembrances

Little need to jog your memory as to value of the things you gave last year—furniture pieces were those most favored, we'll warrant. Our store's in even better trim to help you than 'twas in '96—and buy on the 75c-a-week-easy-payment-plan if cash is short. Come and see us—even if you haven't cash; we'll try to "fix you up."

And SUCH a Lot of Pretty Chairs!

It's one of our pet hobbies to keep this line complete and inviting above all similar stocks. More room for choice in shapes, sizes, woods, coverings than you've any notion of! Cherry, maple, oak, enameled, gilt chairs, plain and richly covered—$1.75 up to $50. Spend all the time you like among them. Buying is not forced on any one.

For surprisingly slender prices—great hosts of gifts. Tea and Dinner Sets from simplest to most elaborate—Children's Chairs, 50c up—Express Wagons and Sleds—Easels and Music Cabinets, all woods—Lamps and Clocks—Pictures—Brass and Onyx Tables—the "Columbia" Sewing Machine at $29, cash or credit—Chiffoniers and Shaving Stands—Desks and Hat Racks—but why keep on? We'd need two pages, 'stead of a corner in one to tell of all.

"Gift Stoves"

You may smile, but this live stove department has been filled with those buying stoves and ranges for gifts, and ordering them reserved for late delivery. Incidentally, 'tis Newark's largest stock of the sort—over half our main floor and basement is filled with warranted makes—all low in price. The "Portland" Range is a treat of itself—seen it? Oil heaters here—too.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MacMURRAY,
City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., Dec. 6th, 1897.

AN ORDINANCE

concerning the appointment and compensation of Overseer of the Poor and Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation.

WHEREAS, it was enacted by an Act of the Legislature approved March 26th 1892, that in all cities of the second class in this State, it shall and may be lawful for the Common Council to provide for the appointment of one Overseer of the Poor and three Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation, to be appointed by the Mayor, by and with the consent of the Common Council, and that the offices of such Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation now existing in said cities shall be abolished upon the appointment of said officers under said act, and by Act of March 28th, 1893, the term of office of Overseer of the Poor is fixed at three years.

AND WHEREAS, the Common Council has determined and hereby determines to proceed under said statutes:

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That pursuant to the Act of the Legislature in such case made and provided, the Mayor shall nominate, and by and with the consent of the Common Council, appoint three Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation on or before the first Monday in February, A. D. 1898, and at the time of such appointment shall designate the term for each of said Commissioners, one of whom shall be appointed for a term to begin on said first Monday in February next, and to expire one year from that time; the second for a term to begin on said first Monday in February next, and to expire two years from that time; and the third for a term to begin on said first Monday in February next, and to expire three years from that time; and annually thereafter, at or before the expiration of the term of any Commissioner, his successor shall be appointed in the manner aforesaid for the term of three years.

Section 2. That not more than a bare majority of such Board of Commissioners shall at any time be members of one political party, or be appointed from the same Ward. The compensation to be paid to each of said Commissioners shall be the sum of Five Dollars a day for every day he shall have attended on the hearing and determining of appeals in cases of taxation.

Section 3. That pursuant to said Acts of the Legislature hereinabove referred to, the Mayor shall nominate, and by and with the consent and advice of the Common Council appoint one Overseer of the Poor, on the first Monday in February, A. D. 1898, for the term of three years, and until the qualification of his successor, which said Overseer of the Poor shall possess such powers and perform such duties as are prescribed by the laws and ordinances in force in the City of Plainfield respecting the office of Overseer of the Poor, that hereafter, all nominations and appointments of Overseer of the Poor shall be, as required by said Acts of the Legislature, for the term of three years, and until the qualification of a successor in said office; and at the times of such appointments respectively, the salary of the Overseer of the Poor shall be fixed, as now provided by law.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

MRS. M'KINLEY'S FUNERAL.

The President's Mother Buried Beside Her Husband.

Canton, Ohio, Dec. 15.—The body of Mrs. Nancy Allison McKinley was buried beside that of her husband in the family lot in Westlawn Cemetery yesterday afternoon. The funeral was the largest ever held in Canton.

Some of the most distinguished men of the nation were present. Thousands of residents of Stark County, and of Ohio gathered to pay respect to the memory of the President's mother.

At the McKinley homestead the family and immediate relatives and officers of the United States Government assembled at 12.30 o'clock, and a brief service was held, conducted by Dr. Manchester, assisted by Dr. Macafee, of Columbus, who was President McKinley's pastor when he was Governor of Ohio.

The body of Mrs. McKinley was removed to the First Methodist Church, half a dozen blocks from her late home, at 1 o'clock. All the available space in the church had been taken a short time after the building was opened. The streets were filled about the building. Thousands of persons formed in line to take a last look at the face of Mrs. McKinley. All business houses in town were closed.

After the funeral services all of the Washington guests were entertained at dinner by Mrs. Harter, and at 8 o'clock left here on the special train for Washington. The car Newport, which is assigned to the President, was attached to the special train, and in it were the President, Mrs. McKinley and Abner McKinley.

GEN. LEE IN DANGER.

Military, Police and Detectives Now Guard the American Consulate.

Havana, Dec. 15.—The American Consulate in this city is guarded by four soldiers of the military police of Havana and two detectives. There is much apprehension in Government circles that an attack may be directed upon the Consulate by the uncomprising Spaniards, who are very angry over the message of President McKinley.

Gen. Lee is serene amid the storm of passion, and continues to receive every caller with his usual politeness, and performs his duties with great regularity.

The pessimistic impressions of Senor Canalejas concerning the war in Cuba, and his conclusion that Spain will lose the island, fill several columns of an extra issued by Diario de la Marina. After reading the extra the press censor consulted with Gen. Blanco, and speedy orders were sent to the Diaria to stop the publication. Nearly the entire edition of the extra was then burned.

The insurgents are so active around Havana city that the trains from Havana to Guanabacoa, a town only fifteen minutes by rail from the capital, are accompanied by a heavy Spanish guard for fear of an attack from the patriots.

COAL MINERS MAY STRIKE.

The Uniformity Contract May Fail of Adoption.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 15. — Unless enough signatures are obtained to make the uniformity contract binding upon the operators another strike of coal miners may be declared after Jan. 1. The contract calls for uniform, honest methods of coal production and one price for mining.

It must be signed by 95 per cent. of the operators before it can go into effect, and just what the labors of the commissioners have effected will be shown at a meeting of operators called for Thursday.

If the contract fails to go through the operators will demand a rate of 55 cents after Jan. 1, the same rate paid by W. P. De Armitt. The present district rate is 65 cents, and the miners want an advance of 10 cents per ton.

The outlook is stormy. The miners have put extra organizers into the field, and are now preparing for any emergency that may arise.

White Girl Freed from a Negro.

Catskill, N. Y., Dec. 15.—Judge Chase has granted a decree annulling the marriage of Kate Clum to Henry Mondore, the Catskill negro. It was on Oct. 15 last that pretty golden-haired, blue-eyed Kate Clum was drugged and carried out of her bedroom by Henry and Frank Mondore, two negroes living in the Catskills, near Kingston. They hurried away to their mountain huts with her, and while she was still under the influence of the drugs she was forced to become the wife of Henry.

Horse Thief's Long Record.

Chicago, Dec. 15.—Frederick Rubeck has stolen within the last five years between seventy-five thousand and one hundred thousand dollars' worth of horses and buggies. A statement to that effect was made by Rubeck himself to Capt. Ptacek, of the Attrill street station. Rubeck was arrested in Cleveland, Ohio, two weeks ago. He was brought to Chicago under indictment for horse stealing a few days later. He gave a list of over fifty persons in Chicago from whom he said he had stolen horses and vehicles.

Kansas in a Blizzard's Grip.

Topeka, Kan., Dec. 15.—Dispatches from five towns in western Kansas state that all that section of the country is in the path of the worst blizzard experienced in many years. Thousands of head of cattle are being wintered over on the prairies and are without shelter and many are without food, as the prairies are covered with four to six inches of snow.

Woman Dies in a Theatre.

New York, Dec. 15.—Mrs. Ann Rooney died last night in the women's room of Wallack's Theatre. Her daughter, Mrs. Sarah Rice, was with her. They had occupied seats in the third row of the family circle. The mother became sick, and moaned in agony. She was assisted to the women's room. Before a doctor arrived Mrs. Rooney was dead. She was 60 years old.

Not to Change Tariff Law.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The Dingley tariff law will not be changed in any of its customs features at the present session of Congress. An understanding to this effect has been reached by the Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee, who feel that it is desirable to avoid what is generally known as tariff-tinkering.

THE BANKRUPTCY BILL

The Measure to be Reported to the House This Week.

WILL PROBABLY BE PASSED

Senator Kyle Introduces a New Immigration Bill—House Considers Legislation Appropriation Bill Briefly—New Code of House Rules.

Washington, Dec. 15.—A national bankruptcy bill, similar to the Henderson-Emerson bill passed by the House last session, will be reported to the House this week. The committee believe the measure will become law.

The House Sub-Judiciary Committee on Bankruptcy, which was in session yesterday, finally agreed on the bill and will report it to-day to the full committee. It is likely to be adopted without radical change. The bill provides for both voluntary bankruptcy and involuntary bankruptcy. Any one may file a petition and go into voluntary bankruptcy except a corporation. The latter may be forced into it, but not otherwise. Wage earners, laborers and farmers cannot be forced into it. All others are subject to involuntary bankruptcy for certain designated causes. In general, these involuntary causes relate to fraudulent conduct on the part of the bankrupt. The work of the sub-committee in finally shaping the measure was a liberalizing of the former bill. The former clause providing that a man who permits his commercial paper to go for thirty days shall be an involuntary bankrupt is eliminated.

Where a person institutes proceeding against an alleged bankrupt by petition and is defeated on a hearing, the bill as it now stands directs the courts to allow the respondent all reasonable costs, expenses and counsel fees, to be paid by the petitioner. The petitioning creditor also must, at the time of filing, or within five days thereafter, file a bond approved by the court conditioned on the payment of the costs. Its general effect is to discharge the bankrupt of all debts after the estate has been administered, and it has been found that there has been no fraudulent conduct.

The measure is so framed as to make its administration simple and inexpensive. It involves only two officers, referee and trustee. The trustee receives no pay until the estate is closed; the referee is to receive a fee of $10 at the outset, and when the estate is closed a commission of one-half of 1 per cent. Various penalties, not only against the referee and trustee, but the bankrupt in case of fraud, are named.

THE HOUSE CODE OF RULES.

Representative Barrett Working for Two Important Amendments.

Washington, Dec. 15.—A new code of House rules will be presented by Speaker Reed and his associates on the Committee of Rules after the holiday recess. At present the House is proceeding under the rules of two years ago. The present purpose is to readopt the old rules without important changes.

Representative Barrett, of Massachusetts, is to be allowed a hearing on two amendments proposed by himself. One gives the minority larger rights than at present in presenting amendments and substitutes and in securing time during debate. Mr. Barrett says the minority should have an opportunity to be heard, and have its proposition voted upon in the consideration of every question. He also urges a change by which an amendment to an appropriation bill will be in order when the subject has been acted on favorably in either House, or has been recommended by the head of a department. At present the rules are very strict against amendments of this character, and individual members have little latitude in securing additions to the appropriation bills. Mr. Barrett's extended service as Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives gives added weight to the changes he is urging, although it is not expected that they will be favorably considered by the committee.

New Immigration Bill.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Senator Kyle has introduced a new immigration bill, which he proposes to offer as a substitute for the one now pending before the Senate.

"In only one feature," says Mr. Kyle, "does my bill differ materially from the measure now before the Senate. My bill provides that all immigrants shall have their test of education made by the United States Consuls at the points nearest to their homes. It is a serious hardship for these people to cross the ocean with the prospect staring them in the face of failing in the test at the port of a foreign country."

THE DAY IN THE HOUSE.

Legislative Bill Taken Up in Committee of the Whole.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The House yesterday went into Committee of the Whole and took up the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill.

Mr. Bingham (Rep., Pa.), in charge of the measure, explained its provisions in detail. He said he would offer an amendment to reduce the clerical force in the Pension Office by ninety-six clerks, involving a reduction of $115,000 in salaries. This reduction did not appear in the bill as reported, and must be reckoned in the new totals.

The House adjourned at 1.45 p. m. out of respect to the President. The Senate had previously adjourned after a fifteen-minute session.

Anti-Scalping Bill Hearings.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The Senate Committee on Inter-State Commerce will hear the opponents of the Anti-Scalping bill to-morrow. Senator Cullom says that he did not anticipate any action until after the holidays. The House Committee gave a hearing Friday on the same bill.

Secretary Gage's Bill.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Secretary Gage will appear before the House Committee to-morrow and submit in the form of a general bill his recommendations recently made to Congress.

Do You Think

That Grain that is thoroughly cleaned in a modern, up-to-date plant is better than when shoveled direct from a car (dirt and all), as is necessary by the small local dealer? Do you think that a firm operating its own purchasing offices throughout the west, its own distributing stores, and, most of all, the Largest and Most complete Grain Elevator and Cleaning Plant in New Jersey is able to give better goods at less cost than the small dealer who must buy from middlemen and handle his goods in the old way?

PORTER OUT OF THE RACE.

Will Be Satisfied if He Heads the Judiciary Committee.

It was authoritatively announced yesterday that Assemblyman Porter had declared himself out of the Speakership contest and would be appointed chairman of the House judiciary committe in consideration of his withdrawal by Speaker-to-be Watkins.

Gov. Griggs said yesterday that he would not resign his office until it is necessary for him to report in Washington to assume the duties of the Attorney General. Asked his opinion of the effort making in various sections of the State for the appointment of a constitutional commission and creation of the office of Lieutenant Governor, he said:

"I do not believe that there will be any law adopted at this session of the Legislature favoring a change in the Constitution, for the reason that the people do not want more offices created. The State is amply protected already in any possible change that may occur in the Governorship."

PASSING COMMENT.

The authorities of the M. E. Sunday-school of Clayton are wrestling with the question "Candies or No Candies" for the Christmas entertainment. The anti-candy element seems to be in the majority, while the children are in open revolt.

* * * *

Morris Braun, of South River, presented himself for naturalization before Justice Jonathan Dixon, in New Brunswick, yesterday.

"Who makes the laws of the land?" asked the Justice.

"Judge Strong," unhesitatingly replied the applicant.

"Who makes the laws of the State?" asked the Court.

"Mr. McKinley," replied Braun.

"What is the capital of the United States?" was the Court's next question.

"Albany," was the prompt response.

The applicant admitted that he did not know what the Constitution was, so Justice Dixon refused to make him a citizen.

A Paper on "Ingersolism."

The monthly gathering of the Ministers Association was held at the residence of Rev. A. E. Main, of Central avenue, Monday evening. A delightful repast was served and the time passed pleasantly. A paper on "Ingersolism" was read by Rev. S. P. Simpson and was followed by a general discussion of the subject by the rest. The meeting was one of the largest attended ever held. Fifteen of the local ministers were present. There was a general discussion of topics of special interest at this time.

Boys Will Debate.

A meeting of the Boys' Branch of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew was held Monday evening at the guild rooms of Grace P. E. church. A debate was arranged for Monday evening, January 3d. The subject will be, "Should Union county build and operate a trolley road between Elizabeth and Plainfield?" The debaters for the affirmative will be Charles Peterson and Albert Ford. The speakers for the negative will be E. Stanley Peck and Harold Dunn.

Judgment for Defendant.

The case of Bicknell against Johnson in tort, was called in Justice Mosher's court yesterday afternoon, and as the defense failed to appear, judgment was rendered for the plaintiff for $90 and costs. William DeMeza appeared for the plaintiff. The plaintiff, Bicknell, leased some property which the defendant had occupied and was assured that the rent was fully paid up to the date on which the bargain was concluded. In addition to the unexpired lease Bicknell purchased some goods and chattels from Johnson. Shortly after taking possession of the premises, which were situated at Dog Corners, he learned that the rent was in arrears and that he would have to pay it in order to retain the premises.

The American Home.

Rev. Anna Shaw will speak on "The American Home" under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Sunday afternoon. The West Chester, Pa., Record says of this lecture: "In reference to Rev. Anna Shaw's lecture on 'The American Home,' Thursday evening, it may be said that among her audience there were some who went to scoff, but remained to pray. It was an admirable address. The lady is a speaker of unusual force and fluency."

Corner Stone to Be Laid Friday.

The corner stone of the Baptist church on East Third street will be laid Friday afternoon of this week at 3:30. The service had been arranged for this afternoon but weather and other circumstances made it advisable to postpone the same as stated. Rev. D. J. Yerkes, of the First Baptist church, will conduct the service.

MARRIED IN NEW YORK

Miss Ellen Emma Ware Wedded to a Beau From Connecticut.

A very quiet marriage took place in one of the private parlors of the Holland House, New York, yesterday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, when Miss Ellen Emma Ware, daughter of R. Willard Ware, of Second place, became the wife of Rawlius Lowndes, of Waterbury, Conn. A few of the near relatives and friends of the bride, twelve in all, were present and witnessed the ceremony which was performed by Rev. E. M. Rodman, of this city. The ceremony was a very simple one.

The wedding breakfast followed in the famous "Gilt Room" of the Holland House. This afternoon the newly-wedded couple left for Charleston, S. C., where they will spend their honeymoon. Miss Ware has been residing in Waterbury, Conn., for the past year where she formerly attended school. Mr. Lowndes is a rising young civil engineer who has been in the employ of the Common Council of Waterbury and has been busily employed there for some time. They will reside at Waterbury.

An Old Offender.

An old offender, named James O'Rourke, was picked up on Park avenue last evening by Patrolman Totten. The man was drunk and was causing a disturbance. Totten locked him up. O'Rourke appeared before City Judge DeMeza this morning and made a great plea for clemency, promising to behave in the future, The Judge relented and agreed to suspend sentence, if O'Rourke would leave town in nine minutes and sixty seconds.

A Scavenger Fined.

Theodore Wilson, a scavenger, living at the corner of Grove street and Greenbrook road, was arrested by Chief Marshal Wilson, as he was passing through Chatham street at about 2 o'clock this morning, for allowing obnoxious cesspool water to run from his wagon into the street. He was arraigned before Recorder Thomas at 9 this morning and was fined $10.

"Don't Worry" Movement.

Theodore F. Seward will speak on the subject of this movement in Grace church parish house tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. All interested are invited to attend.

The engagement of Miss H. Carrie Case, of Manning avenue, and Howard Lance, of Westervelt avenue, is announced.

Too Many Rules.

The teacher who gives her pupils "simple rules" outside of the authorities for determining questions which confront them, and particularly grammatical questions, is apt to find that her rules disastrously fail to fit all cases.

One time the county superintendent of schools was questioning the pupils of a country school. He wrote on the blackboard the sentence, "The fly has wings," and asked a class what part of speech each word was. They passed the "the" without serious trouble.

"What part of speech is 'fly?'" asked the superintendent.

"Adverb," shouted all the class in unison.

"What! 'Fly' an adverb?"

"Yessir!" shouted the children with great positiveness.

"What makes you think it is an adverb?"

"'Cause teacher told us that all words that end in 'ly' are adverbs!"—Youth's Companion.

Much Sweeter Than Sugar.

The newly discovered chemical substance, sugarine, or benzoi-sulfinid, is likely to have an important influence upon commerce in several directions. Unlike saccharine, which never became very popular, sugarine contains none of the obnoxious para acid. It is a chemically pure substance, 600 times as sweet as sugar, and yet obtainable at one-twelfth the cost.

BIG TIME FOR EXEMPTS.

Mayor Gave the Freedom of the City to Them in a Neat Speech—Plainfielders Made a Handsome Present to the Hosts

There was a great time down at Bayonne last evening, when the Exempt Firemen of that city entertained thirty-five Exempt Firemen from this city. The party met at the North avenue station at 7 o'clock and took the train to Bayonne, where they were met by a delegation of Bayonne men. They were escorted to the large hall over one of the engine houses where the evening was spent very enjoyably.

The Mayor of Bayonne was present and in a neat speech presented the freedom of the city to the visitors. A handsome polished oak pedestal, with an engraved silver plate on it, was presented to the Bayonne association from the Plainfield Exempts. The engraving on the plate was to that effect. Judge Vincent W. Nash made the presentation speech and a reply was made by the president of the Bayonne association.

Then the entertainers and guests adjourned to the banqueting hall where a fine collation was served. Speeches followed the banquet. The Plainfield speakers were Councilman W. N. Runyon, Councilman Jef Neuman, Chief T. O. Doane, ex Chief Auguste Saltzman and Alex. Titsworth. The Bayonne men found Councilman Runyon delightful and he won the favor of all by his songs. A Bayonne newspaper man told some funny stories and gave several recitations. He told of a Bayonne Irishman who tried in every way possible to kill his goat but without success. He at last gave the goat a Bayonne Herald to chew and the animal dropped dead soon after.

The party did not break up until a late hour when they paid a visit to the first floor of the engine house in which the affair was held and took a look at the apparatus. They returned on the train arriving in Plainfield at 1:17 o'clock this morning.

COUNTY BIBLE SOCIETY TO MEET.

The Thirty-Ninth Annual Meeting to be Held in Westfield Tonight.

The thirty-ninth annual meeting of the Union County Bible Society will be held in the Westfield Methodist church this evening. The business meeting will be held in the church lecture room at 7:30 o'clock. At 8 o'clock the regular exercises of the evening will commence. They will include devotional exercises, conducted by Rev. Henry Ketcham, pastor of the Westfield Congregational church; words of welcome by Rev. William H. Ruth, pastor of the church in which the meeting is held; response by the president of the society, Rev. John T. Kerr, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, of Elizabeth; reports of the treasurer, Charles G. Endicott, of Westfield, and S. J. Berry, Jr., the depositary; an address by Rev. W. W. Moffett, D. D., superintendent of the American Bible Society. The annual sermon will be preached by Rev. George Buckle, pastor of the Greystone Presbyterian church, of Elizabeth. Rev. N. W. Cadwell, pastor of the Westfield Presbyterian church, will make the closing prayer.

State Committee Meeting Here.

The State committee of the Y. M. C. A. holds a meeting this afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. building. The members of the committee living in this city are William D. Murray, Fred H. Andrews and Curtis M. Thorpe. After the regular committee meets, the committee on programme, of which Mr. Murray is the chairman, will hold a meeting to arrange the details of the programme for the coming State Y. M. C. A. convention, which will be held in Orange February 10th.

A Sensible Present.

A sensible holiday present for any boy or young man is any annual ticket in the Y. M. C. A. of this city.

JERSEY FOREFATHERS.

A HISTORICAL SERVICE HELD IN THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

The Early Government Referred to as Strong and Liberal for Colonial Days—Jersey's Aid in Revolutionary War.

A very interesting meeting, and one somewhat out of the common, was that held last night in the Congregational church. The pastor of the church, Rev. Charles Lyman Goodrich, in giving notice of the meeting, said that it would be a Forefathers' Day service, but that the forefathers of New England had received their share of attention and this meeting would consider the forefathers of New Jersey. The result was a large attendance and an evening full of interest to all.

Mr. Goodrich gave an account of the first history of New Jersey, and called upon Miss Mary Prescott Chase, Louis Irving VanAlstyne and Charles Belknap to read portions of the early enactments of the colonial assembly, which showed a strong and liberal manner of government, and that religious liberty reigned in the colony to a far greater extent than in New England, as church membership was not required in order to become a citizen. Mrs. Goodrich read a short description of the manners and customs of the people, noticing their curfew law, their treatment and payment of their clergymen, and the early Congregational churches in the State Most of these churches afterwards became Presbyterian, the church at Chester being the only one now in existence. The treatment of the Indians by New Jersey was spoken of by Clarence Wilson, who dwelt upon the fact that this State stands almost alone in having no stain upon its history in this matter.

Short extracts, describing New Jersey's spirit during Revolutionary times, were read by Miss Karmer and Ellsworth Dwight, after which Mr. Goodrich told of the achievements of the men of the State under Washington. "The State suffered out of proportion to her size, and she fought out of proportion to her size." He read Charles Opdyke's statement, made in a paper read before the New Jersey Sons of the American Revolution, regarding the Watchung range being the key to the whole American position during the war; "The enemy never got into our Jersey hills."

The meeting being thrown open, Rev. M. E. Dwight spoke briefly of Rev. Abraham Pierson, an early Congregational clergyman, from whom George T. Raynolds, of this city, is descended, and of Rev. James Caldwell, an ancestor of Mrs. Dwight, who in one battle of the Revolution, when the soldiers ran out of paper, took from a church a number of copies of Watts' hymns and gave them to the men, saying, "Give them Watts, boys!" And the Church of England men couldn't stand Watts, and ran. Other interesting incidents were related by E. L. Suffern and Miss E. E Chase, after which Mr. Goodrich told the story of Jonathan Dickenson, who was a strong power in the early religious life of the State, and was one of the founders of Princeton College, the first sessions of the college being held in his house. He was pastor of the first church in Elizabeth.

In closing, Mr. Goodrich said that we were reaping the results of the deeds of these brave or good men of old time, and we might well honor them for their part in our country's history.

Supper for Y. M. C. A. Members.

Arrangements are complete for the supper which is to be given to members of the physical department of the Y. M. C. A. in the small hall of the association building this evening Over fifty covers will be spread, and a most happy time is expected. The programme will include a number of speeches and songs by all present. There will be no exercises in the gymnasium tonight on account of the supper.

THE LAW FOR PLAINFIELD

CORPORATION COUNCIL'S OPINION REGARDING ELECTION OFFICERS' PAY.

The Law Upon Which the Members of the Boards Base Their Claims Applies to Cities of Over 40,000 Population Only.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—My attention has just been called to the article which appeared in Tuesday's Daily Press, setting forth the claims of Boards of Registry and Election; and quoting Section 4, page 133, of the election pamphlet issued by the Secretary of State, to the effect that Boards of Registry and Election shall at charter elections be entitled to compensation as at general State elections.

If the election officers believe as reported in the article, that the section quoted was enacted in '97, they are mistaken; and if they think that the section quoted has any application to the city of Plainfield, they are mistaken again. The section quoted in Section 4 of Chapter 3 of P. L. 1896, and the chapter applies, not to all citizens, but to quote the language of the act, to "each city of this State having a population exceeding 40,000." No part of the chapter applies to the city of Plainfield.

So many errors have crept into print regarding the opinion filed that perhaps you may care to correct them by publishing enclosed copy.

Copy of opinion filed.

Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 30th, 1897.

Wm. N. Runyon, Plainfield, N. J.

My Dear Sir—Replying to your letter of Nov. 5th, I beg to say that on page 109, pl. 236, section 57, of the pamphlet furnished by the Secretary of State, entitled "An act to regulate elections, etc., published in 1896, is to be found the law fixing the compensation for the Boards of Registry and Election for city election services for 1897, and the rate of compensation there fixed is the sum of three dollars per day and at that rate for all fractions of days, to be paid as other election expenses are now paid; and in determining the amount of such compensation eight hours shall constitute a day's work. This compensation was fixed by the law of 1891, page 225.

The petition of the Plainfield Board of Registry, from which you quote, prays for "the payment of twenty-five dollars for city election services for 1897, as provided in election laws of 1896.".

I find no election law of 1896 which provides for such payment. The only law of 1896 providing for a payment of twenty-five dollars to election officers is Chapter 47, P. L. 1896, p. 85, and that law provides compensation in express terms "for all services rendered and required of them (Boards of Registry and Election) by law in connection with the election held for members of the General Assembly;" and further provides that such compensation shall be "in lieu of all other fees and charges whatsoever."

You will see, therefore, that this act of 1896 fixes the compensation to be paid by the county to the Boards of Registry for services rendered and required of them at the November election held for members of General Assembly, and provides for their payment in full; and has nothing whatever to do with "city election services," or with any payments to be made by the city.

It is not pleasant to render an opinion which will disappoint the expectations of election officers in this matter, especially as their compensation is, in my judgment, very inadequate: but the law seems to be perfectly clear, and has been so construed, so far as I can learn, in all the other cities to which the act applies

Respectfully yours,

(Signed) Craig A. Marsh.

A NEW MARKET MARRIAGE.

Miss Ida Giles and George W. Harris the Contracting Parties.

The society event of the week in New Market has been the wedding of Miss Ida Giles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. DeWitt Giles, of that place, and George W. Harris, of Bound Brook.

The ceremony was performed last evening at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor of the New Market Baptist church. The bride was attired in a gown of white Glansdowne silk, trimmed with lace, and carried in her hand a bouquet of white roses. The bridemaids were Miss Abbie Giles, a sister of the bride, and Miss Bertha Giles, a cousin of the bride, from Plainfield. They wore chiffon over yellow silk. The groomsmen were Peter Clark, of Bound Brook, and Mefford Giles, of this city.

The parlor of the Giles homestead, where the ceremony was performed, was very prettily decorated with palms and cut flowers. The attendance of relatives and friends was large, and included a number from Plainfield.

After the ceremony a short reception was held, and the company then adjourned to the supper room where a fine wedding supper was served. Music and dancing were then enjoyed until a late hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris received many handsome and costly presents as tokens of the regard of their relatives and friends.

The wedding journey will include a visit to Washington, D. C. Upon their return the couple will make their home in Bound Brook.

The Steamer Mired.

After the fire Monday night it was the steamer and not the truck that attempted to return home by way of Mountain avenue and got mired. Driver Breem drove the truck back by way of Front street and had no trouble with it.

CUPID INVADES SANCTUM

POPULAR DAILY PRESS REPORTER JOINS THE BENEDICTS.

Miss Bertha Gordon VanCleef the Bride—The Ceremony Performed at the Home of the Bride in East Millstone Yesterday.

The charmed circle of bachelordom which has heretofore reigned supreme in the reportorial staff of The Daily Press has been broken and Walter Clifford Dobbins, well known as a popular news gatherer for The Press, has capitulated to the wily attacks of Cupid. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Dobbins was united in marriage to Miss Bertha Gordon VanCleef, of East Millstone, formerly a resident of Plainfield.

The ceremony was quietly performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Gordon, Sr., grandparents of the bride, at East Millstone, at 3 o'clock, in the presence of a small gathering of near relatives and friends. The wedding was a very simple one owing to the serious illness of a brother of the bride. Rev. C. Paige Peeke, pastor of the Dutch Reformed church of East Millstone, the church of the bride, performed the ceremony.

The bride was faultlessly attired in a traveling gown of blue paquin serge, trimmed with brocaded satin. The maid-of honor was her sister, Miss Abbie VanCleef, of East Millstone, who wore a gown of myrtle-green cloth. The best man was Louis E. Eaton, of this city. They made up the bridal party and at the appointed hour they entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss Maud Emmons, of Jersey City, a cousin of the bride.

After the ceremony, the wedding dinner was served to the bridal party and the guests. At 4 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Dobbins, Mr. Eaton and Corra Ryno drove away to Bound Brook where the young couple took the 5:57 train for Philadelphia, where they will spend their honeymoon.

There were about thirty present at the wedding including relatives from Jersey City, Brooklyn, Rahway, New Brunswick, Newark and East Millstone. The guests present from Plainfield were Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Dobbins, parents of the groom, Miss May Howlett, Miss Mary Brown, Miss Laura J. Runyon, Corra Ryno, Miss Georgie Eick and L. E. Eaton.

The couple were the recipients of many valuable and handsome wedding presents.

As they departed in the coach and again at the station they were pletifully showered with rice. The coach that carried the bridal party was plentifully bedecked with old shoes and white ribbons.

Mr. Dobbins, Mr. Ryno and Mr. Eaton drove to East Millstone from this city, yesterday morning, in a coach. They found the road between Bound Brook and Dunellen flooded in places and were confronted with the possibility that they might not get to their destination after all. The water was up to the floor of the coach but the horses managed to pull through.

They intended crossing the Raritan river at Finderne, but found the river there over the top of the fences and half a mile in width. They were told that they could not cross in safety and so returned to Bound Brook, where they were confronted by six feet of water under the railroad bridge over the road. They finally managed to get through by driving on the wide sidewalk on which there was a foot of water. There was just room for the coach to pass through. After that they went along without trouble, but found the roads very heavy.

SPREADING THE GOSPEL

MISSIONARY ROBERT M. SPEER'S TRIP AROUND THE WORLD.

The Conditions in This Country Studied Thoroughly—Heathens Have Best Sense of Fear and Dependence on Religion.

Robert Speer, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, gave an interesting talk in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church last evening, describing his recent tour around the world in the interest of missions.

The speaker opened his address with a hasty sketch of the trip, which included India, Japan, Corea, China and all the countries in which mission stations have been established. The party had many amusing experiences upon the journey, a number of which were described by Mr. Speer in a happy vein.

The party reached VanCouver Island on its return trip just fourteen months after leaving New York city, and then took up its journey again by rail across the continent.

Before reaching this country the party had agreed, the speaker said, to study America with the same eyes through which they had looked at old Asia, to endeavor to discover what were the characteristics of this country. As they began the journey across the States, on the Northern Pacific Railroad, the first impression was of the terrible wastefulness of Americans. On every hand where the forest fires had swept the hills, timber was lying unused and rotting on the ground. In the cities the same wastefulness in regard to food was noticed. Enough food is wasted in New York city in a week to keep an equally large population in China for the same length of time. When this country learns to utilize what it now wastes it will have enough to evangelize the whole world.

There were other and deeper impressions than the merely temporal. The party noticed that in the sense of fear and dependence in religious matters the Americans were much below the inhabitants of heathen islands. If religion consisted of this alone, we should be less religious than they. Perhaps we have a lesson to learn from them in this matter, but there are other elements to religion. Christianity alone includes fellowship and progress. No other religion has these. Wherever Mohammedanism has gone it has either found or left a desert. Buddism and Confucianism have steri lized and stagnated life. The travelers were impressed everywhere with the narrowness and the poverty, both temporal and spiritual, of the lives of Mohammedan women and men, and the meaninglessness of the word "home" to them.

There is a bright side to the life in the orient, however, and this is furnished by the work itself which is interesting, and by contact with the missionaries, who are heroes and heroines, doing their tasks with rare judgment, heroism, grit and energy.

The hardships of privation and isolation which the missionaries endure were dwelt upon, and a plea was made that the hearers should not content to make the business which our Lord placed first a secondary matter in our lives.

Rev. W. R. Richards, D. D., was present and made a few appropriate remarks after Mr. Speer had finished. The audience was a large one.

Manner in Keeping With Their Title.

The Sixteen Social Sisters were entertained by Miss Charlotte Messersmith at her home on Washington street Tuesday evening. The game of the evening was progressive whist. Miss Nellie Hockridge won the first prize and the second prize went to Harry Messersmith. The latter is not one of the Sixteen Social Sisters but, as the storm kept some of the members away, he was invited to take a place at one of the tables, and the result was that he captured one of the prizes.

PLAYED ON HOME ALLEYS

FIRST OF JOURNAL BOWLING LEAGUE GAMES IN PLAINFIELD.

The Visitors Were the Westfield Athletic Club and They Won Two Out of Three Games—The Individual Scores in Detail

"Just like a dream," cried the scorer for the bowling team of the Westfield Athletic Club which came to Plainfield last evening to roll three games in the Central Journal Bowling League with the Park Club. The remark was called forth by the great bowling of the Westfielders and it proved a very unpleasant nightmare to the home team for, before they could dispell it, the visitors had two out of the three games. Then the Parks braced up and rolled in their old-time form, winning the last game.

It was the first match for the Parks on their own alleys, and they were hopeful of winning at least two of the three games. The team was different from the team that went to Roselle, in that Clarence L. Murphy rolled in the place of Allan E. Laing. In the last game, however, Murphy and George Worth withdrew and Peter B. Matthews and Percy Sandford took their places.

The first game was all right for the first five frames, the Parks holding the lead, but they began to fall and the visitors made strikes and spares in a most wonderful manner. At the sixth frame the visitors were only 11 pins behind, and by the next frame they had the lead by the same number of pins. The lead was rapidly increased until it reached 89 in the last frame.

The second game opened with a very poor exhibition of bowling by both teams. Murphy and Worth were only even with the frame on the fifth, while Fred Ball was the only one who did not seem affected by the hoodoo. The visitors rolled poorly, but not as poorly as the Plainfield team, and led throughout the game by an easy majority, although the home team made an effort in the last three frames to pull up. The Westfield A. C. won by 84 pins.

The third game showed a change. The visitors took the lead in the second frame, but gave it up the next, and after that the Parks were never headed. "Puck" Sandford rolled four strikes in succession and followed with two more later in the game. F. H. Ball had a clean frame with never a break, while Fred Ball rolled two double headers. The Westfield crowd lost their nerve and breaks were the order of the game for them. Even the reliable George Voehl missed easy spares. Splits were numerous and the Westfield team had more than their share. They saw defeat at the seventh frame, but Love, who acted as scorer at the board, did not loose heart, but continued to encourage the team on to better things. It did no good, however, for the Parks came in with a Garrison finish while their opponents went to pieces completely.

The individual scores were as follows:

22 LIVES LOST AT SEA

Steamship Cleveland Wrecked in Barclay Sound.

ONLY SEVEN WERE SAVED

Klondike Miners Had Depended on Receiving the Vessel's Tons of Supplies—Congress Will Delay Giving Relief.

Nanaimo, Vancouver Island, Dec. 16.—The missing steamship Cleveland, for which tugs have been searching in vain for the past week, it has been learned, was wrecked in Barclay Sound, twelve miles north of Cape Beale, in one of the terrible storms which recently swept the coast.

Capt. Hall, the purser, the chief engineer, three sailors and one fireman were saved, but twenty-two men who took to the boats when the steamship was wrecked are believed to be lost. There is a bare possibility that they may have landed safely, but no one doubts that they would have perished from cold and hunger before they could have reached succor.

The Cleveland was engaged in the carrying trade, and was loaded with provisions intended for the miners in the Klondike when she started on her journey northward.

The supplies were destined for Taiya and Skaguay. They were imperatively needed to keep alive the army of miners there. The loss means that they will be forced to go to short rations in the Winter. As the gravest fears of starvation have been expressed, even counting on the Cleveland's supplies, it is certain that the suffering will be greatly increased.

Skaguay merchants have given up the Cleveland. They have sent urgent messages for another shipload of provisions to be rushed through, regardless of danger or expense, as it means life or death to hundreds.

San Francisco, Dec. 16.—Vessels arriving here say they had rough experiences in the gale off the coast. Several have come in partially dismasted, and a number of vessels bound here from the north are overdue. Some idea of the force of the gale can be obtained from the fact that at Point Arena quantities of seaweed were blown inland to a distance of 200 feet and were at one place piled to a height of several feet on the beach.

DELAY IN AIDING YUKON MINERS.

Congress Probably Will Not Act Until After the Holidays.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Senator McBride yesterday called up his resolution in the Senate authorizing the Secretary of War to purchase food and supplies and to transport the same for relief of American miners on the Yukon River in Alaska, and appropriating $250,000 to defray the necessary expenses. An amendment to the resolution providing for the transportation of the supplies by means of reindeer was adopted.

Mr. Hawley asked that the matter be referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Senator McBride will press his resolution, but it is now thought, however, that nothing will be done in the matter until after the holiday recess. Senator McBride hopes to get it through without trouble, especially as he has the indorsement of Secretary Alger.

The Senator has received a letter from E. P. Ash, who has just arrived at Portland direct from Dawson, which says:

"The supply of provisions in Dawson cannot last longer than the middle of March. No supplies can reach the interior by ordinary conveyance until next June, and it will require the resources of the United States Government to equip an expedition strong enough to overcome the obstacles of a midwinter journey. This expedition should be authorized at once."

Secretary Alger's request that Congress authorize the purchase of 500 reindeer in Lapland to haul the relief supplies having been met by some doubts as to its feasibility, is explained as purely an emergency scheme to take advantage of the hard-packed snow conditions of February, when traffic by reindeer sledge teams will be easiest and when starvation at Dawson City will be at its worst.

Later ample supplies can be sent to the miners by other routes, especially by the Yukon, when the ice breaks up.

The 1,200 trained reindeer owned by the United States are now in the extreme northwestern part of Alaska, where they cannot be utilized until April or May, but in the meantime it is proposed to hurry provisions over the southern routes by the Dyea trails, and for this purpose an agent has already been sent to Lapland to gather 500 reindeer and the necessary drivers. As there are 50,000 such animals in constant use in Lapland, no difficulty is apprehended in securing those needed; in fact, 1,000 have already been offered for delivery during December.

Arrangements have been perfected to transport them across the Atlantic and to Seattle, to arrive at the latter port five weeks after Congress acts. A short time later they would be delivered in Dyea ready for the journey of relief. If Congressional authority is promptly forthcoming, the caravan could start over the Alaskan passes in February, and War Department officials have fullest confidence that Dawson would be relieved before March 1.

Women Sail for the Klondike.

New York, Dec. 16.—Sixty-five women and 135 men sailed on the City of Columbia yesterday for St. Michael's en route to Dawson City. Mrs. Hannah Gould, of 250 West Twenty-second street, was the guiding spirit of the women's delegation. She refused to say who the women of the party were, saying that they include a corps of trained hospital nurses and twelve missionaries. All the women except two, she said, possess independent means, and the two are smart business bodies who add their brains to the capital of the ship's company.

Buying Reindeer in Norway.

Trondhjem, Norway, Dec. 16.—An agent of the United States Government named Kjeltberg has arrived here to buy reindeer for the Klondike relief expeditions.

GEN. BLANCO OUTWITTED.

The Cuban Junta Meets His Guile with Guile.

New York, Dec. 16.—The whole scheme of autonomy proposed by Spain in the island of Cuba is likely to be completely upset and rendered abortive so far as its effect on public sentiment in this country is concerned by a shrewd move made by the Cuban Junta, whose headquarters are in this city. It is a play on the chessboard equal to any move made by those masters in diplomacy and delay who represent the Government of Spain in the United States.

As already indicated in these dispatches, the policy of conciliation instituted by Gen. Blanco to take the place of the barbaric methods of Weyler has been extended to the refugee Cubans who fled to New York to escape death or transportation, which was to have been their portion under the former regime. A decree of amnesty has been promulgated which guarantees to all political offenders immunity for themselves and their families, perfect safety if they return, and full forgiveness for all past offenses. This was the gist of a cable dispatch sent Tuesday from Gen. Blanco to Senor Dupuy de Lome, the Spanish Minister. It is the open and public declaration of the present Captain-General, and only to those who can read between the lines is its full significance apparent.

Every Cuban refugee in the United States to-day—that is to say, every man of any importance in the revolutionary movement—has been privately offered a political place at a high salary as an inducement to return to Cuba and exert as a civil officer a moral effect on the insurgents in the field. These offices include the Alcalde, or Mayor, the chiefs of the Bureau of Administration, of Public Works and Improvements and hundreds of smaller but proportionately profitable offices. All these have been promised to the autonomists, and negotiations have about been concluded. If carried into effect, as arranged, the backbone of the revolution would be broken in three months, as the fighters in the field could not stand out against the powerful influence that would be exerted by their own countrymen.

From a source known to be trustworthy, the checkmate to this move has been learned. The Cubans who have accepted the propositions, ostensibly as autonomists, are secretly agents of the revolutionary party selected by the New York Junta to pose as public servants in responsible civil and semi-military positons in Havana and other provinces, and holding that extraordinary advantage to aid the insurgents with information and supplies. A prominent Cuban, who is familiar with the many plays that are now rapidly following each other in the struggle between Spain and her rebellious colony, says that the Spaniards had discovered the Cuban scheme within the last twenty-four hours. "It makes no difference," he said, "because Gen. Blanco will now realize that he has been outwitted. He will be afraid to bestow any of these offices now, for fear of scratching an autonomist and finding a revolutionist. It must result in a recasting of his whole policy. The Cuban plans were well laid, and if the agents of the Junta had gotten in we would have driven the Spaniards out of the city of Havana within a month."

Sanguily to Fight.

Philadelphia, Dec. 16.—Gen. Julio Sanguily, instead of being a traitor to Cuba's cause, as recent reports from Havana would indicate, intends to return to the island at once, in obedience to the command of his chief, Gen. Maximo Gomez.

This statement is made upon the authority of a Philadelphia Cuban who stands high among the members of the Junta in this country.

Gen. Sanguily is in Washington, where he expects to remain several days. It is stated that the purpose of Sanguily's visit to Washington is to make a personal call upon Secretary of State Sherman and formally renounce his American citizenship.

Gen. Blanco Denies It.

Havana, Cuba, Dec. 16.—Captain-General Blanco denies positively that he has had any communication whatever with Julio Sanguily, who, it was reported, had tendered his services unconditionally to the Spanish authorities in Cuba.

The Great Medicine that Gives Nerve Strength

Hood's Sarsaparilla Makes the Blood Rich and Pure, Creates an Appetite and Restores Health, Vigor and Vitality.

"I feel that I ought to write a few words in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which has done great things for me. I was in a delicate condition and was sick at my stomach and constipated. I tried remedies highly recommended for female weaknesses, but the medicines brought on other troubles. I was so weak I could not attend to my household duties, and I then determined to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. After I had taken this medicine a short time I began to gain strength. I until I was able to work all day without any inconvenience. I have taken Hood's Pills for constipation, and I am better today than I have been for five years. Since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills I feel rested in the morning. I am less nervous and am sure I have richer and purer blood. I have always been bothered with scrofula, but now I am rid of it. Before my last child was born I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and my girl baby was fat and strong, while my other child was not well and lived to be only two years old." MRS. E. F. How to Prevent Pneumonia.

At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagah, Ind. Ter. Chief. This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and la grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—Fred VanEps will take part in the entertainment at the chapel of the First Presbyterian church tonight, and will play several banjo selections.

Don't be persuaded into buying liniments without reputation or merit—Chamberlain's Pain Balm costs no no more, and its merits have been proven by a test of many years. Such letters as the following, from L. G. Bagley, Hueneme, Cal., are constantly being received: "The best remedy for pain I have ever used is Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and I say so after having used it in my family for several years." It cures rheumatism, lame back, sprains and swellings. For sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—Paughcaughnaughsinque Council, Degree of Pocohontas, will hold a regular meeting this evening. Important business will be considered.

The Discovery of the Day.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discoverey is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits." Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and today stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

—The third rank will be conferred on three candidates at the meeting of Perseverance Lodge, Knights of Pythias, tomorrow evening.

After hearing some friends continually praising Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Curtis Fleck, of Anaheim, California, purchased a bottle of it for his own use and is now as enthusiastic over its wonderful work as anyone can be. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—The Boys' Club is preparing to give an entertainment in the clubhouse New Year's Eve. The talent will all be from the club.

Mr. C. M. Dixon, a well known merchant, of Pleasant Ridge, Fulton Co., Pa., has a little girl who is frequently threatened with croup, but when the first symptoms appear, his wife gives her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which always affords prompt relief. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—The literary evening of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church which was to be held tomorrow night, has been postponed until some future date.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicans had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

DINGLEY ON THE CURRENCY.

Would Have Three Separate Bills Reported—Favors More Banks.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Chairman Dingley, of the Ways and Means Committee, in an interview with a correspondent last night, set at rest all speculation about the course of that committee respecting financial legislation in this Congress. He also talked in a prophetic vein of probable action by Congress on currency questions.

"The only portion of Secretary Gage's financial recommendations which might come before the Ways and Means Committee," said Chairman Dingley, "would be a plan for funding the public debt. My opinion is that there is but slight probability of the committee reporting such a bill. What would be the use, in the face of present conditions in the Senate?

"It is true that the Government could save $12,000,000 a year in interest charges by funding the debt by the issuance of 2½ per cent. gold bonds, yet that consideration weighs but slightly with some people, when it comes to the use of the word 'gold' in the bonds. They would prefer paying the $12,000,000 interest to making the bonds payable in gold. I do not look for any such legislation in this Congress.

"Other portions of Secretary Gage's recommendations will be referred to the Banking and Currency Committee, and I understand he is to appear before that committee to-morrow to explain them. He may embody his ideas in one bill. My advice has been that three separate bills should be reported from the committee. If they are reported they will receive consideration in the House, and will probably pass. These three bills would provide, respectively, for the establishment of national banks in small cities, the extension of the circulation of national banks and the reduction of the tax upon them.

"It is probable the two bills mentioned first might pass the Senate. It is doubtful about the latter. At any rate, the action of the Senate would be a test of the feeling of that body towards currency legislation and might encourage further efforts in that direction."

Chairman Dingley's interview bears out the fact, previously announced, that the Ways and Means Committee will not interfere with the national bank legislation pertaining to the Committee on Banking and Currency, but that when it comes to questions pertaining to the funding of the public debt and similar issues, the Ways and Means Committee will take jurisdiction.

Chairman Walker, of the Committee on Banking and Currency, gave out the following as the programme for his committee:

"The bill of the Secretary of the Treasury shall be before the committee, and the Secretary be given a hearing thereon; the bill to be prepared by the Monetary Commission in the same manner and under the same conditions, and that representatives of the commission be given a hearing. The third bill to be considered will be that presented by the chairman of this committee, and that shall be proceeded with in the same manner as the two bills first mentioned."

Civil-Service Appointments.

Washington, Dec. 16.—In response to a resolution of the Senate the Civil-Service Commission forwarded a statement showing the number of persons examined for places in the classified service since 1890 to be 212,051. Of this number 125,713 successfully passed the examinations, and 31,538 of the number passing received appointments. The eligible list on July 1 last contained 115,497 names. Over half the examinations and appointments were under the Postoffice Department supervision.

GERMANY'S HIGH HAND

Dutch Officer Describes the Port-au-Prince Affair.

ONLY FOUR HOURS TO PAY

People of the Haytian Capital Fled to the Mountains, Thinking That President Sam Intended to Resist a Bombardment.

New York, Dec. 16.—The Dutch steamer Oranje Nassau, which arrived yesterday, was at Port au Prince on Dec. 8 and 9, when the German training ships Stein and Charlotte made preparations to bombard that town in order to collect the indemnity in the Lueders affair. One of the officers of the Oranje Nassau gave an account of the exciting scenes that transpired while his ship was in port.

"We left Aux Cayes on Dec. 7 and went direct to Port au Prince, arriving there on the afternoon of the 8th. In addition to a German training ship there was a French war vessel anchored in the harbor directly astern of the German. The American gunboat Marblehead did not arrive until the following day. We met her coming in as we went out. The German ships arrived in the harbor only a few hours before we did, but the Frenchmen had been there several days. The greatest excitement prevailed throughout the capital over the arrival of the German ships, it being known far and wide that they had come to inforce the demands of Germany. In the absence of an American man-of-war the Haytians, who talk French almost exclusively, were of the opinion that the commander of the French ship might take sides with them and insist that the question at issue be left to arbitration. Nothing of the kind occurred, however.

Only Four Hours' Grace.

"I see by a clipping said to have been cabled that the German ships gave the Haytians eight hours to pay the indemnity. That statement is incorrect. Just one-half that time was stipulated, a notification of intention to bombard the town at the expiration of that time accompanying the demand for indemnity. The latter was formally presented to President Sam, of the Haytian Republic, by the commander of the Stein, who took with him seven or eight of her officers when he went ashore to the palace.

"When it became generally known that the German ships would begin to fire on the city at the end of four hours unless some guarantee of satisfaction was made a semi-official statement was scattered broadcast that President Sam had announced his intention to fight the matter out. Fearing bloodshed hundreds of families began to abandon their homes and fled to the mountains, taking with them their valuables and as much of their personal effects as could conveniently be carried. The grog houses were closed to the public, and to this fact is attributed the preservation of order.

"Many who were unwilling to fly to the mountains embarked on small boats and left the harbor to get out of reach of the German guns. Everybody seemed thoroughly frightened. The Charlotte and Stein had meanwhile been cleared for action, and their guns were trained on the centre of Port au Prince.

"The four hours had expired almost when the citizens were surprised to see a white flag hoisted on the President's palace, and presently an officer left the shore in a sloop and went alongside the Charlotte with the indemnity. Arriving there, it was found that no ladder had been put down to permit him to get on board, and the courier had to climb to the deck of the ship as best he could. It was a clear display of discourtesy, to say the least. The official and the German commander then exchanged signatures, and the latter offered the courier a glass of wine, which was refused.

"Here the incident ended, and the citizens returned to their homes from the mountains and sea. There was general dissatisfaction over the flag of truce when we came away. The more bold of the citizens wanted a fight. I am not surprised to learn that the Ministry stepped down and out since we left the capital."

Baby Weighs One Pound.

Quincy, Ill., Dec. 16.—Quincy boasts of having the smallest baby that has been born in the world for many years. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Slusher, and weighs a trifle less than one pound. It was found necessary to use the dresses of a doll for her raiment. The child's face is not much larger around than a silver half dollar, the fingers are not thicker than a darning needle, and her feet are 1¼ inches in length, and her legs are about as large as the ordinary little finger of an adult. Her body could be placed in a quart cup. She is four days old, and has grown steadily since her birth, giving evidence of becoming a healthy child.

Legal Prodigy in Kansas.

Topeka, Kan., Dec. 16.—Byron Gilbert, the 7-year-old son of Judge W. D. Gilbert, of Atchison, has been granted a conditional license to practice law before the Supreme Court of Kansas. The license is to take effect when the lad shall become 21 years of age. The boy is well versed on all law points, and the examination which he passed would have been a creditable one to any applicant. He is the youngest practitioner ever admitted in the history of jurisprudence. His father was formerly judge of the District Court of Atchison County and is well known in legal circles.

TRADING STAMPS SUSTAINED.

A New Brunswick man engaged a Trenton lawyer to give his opinion on the legality of trading stamps in New Jersey, which was as follows:

Dear Sir—At your request I have examined the decision of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, which declares the business of the Trading Stamp Company illegal.

This decision is based upon an act of Congress applicable only to the District of Columbia, and has no relation to, nor does it affect the business of the company in any other State or jurisdiction.

I have also examined the New Jersey statutes and find none which directly prohibit or can be construed to prohibit the business of the company as carried on in this State.

I am therefore of the opinion that the dealing in trading stamps can be carried on lawfully in the State of New Jersey.

Yours truly,

(Signed) G. D. W. Vroom.

Trenton, Dec. 10th, 1897.

In Pittsfield, Mass., yesterday, Judge Tucker decided that the trading stamp system is illegal, and fined a merchant for issuing such stamps. They were given out with purchases and represented a certain rebate that could be used in future purchases from other merchants employing the system. This is the second time the scheme has been declared illegal.

LESSONS OF ELECTION.

CORRESPONDENT SHOWS WHERE HE THINKS EXPENSES CAN BE CUT.

Declares That the New Council Should Strive to Get the Tax Rate Back to $1.70 or $1.80—His Other Points.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Nothwithstanding the repeated intimations given to our Common Council for the last two or three years, that their extravagant, not to say reckless, expenditure of money and the fearful increase of taxation would lead eventually to their defeat, they have persisted in this policy until the burden could no longer be borne. And it is quite safe to say that if the Citizens' ticket had taken a little more time in their organization, there defeat would have been supreme. It was most unfortunate that no candidates were selected for the Third ward.

After an advance of 50 per cent in the assessments on property and an increase in the rate of taxation from $1.80 to $2.52 on the $100, the burden became unbearable. Only a few days before the election a widow lady came to me in great distress. She owned a house and lot on Park avenue, a very desirable location, which she had been unable to sell or to rent and had no money to pay her taxes. I suppose there are hundreds of such in the city. In repeating this conversation to one of our old citizens, a property owner and tax payer, he stated that there were seven persons holding office in our city government who, combined, did not pay 10 cents for taxes, yet they were always ready to vote for appropriations. This class of office holders must be rewarded with office.

Let the new Council coming into power cut down all appropriations until the tax-rate is again reduced to about $1.70 or $1.80. Commencing with our free schools and bonds tax, let the appropriation be cut down at once. Will any one pretend to say that when this law was passed our legislators had embryo colleges in view?

It was clearly understood to be a common school education for poor children. When you come to add 27 cents on the $100 for the State school tax the assessment becomes unbearable. Take the fire department tax of 21 cents on the $100; why, Mr. Editor, I find that it is more than my entire insurance on my property. If this is universal, would it not be better to abolish entirely this expensive toy, insure your property and take the risk?

These are only a few of the lessons taught by our recent election, but they are not all. M.

that the "cheap" worthless boxes that are offered by many dealers make you skeptical as to the real worth of those HONEST PIANOS we are offering at $178 cash or $198 on easy time payments. If you are, we ask you to look at these. They are thoroughly good Pianos that we know will give satisfaction. All colors of wood. All improvements. Exchanged if not satisfactory. Made by one of the best known manufacturers in the country.

The proof of their popularity is shown by the imitators they have called forth. Contrast them with the Pianos(?) you are offered at other stores at around the same price. An equally good Piano would cost $275 anywhere else.

Fifty dollars mark-down on all regular lines, good till end of year.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

A new culvert is being laid on Dunellen avenue.

Miss Lillie Staats spent yesterday in New York city.

Dr. Turner, of Plainfield, was in town yesterday.

Rev. Dr. Fletcher was in Plainfield on business yesterday.

Isaac Stites is laying a flag-stone sidewalk in front of his house.

Miss Eva Bodine, of Bayonne, is visiting her father, T. C. Bodine.

A meeting of the Dunellen Council will be held Tuesday evening to act on the proposed trolley ordinance.

Mrs. John Sanderson and daughter, Helen, of Flemington, are visiting Miss Emily Apgar, of Front street.

The Epworth League of the Dunellen M. E. church will be held this evening in the audience room. An attractive programme has been arranged and will be well worth hearing.

Tuesday's storm resulted in the rapid rise of the streams in this neighborhood. Green brook overflowed its banks in the vicinity of Sebring's Mills and was hub deep in the cross road that leads to the mountain road. Milkmen coming from that direction had considerable trouble in getting through the water.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Goodwill Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will hold a meeting tonight.

Twilight Council, No. 14, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tomorrow night.

Miss Mattie Brown has returned from a visit of several days with friends in Elizabeth.

The newly-finished east-bound passenger station at Fanwood will be open for the use of patrons of the Central Railroad tomorrow for the first time.

Preparations are being made for a special meeting of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, to be held in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

WON THE STATE TROPHY AGAIN.

Park Club Four Victorious Over the Jersey City Team.

The Parks have entered the whistic arena once more after a short absence following their capture of the Park Club trophy, offered by themselves to the New Jersey Whist Association. Last night they played for the New Jersey Whist Association trophy, held by them. The opposing team came from the Jersey City Club. It was a hard fight, but the Park four proved victorious at last by one trick, the final score being 13 tricks to 12.

The Parks were represented by Messrs. McCutchen, Townsend, Rogers and Reed. The Jersey City team was composed of Messrs. C. Bowly, D. Bowly, Mecabe and Watson.

The match was hotly contested throughout. The teams seemed evenly matched, but it was on clear good playing that the Parks finally managed to defeat their opponents by such a small score.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manuufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. The Advance Club will hold its monthly meeting at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Douglass, on Prospect street, tomorrow evening.

The Union County Bible Society will hold its annual meeting in the Westfield Methodist church tonight. A complete programme of the meeting will be found on the first page.

The I. O. S. will hold a meeting at the residence of Harry Green, on the Boulevard, tonight. The principal feature of the meeting will be a lecture by Dr. R. R. Sinclair on the subject of first aid to the injured.

Westfield is suffering at the present time from a mad dog scare of considerable dimensions. Tuesday a canine exhibiting every symptom of rabies made a tour of the village and managed to bite a number of pet dogs. After continuing its wild career for some time the dog was shot. The question that is troubling the dog owners of the town is what shall be done with their pets who were bitten. It is not known for certain that the so-called mad dog really was affected with rabies, and under those circumstances the owners of the dogs feel an aversion to putting an end to the lives of their pets. They will be kept in confinement until the danger of any appearance of rabies is past.

Stop drugging yourself with quack nostrums or "cures". Get a well-known pharmaceutical remedy that will do the work. Catarrh and cold in the head will not cause suffering if Ely's Cream Balm is used. END OF ITS FIFTH YEAR.

IONA COUNCIL CELEBRATED AN ANNIVERSARY IN A PLEASANT WAY.

A Number of State Officers Were Present and Spoke Entertainingly—Growth of the Lodge Reviewed by Mr. Westphal.

The completion of its fifth year of existence was celebrated by Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, last evening in Red Men's hall. There were a number of celebreties of the order present and the evening passed very enjoyably. The celebration was a private one, only the members of Paughcaughnaughsinque Council and the two tribes of Red Men were invited.

The evening opened with the regular meeting. The necessary routine business was transacted and then some of the visitors made short speeches. Among those to speak were Past Grand Incohonee and National Exemplifier Thomas J. Donnelly, of Philadelphia; Great Sachem David V. Peterson, of Camden; Great Senior Sagamore William J. Smythe, of Long Branch; Past Sachem Rathbone, of Trenton; Great Sannap William Newcorn and Great Deputy Pocohontas Eliza Radin.

The annual election of officers was held and resulted as follows: Prophetess, Mrs. Edward Bowman; Pocohontas, Mrs. Charles Dodwell; Wenona, Mrs. F. Westphal; Powatan, Mrs. William Classan; keeper of records, Mrs Charles Holdstein; collector of wampum, Mrs. A. R. Mattis; keeper of wampum, Mrs. D. C. Allen; trustee for one and a-half years, Mrs. James Bushby; trustee for one year, Mrs. Z. T. Kinsey.

After the meeting a turkey supper was served to members and guests and was heartily enjoyed. A short address by William Newcorn followed, giving a short history of the Council. He told how the Council had been instituted five years ago with a membership of twenty-eight and how it had been organized through the efforts of Mrs. W. A. Westphal, Mrs. William Newcorn, Miss Lizzie Duvier and Miss Ella Sebring, assisted by Past Sachems W. A. Westphal and William Newcorn. It has now grown to a membership of sixty-six and a fund of over $750 in the treasury. From a non-beneficial organization, the Council has developed into a beneficial one, paying a sick benefit of $3 a week and a death benefit of $75.

A dance followed and lasted until the early morning hours. Guttman furnished the music. The committee in charge of the anniversary consisted of Mrs. Charles Holdstein, Mrs. Jule Stephany, Miss Ella Sebring, Mrs. F. Westphal and Miss Emma Weigman.

Elected Chaplain.

Rev. L. E. Livermore was elected chaplain of Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., Tuesday night. His name was inadvertently omitted from the list of officers published yesterday.

DANA'S ACTIVE LIFE.

AS CITY EDITOR OF THE TRIBUNE HE RECEIVED $10 A WEEK.

His Quarrel with Greeley—An Experiment with Socialism—His Erratic Course with the Sun's Politics—A Sanctum Peculiar by Comparison.

Charles Anderson Dana was born in Hinsdale, N. H., on August 8, 1819, of remote Huguenot ancestry. His parents removed from Hinsdale to Gaines, Orleans County, N. Y., when he was two years old, and there he was sent to a country school. The family moved again in 1827 and settled at Guildhall, Vt. In 1831, at the age of twelve, young Dana went to live with an uncle who was a drygoods merchant in Buffalo, and became a clerk in his store. His uncle failed in 1837, and he was made the representative of the assignee to wind up the business. He had determined to get a good education, and he continued his studies at night with the plan of going to Harvard.

Mr. Dana entered Harvard in 1839 without a condition, but he had little money and could not depend upon financial assistance from his family. He managed to get along for two years by teaching school at Scituate three months in vacation and borrowing from the college fund, the college taking an insurance upon his life and receiving payment nearly twenty years later. Near the end of his second year at college his eyesight failed from over study, and he was able to finish the course for that year only by the aid of a classmate, who read to him and heard his recitations.

The weakness of his eyes was a reason for his leaving college at the end of his sophomore year and joining the Brook Farm community at Roxbury, Mass., of which George Ripley was the president. It was as a member of the Brook Farm Association that he performed his first newspaper work as a writer for its organ, "The Harbinger." He became an assistant editor of "The Boston Chronotype," under Elizur Wright, in 1844. His salary was $5 a week, and in this work his ability began to manifest itself.

In February, 1847, Mr. Dana came to New York to better his condition, and obtained employment of Horace Greeley as city editor of The Tribune at a salary of $10 a week. In the autumn his salary was raised to $14 a week. Before this he had been married to Miss Eunice MacDaniel, a young woman of this city, whose parents lived in Walker street. At the time of the French Revolution of 1848 Mr. Dana went to Europe and wrote letters to The Tribune and other newspapers, returning before the close of that year. In the following year he became the managing editor of The Tribune, and his salary was at first $20 a week.

At this time he was in sympathy with theoretical socialism, as he had been with the practical application of it at Brook Farm, and in 1849 he published "Proudhon and His 'Bank of the People,'" a defence of the Frenchman's mutual banking scheme, and an attack on specie currency and interest payment.

For ten years Mr. Dana was managing editor of The Tribune under Mr. Greeley, and George Ripley also took him as his associate in editing "The New American Cyclopaedia," the original edition of which was finished in 1863. He also edited the "Household Book of Poetry," first published in 1857.

Mr. Dana was responsible for the iteration of the "On to Richmond!" cry in The Tribune, which preceded the battle of Bull Run. As soon as Mr. Greeley was able, after the brain fever into which that disaster threw him, he repudiated the utterance, and required The Tribune to abjure efforts at directing military operations. He found further cause, however, for dissatisfaction, and finally insisted on Mr. Dana's resignation. After some delay this was presented, and accepted by the trustees, and took effect on April 1, 1862. The trustees, in Mr. Greeley's absence, passed a complimentary resolution continuing Mr. Dana's salary for six months. Mr. Greeley soon after called a meeting and requested that the resolution be rescinded, on the ground that Mr. Dana was working against the interests of The Tribune and revealing its secrets to a rival. It was decided to ask Mr. Dana to explain, and he wrote a letter, saying that he regarded the salary-continuing resolution as a contract which they could not repudiate.

After leaving The Tribune, in 1862, Mr. Dana next sought employment from the Secretary of War, and was first sent to Cairo, Ill., to investigate the quartermaster's accounts. He was subsequently made one of the Assistant Secretaries of War, and in this capacity was ordered to Chattanooga and other points in the interest of the Department. In the discharge of the duties of observation and secret report thus assigned him, he was sometimes naturally regarded with ill-will by the generals commanding. It was thought that his representations had much to do with the removal of General Rosecrans.

Before the end of the war he had been actively engaged in efforts to organize a newspaper in Chicago, and in 1865 he went there to assume the editorship of "The Chicago Republican." It soon became involved in financial difficulties, and, foreseeing its downfall, he wrote from Chicago to President Johnson, soliciting from him the appointment of Collector of the Port of New York.

The application did not receive a favorable answer. Some time afterward Mr. Dana found occasion to criticise Mr. Johnson savagely in his paper, and thereupon the President gave out, for publication, his letter applying for office.

The failure of "The Republican" involved Mr. Dana in a cloud of litigation. Making his escape from this, he returned to New York, and set about raising subscriptions among capitalists and his old friends for the purchase of "The New York Sun," a steady-going, profitable, cheap paper, which had been started many years before by Moses Y. Beach. It was a long and difficult task to raise the capital, but most of those who invested held on long enough to find the speculation profitable. Mr. Dana took possession of "The New York Sun" in 1868, and continued in its control until his death. He was thought, however, an aspirant still for the Collectorship of the Port of New York. Finally General Grant, whom he had supported vigorously for the Presidency, and of whom he had written a highly eulogistic campaign life, nominated him for the Appraisership of the Port. Mr. Dana declined this nomination, and before long became one of General Grant's severest critics.

Mr. Dana, in spite of his Republican ante cedents, made "The Sun" a Democratic paper and the most influential advocate of Tammany. He proposed and carried on a movement for a statue to William M. Tweed in 1871, and after Tweed refused to permit its erection he advocated the building of a charitable institution, to be named after him.

"The Sun" supported Tammony enthusiastically for years, and in general maintained an attitude of regularity toward the Democratic party of the Nation. In 1880 it gave General Hancock perfunctory support, but toward the close of the campaign showed its wish for his defeat. It made vigorous efforts in behalf of Grover Cleveland for Governor in 1882, but Mr. Dana became estranged from Mr. Cleveland before the Presidential election, and in the campaign of 1884 he supported Benjamin F. Butler, who ran for President on the Greenback platform and was the representative at that day of the forces which have since been gathered into the Populist and Labor parties. When however, in 1888 Mr. Cleveland was renominated Mr. Dana supported the ticket, though he did not approve of the free-trade doctrines then promulgated by the Democracy, and afterward attributed the defeat to them. In 1891 he made a strong fight against J. Sloat Fassett, and contributed materially to the election of Governor Flower, using as his principal weapon in the campaign the Republican leadership of Thomas C. Platt, whom he bitterly assailed.

Mr. Dana opposed the nomination of Mr. Cleveland in 1892, but after he was made the candidate stood by the party so far as to make a platform of his own that of "No Negro Domination," and opposed President Harrison without giving adherence either to Mr. Cleveland personally or to his low-tariff theory.

It was not until 1896 that Mr. Dana finally came back to support a Republican ticket. While still maintaining his position as a Democrat, he had joined Thomas C. Platt in his efforts to prevent the nomination of Mr. McKinley. The action of the Chicago Convention, however, in declaring for free silver raised such apprehension on the part of business interests which Mr. Dana was bound to consider that he utterly repudiated Bryan and advocated the election of McKinley. Since that time "The Sun" has been identified with Senator Platt in his control of the Republican organization in New York.

Mr. Dana's private office was a small corner room on the third floor of "The Sun" building, and many persons who saw him in his office were surprised at the bareness of the room and its comfortless aspect. An old walnut desk table was in the middle of the room, but Mr. Dana did most of his writing on a shabby little round table near the window, where the light was better in the daytime. In addition to the leather-covered chair which Mr. Dana used there were usually two chairs for visitors. On his desk was a revolving case containing books of reference. A third table in the room held a file of the newspaper and a pile of new books. There were several pictures on the walls of the room, but their presence there appeared to be accidental and not intended for the adornment of the room. When he was well and in the city Mr. Dana went to his office with great regularity every forenoon and worked away several hours, dictating most of his articles to a stenographer and revising his copy with much care.

Mr. Dana made a trip to some foreign country, nearly every summer for many years, and in the summer of 1896 he was in Russia. He intended to go to Wales last summer, but his illness prevented him from leaving this country. Mr. Dana also travelled considerably in the United States, and he occasionally delivered a lecture before the students of some institution of learning, or made a speech at a public dinner. Mr. Dana's city home was at Madison avenue, and Sixtieth street, and his summer home on Dosoris, an island of about fifty acres, in Long Island Sound, close to the Long Island shore, and about three miles from Glen Cove.

Mr. Dana took delight in beautifying Dosoris Island with rare trees and plants. His ambition was to have a good example there of every tree found in any part of the world that would grow in that climate. His knowledge of trees and shrubs was extensive and minute. His greatest diversions were in collections of porcelain in town and of plants in the country.

A NEW CUBAN BUTCHER.

The New Commander Has Had Experience Before.

Ramon Blanco Arenas, who succeeds Weyler as commander-in-chief of the Spanish forces in Cuba and as governor of the island, is no new hand at the business he will have to do. In 1894 he was sent by Spain to the Philippine Islands to handle the discontented subjects there, and his success, judged from the butcher standpoint, was not what he desired.

Cubans in New York have no more love for Blanco than they have for Weyler and anticipate no relief from the bloody methods that have marked the course of Spain during the present revolution. It is even hinted by some good friends of Cuba here that Blanco will attempt to be even more merciless than Weyler. With an additional force of 20,000 men at his command Blanco will have more power than Weyler possessed.

In other quarters than Cuban it is said that General Blanco is really a peacefully disposed man, inclined to use mild methods, and it is declared that to compare him with Weyler is unfair, but these same persons admit that when Blanco settles down to be brutal and merciless he can do it in the most approved manner.

In 1897 Blanco was commissioned captain general of Cuba. This was just after the suppression of the last revolution, and Blanco announced that he would continue the mild policy of Campos. But he did not keep his promise. He spent the years intervening between the time he was recalled from Cuba in 1881 to the time in 1894 when he was sent to the South Seas in various posts in the Spanish army. His attempts to work certain judicial reforms and administrative changes in Cuba did not meet with the approval of the cabinet then in power at Madrid, and his light was hidden for a season. His experience in the Philippines, while cruel, was not cruel enough for inquisitorial Spain, and he was replaced by Polavieja, who was mercilessness personified.

For his services in the islands he was raised to the rank of marshal in 1895 and returned the compliment by reporting to Spain the plot whereby the islanders hoped to escape the thralldom of Spain. Blanco practically resigned from the governorship of the islands owing to his inability to devise means cruel enough to burn out the fire of rebellions. Such is the man who will take "Butcher" Weyler's place in the devastated Island of Cuba.

Travel Makes Strange Bedfellows.

"The Boers are a queer lot," says Mary Twain. "I have heard more strange stories about them than I can remember. One was that not long ago a Bishop was once making a business progress through a tavernless belt, and one night he stopped with a Boer; after supper, was shown to bed. He undressed, weary and worn out, and was soon sound asleep. In the night he woke up feeling crowded and suffocated, and found the old Boer and his fat wife in bed with him, one on each side, with all their clothes on, and snoring. He had to stay there and stand it—awake and suffering—until toward dawn, when sleep again fell upon him for an hour. Then he woke again. The Boer was gone, but the wife of his bosom was still at his side.

Their Idea of Massachusetts.

Bishop Lawrence (Episcopal), of Massachusetts, tells some amusing incidents of his visit to London last summer. At the Lambeth Conference he found that the idea of what constituted the State of Massachusetts was very vague. The authorities considered it was some out-of-the-way place, having no prominence of importance, and so the Bishop was placed among the diocesan representatives of New Zealand and other island colonies of Great Britain. "If I had been titled 'the Bishop of Boston,'" he said, "it would have carried greater distinction."

RECESS NOMINATIONS SENT IN.

President Sends a Long List to the Senate.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The President has sent to the Senate a large list of nominations made during the recess. It includes seven foreign Ministers, eight Consul-Generals and a large number of Consuls, as well as army and navy promotions.

Among the nominations were the following: Charles W. Dickinson, of Binghamton, Consul-General to Constantinople; Oscar F. Williams, New York, Consul to Manila, Philippine Islands; Percy McElrath, New York, Consul to Turin, Italy; William Martin, New York, Consul to Chin Kiang, China; William A. Prichett, New York, Consul to Rheims, France; George M. Bridgeman, New Jersey, Minister to Bolivia; Dr. Edward Bedloe, of Philadelphia, Consul to Canton, China; Charles Page Bryan, of Chicago, Minister to China; Ethan A. Hitchcock, of Missouri, Minister to Russia; Dr. Godfrey Hunter, of Kentucky, Minister to Guatemala.

An Inventor's Final Triumph.

Pacific Grove, Cal., Dec. 16.—A fortune of $120,000 has come to a hard-working Monterey clockmaker. Joseph Schulte, Jr., has been planning for years a revolution in the watch and clock industry. Recently his patents arrived from Washington, and also an offer from a foreign patent bureau of $120,000 for them. By means of Schulte's inventions ordinary watches can be made to run eight days, and eight-day clocks run for a month, keeping perfect time, while pendulum clocks, no matter how much out of the perpendicular, will keep themselves in perfect beat.

NOTICE! TO ALL INTERESTED IN UP-TO-DATE LAUNDRY WORK.

We run the laundry and take care of all details, but you "boss" it. We do what you tell us to do. It may give you a new sensation to find that you get a domestic finish when you ask for it, and to discover that your collars are actually ironed in the way that the maker intended them to be ironed.

We are running a laundry with the most improved methods and appliances. We use pure water and good soap. We are using two things that are not commonly used in laundries—care and intelligence. If you have found a laundry that pleases you perfectly, we have nothing to say to you. If you have any reason to be dissatisfied, we would like to give you a practical demonstration of our way of running a laundry.

Tell us where and when to call for your work, when you want it delivered, and let us know any particular thing that you would like to have done with it.

We want you to understand that we are running this laundry for you, and that your wishes are to be regarded in every particular. We will give you just exactly what you want, if we can find out what that is. Perhaps you believe that it is impossible to have your laundry well handled without irritation and annoyance to you. We are sure that you are mistaken. May we have an opportunity of demonstrating it?

Furniture for Remembrances

Little need to jog your memory as to value of the things you gave last year—furniture pieces were those most favored, we'll warrant. Our store's in even better trim to help you than 'twas in '96—and buy on the 75c-a-week-easy-payment-plan if cash is short. Come and see us—even if you haven't cash; we'll try to "fix you up."

And SUCH a Lot of Pretty Chairs!

It's one of our pet hobbies to keep this line complete and inviting above all similar stocks. More room for choice in shapes, sizes, woods, coverings than you've any notion of! Cherry, maple, oak, enameled, gilt chairs, plain and richly covered—$1.75 up to $50. Spend all the time you like among them. Buying is not forced on any one.

For surprisingly slender prices—great hosts of gifts. Tea and Dinner Sets from simplest to most elaborate—Children's Chairs, 50c up—Express Wagons and Sleds—Easels and Music Cabinets, all woods—Lamps and Clocks—Pictures—Brass and Onyx Tables—the "Columbia" Sewing Machine at $29, cash or credit—Chiffoniers and Shaving Stands—Desks and Hat Racks—but why keep on? We'd need two pages, 'stead of a corner in one to tell of all.

"Gift Stoves"

You may smile, but this live stove department has been filled with those buying stoves and ranges for gifts, and ordering them reserved for late delivery. Incidentally, 'tis Newark's largest stock of the sort—over half our main floor and basement is filled with warrranted makes—all low in price. The "Portland" Range is a treat of itself—seen it? Oil heaters here—too.,

People We Know.

They are Plainfield People and What They Say is of Local Interest.

When an accident like the following occurs, right here at home, it is bound to carry weight with our readers. When so many strange occurances go the rounds of press; are published as facts; when the intelligent reader knows they cannot be true, there is no wonder that people become skeptical On one subject skepticism is rapidly disappearing. This is due to the actual personal experience of our citizens and their public utterances regarding them. The doubter must doubt no more in the face of such evidence as this. The public statement of a reputable citizen living right here at home, one whom you can see every day, leaves no ground for the skeptic to stand on.

Mrs. Wm. H. Ludlow, of 88 Jackson Ave., says: "I was troubled with symptoms of kidney complaint, such as backache and a sort of dull pain across loins for several years. If I sat for any length of time and attempted to rise I had a sharp pain in the kidneys. Walking any distance or much standing aggravated the difficulty. I could not rest well at night from the fact that I had to be contantly changing about from one position to another trying to free myself from pain. I used quite a number of remedies but got no permanent relief. I was prevailed upon to get Doan's Kidney Pills from L. W. Randolph's drug store. In justice to them I must say they did me a great deal of good. It is seldom that I feel any pain in my back and when I do a few doses of this remedy never fails to relieve me. I know others who have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results. From my experience I can honestly recommend to all who suffer from Kidney Troubles."

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

House Postpones Civil Service Debate for the Present.

DISCUSSION WAS SPIRITED

Finally Agreed, However, that the Matter Shall Go Over Until the Other Appropriation Items Are Passed—Recess Nominations.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The fight over the civil-service law in the House has been postponed until the Legislative and Executive Appropriation bill is finished. When the last paragraph has been passed the appropriations for the Civil-Service Commission will be taken up and the general discussion will be had at that time.

This course became necessary from the fact that almost every paragraph in the present bill has started a civil-service debate. The discussion yesterday started over Secretary Gage's proposition to reduce clerks who had become incompetent by old age to the six-hundred-dollar grade, instead of dismissing them. This opened a discussion on the creating of a civil pension list, and for about half an hour the debate was lively. Even the advocates of the merit system were outspoken against this idea, and then the anti-civil-service men taunted them for their inconsistency. Representative Moody, of Massachusetts, said that if such a clause was incorporated in the law the American people by a vote of 99 to 1 would wipe out the whole system.

Mr. Quigg, of New York, asked if a civil pension list was not a necessary part of a perfect reform law. The discussion was running to such a length that Representative Bingham, in charge of the bill, appealed to the House to shut off the civil-service debate, saying that ample time had been arranged for that discussion after the bill was finished. The House then decided that there should be no more impromptu debates on the subject until it was reached in its order. This may not be for a day or so yet.

THE DAY IN THE SENATE.

Resolution for the Relief of the Yukon Miners Brought Up.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The Senate passed a bill directing the Secretary of the Navy to report upon the subject of a statue in Washington City of the late Admiral David D. Porter.

Among the bills introduced was one by Mr. Faulkner (W. Va.) granting a right of way through a part of Alaska for a railroad to the gold fields, and another by Mr. Frye (Maine) providing for the operation of steamboats on the Yukon River, Alaska.

Mr. Gallinger secured the adoption of a resolution directing Secretary Gage to transmit to Congress all correspondence regarding the legal right of Collectors of Internal Revenue to appoint their own assistants, and also the correspondence with the Civil-Service Commission relating to the right of the Commission to review appointments made by such collectors.

Mr. Allen (Neb.) presented a resolution requesting the President, if not incompatible with the interests of the Government, to send to Congress the instructions given to the International Monetary Commissioners, the reports they have made and the correspondence relating to the subject. The resolution went over until to-morrow.

NAVAL AFFAIRS IN CONGRESS.

Secretary Long to Explain Armor Plate to the Senate Committee.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs has authorized Senator Hale to confer with the House Naval Committee with the view of securing joint action. Opinion favorable to increased docking facilities was expressed.

The committee also decided to invite Secretary Long to appear before it and explain the status of the efforts to secure lower prices on armor plate.

Secretary of the Navy Long has recommended to the Committee on Naval Affairs that section 1,571 of the Revised Statutes be amended so as to remedy what the department regards as an injustice in checking the pay of naval officers when detached from sea duty. He urges an amendment providing that the fact that an officer is sent temporarily to a hospital on shore or to temporary duty on shore as a member of a court or board, or otherwise, shall not be regarded as a detachment from sea service unless so specified in the order.

THE PRESIDENT RETURNS.

Recess Appointments One of the First Matters to Be Taken Up.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The President and Mrs. McKinley and the members of the Cabinet reached Washington yesterday morning from Canton shortly before 11 o'clock. A quarter of an hour later the President came into his office and began to take up the work which had accumulated during his absence. As it was announced that he would see no one this week, there were no Congressional callers, but as if the office seekers could not respect even such occasions as the present two of the old-timers came to the White House this morning. They did not, however, see the President.

Among the first things the President did was to take up the recess appointments. Several hundred of these are waiting his signature before they can be sent over to the Senate. There are over seven hundred postmasters alone to be nominated. As Congress will adjourn Saturday for the Christmas recess the President is anxious to make some of his nominations at once.

House Sub-Committee.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Chairman Boutelle, of the House Committee on Naval Affairs, has appointed the following chairmen of sub-committees:

Appropriations for the Naval Establishment, Boutelle, of Maine; Organization, Rank and Pay, Foss, of Illinois; Ordnance and Navy Yards, Hilborn, of California; Construction, Repair and Steam Engineering, Boutelle, of Maine; Navigation, Equipment, Supplies and Miscellaneous, Bull, of Rhode Island; Private Bills, Dayton, of West Virginia.

Fat is absolutely necessary as an article of diet. If it is not of the right kind it may not be digested. Then the body will not get enough of it. In this event there is fat-starvation.

Scott's Emulsion supplies this needed fat, of the right kind, in the right quantity, and in the form already partly digested.

As a result all the organs and tissues take on activity.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

CURRENCY REFORM BILLS.

House Committee Postpones Measures Until After the Recess.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The House Committee on Banking and Currency held an animated session yesterday. It had been planned to report to the House at once a bill embodying the President's financial recommendations, and Mr. Brosius from a sub-committee recommended this course. It was sharply opposed, however, by Messrs. Johnson, of Indiana; Mitchell, of New York, and Newlands, of Nevada. It was evident the committee could not agree.

A compromise was made by which the bill covering the President's recommendations and the bill of Secretary Gage and that of the Indianapolis Monetary Commission should be taken up at the first meeting after the holidays. It was agreed also that after hearing Secretary Gage to-day the committee would adjourn until the second Wednesday in January.

To Vote on Senators.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The House Committee on Election of President, Vice-President and Representatives in Congress at its meeting yesterday unanimously agreed to report a joint resolution proposing an amendement to the Constitution providing for the election of Senators of the United States either by direct vote of the people or by the Legislatures of the several States, as now provided.

Section 2 sets forth that the Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen for six years, and each Senator shall have one vote. These Senators shall be chosen by the Legislatures of the States unless the people shall provide for their election by direct vote. A plurality shall elect.

No Social or Political Functions.

Washington, Dec. 16.—It is understood that the President will omit all social and official functions at the White House for thirty days from the date of the death of his mother.

For the Holiday Recess.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The House has adopted a resolution for the holiday recess from Saturday, Dec. 18, to Wednesday, Jan. 5.

War on Gage's New Pension List.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Secretary Gage's plan to create a pension list of superannuated office holders has aroused great indignation among the 18,000 Government clerks and caused a stir in Congress.

The Secretary's plan is that all office holders who reach the age of 70 shall be reduced to a salary of $900 a year for life, the names to be placed on a Government record to be known as "The Honorable Service Roll—a roll established to recognize and commemorate long and faithful service."

The Secretary in a letter to the superannuated clerks says: "It would be a pleasure were it possible to announce also an increase, or at least a continuation, of your present rate of compensation, but the present exigencies of the public service seem to require that you be transferred and appointed to a clerk of class ——, with compensation at the rate of ——, in the office of ——, to take effect from ——."

A Giant Hotel for New York.

New York, Dec. 16.—A new hotel, larger by far than the Waldorf-Astoria, is projected. It will be the largest in the world and will cover the block bounded by Park and Madison avenues and Forty-first and Forty-second streets. The plans are in the hands of Bruce Price, an architect, and a syndicate of capitalists will provide the money for the building. Their aim is to make the neighborhood of the Grand Central Station the most businesslike portion of the city. It is said that both the Astor and Vanderbilt families are interested in the movement, and that the appointments of the new hotel will be as fine as those of the Waldorf-Astoria.

Works of Art Destroyed.

Somerville, N. J., Dec. 16.—The handsome Summer home of former State Senator William J. Keys was burned to the ground last night. It contained many valuable oil paintings and other works of art. A few of the paintings were rescued. A gale was blowing at the time, and the firemen could not subdue the flames until they had almost burned themselves out. The fire broke out a little after 10 p. m. The cause is not known. It is estimated the loss will be between twenty thousand and thirty thousand dollars.

Wolcott Asked to Report.

Washington, Dec. 16.—It is expected that Senator Wolcott will explain to the Senate and the country to-day his recent mission to Europe as the head of the Bimetallic Commission. He will do this in a speech which he will deliver in the Senate in response to the resolution introduced yesterday by Senator Allen, calling for a report from the commission.

Italy Denies Threatening Hayti.

Rome, Italy, Dec. 16.—It is semi-officially announced here that the Italian Government has never thought of sending ironclads to Hayti. The negotiations regarding the small differences between Italy and Hayti are following the ordinary course.

FOR CHRISTMAS DINNER.

TABLE DELICACIES FOR THE MOST FASTIDIOUS IN LOCAL STORES.

Tempting Display Made by the Butchers, Bakers and Others to Catch the Trade of Christmas Shoppers, and Tickle the Palate

Among the many pleasant features of the approaching holiday season is the custom of making it a time for the gathering of families around tables groaning with good things to eat. The atmosphere of Christmas and New Year's will be suggestive of turkey and plum pudding as usual this year, and indications point to a larger business than ever in all the delicacies of the season.

The first man to be considered by the person selecting the Christmas dinner is, by common consent, the butcher. It would be difficult, indeed, to say what the day would be in the average home without a turkey, and the butcher, therefore, is now busying himself in the interests of holiday shoppers.

The butchers are preparing to make an unusually large display this year, including in their stock turkeys, ducks, chickens, and all the choicest fresh meats and sausages which the markets afford. The shops which are worth the particular attention of buyers are those of J. W. VanSickle, on North avenue, the Grandview meat market and W. L. & J. M. Smalley's store, on Somerset street, Fred Endress, on West Front street, and L. A. Hummer, on Park avenue. The establishment of David W. Rogers, on West Second street, is devoted especially to the sale of sea food, including all kinds of fish and oysters in season.

Another important class of tradesmen in the construction of a Christmas dinner is the grocers. The many things that make a dinner really enjoyable are found only at the grocers, and this year no pains have been spared by these tradesmen to provide everything needful for their patrons. Housewives are being attracted by the fine assortments of goods to be found at the stores of J. F. MacDonald, on East Front street, Neuman Bros, on Watchung avenue, George W. Rockfellow, on Park avenue, and S. Scheur & Co., on West Front street.

After the Christmas dinner the men like to enjoy a fine cigar, and in anticipation of their holiday trade the tobacco dealers of the city have not been backward in presenting a complete stock of fine tobaccos and imported and domestic cigars for their patrons. Special notice is due in this line to the stores of M. C. Dobbins and F. H. C. Eggerding, on Park avenue.

There is nothing slow about Alex Lusardi, of 211 West Front street. His stock of fruits and nuts are one of the best and he takes special pride in keeping it so. Anything purchased of him can be relied upon.

THEATRICAL.

John W. Vogel's "Darkest America," the biggest, best and most expensive colored amusement institution in existence will be seen at Music Hall at an early date. Exchanges speak in the highest terms of this organization.

There is no comedian more favorably known than John E. Henshaw who appears here at the head of the famous comedy organization, "The Henshaw-TenBroeck Company." Mr. Henshaw is no stranger to this section, having appeared a number of times in "The Two Old Cronies," his former farce-comedy, "The Nabobs," and now in his latest success, "Dodge's Trip to New York." As a fun caterer he has no superior, and he has always surrounded himself with an excellent organization. This time will be no exception. At Music Hall, Monday evening, December 20th.

Mullins & Sons' Handsome Store.

The new four-story brick and stone addition to Mullins & Sons' large furniture and carpet store, 218 and 220 Market street, Newark, is now the largest and handsomest furniture and carpet warehouse in the State, and one of the largest in the country, and is in keeping with their immense establishments in Brooklyn and Jersey City. The five large floors are devoted to the display of goods, and the stock offered is new, up-to-date, and consists of the very latest design, many of which are exclusive, being specially made for this well-known firm. For over forty-seven years Mullins & Sons have had the distinction of being the headquarters for carpets, and it is a well-known fact that this firm have time and time again purchased the entire output of several of the largest and best carpet mills in this country, and only recently bought $75 000 worth of carpet for their four stores.

STOLEN BICYCLE RECOVERED.

The Man Who Was Riding is Accused of the Theft.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of the bicycle belonging to Charles M. Dolliver, of Manning avenue, has been solved. Roundsman Frederickson has been on the lookout for the missing wheel, which was peculiar in that the front forks were enameled yellow. Yesterday he saw a man on a wheel answering to the description of the missing one and traced the man to his home. The wheel was seen on Paradise alley. The man who was riding it was Charles Aklund, a young Swedish laborer, who lives with his mother in the Hand flats on Watchung avenue. He had taken it to the home of a relative on Paradise alley.

This morning Roundsman Frederickson notified Dolliver and the two went to see the wheel which Dolliver identified at once. He then appeared before Justice Thomas, of the borough, who issued a warrant for the arrest of Aklund, on the charge of stealing the wheel. The warrant was indorsed by Justice Nash, of this city, and Aklund was arrested soon after by Frederickson and locked up. He was afterwards taken before Justice Thomas, and his hearing was set down for this evening.

It will be remembered that the wheel was taken from an outhouse in the rear of Mr. Dolliver's residence on Manning avenue. The house was left unlocked. Aklund was employed at the place some time ago to dig a drain and it is supposed that he saw then where the wheel was kept. Aklund claims that he found the wheel in a lot in the neighborhood of Dolliver's home, and that as there was no apparant owner, he had taken it home He denies that he took it from the outhouse.

DISTRICT DEPUTY SELECTED.

Samuel Robinson, of Perseverance Lodge, Was the Choice.

A district meeting of the Knights of Pythias was held in the rooms of Unity Lodge, No. 102, of this city, last evening, for the purpose of recommending a member to be appointed a deputy grand chancellor for the coming year. The appointment is made by the Grand Chancellor of the State upon the recommendation of the district. The district selected Samuel Robinson of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74 His chief duty will be to attend the Grand Lodge, which will meet in Trenton some time in February. Representatives were present from Unity and Perseverance Lodges, and from Goodwill Lodge, No. 101, of Scotch Plains. Among the visitors were Grand Chancellor Daniel S. Rockfellow, of Somerville, and Past Grand Chancellor Wm. E. Hitchcock, of Newark. After the business session a collation was served.

Activity in Real Estate.

Activity in real estate has not ceased in this city, although the present season is the least favorable one of the whole year for the realty business. Mulford's agency has succeeded in finding tenants for three Plainfield houses this week. The house owned by T. J. O'Reilly, of LaGrande avenue, has been rented by R. W. Simmonds, of Elizabeth, who will take possession with his family, next Monday. The new house of D. M. Force, on East Sixth street, near Berkman, has been leased by Patrick Mulhern, and the house owned by E. P. Clark, at the corner of Front and Waynewood streets, will be occupied shortly by Howard S. Phillips and family, of Fanwood.

A Youthful Author.

Clarence B. LaRue, son of Ira L. LaRue, of Liberty street, received a telegram this morning annonncing that he had won first prize of $15 for the best children's story, written by a boy or girl under fifteen years of age, offered by the New York World.

Policeman Fraleigh's Mother Dead.

Officer Fraleigh has received the sad news of the death of his mother, Mrs. S. L. Fraleigh, last night at her home in Bound Brook. Her funeral will be held at her late residence Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Justice Mosher's Court.

Justice Mosher yesterday issued summons in the case of Peck against Heidloff and Neuman Bros. against Peck. Both actions are on contract, and the summons are made returnable next Wednesday.

Justice Crosley's Court.

Justice Crosley has issued summons in the cases of Peter E. See against Thomas Hughes, and Peter E. See against George W. Nuce. Both cases are on contract and will be tried next Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Demarest have issued invitations for the celebration of their golden wedding at their home on Craig place, Friday evening, December 31st.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Strong are the proud parents of a little boy. They are now stopping at the home of Mrs. Strong's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murray, of LaGrande avenue.

Heir to $7,000,000, She Says

Boston, Dec. 16.—Mary E. Hart, a Providence boarding house keeper, says she is heiress to a $7,000,000 French estate. When the monarchy was overthrown the confiscated lands of the De Trees passed to the Republic. Mrs. Hart says:

"Negotiations have been going on for over a year, and we are now promised a settlement the 1st of January. There's no doubt that we are rightful heirs to this large estate, and will soon possess it. I have a stack of letters and official documents to prove our case, and assurances from the French Government that the money will be transferred in trust for us to the United States Government early in January."

William J. Bryan is prolonging his visit in the City of Mexico, where he continues to be the object of many marks of great regard.

Five of the train robbers who held up the Southern Pacific at Stern's Pass, Grant County, New Mexico, on Thursday last, were captured without a shot being fired by deputy sheriffs.

Albert S. Warner, the chief of the three kidnappers of little Johnny Conway in Albany last August, was caught in Riley, a small Kansas town, about eighty miles from Kansas City.

Frank Weedon, of Providence, R. I., who a few weeks ago sneaked up to a window at which sat his pretty cousin, Miss Bessie Coulters, and fired a load of shot into her body, was sentenced to eighteen years in State prison.

NEW YORK TRIBUNE.

Staunch in Support of Republican Principle, Even When Others Fail.

WHOLESOME, BREEZY, INSPIRING AND ENTERTAINING.

Its Contents Absolutely Free from Whatever is Unfit for the Family.

The New York Tribune offers, to Republicans and to patriotic men of every party, a newspaper, which, in its editorial expressions, is absolutely representative of the dominating spirit, the aims and ambitions of the Republican party of the United States. Staunch, stable and true, it is fearless in support of measures calculated to promote general prosperity and public morals, and is never swerved from its devotion to the party platform by subserviency to improper influences. It was an ardent advocate of the election of McKinley and Hobart, and is unfailingly loyal to the conscience and principle of the party, under all circumstances and on all occasions. The reader will find in its columns a trustworthy exposition of Republican doctrine. The Daily Tribune, $10 a year.

The Weekly Tribune will be handsomely printed during 1898. This edition is issued every Wednesday, and presents an excellent compendium of the contents of the Daily, but adds special information for farmers and the home. Its weekly visits bring to the fireside a fund of sound information, which every man needs for himself, and an influence of good, which he needs for his family. Price $1 a year. Readers can sometimes obtain The Weekly Tribune at a lower price, in combination with a local weekly paper. Sample copies free. Friends of the party and The Tribune are invited to make up clubs for the paper in their localities.

The Semi-Weekly Tribune is issued every Tuesday and Friday. Price $2 a year. This edition is being enriched by the addition to each Friday's paper of a handsome pictorial supplement of 20 pages, in which are printed a profusion of "half-tone" and other pictures of great beauty and artistic merit. This supplement is dignified and able, and not only most entertaining, but immensely educational upon the minds and tastes of the family. An increasing number of subscribers indicates public approval of this feature of The Tribune Sample copies of Friday's paper free.

The Tribune Almanac for 1898, now in preparation, will contain several features of value, not included in previous numbers, among them the new Constitution of the State of New York, providing for non-partisan municipal elections, The Tribune's digest having been approved by Joseph H. Choate a prominent member of the Constitution Convention; the Constitution of the United States; the Dingley Tariff Bill, rates compared with the Wilson Bill, the Reciprocity clauses in full; a history of the Greco-Turkish war; the principal events of 1897, etc., etc. The regular features will be retained, viz: Election returns for 1896 and 1897, in detail; platforms of all parties; an extended array of statistics of trade, commerce, finance, money, production of precious metals, manufactures, public debts, pensions, railroads, shipping, etc.; names of the principal officials of the United States and the several States, with their salaries; an abstract of the latest principal laws of Congress and the State Legislatures; and a great multiplicity of other valuable matters, to which every intelligent man wishes to refer annually. 25 cents a copy. Copies may be ordered in advance. The Almanac will be out early in January.

A large number of Pamphlet Extras, some of them of great interest, have been printed by The Tribune. A circular describing them will cheerfully be sent to any one inquiring by postal card.

THE SIGHTS OF IRELAND

REV. T. LOGAN MURRHY ENTERTAINED THE CATHOLIC CLUB.

He Considers Ireland to be the Most Beautiful and Interesting of all Countries, and His Illustrated Talk Proved It So.

The members of the Catholic Club and their friends were taken upon a delightful trip to Ireland in company with Rev. T. Logan Murphy last evening. The lecture was delivered before a large audience in the clubhouse of the Catholic Club, at Liberty and West Sixth streets.

After being introduced by Rev. Father Smyth, who took the opportunity to express his high regard for Mr. Murphy, the lecturer began his talk, introducing his remarks by the statement that he considered Ireland to be the most beautiful and interesting of all the countrtes he had visited in his European trip.

The first picture thrown upon the canvas was that of the steamship Majestic, upon which Mr. Murphy crossed the ocean. The landing at Queenstown was next shown, along with a number of beautiful views of this city and of Cork. After conducting his audience through the southern part of Ireland, the lecturer placed them upon a real Irish jaunting-car and gave them a ride into the north country, stopping at the famous Blarney castle, Cromwell's Bridge, Muckross Abbey and other points of interest.

Many of the spots had unusual historic interest, as for example, Cromwell's Bridge, which, it is said, was built by the command of Oliver Cromwell, who, on passing that way, was impatient at the absence of a bridge, and gave orders that one should be finished when he returned that way. The order was obeyed, as the inhabitants of the region explain to this day that their forefathers "knew the old rascal knew how to keep his word."

The famous Lakes of Killarney were shown in a series of excellent pictures and their beauties were painted in words of the highest praise. These lakes are the prettiest section of Ireland, and the surrounding hills form a fit setting for their beauties.

The audience were next taken to the city of Dublin, and shown about its quaint streets. The lecture was made more interesting by the large number of anecdotes, mostly of a humorous nature, which kept those present in a state of laughter during most of the time. A pathetic touch was blended in the humor by tales of the sufferings of the peasantry in the great famine in Ireland.

Before the lecture and during the intermission several piano solos were given in an excellent manner by Miss Mary Smith.

The proceeds of the lecture will go into the treasury of the Catholic Club.

HIS FOOT SMASHED.

Howard B. Templin Tried to Climb Over Cars With Bad Results.

Howard B. Templin, a moulder, living at 189 North avenue, and employed at the Pond Machine Tool Works, was the victim of a painful accident while on his way to work Wednesday morning. Templin reached the vicinity of the Pond works at about 6:30 o'clock, at which time he was to report for duty. As he attempted to cross the railroad tracks he found the way barred by a coal train, which was drilling back and forth upon the rails. In his impatience and fear of being late Templin decided not to wait for the train to pass on, but instead he attempted to scramble over the cars as they were moving.

There was a slip and a cry from the unfortunate man, and the next moment he was found lying at the side of the track with one of his feet badly crushed. The foot had been caught between the buffers of two cars as they came together. The injured man was conveyed to his home on North avenue and a physician was summoned. It is thought that the foot will not have to be amputated.

FOR PEACE OF THE MIND

A "DON'T WORRY" CIRCLE TO BE ORGANIZED IN PLAINFIELD.

The Mind to be Trained Into a Channel of High Thought and to Refuse to Harbor Ideas Fraught With Worry.

A circle formed for the purpose of preventing worry on the part of its members must certainly be a benefit to society; and a movement for the formation of such circles has been started in New York during the last six weeks, and is spreading rapidly. A representative of the movement, Theodore F. Seward, of New York, spoke to Plainfielders last night and the Grace P. E. church parish house, greatly interesting his audience.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, who then introduced Mr. Seward with a few appropriate words as to the importance of the evening topic. Mr. Seward's address was earnest and thoughtful, and dealt with some of the greatest subjects upon weich the human mind can dwell. He said that the subject of not worrying led one to the very foundations of human thought. Without a personal knowledge of God as the all-powerful, all-loving, and all-seeing Ruler of the universe, there can be no place for the soul. The Father's only business is to give blessing to his children, and he asks them to give him in return their whole trust and confidence that by his almighty power he will in some way order every event of life for their highest final good. The "Don't Worry" movement is a glorious optimism; a practicing of the Christianity that we thought we believed before. "Don't Worry Circles" are rapidly being formed; in families, among companies of friends, and in case occupying the hour devoted to the mid-week service of a New York church. Papers on appropriate subjects are read, followed by open parliaments, and the discussion of such a vital topic is having a strong influence for good.

The habit of a life time is not to be overcome in a day; and Mr. Seward concluded his address by reading, from a book which he has prepared on the subject, some practical rules for curing the worry habit. Among them were the following: Memorize Scripture promises, and rest on them. Cultivate a spirit of gratitude for daily mercies; there is no better path to God than that of gratitude. Realize that worry is an enemy to your happiness, and attack it definitely by refusing to harbor worrying thoughts. The soul is stronger than the thoughts to which it gives birth. Realize that worrying does you no good, but it often does harm to yourself and to others. Help others, thus aiding in forgetting yourself. Draw others into the Circle; the fellowship in endeavor will strengthen both.

At the close of the address, Dr. Rodman and former Mayor Alexander Gilbert each said a few words expressing strong approval of the movement; and then Dr. Rodman invited all interested to meet Mr. Seward in the guild room at 10:45 o'clock this morning, at the close of the Ember Day service, to discuss the formation of a circle in this city.

At the meeting held this morning in the guild room the women present were heartily in favor of the circle idea, which brings this life of trust prominently before the minds of men and women. A committee to talk up the idea and make plans for the future was formed, and after the holiday season a public meeting will be held, at which time a circle will be organized and officers chosen.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Rev. D. H. Clare, who is to speak at the men's meeting in the Y. M. C. A., Sunday afternoon, is considered the most popular preacher in Colgate University, and as he will accept a pastorate on graduating, next June, it is probable that he will not be heard here again for many years. His subject will be "The power of the tongue."

THE FIRST YEAR ENDED.

ANNIVERSARY EXERCISES OF GREENBROOK COUNCIL, ROYAL ARCANUM.

The Event Celebrated in a Pleasant Manner by the Members and Their Friends—State Officers Were Present and Talked.

The latest offshoot of the grand old Royal Arcanum tree to spring up in local ground, Greenbrook Council, No. 1725, celebrated the completion of its first year of existence last evening, with an entertainment in G. A. R. hall. The friends of the council gathered in large numbers, filled the room and overflowed into the ante-room outside. The audience was an enthusiastic one and found plenty to be enthusiastic over.

H. I. Bowne, of Jersey City, president of the Royal Arcanum Bed Fund Association, of which the Greenbrook Council is a member and supports a bed at Muhlenberg Hospital, was one of the principal entertainers. He had a fund of humor and doled it out to the assembled friends in large quantities. Besides relating humorous stories and anecdotes, he gave several recitations.

An address was made by Grand Regent W. Holt Apgar, of Trenton, who is also Supreme Vice Regent of the United States. He told of the principles of the order and how they were carried out. He spoke of the rapid growth of the order and the general favor it met with on every hand and delared that its success was due to the fact that it was organized on the true principles of a fraternal order. He made a very eloquent address.

Councilman William N. Runyon sang "The Grenediers," and gave another selection in response to the loud applause. Prof. Swartz, of Jersey City, attired in the costume of a colored minstrel, gave several banjo solos. Mr. Bowne exhibited a gramaphone and gave a number of selections. An interesting five minute talk was given by Grand Vice Regent Lightfoot, of Westfield.

Besides the members of the Grand Council already mentioned there were present Deputy Grand Regent W. H. Pfeiffer, of Bayonne; Special Supervising Deputy Grand Regent G. N. Busby, of Merchantville; A. W. Rand, of Plainfield, and several others.

At the close of the entertainment there was an informal reception to the grand officers, after which a banquet was given to the grand officers at the Hotel Tuileries. A number of the members of the council were in attendance at the banquet.

The entertainment was arranged by a committee composed of George O. Stevens, Frank L. Cobb, Wm. L. Oliver, Harry W. Coward and Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, who deserve great credit for the enjoyable evening that they gave their friends and fellow members.

DECORATED IN SCARLET.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker Entertained Friends in a Lavish Manner.

The spacious home of Councilman John T. Baker, of Stelle avenue, was the scene of a charming social function yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Baker and Miss Gertrude Baker held their second "at home" that followed the reception given to Miss Baker several weeks ago.

The decorations were particularly elaborate. The drawing room is finished in scarlet, that color predominating in the paneling of the ceiling, the paper on the walls and the velvet carpet on the floor. The decorations were made to conform with it and the effect was very beautiful, bringing forth expressions of delight as each group of visitors entered. Large holly wreaths, with their bright scarlet berries, and tied with broad scarlet ribbon, hung in every window and on the walls. On the table large red roses and scarlet shades on the candelabra added to the general effect. Christmas lilies were also used for decoration.

The guests were received by Mrs. Baker and Miss Baker. In the dining room Mrs. E. H. Ladd, Jr., poured chocolate and Mrs. William M. Stillman presided at the tea urn. The young ladies assisting were the Misses Middledith, Bertha Clark, Florence Waring, Minnie Wood, Annie Miller, Katheryn Reinhart and May Evans.

The "at home" was largely attended and many beautiful gowns were displayed by those assisting and by the guests.

Christmas at Children's Home.

Articles especially needed for the Christmas tree at the Children's Home are shoes, stockings and rubbers in assorted sizes for twenty children, from three to fourteen years, handkerchiefs, warm underwear, outing flannels, gingham or prints, gloves or mittens. In short, anything boys and girls need or like. (Signed) M. E. Kimball.

BANQUET FOR ATHLETES

Y. M. C. A. MEMBERS HAD A FESTIVE TIME OF IT LAST NIGHT.

Remarks Made by John Valiant and Rev. J. O. McKelvey on the Importance of a Sound Physical Makeup—Others There.

The banquet for members of the physical department of the Y. M. C. A. was held in the small assembly hall of the Association building, beginning at 6:30 o'clock last evening. There were four tables arranged, and fifty-seven guests were present. The room presented a pretty appearance, being tastefully decorated with flags. S. B. Joseph acted as master of ceremonies, and called upon Rev. J. O. McKelvey to make the opening prayer.

The first speaker of the evening was John Valiant, chairman of the committee on physical work. He spoke of the necessity of a sound physical makeup, and stated that men must be healthy and strong if they wish to be happy. Rev. J. O. McKelvey was introduced and spoke of the remarkable growth which the Y. M. C. A. has had in this country in recent years, and the good influence it has had upon its members, developing their physical, mental and spiritual strength.

Frank O. Bristol, formerly assistant secretary of the association, gave a humorous reading which brought forth much applause. It described the predicament of a Yale man who found himself in a boat full of Harvard girls.

During the evening S. B. Joseph took occasion to speak of the Bible class for members of the physical department, conducted by Physical Director Heywood, and A. C. LaBoyteaux made some remarks concerning the Sunday afternoon men's meetings.

A rising vote of thanks was passed to the ladies who had the dinner in charge. They were Mrs. J. W. Gavett, Mrs. C. E. A. Heywood, Mrs. S. R. Struthers, Mrs. Roger F. Murray, Mrs. J. O. McKelvey, Mrs. L. M. French, Mrs. J. H. Manning, Miss Carrie Dewey, Miss Long, Miss Bonnell, Miss Kirby Mrs. Townsend Rushmore and Mrs. Emily Tunison.

The company then adjourned to the parlors, where speeches were made by W. D. Murray, president of the association; S. C. Crane and Rev. H. J. Johnston, pastor of Grace M. E. church.

CLEVER CHARACTER SKETCHES.

Miss Overton Entertained an Audience at the Park Club.

The members of the Park Club and their friends were treated to a very enjoyable entertainment last evening at the little hall in the clubhouse. The house committee believed in patronizing home talent and so Miss Grace Elting Overton, reader, and the Plainfield Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club were secured for the evening.

Miss Overton, who is now home from the Emerson College of Oratory at Boston for the Christmas holidays, proved a delightful entertainer. Her character sketches were remarkably well given, and the ease with which she depicted the different parts showed her to be a young woman of versatile talents. While very amusing in the humorous selections, it was in the tense thrilling ones that she excelled.

The Plainfield Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club was well received at the start. From those who had never heard that local musical organization, there were general exclamations of surprise and pleasure that Plainfield should be able to have such an excellent array of talent. The club gave seven selections, including the encores, and played them with a vigor and skill that promises a bright future for the club. General satisfaction was expressed with the whole entertainment.

Interesting Reform Club Meeting.

A largely attended meeting of the Reform Club was held in Reform Hall last evening. After the usual devotional services a programme was rendered consisting of a vocal duet by two small girls, remarks by Messrs. Sayers, Armstrong, Bauersachs, Scribner and Manley, a vocal solo by Miss Jennie Smith and a cornet solo by Mrs. Anderson. At the close of the meeting there was one signer to the pledge. Meetings will now be held every Thursday evening.

A Smart Young Man to Lead.

Rev. D. H. Clare, of Colgate University, who for the past two summers has supplied the pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will have charge of the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A., on Sunday afternoon. The programme will include a number of cornet and violin solos, and other interesting special features, making the meeting one of unusual interest.

Thomas H. Keller, of East Front street, went to Brooklyn yesterday to attend a big bird shoot.

BIG TROLLEY PROJECT.

TO DEFEAT THE BERGEN COUNTY OWNERSHIP PROPOSITION.

Central New Jersey Railroad is Hostile to Any Trolley Scheme to Parallel its Tracks Through its Most Populous Points.

Senator F. M. Voorhees and Mayor Rankin spoke last night at a mass meeting in Elizabeth on the scheme to extend First street to Carteret, three miles.

The plan involves the construction of a bridge across the Rahway river at a cost of $40,000 or more.

The road would extend along the Staten Island shore front, and would be of much benefit to manufacturers.

The Co-operation of the Middlesex County Board of Freeholders is asked, as the Rahway river divides the tine of Union and Middlesex counties, and the expense would have to be equally met.

This, the Middlesex Board, says can not be done, because the Board is using all of its energies to have a bill passed for a bridge across the Raritan from Perth to South Amboy.

It is generally conceded, says the Newark Advertiser, that the plan to build the Carteret road is the intention of the trolley magnates, who would build an electric line from Perth Amboy to Elizabeth, and thence to Plainfield, absorbing the present horse car line of the Elizabeth Street Railroad Company, and the interests of the Chandler Riker and Howe road, which has abandoned its efforts to secure right of way on Westfield avenue, and has filed papers at Trenton for a line from Second avenue, Elizabeth, to Garwood, at which place it will cut through a street and cross the tracks of the Central Railroad to North avenue and thence to Cranford and Westfield.

It is believed by this flank movement that the Bergen plan of building a trolley line on Westfield avenue at the county expense will be abandoned.

It is asserted that the Bergen plan, which entails much delay, is fostered by the Central Railroad Company, which does not wish to have a trolley line parallel its road through the most thickly settled portion of its territory.

Mr. Bergen is still enthusiastic. Messrs. Riker and Howe claim that they have all the signers they desire, and that the construction of their road will soon begin.

FINE MUSIC RENDERED.

Church Choral Society's Programme in First Presbyterian Church

The Church Choral Society, composed of the members of the choir of the First Presbyterian church, gave its first musical entertainment in the chapel of the church last evening to a small but appreciative audience. The entertainment was worthy of a far larger audience.

The concert was given under the direction of W. E. MacClymont, organist of the church. The chorus was composed of the members of the choir. They were assisted by Fred VanEps, banjoist, George H. Smith, tenor, Harold Barrett, baritone, and an orchestra composed of Messrs. Davis, Hillman, Serrell, Sorensen, Dunham and Harold.

The programme was as follows:

Orchestra—Selection from "The Serenade." Herbert

Chorus—"Over the Fields and Far Away." Geibel

Tenor Solo—"Dear Heart".....Mattei
Mr. Smith.

Banjo Solo—"Marriage Bells".....Oreardone
Mr. VanEps.

Song—Selected.....Mr. Barrett

Chorus—"How Sweet the Moonlight"..Calcott

Banjo Solo—Pas de Galete.....Durandeau
Mr. VanEps.

Song—Selected.....Mr. Barrett

Chorus and Orchestra—"By Babylons Wave." Gounod

A Dog Case.

The appealed case of Demler against Smith, which was tried before Justice Spear and a verdict of $15 for the plaintiff given, comes up at this term of court in Somerville, The suit was for the value of Demler's dog which he claimed that Smith killed.

WILL DECORATE SCHOOL

NORTH PLAINFIELD PUPILS RAISE FUNDS FOR THIS END.

A Successful Entertainment Given in the Borough Public School Last Evening—Proceeds to go for Pictures and Books.

The entertainment which was given by the pupils of the primary and grammar grades of the North Plainfield Public School, in the assembly room of the school last evening, proved to be a most successful affair, and netted a comfortable sum which will be devoted to the purchase of pictures and other decorations for the primary grade rooms, and additional books for the grade libraries.

The programme began with a well-executed piano solo by Miss Mary Neely, which was well-received by the large audience. The "Mother Play," which came next, was an amusing exercise by the kindergarten, including several of their plays and songs. Miss Marion Overton won the audience with her recitation "When the sewing club meets." A motion song was next given by twenty-five pupils of the first grade. It was roundly applauded.

One of the most popular incidents of the evening was the appearance of the well known personage, Mother Goose, attended by many members of her numerous family. The different characters, were Jack Honor, Little Boy Blue, Jack and Jill, Old Mother Hubbard, Simple Siman. Each one was attended by pages, who recited as the character appeared. Miss Pauline Philo next recited very well "The Minuet," and Edwin Springer told in inimitable fashion of the things that used to happen "When I was a boy."

The vocal duet "A doll's drill," given by two little girls, Helen McCullum and Amelia Wedemyer was very clever, and pleased the audience greatly. "The Milk Maids' Drill," was a well executed piece by the members of the second and third grades. The drill showed excellent training on the part of the teachers in charge.

Miss Pauline Philo and Miss Mary Cain pleased the audience with a piano duet played in excellent manner; Leo Kenney gave a clever recitation entitled "My shadow and I," and showed himself a well trained elocutionist. The primary pupils next sang a chorus which was well received; Miss Mabel Hamilton recited "The Proposal," Miss Bertha Mantz sang a vocal solo, and then came the closing piece of the programme, a flag drill by ten boys and ten girls of the fourth grade. Each pupil held an American flag, and as the drill was executed, a number of beautiful and intricate figures were formed of flags. The piece called forth much applause.

The pupils were drilled for the entertainment by Prof. Wightman, the principal, and the teachers of the different grades. The sale of tickets was limited only by the capacity of the assembly room.

AN ELOQUENT ADDRESS.

Rev. W. J. Swaffield Dwelt on the Need of Being Filled With the Holy Ghost.

A very eloquent addess was delivered in the chapel of the Park Avenue Baptist church last evening by Rev. Dr. W. J. Swaffield, pastor of the Summit Avenue Baptist church, of Jersey City. His topic was "The Holy Ghost, Its Need, Work and Results." It was an earnest talk on the necessity of a spirit-filled life. He dwelt particularly on the need of being emptied of self and all things pertaining to self and of being filled with the Holy Spirit. He said that what the modern church needed was not more organization, of which there was plenty, but more of the Holy Ghost to take the place of self that now prevailed. Until that was accomplished, he said, the revivals that were so earnestly hoped and prayed for would never come.

GAGE'S CURRENCY BILL

Submitted to the House Committee on Banking.

CHIEF FEATURES OF PLAN

It Proposes to Prohibit the Reissue of Redeemed Greenbacks Except for Gold Deposited—The Secretary for a Solid Gold Standard.

Washington, Dec. 17. — Secretary Gage appeared yesterday before the House Committee on Banking and Currency to present a bill embodying his views for a revision of the currency, to explain and urge its provisions, and to meet any objection raised by the committee. He said in opening: "The object I have in mind in the series of provisions offered by me are four in number:

"First—To commit the country more thoroughly to the gold standard; remove, so far as possible, doubts and fears on that point and thus strengthen the credit of the United States both at home and abroad.

"Second—To strengthen the Treasury in relation to its demand liabilities, in which are included greenbacks, Treasury notes, and the incidental obligation to maintain on a parity, through interchangeability with gold, so far as may be necessary, the present large volume of silver certificates and silver dollars.

"Third—To do this in such a way as not to contract the volume of circulation in the hands of the people.

"Fourth—To take an initial step towards a system of bank note issues without the conditional deposit of public bonds as security therefor. If we prosper as a people the revenue of the Government ought to be somewhat in advance of its expenditures, and the public debt of the United States gradually reduced and finally extinguished.

"Looking at the question widely, from my best point of knowledge and experience, I feel that if these could be secured the condition of the Government, in its relation to the currency, would be much safer and stronger than now, and that through the operation of national bank note currency the commercial and industrial interests of the United States would be greatly advantaged."

After this initial statement it was deemed advisable to read the Secretary's bill in details and discuss it section by section. The bill has the same features as outlined by the Secretary in his report to Congress, and the chief points are:

The establishment in the Treasury Department of a Division of Issue and Redemption.

Transferring to the said division of $125,000,000 in United States gold coin, and such further sums of standard silver dollars and silver bullion, purchased under the act of Congress, July 14, 1890, as shall equal the silver certificates outside the Treasury and Treasury notes of 1890 outstanding on the date when this act shall take effect, and thereafter the gold and silver coins and bullion hereby transferred from the general fund in the Treasury as herein provided shall be increased or diminished, as the case may be, in accordance with the provisions of this act, and in no other way.

The Secretary is authorized to receive any of the 5 per cent. bonds of 1904 and the 4 per cent. consols of 1907, and to issue in exchange coupon or registered bonds of the United States.

The bonds authorized shall be redeemable after ten years, payable in United States gold coin, and exempt from all taxation; they may be deposited as security for national bank circulating notes to an amount not exceeding a bank's capital. The amount of bonds so issued shall not exceed $200,000,000.

A wide range of discussion occurred on Section 2 of the Secretary's bill, which is as follows:

"Section 2. That all United States notes, Treasury notes of 1890, and silver certificates presented for redemption, shall be redeemed from the redemption fund herein provided, in accordance with the terms of existing law; but the notes and certificates so redeemed shall be held in and constitute a part of said fund, and shall not be withdrawn from said fund nor disbursed, except in exchange for an equivalent amount of the coin in which said notes or certificates were redeemed, but to enable the Secretary of the Treasury more thoroughly to carry out the provisions contained in this act he is hereby authorized to exchange any of the funds in the Division of Issue and Redemption for any other funds which may be in the general fund of the Treasury Department.

"Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed as repealing that provision of the act approved July 14, 1890, which provides that there shall be outstanding at any time no more and no less of the Treasury notes authorized by said act than the silver bullion and standard silver dollars coined therefrom than held in the Treasury, purchased with said notes."

Mr. Gage explained in detail the plan of issuing national bank notes for United States notes, Treasury notes and silver certificates, and the covering of the latter demand notes for refunding bonds. He said the purpose of this was to accumulate $200,000,000 of the demand obligations, placing them aside, where they would relieve to that extent the demands on the Treasury. At the same time he did not consider it safe to contract the currency by $200,000,000 at one stroke, and for that reason he had provided for the issue of national bank notes to fill the vacuum.

As soon as the House Banking Committee adjourned, Chairman Walker took the typewritten copy of Mr. Gage's bill on the floor of the House and offered it. This was done to get the bill printed and to have it referred officially to the committee.

The Secretary did not finish his argument, and will appear before the committee again to-day. He created a most favorable impression, and the members of the committee declared his explanations were most clear and his arguments strong.

BOUND FOR THE KLONDIKE.

Steamship Leaves New York with 535 Passengers for Frozen North.

New York, Dec. 17.—The steamship City of Columbia sailed yesterday afternoon from the Old Dominion pier on a voyage to the Yukon, the new promised land of wealth in the frozen regions of Alaska. She carried 535 passengers, of whom about sixty were women.

The voyage is the first to be attempted from the Atlantic seaboard, and as a natural sequence much interest attaches to it. Over 19,000 miles is to be traversed, and, if no accident occurs to prevent, the City of Columbia will be the first ship to traverse the seas almost from the Antartic to the Arctic zone.

The ship is manned by a picked crew of seventy men. Every one of them is an able seaman. The commander, Capt. Ezekiah C. Baker, is a famous mariner.

The first stop will be at Montevideo. Then she will touch Valparaiso, and no other ports will be visited until Seattle, Wash., is reached. From Seattle the Columbia will sail for the mouth of the Yukon, where the passengers will be landed.

"We have had applications for over four thousand berths," said Capt. Baker, "and double rates were offered, providing I would agree to take them aboard. We have only accommodations for 535 passengers, and therefore the agents only booked that number for the trip."

The female contingent is headed by Mrs. Hannah Gould, of 250 West Twenty-second street. The party is composed of trained nurses, missionaries and women of means, who intend to invest money in the mines. Mrs. Gould intends to build a hospital and a mission house in Dawson City, to be managed by members of her party. She is enthusiastic over the project, and believes that she will be hailed as a Samaritan by the miners in the isolated regions of the Yukon.

CABINET FIXES SOCIAL DATES.

Official Dinners and Receptions Postponed.

Washington, Dec. 17.—The agreement in Congress to adjourn for the holidays on Saturday next, somewhat earlier than the President expected, was the basis of a special Cabinet meeting at the White House yesterday. It was the first chance that the President had had to talk with his advisors since his mother's fatal illness began, and, as he wished to dispose of business relating to the legislative branch before the adjournment for the holidays, the meeting was called to get these things in shape for transmission to the House and Senate.

Reports from the various Cabinet officers were considered at the meeting and it was agreed to send them to Congress at once. The President also asked the opinion of the Cabinet in regard to some appointments which he wishes to make without delay.

One of the purposes of the meeting was to consider whether there should be any change in the social programme for the White House on account of Mrs. McKinley's death. It was decided to postpone for a month all official events of a society nature, and not to hold the New Year's reception with which the official season is usually inaugurated. The programme was changed so as to postpone the various events until the folowing dates: Jan. 10, diplomatic, judicial and Congressional reception; Feb. 2, judicial and Congressional reception; Feb. 9, Supreme Court dinner; Feb. 16, army and navy reception; Feb. 23, Congressional, diplomatic and judicial reception; March 1, public reception, from 9 to 11 o'clock p. m.

POPULISTS TAKE ACTION.

Oppose Civil-Service Laws and Are Opposed to Currency Reform.

Washington, Dec. 17.—A caucus of the Populist members of the House of Representatives was held at the National Hotel last night. The following resolutions were adopted unanimously, except that referring to civil service:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this caucus that we will resist all efforts to so modify the existing civil-service laws as to enable any party that may be in power to fill the different positions in the civil service with partisans.

"Resolved, That we are opposed to and will resist all efforts to destroy our greenbacks and Treasury notes, whether it be by direct legislation or by the subterfuge of refusing to reissue the same except in exchange for gold.

"Resolved, That we are opposed to any scheme of enlarging the powers of national banks; that we oppose the conferring of the power to issue notes designed to have the same function as money to any bank, corporation or individual.

"Resolved, That we favor the early consideration and passage of a joint resolution recognising the belligerency of the Cuban Republic.

"Resolved, That we are in favor of the early passage of an equitable voluntary bankruptcy bill."

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagah, Ind. Ter. Chief. This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and la grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. The Discovery of the Day.

Aug. J. Bogel, the leading druggist of Shreveport, La., says: "Dr. King's New Discoverey is the only thing that cures my cough, and it is the best seller I have." J. F. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits." Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and today stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicans had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

RELIEF FOR STARVING MINERS.

Senate Passes a Bill Appropriating $250,000 for the Work.

Washington, Dec. 17.—When the Senate opened yesterday Mr. Frye, chairman of the Committee on Commerce, reported a bill appropriating $40,000 for the purchase or construction of a revenue cutter for service on the Yukon River, Alaska, and made a statement as to the importance of immediate action. It was thereupon passed.

The concurrent resolution for a holiday adjournment from next Saturday to Wednesday, Jan. 5, was reported and agreed to.

Mr. Hawley, of Connecticut, chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a substitute for the bill to relieve American miners and other sufferers in the Yukon district in Alaska, and asked for its immediate consideration.

The substitue makes an appropriation of $250,000, to be expended under the direction of the Secretary of War, in the purchase, transportation and distribution of stores, supplies and material. It authorizes the Secretary (the consent of the Canadian Government being first obtained) to extend relief into Canadian territory, and to sell subsistence stores at fixed prices, or to distribute them gratuitously where persons are found to be in need. It also authorizes the purchase and importation of reindeer and the employment of foreign reindeer drivers. The substitute was agreed to and the bill was passed.

Relief Bill in the House.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Some routine business was disposed of at the opening of the House session yesterday, and then Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, presented a bill appropriating $175,000 to enable the Secretary of War to purchase supplies, stores and materials for the inhabitants of the Yukon River country in Alaska, supposed to be starving, and to provide for the transportation and distribution of the supplies.

Mr. Bailey questioned the necesity of the legislation, and his colleague, Mr. Sayres, said it was due to the absolute inability of private parties to get into the valley where the miners are located.

Mr. Cannon made an explanation of the situation in Alaska and what was expected to be done for the relief of the sufferers. He quoted Dr. Sheldon Jackson, the Alaskan traveler and expert, to demonstrate the necessity for the relief proposed. He estimated that 5,000 persons were up there, and that, even if the proposed expedition were started now, they could not be reached before March 1. Until that time, Dr. Jackson believed, they could exist by a division among all of the provisions in store.

Mr. Bailey, of Texas, criticised the bill principally on the ground that he could not look with any complacency on the spectacle of this Government engaging in commercial enterprises and becoming a vendor of reindeer.

The bill was advocated by Messrs. Cannon and Sayres, of Texas. Mr. Cannon said that principles were made for men, and not men for principles, and that as against achieving practical results he would never interpose a mere theory. The bill proposed that those miners who had gold, which they could not eat, should be permitted to exchange it for food when the expedition reached them, and thus reimburse the Government. Men who could not buy would have their necessities supplied without money and without price.

RED HAT FOR CORRIGAN.

He Will Succeed Gibbons as Head of the Catholic Church.

Rome, Dec. 17.—It is again affirmed that the Pope, recognizing the importance of New York as a Catholic centre, will, in one of his next Consistories, create Archbishop Corrigan a Cardinal, with the right of succession to Cardinal Gibbons, and the added dignity of Primate of the Catholic Church of the United States.

The appointment of Archbishop Corrigan to a Cardinalate has long been moot at the Vatican. It is the new and higher honor of the proposed Primacy that gives the present story its great interest.

The watchful attention which His Holiness has bestowed on Catholic affairs in the United States has for years been an increasing one, and the proposition to establish an Arch-Cardinalate in America, who should be the administrative head of the Church outside of his executive representative, the Legate, is altogether in keeping with the new and advanced policy of the Papacy.

Examining the Lee Bomb.

Havana, Dec. 17.—The bomb which was left in the building where the United States Consulate is located is being examined by an expert, but he has not yet determined what explosive it was filled with. In fact, it may not have been dangerous at all, but simply placed where it was for the purpose of attempting to frighten Consul-General Lee.

The bomb was a short tube, cleverly made and filled, and inclosed in a small wooden box with a draw lid. To all appearances, it was so made inside that when the lid was drawn it would ignite specially prepared matches attached to a quick fuse. This is the second bomb placed in the Consulate building, but the first was clumsy and harmless.

Griggs Awaits McKenna's Fate.

Washington, Dec. 17.—The report that Vice-President Hobart, Senator Sewell, Gov. Griggs and State Senator Voorhees held a conference here yesterday to decide whether Gov. Griggs or his probable successor, Senator Voorhees, should make the State appointments, is denied. A prominent Jerseyman said there would not be a conference, and none was necessary.

Gov. Griggs' name, he said, would not be sent until Mr. McKenna was confirmed by the Senate as Supreme Court Justice, and Gov. Griggs would make all appointments up to the time he resigned.

Severe Blizzard in Nebraska.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 17.—A severe blizzard is raging in Nebraska and neighboring States, the temperature having fallen 40 degrees within a few hours, being now below zero. A heavy snowfall is reported in Northwestern Nebraska, and railroad traffic is being interfered with.

M'KENNA FOR JUDGE

The President Nominates Him for Associate Justice.

DAWES FOR COMPTROLLER

Lewis Miles and Robert V. Cozier Named for United States Attorneys—Large Number of Other Appointments Made by President.

Washington, Dec. 17.—The President yesterday sent the folowing nominations to the Senate:

Justice—Joseph McKenna, of California, to be Associate Justice of the United States.

Treasury—Charles G. Dawes, of Illinois, to be Comptroller of the Currency.

Interior—John W. Nesbit, of Pennsylvania, to be Pension Agent at Pittsburg.

Court of Private Land Claims—Joseph R. Reed, of Iowa, to be Chief Justice; William M. Murray, of Tennessee; Thomas C. Fuller, of North Carolina; Henry C. Sluss, of Kansas, and Wilbur Stone, of Colorado, to be Associate Justices — reappointments, their terms expiring Dec. 31, 1897. Lewis Miles, Attorney of the United States for the Southern District of Iowa; Robert V. Crozier, Attorney of the United States for the District of Idaho; Henry ert V. Cozier, Attorney of the United States for the Eastern District of North Carolina.

The President also sent a large number of appointments which were made during the recess of the Senate and which have heretofore been announced.

Mr. Dawes will not assume the duties of office until Jan. 1, succeeding Mr. Eckels, the present Comptroller, who resigns to become president of a Chicago financial institution. Mr. Dawes was a member of the Republican National Executive Committee in charge of financial affairs at the headquarters at Chicago during the last Presidential campaign. He is a son of Gen. Dawes, of the Iron Brigade.

Joseph McKenna.

Joseph McKenna was born in Philadelphia in 1843. He removed to Califorina with his parents in 1855. He was educated in the public schools, became a lawyer, and was in 1866 chosen District Attorney of Solano County, which office he held for two successive terms. He was a member of the California Legislature for two sessions. After twice suffering defeat as a candidate for Congress, Mr. McKenna was finally elected by the Republicans in 1884. He was three times re-elected, serving through the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses. While serving in the Fifty-first Congress Mr. McKenna was a member of the Ways and Means Committee, of which Maj. McKinley was chairman. The two men were thus thrown much together and a warm friendship sprang up between them.

President Harrison appointed Mr. McKenna to the United States Circuit bench on the death of Judge Lorenzo Sawyer in 1892. He was appointed Attorney-General of the United States by President McKinley last Spring.

Mr. McKenna was married in 1869 to Miss Amanda F. Borneman, of San Francisco. They have one son and three daughters.

The new Supreme Court Justice is a member of the Roman Catholic Church.

More Nominations Before Recess.

Washington, Dec. 17.—It is expected that the President will send to the Senate a few nominations before the adjournment for the Christmas holidays. The new appointments, however, will be confined to those which were agreed upon some time ago. Among those which may go to the Senate before Saturday is that of Attorney-General McKenna to be Supreme Court Justice.

In regard to the nomination of Attorney-General McKenna, it is rumored that a canvass of the Senate is being made to ascertain if there will be any danger of the opposition defeating his confirmation.

Accuse Weyler of Stealing.

Havana, Dec. 17.—The Diario de la Marina publishes a letter accusing Gen. Weyler of having embezzled $16,000 from a fund which was started in this city for the relief of the families of a number of soldiers who perished as the result of a railway accident at the Guines station in March, 1896. The money was held in deposit at the Bank of Commerce in this city until Oct. 30, when Gen. Weyler withdrew it.

Children Burned to Death.

Newark, Dec. 17.—Two children lost their lives at a fire in the building at 152 Ferry street yesterday afternoon. The victims were Harry Carroll, 6 years old, and his sister Margaret, 4 years old. They were the children of James Carroll. Their mother locked them in while she went out, and in some way they fired the house.

GRIGGS TO DISTRIBUTE PLUMS.

It is stated that Governor Griggs will send in all nominations for office that are required to be made before he vacates his position, thus relieving his successor of all bother in this direction. Acting Governor Voorhees, no doubt, will be pleased at that course, because then no opportunity or provocation will be given the disappointed spoil-seekers to swear at him. In his executive capacity then Governor Voorhees will devote his time exclusively to the consideration of bills passed by the Legislature and to the discharge of duties connected with the Court of Pardons and other State Boards. Perhaps this relief from the presence of place-hunters would help the new Governor in strengthening his record before the people.

NEW GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL.

Warren Dixon, of Jersey City, was sworn in as Assistant United States District Attorney for New Jersey at Jersey City, yesterday. He succeeds Thomas J. O'Brien, of Newark, who resigned. Mr. Dixon is a Democrat and a son of Justice Jonathan Dixon of the New Jersey Supreme Court, and was appointed by Attorney-General McKenna on the recommendation of United States District Court Judge Andrew Kirkpatrick of Newark and United States District Attorney Rice of New Brunswick. The term is concurrent with that of the District Attorney, Mr. Rice, whose appointment runs out in 1900. The salary is fixed by the Attorney-General, and is usually $1,500 yearly.

NOT GUILTY OF THEFT.

Alkund Said He Didn't Mean to Steal the Wheel and Was Discharged.

Charles Alkund, the young Swedish laborer who was arrested by Roundsman Frederickson yesterday charged with stealing a bicycle belonging to Charles M. Dolliver, of Manning avenue, was given a hearing before Recorder Thomas, last evening. F. J. Blatz appeared as Alkund's lawyer, and William G. DeMeza represented Mr. Dolliver.

The accused man when allowed to tell his story stated that he was not guilty of any intention of stealing the bicycle. He had found it in the Quaker church yard, and had taken it to the home of his employer. Mr. Dolliver could bring no evidence against Alkund, except the fact that the wheel was his property, and after hearing the evidence the Recorder discharged the accused man.

He Was Too Hilarious.

Ellis P. Eddy, of Muhlenberg place, was found by Marshal Kliner in a hilarious state on Somerset street at 1 o'clock this morning. After admonishing Eddy to cease creating a disturbance, and finding his injunction not heeded, he attempted to arrest the man, but met with a stout resistance. Chief Marshal Wilson happened along at this time and the two put Eddy in. He was arraigned before Recorder Thomas this morning and sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or take thirty days in the county jail.

Entertained at Euchre.

The members of the Thursday Evening Euchre Club were entertained last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will F. Williams, of Central avenue. Miss Etta Neuman and Benjamin LaVere were the lucky ones to win first prizes while Miss May McLoughlin and Robert M. Clark won the second prizes. After the game of euchre was completed, refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening spent in a social manner.

A Pleasant Social.

A pleasant social was given in the parish house of the Church of the Heavenly Rest last evening. Supper was served and a musical and literary programme was rendered. The latter included a number of piano solos by Miss Mary Graves, vocal solos by Miss Etta Yager, a recitation, entitled "A smack at school," by Miss Viola Leivers and a vocal solo by Miss Alice Ashworth.

THEATRICAL.

The popularity of farce comedy has been heightened greatly in the past few seasons by strong variety attractions that have taken a hold on the public and caused a decline in prosy drama. When Henshaw & TenBroeck came before the public in farce comedy some twelve years ago they gave a bright, breezy, lively performance and proved a success, and in doing so immediately made friends with the theatre goers. This season they will make the attempt of their lives to duplicate and excel, if possible, any of their previous efforts as fun makers, and to accomplish that end have produced what is really a new comedy. It is called "Dodge's Trip to New York." With a score of merry-makers it will amuse the tired business man, the overworked artisan and weary clerk, and the thrifty housewife, and will succeed in making them forget life's trials in its whirl of satisfying fun. Henshaw & TenBroeck will be at the Music Hall again next Monday, Dec. 20th.

"Darkest America" is a truthful review of negro life in all its phases before and after the war; scenes of historical interest, blended with which is the humorous eccentricities of the negro. A wealth of special scenery makes the scenes natural; every man, woman and child interested in our country should see "Darkest America" at Music Hall Tuesday, Dec. 21st. A grand spectacular free street parade and band concert will be given at noon.

Good Times

Some people are inclined to be sceptical as to the arrival of the good times which have been so long prophesied, but even the doubters will be willing to acknowledge that this is a good time to buy holiday presents, if they will call at Collier's and see his new attractions in the line of gold and silverware. No greater variety of goods and at more reasonable prices can be found anywhere.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manuufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Furniture For Gifts.

What an immense amount of enjoyment there is in this choosing of Christmas mementos nowadays. Of late years there seems to be a general tendency to pick up common-sense to practical things such as furniture pieces, of which an endless quantity exist. Of all the progressive, up to the holiday spirit furniture stores, that of Amos H. Van Horn, Ltd., 73 Market street, in our neighboring city, Newark, is among the foremost. Hardly one of the many floors of this immense house is dull or uninviting The stocks are arranged to render selections easiest, and the newness of every design is not only evident, but to be relied on—since such a name as Amos H. Van Horn vouches for it.

THE SUNDAY LESSON.

INTERNATIONAL SERIES, WITH COMMENTARY BY DR. STEARNS.

Golden Text:—If we confess our sins, he is the faithful and just to forgive us our sins.—1 John i: 9. Dec. 19, 1897.

5. "This then is the message which we have heard of Him and declare unto you, that God is light and in Him is no darkness at all." John wrote his gospel that we might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and believing have life in Him (John xx, 31). He wrote this epistle that we who believe might know that we have eternal life, be full of joy and not sin (chapters v, 13; i, 4; ii, 1). Knowing Jesus personally, having heard and seen and looked upon and handled Him, he declares Him as the Word of Life, that we, too, may have fellowship with him, and with the Father, and with Jesus Christ.

6. "If we say that we have fellowship with Him and walk in darkness, we lie and do not tell the truth." From the beginning of the Bible story light is suggestive of God and darkness of sin and satan. The waste and void and dark condition of things in Gen. i, 2, seems to have been the result of a judgment which must have come upon the earth, for, according to Isa. xiv, 18, R. V., compared with Gen. i, 2, God did not create the earth waste and void. Isa. xxxiv, 11, and Jer. iv, 23, are the only other two places where we have the same combination of Hebrew words as in Gen. i, 2, and in each case a judgment is manifest.

7. "But if we walk in the light, as He is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanseth us from all sin." Light shines, discovers, beautifies, purifies, for light is of God. Not only did Jesus Christ say, "I am the light of the world," but He also said to His own, "Ye are the light of the world; let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven" (Math. v, 14, 16). If we walk with God, we cannot but walk in the light, but walking with God implies at least two things—vix, humility, such as is not natural to us, and perfect agreement with God about everything (Mic. vi, 8, margin; Amos iii, 3).

8. "If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us." There are those who conclude from the previous verse that all sin, root and branch, is removed from their being, but such a thought is contrary to the teaching of Scripture, and surely the Holy Spirit in placing the statement of this verse just where He has sought to correct any such false teaching. While we are in these mortal bodies the flesh or old nature remains in us and lusteth against the Spirit, but the Spirit is also in us as children of God by faith in Christ Jesus and keeps us from the things which otherwise we might do (Gal. v. 17, R. V.).

9. If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." While in the mortal body always delivered to death for Jesus' sake—i. e., the death of self or the flesh or sinful nature (II Cor. iv, 11), if we sin against God, as all are liable to do, here is our comfort, that instant confession of sin brings instant forgiveness through the blood of Christ, and then we must go on more watchfully and prayerfully.

10. "If we say that we have not sinned, we make Him a liar, and His word is not in us." John is writing to those who are children of God by faith in Christ Jesus, for only such as have received Christ are children of God (John i, 12). Others are children of the devil even though they may be very religious, according to our Lord in John viii, 44.

2-1. "My little children, these things write I unto you that ye sin not, and if any man sin we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous." Our marching orders day by day are to sin not. We have been redeemed by the blood of Christ, that the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit (Rom. viii, 4). Surely God has made full provision for us to live this life which He would have us live to His glory by our advocate or paraclete with Him, Jesus Christ the righteous, and by our paraclete in us, the Holy Spirit; yet so weak are we and often so unwatchful that notwithstanding the abundant provision we grieve both Father, Son and Spirit.

2. "And He is the propitiation for our sins, and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world." Propitiation here signifies atonement, reconcilation, sacrifice, and that provided by God through Christ is sufficient for all the world. There is no forgiveness of sins apart from Him and His great work, but in and through Him there is sufficient for all who will accept Him, even for every soul on earth if they will come. How shall they come if they do not hear?

3. "And hereby we do know that we know Him if we keep His commandments." Not faultless conformity, for there is none such on earth, nor ever was, except in Christ, but a hearty acceptance of and willing subjection to His whole revealed will. He Himself said, "He that hath My commandments and keepeth them, he it is that loveth Me."

4. "He that saith, I know Him, and keepeth not His commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him." So skillful is satan in perverting the truth and in blinding people that he leads some to say, "Oh, it does not matter very much how I live. I believe in Jesus Christ, and therefore I am saved. If my life is not quite correct, I will only lose my works." Now such are evidently deceiving themselves, and are liars. Believing about Jesus Christ saves no one. He must be received into the heart, and that is the Scriptural sense of believing (John , 12).

5. "But whoso keepeth His word, in him verily is the love of God perfected. Hereby know we that we are in Him." When we receive letters from those whom we love, we treasure them and read them many times, and live on them. A mere casual reading of a letter, and that but once, would not indicate much love for the writer. How, then, can those be said to love God

NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED IN UP-TO-DATE LAUNDRY WORK.

We run the laundry and take care of all details, but you "boss" it. We do what you tell us to do. It may give you a new sensation to find that you get a domestic finish when you ask for it, and to discover that your collars are actually ironed in the way that the maker intended them to be ironed.

We are running a laundry with the most improved methods and appliances. We use pure water and good soap. We are using two things that are not commonly used in laundries—care and intelligence. If you have found a laundry that pleases you perfectly, we have nothing to say to you. If you have any reason to be dissatisfied, we would like to give you a practical demonstration of our way of running a laundry.

Tell us where and when to call for your work, when you want it delivered, and let us know any particular thing that you would like to have done with it.

We want you to understand that we are running this laundry for you, and that your wishes are to be regarded in every particular. We will give you just exactly what you want. If we can find out what that is. Perhaps you believe that it is impossible to have your laundry well handled without irritation and annoyance to you. We are sure that you are mistaken. May we have an opportunity of demonstrating it?

Get off cars at Plane St. But note name "Amos" and "No. 73" before entering store.

Furniture for Remembrances

Little need to jog your memory as to value of the things you gave last year—furniture pieces were those most favored, we'll warrant. Our store's in even better trim to help you than 'twas in '96—and buy on the 75c-a-week-easy-payment-plan if cash is short. Come and see us—even if you haven't cash; we'll try to "fix you up."

And SUCH a Lot of Pretty Chairs!

It's one of our pet hobbies to keep this line complete and inviting above all similar stocks. More room for choice in shapes, sizes, woods, coverings than you've any notion of! Cherry, maple, oak, enameled, gilt chairs, plain and richly covered—$1.75 up to $50. Spend all the time you like among them. Buying is not forced on any one.

For surprisingly slender prices—great hosts of gifts. Tea and Dinner Sets from simplest to most elaborate—Children's Chairs, 50c up—Express Wagons and Sleds—Easels and Music Cabinets, all woods—Lamps and Clocks—Pictures—Brass and Onyx Tables—the "Columbia" Sewing Machine at $29, cash or credit—Chiffoniers and Shaving Stands—Desks and Hat Racks—but why keep on? We'd need two pages, 'stead of a corner in one to tell of all.

"Gift Stoves"

You may smile, but this live stove department has been filled with those buying stoves and ranges for gifts, and ordering them reserved for late delivery. Incidentally, 'tis Newark's largest stock of the sort—over half our main floor and basement is filled with warrranted makes—all low in price. The "Portland" Range is a treat of itself—seen it? Oil heaters here—too.

evidently, and the business should be done by all means. Buildings require paint. Of course, a house may be left unpainted and left to become weatherbeaten and a wreck. That doesn't pay, though; it's much cheaper to paint, and our paints in all colors are the best in the market for durability under the most trying conditions. They are well adapted to our exposure and we sell everything in the line of paints and painters' supplies at short prices.

AN ACTOR MURDERED.

Stabbed in Front of the Adelphi Theatre, London.

London, Dec. 17.—William Terriss, the well-known actor, was assassinated as he was entering the stage door of the Adelphi Theatre last night for the performance of "Secret Service." His murderer is supposed to be a former "super." He rushed at the actor as he was stepping across the pavement from his cab and stabbed him just below the heart.

Terriss fell, shouting, "My God, he's stabbed me! Don't let him escape!" The assassin withdrew the dagger and made a second lunge at his victim, but was seized by men in the crowd about the stage entrance.

Terriss was carried to the landing of the stairway, just inside the theatre, where he lay, groaning loudly. Once or twice he feebly attempted to speak, but it was impossible. Doctors were summoned from the Charing Cross Hospital, but the actor did not rally, dying surrounded by the theatre staff, including Miss Millward, the principal woman of the company.

The murderer was taken to Bow street police station, followed by an angry crowd. His name was given as Archer. It is said that he was a "super" at the Adelphi Theatre several years ago, and for some days has haunted the theatre.

A large audience had assembled for the evening performance at the theatre, and the manager came to the footlights and announced that as Mr. Terriss had met with an accident no performance would be given last night.

Mr. Terriss was one of the best known actors on the English stage. He was for many years leading man in Henry Irving's company, and since leaving that organization he had starred in the English provinces. Mr. Terriss had been seen in this country frequently. He came here first as a member of the London Lyceum Company, when Henry Irving made his American debut here years ago.

LABOR FIGHTS JUDGE PAXTON.

Former Chief Justice Wanted Homestead Strikers Tried for Treason.

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 17.—The postal savings bank movement, which is regarded by many as the most important question that will come before the Federation, was brought up in the convention yesterday, when J. O'Brien, chairman of the committee, introduced the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the American Federation of Labor indorse the proposition for the establishment of a system of postal savings banks."

No particular system, but the general idea, is indorsed, and Mr. O'Brien is confident of the adoption of the resolution.

The representatives of the machinists and printers have about reached an agreement that the printers control the machinists in the smaller offices.

The fight over the next place of meeting is warming up some, and Detroit promises to give Kansas City a close race.

A slate of officers for next year is being arranged, and, so far as agreed upon, is as follows: President, Samuel Gompers; vice-president, P. J. McGuire; second vice-president, James Duncan; secretary, Frank Morrison; treasurer, John B. Lennon.

The Federation went on record by a rising and unanimous vote as being opposed to the appointment as Interstate Commerce Commissioner of J. H. Paxton, formerly Chief Justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. The matter came up in the shape of a resolution from Edward Moore, providing for a violent protest on the part of the Executive Council to his appointment.

The sense of the resolution was read, and P. J. McGuire arose to indorse a protest. Mr. McGuire gave as his reasons for so stoutly opposing the appointment the unqualified hatred which Mr. Paxton had displayed toward organized labor at every opportunity. An instance of it mentioned was in connection with the Homestead affair.

According to the speaker, Mr. Paxton had advocated trying the men engaged in the strike on the charge of treason. Other prominent ones spoke along the same line, and a motion instructing President Gompers to wire an immediate protest to President McKinley was carried by a rising vote.

SPANISH QUEEN MAY FLEE.

Royal Family in Madrid Said to be in Danger—Troops Guard the Palace.

London, Dec. 17.—The St. James' Gazette has received advices from Madrid saying that the Government is so alarmed at the menacing attitude of the populace that artillery has been posted in concealed positions commanding the main streets of the city. It is said, however, that the gunners manning the artillery are so much in sympathy with the people that they cannot be relied upon.

The wildest rumors are afloat, the advices declare, including the assertion that preparations have been made for the flight of Queen Regent Christina and her children to France at the first sign of revolution.

Threats Against the Czar.

London, Dec. 17.—A Russian named Woodref was remanded at Bow Street Police Court, charged with issuing a publication inciting the assassination of the Czar. Detective Melville testified to the fact that he arrested the man at the British Museum for endeavoring to persuade several persons on various occasions to assassinate the Czar.

Alphonse Daudet Dead.

Paris, Dec. 17.—Alphonse Daudet, the novelist and playwright, died at 8 o'clock last evening. He was dining with his family and was in excellent spirits, when he was seized with a sudden syncope. Physicians were sent for, but he expired almost immediately.

Two Important Bills Indorsed.

Washington, Dec. 17.—The National Board of Trade yesterday adopted resolutions favoring the passage of the anti-scalpers' ticket brokerage bill and also a bill favoring pooling under supervision of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Anti-Football Bill Beaten.

Richmond, Va., Dec. 17.—The Anti-football bill was defeated in the Senate yesterday by a vote of 21 to 12.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE

Synopsis of the Commission's Annual Report.

CONGRESS NOT POWERLESS

Supervision of Express, Elevator and Railroad Rolling Stock Recommended—Compulsory Through Routes and Uniform Rates Urged.

Washington, Dec. 17.—The eleventh annual report of the Interstate Commerce Commission has been made public. It contains much interesting information about the dealings of railroad companies and common carriers with the general public, and the efforts of great corporations and big shippers to secure advantages in rates, as well as a general outline of schemes for the oppression of small shippers.

During the year charges and practices of 510 carriers in various parts of the country were inquired into. The report shows that freight charges paid by the public during the year 1896 were $786,615,837, and that a very slight change in rates on a staple article amounts to an enormous sum in the aggregate. The railway traffic manager may decree whether an industry shall exist or a locality flourish. The question, the report points out, is one of transcendent importance both to the capitalist and the humblest citizen.

Advance figures from the preliminary report on the income account of railways for the year ending June 30, 1897, prepared in the statistician's office, are also given, which show that the gross earnings of 743 railways, represnting, on June 30, 1897, an operated mileage of 180,127.65 miles, were $1,116,635,909. The operating expenses were $747,589,370, leaving net earnings of $369,046,629. The railways also received $34,166,656 from sources other than operation, so that the total income for the year was $403,213,285. The total deductions from income, including in the term interest, rents of leased lines, taxes and other charges against income, were $347,335,105. The dividends declared amounted to $57,290,579. The deficit from the operations of the year as reported was $1,412,399.

The statistician of the Commission recommends that reports should be required from express companies and companies owning rolling stock used on railways; also special reports from depot and elevator companies and carriers by water.

The Commission points out that Congress is not powerless to remedy the existing evil of rate cutting without granting pooling, and that one way would be to establish a supervision and inspection of accounts, including, when necessary, the taking charge of one or more stations. That is no more rigorous than the system under which national banks exist. This is not now recommended, however. The Commisson does earnestly recommend that Congress undertake the revision of the entire law.

To make the act operative in accordance with its generally accepted objects and purposes, and to give practical effect to the sections which declare unjust and unreasonable rates and charges to be unlawful, and which in terms forbid unjust discriminations and undue preference, the Commission submits and recommends amendments relating to the preparation, filing and publication of tariffs, powers of the Commission over rates, and procedure in the courts. Amendments are also proposed for section 4, the long and short haul clause.

An amendment requiring import and domestic traffic to be carried on at the same rate is suggested, and authority to require carriers to make through rates and carry to any point at through rates is forcibly urged.

WAITING FOR CALL OF TIME.

Creedon and McCoy Ready to Enter the Ring To-night.

New York, Dec. 17.—It is not exaggeration to say that two men were never more confident of victory than are Dan Creedon and Kid McCoy as to the result of the big fight which takes place to-night before the Long Island Athletic Club in Long Island City. One of these two great boxers is sure to be disappointed. It is the toss of a penny as to which one will be victorious. There is really litle to choose between the two men. McCoy is a slight favorite in the betting, but when they shake hands it is likely that even money will prevail.

The concensus of opinion is that the fight will be a fast one while it lasts, but that the end will come quickly. That it will result in a draw seems to be out of the question. What sporting people are most interested in now is not which man will win, but whether there is any possibility of the fight being stopped. The men may be arrested before they enter the ring, but if they are they will be at once released on bail. Mayor Gleason has issued the permit for the contest, and he says he will be on hand to see that the law is not violated. He controls the police in Long Island City, and they will act under his orders. Thus it would seem that there is little chance of interference unless the fight becomes really brutal. If that should prove to be the case before the contest is stopped one man will have been able to demonstrate his superiority over the other.

The Beating Saved Her Life.

St. Louis, Dec. 17.—Mrs. Bessie Hahn, while returning from a shopping expedition, was invited to take a glass of wine with Edward Dwyer. She had $21 with her. She next came to herself at home, and, when her husband asked for the money, it was gone. He gave her a good thrashing, thinking she had gotten drunk with the money. A doctor had to be called, and he said the beating saved the woman's life, as the liquor was drugged with laudanum, and the assault caused the blood to circulate and counteract the poison.

Four Generations in Jail.

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 17.—Four generations of one family are incarcerated in the House of Correction here. They are Jennie Gillis, her mother, grandmother, husband and baby. All but the baby were committed for shoplifting. The ages of the four crooked generations range from the 1-week-old infant to the 60-year-old grandmother.

"BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW."

Do you ever ask yourself why you keep chickens?

Is it for pleasure? If so, would not a little profit add to the pride and pleasure?

Possibly it is because you wish to be sure of absolutely fresh eggs on your table. If so, would you not prefer to get the eggs during the winter rather than in the spring, "when everybody's eggs are fresh?"

We can make bricks in these days without straw, but no one can make hens lay eggs in the winter months unless he supplies special foods and care.

We aim to carry in our different stores everything that is necessary for the "Business Hen"—that is, the hen that pays for her board—and we would be pleased to hear from either large or small poultry raisers.

Among other things we would suggest:

Granulated Charcoal,	Poultry Feed,
Ground Oyster Shells,	Buckwheat Grain,
Chicken & Pigeon Grit,	Barley,
Granulated Bone,	Hemp Seed,
Meat Meal,	Millet Seed,
Clover Heads,	Sheridan's Powder.

A COMPLICATED SUIT SETTLED.

The Trouble Issued From a Note Given by C. Chapot & Sons.

The suit brought against C. Chapot & Sons by Charles K. Cannon, a Hoboken lawyer, was settled yesterday just prior to the time it was to come before Judge Atwater in the Union County District Court at Elizabeth for trial. The trouble that brought on the suit was rather strange.

N. Bretzfeld, of Jersey City, loaned Chapot a sum of money on a note. Before the note matured he sold it to Charles K. Cannon without notifying Chapot. The note went to protest then Bretzfeld came to Chapot and collected the amount of the note and the protest fees. When Cannon attempted to collect, Chapot declared he had already paid it and would not pay it again. Meanwhile Bretzfeld died.

Cannon placed the case in the hands of his attorney, William Newcorn, and suit was brought. Codington & Swackhamer represented the defendent.

GET OUT SNOW-SHOVELS.

Prof De Voe, the Hackensack Prophet, Predicts Snow.

Prof. De Voe, the Hackensack weather forecaster, said yesterday:

"We will have a foot of snow in this section tomorrow, and between now and Christmas the weather will be quite cold. After Christmas it will get warm again.

"Snow will also fall in the West, and railroad traffic will be blocked along the Missouri Valley by Dec. 22."

Monday Religious Meeting.

Evangelist E. B. Saunders received a petition a few days ago signed by over one hundred of the employes of the Potter Printing Press Works, inviting him to visit the works and conduct a noonday prayer meeting. The meeting was held today between 12 and 1 o'clock; and attendance was large and the men gave evidence of a deep interest in the words of the evangelist.

Bound Brook Hotel Opened.

The Bound Brook Hotel opened last night under entire new management. Richard O'Connor, formerly proprietor of the Garwood Hotel, is now running that hostelry. There were a large number of guests present at the opening, including several from this city. The hotel has been all refitted and renovated since the new proprietor has taken charge.

Trolley Line to Bound Brook.

The Brunswick Traction Company is making preparations for opening the trolley line from New Brunswick to Bound Brook tomorrow. The stringing of the trolley from New Brunswick to Bound Brook has been nearly completed, and the line is in readiness for traffic. The work on the Albany street bridge at New Brunswick will be finished in less than a week.

BASKET BALL.

The basket ball game which is to take place at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium tonight between the first team of the association and the basket ball team of the Newark Academy, promises to be a close and exciting contest, as the two teams are evenly matched. The former game was won by Plainfield by the score of 14 to 15.

HOLIDAY DISPLAYS.

Articles of Sdbstantial Nature Handled by Plainfield Merchants.

One of the finest holiday displays that is being made in this city is that of the Bard Cycle Company, on North avenue. The store is full to overflowing with articles suitable for Christmas gifts, and the business of the firm has been unusually large during the past few weeks. One of the popular lines which the company is handling is that of talking machines. Visitors are invited to come to the store at any time and listen to the Edison phonographs, the gramophones and the graphophones, all of which accomplish amazing results in the production of music, vocal and instrumental. The stock also includes Remington typewriters and supplies, skates, guns and other sporting goods, and a complete line of pocket knives suitable for the holidays.

J. J. Crouse, the popular manager of the Grand Union Tea Company, 138 West Front street, informs The Press that his company divide the profits with each customer, and that they have in stock an extensive assortment of books, dolls, toys, silverware, china, clocks, lamps, rugs, etc., none of which goods are sold, but absolutely given to customers free. All goods sold at the lowest price and guaranteed to give satisfaction or money refunded. A nice sled given with one pound can of baking powder. All next week, commencing Saturday, Dec. 18th, a beautiful panel picture, "Christmas Gifts," will be given to each purchaser at the tea store. Mr. Crouse takes great pleasure in showing anyone through the store and exhibit to them the very large collection of presents given free and explain the system of tickets. He is always willing to do this, whether you intend to purchase or not.

Mrs. L. Adams, the East Front street milliner, has just received a fine assortment of goods designed to supply the holiday trade. It includes fine linen handkerchiefs and a choice assortment of dolls.

Injuries Proved Fatal.

James Rice, of Jersey City, the fireman on the Central Railroad who was injured Tuesday night after leaving Jersey City, died in a hospital at that place this morning at 9 o'clock.

—It was to the kindness of J. W. Gavett, chairman of the social committee of the Y. M. C. A., that the tables at the physical department banquet were so tastefully furnished with dishes and glassware.

Mrs. Charles Adams, of Netherwood, has returned home from a pleasant visit spent in Hunterdon county.

Gen. Washington Didn't Like Taxes.

In the old civic docket recently brought to light in the courthouse at Greensburg, Penn., there are several cases recorded against George Washington. In the course of the year 1787 three claims were entered against him to compel him to pay taxes. The humorous clerk of that time has written the following under the claims: "George Washington, Esq., appeareth not to like taxes."

In the Course of Events.

"Did you know," said the scientist to the English statesman, "that the ocean holds immense quantities of gold in solution?"

"Never mind about that now," was the reply. "We'll get around to the ocean as soon as we are through with the rest of the earth."—Washington Star.

Her Cruel Stab.

Mr. Chamleigh—Excuse me, Miss Cawker, I didn't catch what you said just now. My mind was wandering.

Miss Cawker—What! Is the poor little thing able to go out alone?

Then he got his hat and said good-by, only once, after reaching the door.

Placer Gold Near Dyea.

Port Townsend, Wash., Dec. 16.—Charles G. Warren, of this place, a returning passenger on the steamer Al Ki, reports the discovery of rich placer diggings near Dyea. He says there has been a stampede from Dyea to the placers, which are ninety-six miles above the town, and that the discoveries caused great excitement here. News was also brought on the Al Ki of a late discovery on Deadwood Creek, seven miles from Dawson City, on the opposite side of the Yukon.

Another Pugilistic Carnival.

Carson, Nev., Dec. 16.—A Livingston paper has received a communication from Dan Stuart stating that a fight is being arranged between Corbett and Fitzsimmons, as well as between other pugilists, to be held in Carson in July, 1898, and adding that definite arrangements would be completed within a fortnight. Stuart also promises $30,000 in racing purses, and says a meeting will also be held in Carson, when the best Eastern horses will run.

Hundreds Saw Him Shoot.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—Yesterday afternoon, in view of hundreds of men in Green's billiard hall, near the Board of Trade, A. J. Moore, formerly passenger agent of the Chicago & Alton Railroad at Denver, shot and instantly killed himself.

Moore, it is said, was despondent over the loss of his position and money. He recently came to Chicago. Mr. Moore was 55 years old.

Requisition for Warner.

Albany, Dec. 17.—Gov. Black yesterday afternoon issued requisition papers upon the Governor of Missouri, asking for the surrender of Albert S. Warner, the kidnapper of little John Conway, who is under arrest at Kansas City. Officers left for the West last night to bring him back.

THE STRUGGLE FOR LIFE

SECOND OF A SERIES OF LECTURES BY REV. A. C. NICKERSON.

"Organic Evolution" was the Subject—Explained the Primitive Cell Form of the Lowest and First Forms of Life.

The second of a series of lectures on "Evolution" was given by Rev. A. C. Nickerson in All Souls church last evening, under the auspices of the Women's Alliance of the church.

The subject of the lecture was "Organic Evolution." The lecturer went back to the lowest and first forms of life, explaining the primitive cell form, the theory of which was first advanced in 1838 by Scheiden and Schwann, two German scientists. The discovery of protoplasm, the most essential constituent of all organic cells, was not discovered until 1860, when Professor Max Schultze advanced the theory, which has since become generally accepted. From the single cells all living forms are made up.

Attention was next called to the superabundance of living forms upon the earth. Superficially, this may not seem to be true, but investigation shows the world to be terribly overpopulated. As a result of this condition, the earth for centuries has been a battle ground, where living things have fought each other for supremacy. The animal kingdom has fought the vegetable, and members of the same kingdom have fought one another. A familiar illustration of this is seen in the battles which different species of birds wage with one another.

In this struggle for life only a few can hope to survive. The contest becomes so sharp that often a whole species is exterminated, and if a plant or animal pulls through the fact proves that it is in some way superior to others.

The subject of variation was next touched upon in an interesting manner. Species are the result of gradual divergence from a common original. If there were not some variation degeneration would result. The mixed forms of life are the best.

The views of Darwin upon the subject of adaptation, which he thought to result from the operation of natural selection, were disputed by Wallace, and are still held in question by many scientists.

AN ANNIVERSARY WEEK.

Monroe Avenue M. E. Church to Celebrate Its First Year.

The Monroe Avenue M. E. church will celebrate the completion of its first year of existence with an anniversary week during the first week of the new year. On the first of January 1897, the church left the protecting arm of the First M. E. church, under whose auspices it had been conducted as a chapel for several years, and became a regularly constituted church.

The services will begin with the watch-night service that will be held in the church New Year's Eve, for which some special features will be arranged. Sunday morning, January 2nd, there will be the reception of members, the Lord's Supper and baptism. In the evening the anniversary sermon will be preached by Rev. E. A. Noble, of Brooklyn. During the week that will follow there will be services every evening. Augustus Rose, who is known as the "Pilgrim Singer" of Australia, will be present at all the services and have charge of the singing.

Among the speakers for that week will be G. W. Ratcliffe, of New York, a well-known evangelistic worker, and Rev. Dr. Cadmon, of the Metropolitan Temple, New York.

CORNER-STONE IS LAID.

AN IMPORTANT ERA IN THE CHURCH GROWTH OF PLAINFIELD.

Impressive Ceremonies on the Site of the New Edifice of the Third Street Baptist Church — Dr. Yerkes' Timely Remarks.

The corner-stone of the East Third Street Baptist church was laid with appropriate ceremonies at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A large platform was erected at the front of the partly-constructed edifice, and upon that the friends of the church and those in charge of the ceremonies gathered.

Rev. D. J. Yerkes, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, opened the exercises with a scripture reading and a prayer. L. W. Randolph, the superintendent of the mission, then made an address, explaining that the contents of the copper box which would be deposited in the corner-stone, included a history of the East Third street mission work from the start, the names of the contributors to the fund for erecting the new edifice, and circulars containing various information regarding the organization and the methods of the work. He then handed the box to Rev. Dr. Yerkes, who, before depositing it in its resting place in the corner-stone, made a few interesting comments upon the occasion.

Many people are saying, he observed, that Christianity has become a thing of the past, but those people fail to see the things that are happening around them every day. The 250th anniversary of the Westminster Confession of Faith will soon be celebrated by one of the largest and most influential of the religious denominations. There are signs without number. Hundreds of places of worship similar to the one being dedicated are dedicated daily. Not much is said about these occurrences, but the effect is felt, nevertheless. The quiet things are those that tell. The laying of a corner-stone such as this is not an important thing architecturally, but it is of vast importance in what it symbolizes.

The Scriptures refer to Christ as the chief corner stone, and it is to him that our thoughts are turned at this time. On this corner-stone we are to rest and to build the great Christian doctrines and saving truths. The precious truths that Christ taught should be taught here. There should be a dedication not only of the new building, but of the entire congregation.

At the close of his remarks, Dr. Yerkers placed the box in the place prepared for it in the corner-stone, and the stone covering it was placed in position by Seaman Williams, the mason who has charge of the construction of the foundation.

The hymn "How Firm a Foundation," was then sung by the people gathered about. The singing was led by a quartette consisting of Charles Dolliver, Harry Jessup, Clifford Braider and Frank M. Smalley, and Whitney Frazee, cornetist. The benediction was then pronounced by Rev. Dr. Yerkes.

The trustees of the East Third Street Baptist church are Charles W. McCutchen, L. W. Serrell, Rufus K. Case, L. W. Randolph and Irving L. Brady.

A Sure Thing.

Our greatest poet has said, "he is well paid that is well satisfied." To demontrate the truth of which you have but to go to Collier's for your Christmas presents; nothing more satisfying in the line of enduring gifts can be found anywhere, and an investment in the countless and timely novelties there displayed will insure your being well paid for your visit.

PULLED 10,000 WEEDS.

WORK OF TWO LITTLE PEOPLE FILLED WITH LOCAL PRIDE.

Town Improvement Association Gave Them a Four-Leaf-Clover Pin as a Prize—Heard All About Birds and Their Nests.

The Children's Auxiliary of the Town Improvement Association began their meetings for the winter yesterday afternoon, in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. The meetings this winter will be open to the public and will be very interesting, if they are to be judged by the exercises yesterday afternoon.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Elsie Goddard, and opened with the recitation of the auxiliary's pledge by all the members, and the roll call by the second vice-president, N. Pendleton Rogers.

The superintendent, Mrs. William L. Patton, then spoke to the society of their winter's work. One clause of the pledge is a promise not to kill birds or rob their nests, and this winter the children are to make a study of the little feathered songsters, that they may learn their habits, become interested in them, and be their friends. Mrs. Gavett has invited the society to hold their January meeting at her home, and study her large collection of stuffed birds.

During the summer the children had for a part of their work the pulling up of ragweed, which, it is said, causes a large amount of hay-fever. A prize had been offered to the one who should pull up the largest number of roots, and at this point in the meeting the prize, a very pretty enamelled four-leaf-clover pin, was awarded to Martha and Harold Robert, who had pulled up ten thousand roots. Wilhelmina Patton and Elsie Goddard stood second, with eight thousand.

The subject for the afternoon, "Woodpeckers," was now announced, and Elsie Goddard, Frances VanDeventer, Edith Titsworth and Harry Slauson, who had been appointed to speak on it, gave their reports. Some very interesting facts were brought out by these youthful ornithologists.

Mrs. Patton said a few words about the sin of killing birds in order to use their plumage in decorating hats, and told the children that the Florida heron had been exterminated by the search for the beautiful white aigrettes obtained from its back.

"Sparrows" was announced as the subject of the next meeting, and Grace Peck, Grace Wilcox, Bessie Phillips, Treadwell Slauson and Harold Robert were appointed to speak on it.

Two vacant offices, those of treasurer and recording secretary, were then filled, the first by Harry Slauson, the second by Leila Howard, and it was announced that in April or May the auxiliary would give a public reception, which will be made as interesting as possible, and at which they hope to see all their friends.

Arrested Twice in a Week.

Chief Grant went to Elizabeth yesterday afternoon and escorted Daniel Enright to the county jail, where he is to be the guest of Warden Blore for the next sixty days. Enright came before City Judge DeMeza Thursday with a pitiful story after being locked up for drunkenness. Sentence was suspended on him. His success in avoiding punishment so encouraged him that he tried it again yesterday and was landed in the lockup the second time. The Judge was not inclined to mercy on the second offence, and despite his petitions for mercy, Enright went down the road for two months.

—A meeting of the Kappa Delta Phi of the Plainfield High School was held yesterday afternoon. The society adjourned until next year.

TEN YEARS A PRIEST.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ORDINATION OF REV. W. H. MILLER.

The Event Made an Auspicious One by the Surprise That the Children of Mary Tendered to Their Beloved Religious Mentor

The tenth anniversary of the ordination of Rev. W. H. Miller, of St. Joseph's church, was observed in the meeting room of the church, with very interesting and appropriate ceremonies, last evening.

The whole affair was arranged by the children and the young ladies of the society of the Children of Mary, connected with the church, and it was kept a secret from the rector until the hour of the celebration to commence arrived.

The principal part of the programme was a play entitled "A Ladder to Heaven," which was presented by twelve little girls. The leader related a legend of a good monk named Benedict, who was in possession of a beautiful flower which he named the ladder to heaven, and because of the goodness of his heart he gave the flower to the common children, and reared for himself a real ladder to heaven, constructed of good deeds and self sacrifice. The children on hearing the legend resolved to construct ladders for themselves of good deeds. They then gathered in front of Father Miller and one of their number, bringing forth a white ladder, decked with lilies-of-the-valley, a bouquet of roses and a copy of a poem appropriate to the occasion, presented them to the rector, reciting as she did so the poem. Those taking part in this piece were Lizzie Ryan, Mamie Carney, Bertha Neeley, Gertrude Berkham, Anna McCullough, Stella Meggs, Mabel Hamilton, Agnes Bailey, May Berkham, Irene Deshaine, Clara Smith and May Neeley.

Miss Alice Kennedy next appeared upon the stage and recited a selection entitled "A Priest Forever." James Bailey sang a vocal solo, and Miss Agnes Fitzgerald read an address commenting on the good service that Father Miller had accomplished during his pastorate in St. Joseph's, and then, on behalf of the Society of the Children of Mary, she presented him with a beautiful bouquet of roses.

Father Miller then made a speech, thanking the Children of Mary for their kindness, and stated that he had received yesterday morning a present of a fine set of furniture from the members of his congregation. He expressed the wish that he might be permitted to work many more years with the people who had been so kind to him.

CRASHED ON THE TRACK.

REAR END COLLISION ON THE CENTRAL AT WESTFIELD.

Several Trainmen in the Caboose Had Narrow Escapes From Death—Wreckage Took Fire—Fire Department Called Out.

A crash occurred between two eastbound coal trains at the Central avenue crossing, Westfield, at 1:45 o'clock this morning, and the wreck then took fire and burned fiercely until the flames were brought under control by the Westfield fire department.

A heavy coal train, drawn by engine 332, was standing still near the crossing when the second train, drawn by engine 256, came along on the same track. For some reason neither the engineer nor the fireman of the latter train saw the red lights which gleamed ahead on the caboose of the other train.

The great engine continued its advance with undiminished speed. Suddenly there was a crash and an inferno of sounds, in which could be heard the hiss of escaping steam and the shouts of the terrified trainmen, many of whom were in the caboose when the approaching engine struck it. The front of the engine was completely demolished, and the caboose was thrown upward until what remained of it was resting directly upon the engine boiler. The caboose then caught fire, and the flames added a new horror to the situation.

The Westfield fire bell was rung, and in a short time the engines and the firemen were upon the scene and were doing heroic work to extinguish the flames and save those who were in danger.

Several of the trainmen of the first train were in the caboose when the engine crashed into it, and in some miraculous manner all save one escaped unhurt. The injured man was August Meninchle, a flagman of the first train. He was rescued with difficulty from the burning caboose, and was sent to this city to Muhlenberg Hospital on a west-bound train. His injuries consist of a compound fracture of the left ankle, several broken ribs, and several cuts about the face and head. It is possible that his left foot will have to be amputated.

Engineer George Cooper, of engine 356, and his fireman both made almost miraculous escapes by jumping from their engine

The force of the collision was so great that several of the coal cars in the middle of the train were badly damaged by the concussion. The flames were extinguished in a short time.

As soon as possible after the accident a wrecking train was telegraphed for and the tracks were soon cleared for traffic.

FIRST FLORIDA ORANGES.

Harry Campbell Sends the First of the Fruit Since the Freeze of 1894.

Harry Campbell, of the firm of Clifton & Campbell, has just received an invoice for fifty boxes of oranges from the groves of Kelly & Campbell, Crescent City, Fla. As most people are aware a freeze visited Florida December 27th, 1894, and destroyed all the trees, killing them to the root. Mr. Campbell immediately took his men, and cut his twenty-year-old trees close to the ground and through the careful management is just harvesting the first orange grows on the new wood.

The firm of Kelly & Campbell after the freeze purchased the grove adjoing them, making them forty acres, all in fine cultivation now. Mr. Campbell starts for his plantation January 2d by the Clyde Line of steamers. He will be absent for three or four weeks.

NOT A LOTTERY.

The System of TRADING STAMPS is not ILLEGAL.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

Dist. Attorney Dodge Expresses His Views.

GOVERNMENT STATUTE.

It is not infringed by the System as is practiced in this city---Explanation of the plan in vogue here, Every stamp can be exchanged for some article Of value.

(From Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

According to the opinion of District Attorney Dodge, the recent decision in the District of Columbia to the effect that the giving of or dealing in Trading Stamps was illegal, does not in any manner refer to this or any other city. He said that the Trading Stamp business, as carried on in this city, is legitimate in every sense, and that no exception could be taken to it under any law applicable in this city or State.

Trading Stamps have come to be quite a feature of business dealings here and there is scarcely a business house in this city which does not give them to their customers. The Trading Stamp Companies have central stores where they have displayed the articles to be exchanged for Trading Stamps. The stamps are given out in the stores for each purchase to a certain sum. When a sufficient number have been secured they are taken to the store of the Trading Stamp Company, and articles desired are then selected. The scale of values of the articles or premiums given is arranged in such a manner that one stamp will secure something for its owner just as readily as the one holding a greater number can secure a prize. As everyone secures a prize of some sort, which represents a value, there is no element of chance, and for that reason the giving of stamps connot be referred to as a lottery.

The act of September 19, 1890, known as the lottery act which is an act of Congress, is not violated by the giving of trading stamps, because there is no element of chance involved in the trading stamp scheme as carried on in Cleveland.

"The stamps are given," said Mr. Dodge yesterday, "simply as an an inducement to the purchasers of goods, to pay cash." "You get a certain number of stamps for a purchase of a certain amount, and when you have a book full of stamps you may go to a certain place and exchange them for some article that you want. There is no chance to lose on such a transaction."

Mr. Dodge also said that the District of Columbia decision rested on a statue applicable to the District.

Supreme Courts of Massachusetts & New York State Declare Trading Stamps are Legal.

DAVID B. HILL says Trading Stamps are Perfectly Legal.

SPEAKER REED Declares for their Legality.

Washington decision applies only to District of Columbia case appealed to Supreme Court which has always declared every such law unconstitutional.

Supreme Court ruled such law would be a regulation of trade not only unwise but unlawful.

It has been decided by the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, that trading stamps are illegal under the act of Congress which prohibits lotteries and gift enterprises. With this in mind a representative of The Herald yesterday interviewed a Bridgeport man in a high official position in the trading stamp concern and obtained the following information:

'This court in the District of Columbia is nothing but a district affair. Its decisions amount to nothing outside the district. The Supreme Court in the States of Massachusetts and New York have already declared the trading stamps legal and the company is only waiting to have the matter brought before the United States Supreme Court, when they feel perfectly certain that it will be decided their way once for all.

"In his decision Judge Hadley, of Massachusetts, said that the trading stamps are not a lottery or a gift enterprise. There is no element of chance connected with them whatever. He declared that he had visited the stores of the company and had found the goods plainly marked with their real value, just as would be the case in a store of any other description.

"Further than that he said that the stamps had an intrinsic value. The merchant pays for them as he would for any other goods and if he chooses to give them to his customer instead of returning him five per cent. of his money, or in lieu of a five per cent. discount on the sale price, that is not the business of any court in the land. A man cannot be prevented giving that which is his own. The Judge threw the case out of court after the delivery of this opinion.

"This is the ground upon which the Trading Stamp Company stands today. The New York Supreme Court considered the case a bit, but decided just as did its Massachusetts neighbor.

"The company have been to the Hon. Thomas B. Reed, speaker of the House of Representatives, for an expert opinion and he declares the sale and use of the stamps as legal as the sale of any article of commerce. They went to David Bennett Hill in New York State and he told them that any court or Legislature that could or would declare trading stamps a lottery and illegal and abolish them could declare illegal and abolish every discount of every description, cash or otherwise in use in the mercantile world today. Anything which belongs to a man is his to give away.

"The Trading Stamp Company quote the case of the tea store people. They give away coupons with every pound of tea and then redeem them in goods whose value may or may not be known. The illegality of this method of doing business was brought up and the case was fought through a number of courts and finally came before the Supreme Court of Illinois, where it was decided in favor of the tea store people.

"It is only the merchants who are outside of this scheme who are finding any fault. The men who are in it may find fault to the newspaper men because they don't wish to have their neighbors think they are rubbing their hands over the magnificent thing they have. But they tell the Trading Stamp company a very different tale."

Regarding that uprising of merchants in Stamford this gentleman told the reporter this story:

"It turns out to be very much of a joke. The merchants got together one night for the purpose of planning a fight against the stamps in the courts. They damned the things up and down. They had invited a lawyer to meet with them and when they had finished calling the scheme names and its perpetrators blacklegs and thieves, they asked his opinion. He quietly told them that the trading stamp was perfectly legal and that they could make no kind of a fight in any court. Up spoke one of them when he had finished: 'If that's the case, why, let's go into the scheme,' and go in they did, as many as could get in.

"The New Haven Merchants Association held an indignation meeting a short time ago. When they had finished their abuse of the Trading Stamp Company and its stamps, one of the members got up and told them what it had done for him. He said that his cash business had been increased many per cent. and told of the sale of $150 worth of furniture to servant girl that day, which he would never have sold but for the stamps."

The gentleman quoted the case of Niles & Co., butchers, of Springfield, Mass. One year ago they had fifteen men on the floor. Today they have forty-five. Their business has increased to where they cut up thirty beeves a day and their sales have increased $250,000 or over 250 per cent. All this as the result of the trading stamp.

The gift of pictures with every dollar's worth of goods purchased at Smith, Murray & Co.'s in Bridgeport, which is now going on, was referred to. The gift of trading stamps is exactly similar.

"The merchant really pays, to settle a disputed point, from 2½ to 3½ per cent for the stamps. If a customer buys nineteen cents worth of goods, he only gets one stamp, thus lowering the cost of the stamps to the merchant. But supposing the merchant did pay five per cent. as is claimed, who wouldn't be willing to pay five per cent of his sales to increase his cash sales from one to two hundred per cent. as the stamps invariably do. The merchants do not raise the prices of their goods to meet the price they pay for the stamps, as has also been maliciously stated. Every merchant who is in the scheme signs the most iron bound kind of an ironclad contract with the Trading Stamp Company not to vary the price of his goods in the least.

Secretary Gage ON LEGALITY OF TRADING STAMPS TO N. J. TRADE REVIEW.

TRADING STAMPS ARE LEGAL.

Recently the illegality of trading stamp and kindred schemes was raised by The New Jersey Trade Review. We forwarded to the Secretary of the Treasury copies of agreements, specimens of trading stamps and other documents which are issued by the companies who are carrying on operations in this and other States, and requested an opinion whether or not such methods were violative of law. The matter was referred by Secretary Gage to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for examination; and that official has written, under date of October 26th, ult., as follows:

Mr. Paul V. Flynn, Editor The New Jersey Trade Review, No. 45 Park street, Newark, N. J.:

Sir—Your letter, with enclosures has been received, calling attention to the scheme of the Newark Trading Stamp Company, in issuing stamps, and also to that of the Merchants' Inter-State Discount League, in issuing "discount certificates," these trading stamps and certificates being redeemable in merchandise, and not being made payable in money. You express the belief that "the schemes are violative of law, Section 3583 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, and Section 19 of the act approved February 8th, 1875." This opinion appears to be erroneous, in view of the decision of the Supreme Court, in Hollister, collector, vs. Zion's Co., Operative Mercantile Institution, 111 U. S., 62, that notes redeemable in merchandise only are not such notes "as are the subject of taxation under the Statute," (Section 19, Act of February 8th, 1875); and in view of the decision of the same Court in United States vs. VanAuken, 6 Otto, 366, wherein it was held that the issuance and use of notes of denominations less than one dollar, redeemable in merchandise, and not in money, do not constitute a violation of Section 3584, Revised Statutes.

In writing to the Secretary of the Treasury we requested reply so that it might be published for the information of the trade, whether the ruling was for or against the position which we had assumed. Trading stamp methods therefore must be recognized as legal. The contracts entered into between the companies and merchants are binding and must be observed.

Baltimore Sun Says Trading Stamps Are Legal

State's Attorney Duffy and City Solicitor Elliot said yesterday that, in their opinion, the giving of Trading Stamps in Baltimore is not contrary to any law of this State, although the stamps have been declared illegal in Washington.

The decision in Washington was based upon a section of the United United revised statutes prohibiting gift enterprises in the District of Columbia. A similar law was enacted by the Maryland Legislature of 1886, but it was declared unconstitutional by our Court of Appeals in the April term of 1891. The Maryland law prohibited any person from holding out any gift as an inducement to purchase.

This law, the Court of Appeals decided, was invalid so far as it related to gift enterprises not involving the element of chance.

To prohibit a person from giving away anything as an inducement to purchasers, the Court said, would be a regulation of trade not only unwise but unlawful. As persons who obtain the trading stamps may know what they will obtain for them, the stamps, it is said, are not illegal here.—Baltimore Sun.

THE TRUTH FOR THE PUBLIC.

How Trading Stamp business is really conducted.

We have no secrets, are not afraid to take the Public in our confidence, nothing to hide---A perfectly legal enterprise--The public benefitted--Merchants that don't give Trading Stamps only dissatisfied ones.

INTRODUCTION

It has been the custom for many years, among retail merchants to hold, and to attract new, trade by offering special inducements, either in cash discounts or in offering certain articles in addition to the goods purchased at their store.

Such inducements however, could only be taken advantage of by the customer, when a certain amount had been traded at the ONE merchants store. The disadvantages of this system were manifold; not only did it take a long time before the required amount was traded at the ONE store but the merchant himself had to carry a line of goods foreign to his regular business, thereby curtailing his capital and the space in his store for the display of his own goods. Even then the variety of the articles offered as inducements was limited, and of an inferior order.

To overcome these disadvantages, the International Trading Stamp Co. has contracted with, and thereby formed an association of leading and enterprising merchants in the various lines of business, who are anxious to secure new customers, and who wish to encourage cash trade by giving Trading Stamps. These stamps, when received by the customer from the several merchants, either singly or all combined to the amount of $99.00 will be exchanged for the customers' choice of a large variety of magnificent articles, carried in stock, and displayed at the show rooms in charge of the International Trading Stamp Co.

The International Trading Stamp Co. acts as agents to all the merchants combined. The display rooms are practically a clearing house, where stamps may be redeemed. Every merchant is placed in a position to offer a quality and variety of goods, which individually he could not do.

The International Trading Stamp Co. acting as agents for merchants all over the continent buys in such quantities for cash, that assures the very lowest prices, the benefit of which is reaped by the customers of the merchants associations.

These merchants give you trading stamps, for each and every ten cents worth of goods you buy; for example, if you buy ten cents worth of groceries you will receive one trading stamp, if twenty-five cents worth two trading stamps, if thirty cents worth three trading stamps. If your purchase amounts to $1.00 you will receive ten trading stamps The great advantage of THIS SYSTEM is that you do not have to carry your book with you when shopping; only to ask for the stamps. Do not lose them; but take them home and stick them in your book.

BEAR IN MIND, the merchants will make no advance in the prices of their goods, but on the contrary, the increase of trade by this new plan, will enable them to sell closer than ever before.

Every merchant whose name is in this book has contracted to give out these trading stamps on all cash purchases. The store in your city was opened and stocked on the strength of these contracts. If you trade only with merchants who give trading stamps, your book will soon be full. Remember, you can obtain stamps for any article you may wish to buy.

When merchants give out the stamps willingly, you will know they are anxious to please you, and secure your patronage. Tell your merchants you are trading with him because he gives trading stamps.

Stick the stamps in the squares on the pages of this book. When you have filled the book, you are entitled to your choice of over one thousand articles, constantly kept in stock, a few of which are illustrated on pages on which the stamps ought to be stuck.

If you do not care to take advantages of these privileges yourself, give some good friend the benefit, or turn the stamps over to your children.

BE SURE TO ASK FOR TRADING STAMPS. As this plan is new to the merchants, they may unintentionally fail to give you the stamps. The remedy lies with the customer. You should not hesitate to ask for trading stamps of any merchant whose name appears in the directory. If the stamps are refused, refuse to take the goods.

In consideration of your trading to the extent of $99.00 with merchants, singly or combined who give trading stamps, you are entitled to your choice of articles such as are displayed at any show room kept by the International Trading Stamp Company.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagah, Ind. Ter. Chief. This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and la grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Campbell, merchant of Safford, Ariz., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is all that is claimed for it; it never fails, and is a sure cure for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I cannot say enough for its merits." Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is not an experiment. It has been tried for a quarter of a century, and today stands at the head. It never disappoints. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicans had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

GAGE EXPLAINS HIS BILL

Says It Doesn't Conflict With the St. Louis Platform.

MEANING OF BIMETALLISM

He Thinks Silver Would Be Maintained at Its Present Value by Operation of the Present Law. Would Have a Gold Standard.

Washington, Dec. 18. — Secretary Gage and Solicitor O'Connel, of the Treasury Department, appeared again before the Committee on Banking and Currency yesterday, and Secretary Gage continued the explanation of his bill submitted Thursday. Chairman Walker was not present, and Mr. Brosius, of Pennsylvania, presided.

The first section discussed was that to permit national banks to take out additional circulating notes to the amount of 25 per cent., based upon their assets. In case of any default the bill provides that the Treasury shall pay them from a fund derived from the annual tax of 2 per cent. paid by the banks on this circulation.

So far in the history of the system, said Secretary Gage, 330 banks have failed. Had they been closed out by the Government, as contemplated in the bill, it is estimated that the Government would have been obliged to make good a deficit of $194,000. But against this, had these banks taken out the circulation provided for in the bill for the period of their average life—eight years—they would have passed into the Treasury $2,600,000.

The theoretical possible limit of circulation of national bank notes under his bill, Secretary Gage said, would be nearly one million five hundred thousand dollars. The actually probable circulation would be $550,000,000, an increase of $330,000,000 over the present stock.

Mr. Newlands, of Nevada, referred to gold contracts, and asked the Secretary's view of them.

Mr. Gage said he did not consider it desirable to interfere with private contracts of this character any more than was necessary. The extent to which drains on the Government stock of gold would result under the operations of the bill excited much discussion.

Mr. Gage stated that all redemptions would be made in gold or its equivalent.

Regarding the proposed increase of the redemption fund from 5 to 10 per cent., the Secretary said it was his opinion that the change should be made; the banks could better afford to pay 10 under the new conditions than 5 under the old. It was his impression that a suggestion by Mr. Hill, of Connecticut, was a good one—that the redemption fund should not be counted against the deposit reserve of banks. Profit on circulation, he said, would be increased under his bill.

To Mr. Cox, of Tennessee, Secretary Gage said that the Treasury Department was spending $70,000 a year trying to induce the people to take silver dollars, but that they would not have them beyond a certain sum, about fifty million dollars. He expressed also the fear that in the near future the Government was to be exposed to the menace of counterfeiting silver dollars to a dangerous degree.

Should there be a recurrence of conditions obtaining in 1893, when a doubt arose in this country and elsewhere as to the kind of money in which the Government would redeem its obligations, Secretary Gage told Mr. Brosius his bill would be an immense help in the effort of the Treasury to maintain the credit of the Government, with the added power given to the Secretary to borrow $100,000,000 in such a crisis.

Mr. Fowler, of New Jersey, explaining that he wanted to ask a hypothetical question, said:

"Should the next House pass a free-silver bill and send it to the Senate, where it would pass, would not the experience of the succeeding two years result in breaking down your system, had it become a law?"

Mr. Cox at once replied: "I submit, Mr. Chairman, that it is not a hypothetical question—it's almost a certainty."

When the remainder of the bill had been read a general discussion began. In answer to a cross fire of questions Mr. Gage said the bill would not result in a raid on the Treasury by bank notes. It was not the substitution of an "endless chain' of greenbacks for another "endless chain" of bank notes He said:

"This bill is simply a step in the right direction, and a most important step. It would give the Government $325,000,000 of the very liabilities which are most likely to be brought against it. Of this $125,000,000 is in gold.

"Then, with further measures recommended by the President, giving authority for a loan up to $100,000,000 when required, the Government would be so strong in time of emergency as to resist any stress. Faith would be established, and people would not come to the Treasury for lack of faith, but only from necessity."

This brought on an interesting and amusing discussion of politics as relating to finance.

Mr. Gage was given a vote of thanks Several members sought to have another hearing during the holidays, but there was strenuous objection to this and the original plan was adhered to of adjourning until Jan. 12, when the Gage bill, the Monetary Conference bill and other financial measures will be taken up.

Fell and Was Captured.

Shamokin, Pa., Dec. 18.—In a dispute at the Exchange Hotel yesterday James C. Hainey, an alleged confidence man shot and mortally wounded William McNamara of this place. The bullet passed through one of McNamara's lungs.

Before Hainey had run a block to escape he fell into a ditch and fractured his right leg. He was taken to the County prison. McNamara is 21 years old and has a wife and two children.

Child Killer Hanged.

Kansas City, Dec. 18.—William Carr was hanged at the Clay County Court House, Liberty, Mo., yesterday. Carr was an ignorant backwoodsman, who sought to please his second wife by drowning his 3-year-old daughter by his first wife.

BIG BAG OF BURGLARS.

Three Famous Crooks Arrested with Tools of Their Trade.

New York, Dec. 18.—Three of the best-known and most desperate crooks in the country were arrested yesterday and remanded to Police Headquarters to await the arrival of requisition papers from Philadelphia. The crooks are wanted in the Quaker City for the burglary of Albert Abraham's jewelry store, 24 North Ninth street, on the night of Dec. 11.

The men are Ed Farrell, alias "Milady;" Andy Craig, alias "Fairy McGuire," and Ed Mason, alias "Ed McGee." All are professional burglars. The men were arrested at the house of Farrell, at 331 East Seventy-seventh street. In the house was found a choice assortment of burglar's tools and a quantity of the jewelry taken from the Philadelphia store. The men are also wanted for breaking into Peyser's provision store, at 1398 Third avenue, on the night of Dec. 5 last.

Ned Farrell is the best known of the lot. He began his acquaintance with the police in 1877, when, with Charles Fisher, he robbed the cashier of Hall's piano factory of $2,800. In 1880 he broke all records by robbing Patrick Jerome Gleason, now Mayor of Long Island City, of $2,400. This was the first and last time that any one ever robbed Gleason.

A Cuban Ultimatum.

Washington, Dec. 18.—The Times says it can state as a fact that the Cuban Republic has lodged an ultimatum with Secretary Sherman declaring that the island Government will accept no sort of intervention which does not contemplate independence.

A Tumor Formed

Finally It Broke Inwardly and Discharged

Trouble Began With Dyspepsia and Impure Blood

Thorough Course of Hood's Sarsaparilla Completely Cures.

There is danger in impure blood. Disease and suffering are surely coming to those who neglect this threatening symptom. Read this:

"Gilliam, Missouri.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen:—My troubles began with nervous headaches, which would last me for two or three days. The doctors pronounced my trouble dyspepsia, but they could not do anything for me, and advised a change of location. At the age of 55 a tumor formed on my spine, which but did not rise or discharge. The doctor thought best to cut it out, but I objected. It finally broke and discharged a great deal. The doctors said they could do nothing for it. Then the tumor began to rise inwardly and discharge. I read much about cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla and thought I would try it. Before I had finished taking one bottle I was much relieved. I continued the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking 12 bottles I was entirely cured. I am now well, have a good appetite and feel that I owe my life to Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. D. FORE.

COMING EVENTS.

December 19—D. H. Clare, of Colgate University, will address the Y.M.C. A. meeting at 4:15 o'clock.

MR. BAKER TO PRESIDE.

The present Councilmen who hold over and the ones who were elected December 7th held a conference Thursday night to arrive at some decision over the presiding officer of the Common Council for next year. By virtue of having a majority of one the Republicans naturally took the initiative and selected Councilman John T. Baker, of the Third ward, as a member capable of presiding over the sessions of the solons in a fair and satisfactory manner. Mr. Baker's name was submitted to the Citizens' Councilmen and the latter acquiesced in the selection, so that now Mr. Baker is practically assured of the honor of acting as president of the Council for 1898. Previous to the acceptance of Mr. Baker by the Citizens', however, there was an interested discussion of the probable makeup of the committees to be appointed by the president. The Citizens' wanted it understood that they should not be slighted in this direction. Mr. Baker suggested that both the Republicans and the Citizens' advise him fully as to their preferences, and then he would apportion the committees as fairly and equitably as it was in his power to do so. It was agreed on both sides that this would be done.

THE CITY CLERKSHIP.

Efforts are being made by certain of the Citizen's Councilmen-elect to determine some legal way in which City Clerk MacMurray can be succeeded in office by another man. When Mr. MacMurray was elected to the position one year ago, it was understood that his term was to be for three years under the provisions of a second-class city, Plainfield having acquired that municipal distinction. The points that have been raised are not clear to the lay mind, however, and the matter has been submitted to Corporation Counsel Marsh for an opinion, which he will render in a short time. Notwithstanding whatever effort is being made to oust Mr. MacMurray from the position, it cannot be denied that he has made one of the best city clerks Plainfield has ever had.

More About Trading Stamps.

Sherwin's shoe store uses stamps and you can get stamps there for everything you purchase. You don't have to ask for them, either. We ask you if you want them. There is no hiding behind the counters in our store for fear customers will want stamps. They are a good thing; have done us lots of good and you are welcome to share in the benefit. Our Christmas stock of slippers, shoes, rubber boots, arctics, etc., is all right, and the prices way down.

Justice Moffett's Court.

The landlord and tenant case of Love against Hoagland, for possession of premises, will be tried in Justice Moffett's court this afternoon. The New Jersey Central Railroad Company has filed an appeal bond in the case of Brooks Carson, the North Plainfield florist, against the Central Railroad Company, which was tried by Justice Moffett some time ago and decided in favor of the plaintiff. The case will now be taken into the Union County Circuit Court.

Miss Shaw a Popular Speaker.

The SanFrancisco Chronicle published the following about Miss Shaw, who is to speak in Music Hall tomorrow afternoon on "The American Home." "Five thousand people waiting on the steps of the Temple Emanuel, for the purpose of hearing the woman preacher's last address, does not look as though her position were uncertain. Mere curiosity does not take the same people to nineteen sessions."

Women to Blame for This?

Residents of Arlington avenue, in the vicinity of the City Park, ask The Press to call the attention of the city officials to the rubbish thrown into the gutters of that street at the time the park was cleared up by the Women's Town Improvement Association. It is not only an eyesore but it prevents the water from running off during a rain and floods the sidewalk.

WON FROM NEWARKS.

PLAINFIELD Y. M. C A. VICTORIOUS AT BASKET BALL LAST NIGHT.

The Newark Academy Boys Put Up a Strong Game But Superior Team Work Defeated Them—Score 20 to 10—Lineup.

Newark's crack scholastic basket ball team met with defeat last evening at the hands of the Plainfield Y M. C. A. The strangeness of the surroundings had its effect on the visitors during the first half, but in the second they made a brave but unsuccessful effort to regain the lead. The Plainfield team finally won by a score of 20 to 10.

The Plainfield team met the Newark team at the latter's gymnasium a week ago and defeated the Newark Academy team by a score of 15 to 14 So last evening the visitors came with the intention of regaining their lost honors. Although the game was hard fought throughout, particularly in the second half when the play grew fast and furious, there was an entire absence of rough play that made the game particularly enjoyable to the spectators.

The Plainfield team started in to win at the first. They played a game that consisted mainly of short quick passes and kept the ball moving toward their goal most of the game The fight in the first half centered around Newark's goal. Egan was a tower of strength and his great height enabled him to toss the ball over the heads of the opponents and netted him four goals out of the ten during the game.

Smith coaxed Duran, Newark Academy's famous sprinter, away from his position as forward and kept him busy at the other end. Young, Newark's captain, remained at his best and, securing the ball on several chance throws, had an unobstructed throw at goal. His unfamiliarity with the place and goals was all that prevented him from largely increasing Newark's score.

The team playing of the home team excelled that of the visitors, however, and the attempts of the latter to bunch the ball down the gym proved futile in most instances.

The score stood 10 to 2 in favor of Plainfield at the close of the first half. Then the visitors braced up and showed an improvement. Their forwards kept Moraller and Smith on the jump, and the general trend of the play quickened. Bonny took Long's place at leftforward, He threw one goal but, as one foot was beyond the boundary line, it was not counted. The Moraller brothers did excellent work and played a hard game. Egan's height and quickness made him a powerful factor in the game. The improvement in the visitors' playing made the score closer, but the game was too far gone to change the final result. The Academy boys threw four goals to Plainfield's five in the last half.

The game was witnessed by a large crowd that more than filled the gallery to the Y M. C. A. gymnasium, where the game was played. The teams lined up as follows:

Plainfield Y. M. C. A.		Newark Academy.
Moraller, E.	right forward	Duran
Long / Bonney	left forward	Young
Egan	centre	Higgins / Friman
Moraller, M.	right guard	Anglehart

Score—Plainfield, 20; Newark, 10. Goals from the field—Plainfield, 10; Newark, 5. Goals on fouls—0. Fouls—Plainfield, 1; Newark, 1. Referee—Charles Burdette Morse, of Plainfield. Umpires—S. B. Joseph and C. E. A. Heywood, of Plainfield. Timekeeper—John H. Doane, of Plainfield. Scorer—L. I. Van Alstyne, of Plainfield.

The Students and the Y. M. C. A. Juniors played a match, one half preceding the other game and the other half coming in the interval of rest. The Students showed a marked superiority in team play and finally won the game 10 to 2. Hazelwood Kellar played a brilliant game on the Juniors. All the boys, in fact, put up a good game.

—The next meeting of the Rasores Club will be held Tuesday morning, December 21st, at 10 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. J. Wesley Johnston, of LaGrande avenue.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

Rev. A. I. Martine has returned after a visit at Manhasset, L. I.

New water tanks are being put on the south side of the Central tracks at Greenbrook.

Harry McDonald, of Plainfield, was visiting friends in the borough yesterday afternoon.

W. W. Moore, of Plainfield, spent part of yesterday afternoon with borough friends.

Master Russell Runyon, who has been visiting his aunt in Plainfield, has returned home.

George Jennings, of Warrenville, has been visiting his brother, Charles Jennings, of North avenue.

The Twilight Club will give a sociable at the home of Miss Bertha Shepard, of New Market, this evening.

Miss Jennie Tingley has returned from Bound Brook, where she has been visiting her brother, U. G. Tingley.

The Christmas entertainment of the Sunday-school of the Dunellen M. E church will be held next Thursday evening.

A union meeting will be held in the Baptist church tomorrow afternoon, at which Evangelist E. B. Saunders will speak.

Wm. Farrier has completed the job of setting a stone curb in front of Adam Dealaman's residence on Washington avenue, and the Washington avenue side of his store.

The health in the borough has been unusually good this fall and winter and the mortality has been surprisingly low, for there has been only one death in the borough since May 27th.

The class for Bible study formed by the young people of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will meet for the first time this evening at the home of Alberne H. Burdick. The pastor, Rev. Frank E. Peterson, will be in charge.

There will be a conference between Mayor Brakeley, the members of the Borough Council and the officials of the Brunswick Traction Company Monday evening to discuss the proposed trolley route through Dunellen. The meeting of the Council is Tuesday evening.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Miss Hazel Marsh is suffering with sore throat.

Miss May Johnson will spend Sunday in New York city.

George W. Randolph is now employed in Stamford, Conn.

Mrs. John R. Marsh spent yesterday with friends in New York City.

Mr. Phillips and family, of Park avenue, will remove to Plainfield on January 1st.

WESTFIELD

VARIOUS BITS OF NEWS.

WESTFIELD HAPPENINGS SERVED UP TERSELY FOR THE PRESS.

Many People Go and Come in the Pretty Suburban Town—Items Interesting Because of Their Brevity

Mr. Scott, of South Broad street, is visiting friends in New York city.

Mrs. T. R Harvey, of North Broad street, is confined to her home with illness.

Clifford Gilbert left this morning for an extended business trip through the south.

Miss Georgie Reusch, of Cranford, is the guest of Mrs. E. Eckel, of Chestnut street.

Ernest Koerster, of Elm street, has accepted a position with the C. & C. Company at Garwood.

The Shakespearian Society of the I. O. S. will hold a meeting next Friday evening. The play, "Richard the Third," will be read by the society.

The I. O. S. will hold a progressive heart party on the 30th at the residence of H. A. Knight, on Elm street. The young lady friends of the club will be invited.

Natalie Brown, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, of Prospect street, has returned from Brooklyn, where she has been receiving hospital treatment for a complicated fracture of the arm. She has now fully regained the use of the injured member.

A scare was caused in the Lincoln High School at Westfield yesterday morning by a small conflagration which appeared in one of the rooms. The fire started in the waste basket and burned a desk slightly before being extinguished. The incident caused a scare among the pupils in the room. The cause of the fire is not known.

The committee is forbidden explicitly by the law to exceed its appropriations, and there is apparently no way in which the indebtedness can be paid. At the annual election next April more funds will be appropriated for the ensuing year, but none of this money can be used to pay off the debts of a previous year. The situation is a puzzling one, and it is thought that the party who furnished the stone will be compelled to sue the township in order to recover the amount of the bill.

The Westfield Township Committee is in a serious financial predicament, owing to a mistake in the expenditure of the road moneys made by Township Treasurer Morehouse. The appropriation of a certain sum is voted at the township election, to be expended upon roads for the ensuing year, and it now transpires that the committee has spent $322 in excess of its appropriation for the present year, and no one is able to suggest where the money is coming from to pay this extra amount. The mistake occurred through the failure of the township treasurer to include in his account of expenditures an item of 322 tons of crushed stone which the committee purchased some time ago from John G. Cook, of Scotch Plains. The last report of the treasurer on the road account of the township showed a surplus of several hundred dollars and additional work was ordered done on the roads sufficient to absorb this amount. At the meeting of the committee Friday evening the bill for crushed stone was presented and it was found on investigation that there is no money available to settle it.

NEW LOAN ASSOCIATION.

Councilman William N. Runyon Selected as Its President.

The Commercial Building and Loan Association of Newark organized a local board in this city Thursday evening. The meeting was held in the offices of Clark & McNabb in the City National Bank building.

After discussing the features of the organization and laying out plans for the work of the year, the stockholders chose the following officers to serve one year: President, Councilman Wm. N. Runyon; vice-president, Thomas A. Cuming; secretary, Ira LaLue; treasurer, Thomas E. Currin; attorney, Charles J. McNabb; medical examiner, Andrew Manning, M. D.; appraisers, W. J. Pierson, W. H. Brokaw, Harry VanEmburgh; directors, R. I. Tolles, M. F. Elderton, R. B. Rogers, Wm. N. Runyon, Edward Ryan, T. A. Cuming, Charles VanWinkle, E. D. Barrett, Charles J. McNabb, T. E Currin, Andrew Manning, M. D., Ira La Rue, W. J. Pierson, W. H. Brokaw and Harry VanEmburgh. The next meeting will be held Friday, January 7th, 1898.

The Four Last Things.

During the month of December Rev. Mr. Appleton is preaching on "The Four Last Things" Sunday evenings. The subject for tomorrow night is "Hell" and for next Sunday "Heaven."

THEATRICAL.

"Dodge's Trip to New York" will be presented at Music Hall next Monday evening by the well-known Henshaw & TenBroeck combination.

There is a charm in the singing of southern songs by negroes that never fails to please all. "Darkest America," the big negro exhibition which will be seen at Music Hall Tuesday, December 21st, has twenty singers and shouters, to say nothing of the hundred and one other interesting features. The brass band and orchestra, the military company and all the people who take part in the performance are genuine southern negroes.

Manager Edwards' Christmas attraction will be Roland Reed's "Lend Me Your Wife." It will be presented by a capable company.

BARD CYCLE CO

Two Stores.
147-149 North Ave., Plainfield.
Elm St., Westfield.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manuufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

The Holiday Trade.

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company is having a fine holiday trade at its store on West Front street. The artistic panel picture, given away free to every purchaser of tea or coffee, is attracting a large amount of trade. The picture is a reproduction of a cluster of American Beauty roses, and is one of the finest panels ever shown in this city.

The tobacco and news store of Timbo & Co., on North avenue, presents a fine holiday appearance, and persons desiring anything in the line of smokers' materials can find what they are looking for there.

Stop drugging yourself with quack nostrums or "cures". Get a well-known pharmaceutical remedy that will do the work. Catarrh and cold in the head will not cause suffering if Ely's Cream Balm is used. Druggist will supply 10c trial size or 50c full size. We mail it. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y. City.

Rev. John Reid, Jr., of Great Falls, Mont., recommended Ely's Cream Balm to me. I can emphasize his statement. "It is a positive cure for catarrh if used as directed."—Rev. Francis W. Poole, Pastor Central Pres. Church, Helena, Mont.

M'COY WINS THE FIGHT

Creedon Knocked Out in the Fifteenth Round.

BATTLE WAS A STIFF ONE

Creedon Pushed Game for All It Was Worth—His Seconds Threw Up the Sponge Before Kid Became Champion.

New York, Dec. 18.—Kid McCoy is the champion middle-weight pugilist of the world. Before the Long Island City Athletic Club last night he defeated Dan Creedon, heretofore supposed to be the premier in the class which weighs more than 158 pounds.

All the records of the men pointed to the probability of Creedon winning. The Kid had met the same men, but he had been beaten by inferior fighters. The only one who ever disposed of the Kangaroo was the sandy-haired conqueror of the Pompadour from the Pacific coast.

Although the betting was in McCoy's favor, the sporting fraternity looked upon the Hoosier as a victim of the New Zealander's prowess, and when the chopped-up body of the Australian champion was limp upon the floor, the crowd, pleased but surprised, burst into a cheer that echoed past the walls of the clubroom.

McCoy was handled by Doc Payne, Homer Selby, Tommy West, Nat Fenton and Jack Fogarty. Joe Choynski, Tom Tracy and Benny Murphy were in Creedon's corner. Sam Austin was referee and Jim Lavelle the timekeeper.

Creedon entered the ring at 9.35 and McCoy at 9.55. The men agreed to box twenty-five rounds, and if no decision was rendered to fight to a finish. McCoy weighed 155 and Creedon 157 pounds. The men shook hands at 10.08.

The fight by rounds:

First Round—Men fiddle. McCoy leads first. Creedon plays for stomach, but misses in a clinch. Kid jabs in stomach. Creedon hits foul and is cautioned. McCoy punches Dan four times in belt. Few blows struck.

Second Round—Both men cautious. McCoy lands on body. Both run into a clinch. Kid dodges a vicious swing. Creedon the aggressor. Dan fouls again. Kid lands left jab, and follows it with another. Time. Honors easy. McCoy cool and steady, but Creedon seemed anxious.

Third Round—Kid rushes and lands on stomach. A right in face. Kid leads, but misses. Creedon clinches. Creedon again cautioned for fouling. No fast work as yet. Both clinch. McCoy jabs Dan's nose. Time. McCoy's round.

Seventh Round—Kid tries left and misses. Creedon jabs in hard right. Both land lefts on body. Kid pushes a good right on Dan's jaw. Kid lands right and left on Creedon's head. Kid uppercuts hard. Rains a flood of blows. Creedon gets in a good right. McCoy's round. Creedon's face shows punishment.

Eleventh Round—Creedon lands a low right. Kid puts in three savage rights on face. Dan bleeding badly from cut eye. McCoy covered with Creedon's blood. Creedon lands left on jaw. Kid uppercut on chin and put hard on jaw. Kid knocks Dan down.

He remained down nine seconds, and the gong sounded just as he regained his feet. The round closed with cheers for McCoy.

Fifteenth Round—McCoy shot three straight lefts into the face as a starter, and pushed Creedon's head back with a blow from the same hand. Then he jarred his man with another straight left, and bringing his right around like a flash almost felled him. Following up his advantage he rushed his man, and planting a right over the heart brought his left up with terrific force. Creedon dropped to the floor and rolled under the ropes.

By dint of the greatest energy and courage he managed to regain his feet just within the ten seconds limit. The gong saved him, the round ending just as McCoy was about to bear down upon him. He practically was out, and his seconds, seeing that he had no chance, threw up the sponge amid the cheers of the crowd.

Odds on the fight ranged from 100 to 70 on McCoy to even money. It is estimated that more than one hundred thousand dollars changed hands on the fight.

NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED IN UP-TO-DATE LAUNDRY WORK.

We run the laundry and take care of all details, but you "boss" it. We do what you tell us to do. It may give you a new sensation to find that you get a domestic finish when you ask for it, and to discover that your collars are actually ironed in the way that the maker intended them to be ironed.

We are running a laundry with the most improved methods and appliances. We use pure water and good soap. We are using two things that are not commonly used in laundries—care and intelligence. If you have found a laundry that pleases you perfectly, we have nothing to say to you. If you have any reason to be dissatisfied, we would like to give you a practical demonstration of our way of running a laundry.

Tell us where and when to call for your work, when you want it delivered, and let us know any particular thing that you would like to have done with it.

We want you to understand that we are running this laundry for you, and that your wishes are to be regarded in every particular. We will give you just exactly what you want, if we can find out what that is. Perhaps you believe that it is impossible to have your laundry well handled without irritation and annoyance to you. We are sure that you are mistaken. May we have an opportunity of demonstrating it?

The "Portland Range" abounds with new and good ideas—it's FIRST range in every way.

Get off cars at Plane St. But note name "Amos" and "No. 73" before entering store.

Furniture for Remembrances

Little need to jog your memory as to value of the things you gave last year—furniture pieces were those most favored, we'll warrant. Our store's in even better trim to help you than 'twas in '96—and buy on the 75c-a-week-easy-payment-plan if cash is short. Come and see us—even if you haven't cash; we'll try to "fix you up."

And SUCH a Lot of Pretty Chairs!

It's one of our pet hobbies to keep this line complete and inviting above all similar stocks. More room for choice in shapes, sizes, woods, coverings than you've any notion of! Cherry, maple, oak, enameled, gilt chairs, plain and richly covered—$1.75 up to $50. Spend all the time you like among them. Buying is not forced on any one.

For surprisingly slender prices—great hosts of gifts. Tea and Dinner Sets from simplest to most elaborate—Children's Chairs, 50c up—Express Wagons and Sleds—Easels and Music Cabinets, all woods—Lamps and Clocks—Pictures—Brass and Onyx Tables—the "Columbia" Sewing Machine at $29, cash or credit—Chiffoniers and Shaving Stands—Desks and Hat Racks—but why keep on? We'd need two pages, 'stead of a corner in one to tell of all.

"Gift Stoves"

You may smile, but this live stove department has been filled with those buying stoves and ranges for gifts, and ordering them reserved for late delivery. Incidentally, 'tis Newark's largest stock of the sort—over half our main floor and basement is filled with warrranted makes—all low in price. The "Portland" Range is a treat of itself—seen it? Oil heaters here—too.,

AN ORDINANCE

to license, regulate and prohibit shows and exhibitions.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That no person shall exhibit in the City of Plainfield any traveling or other show, circus, menagerie or athletic or scientific exhibition, or theatrical or variety performace or play, without first obtaining a license therefor, as herein described.

Section 2. That the license fees to be charged for such licenses respectively, shall be as follows; to wit: for a license for a circus, with or without a menagerie, charging twenty-five cents or more for one admission, the sum of not exceeding One Hundred Dollars for each day; for a license for a circus, with or without a menagerie, charging from ten to twenty-five cents for a single admission, the sum of not exceeding One Hundred Dollars for the first week, and the sum of not exceeding Fifty Dollars for each week thereafter the same shall continue; for a license for a concert or entertainment charging fifty cents or more for a single admission, the sum of not exceeding Twenty-Five Dollars for each concert or entertainment; but this provision shall not apply to a concert or entertainment given for charitable or benevolent purposes; for a license for an an athletic or scientific exhibition the sum of not exceeding One Hundred Dollars for each exhibition; for a license for a theatre, opera house or music hall, the sum of Fifty Dollars a year.

Section 3. The Mayor shall have authority to determine the amount of any license fee within the limits aforesaid and to decide whether a license is required under the terms of the preceding Section, when there is a doubt upon an application, and also authority to grant or withhold a license. Upon the payment of the license fee to the Treasurer of the City of Plainfield or Chief of Police and the production of his receipt therefor to the Mayor, there shall be given to the applicant a license which shall state the name of the person licensed and the purpose for which it was granted.

Section 4. That any person or persons who shall make or have any exhibition or show of any kind hereinabove described, without first obtaining a license therefor, as hereinabove provided, shall, on conviction, be subject to a fine not exceeding One Hundred Dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding sixty days, or both such fine and imprisonment.

Section 5. That all ordinances and parts of ordinances which conflict with any of the provisions of this ordinance, be and the same are hereby repealed.

Adopted by the Common Council, Dec. 6th, 1897, approved by the Mayor Dec. 8th, 1897.

Ready for Business

evidently, and the business should be done by all means. Buildings require paint. Of course, a house may be left unpainted and left to become weatherbeaten and a wreck. That doesn't pay, though; it's much cheaper to paint, and our paints in all colors are the best in the market for durability under the most trying conditions. They are well adapted to our exposure and we sell everything in the line of paints and painters' supplies at short prices.

The Blood of Life.

Modern Science Discovers a New Way of Restoring its Vitality and Curing Disease.

Physicians are giving more and more attention to the quality of the blood. Anæmia the scourge of mankind, an enemy the most skilled physicians dread to attack. It is the starting point of nearly all the ills to which human flesh is heir. Anæmia is caused by a bankruptcy of iron in the blood. The blood fails to take up the oxygen breathed into the lungs, the germs of disease multiply the weakest part of the system is attacked and disease is the result.

The food we eat does not supply the blood with sufficient iron to meet the demands of nature, as a result it becomes pale, thin and watery. The cheeks, lips and ears become pale and the appetite is bad; there is palpitation, shortness of breath, weariness, constipation and loss of energy. To restore the system to a normal condition you must restore to the blood its natural iron. Prescribed forms of iron are inadequate because indigestible; dangerous because they derange the stomach and ruin the teeth.

Realizing this, Dr. Campbell, an English physician and chemist of high repute, sought to produce iron as nature produces it, as it is contained in the blood. He satisfied himself that the iron contained in the blood of the bullock was similar to that in human blood. A process of extraction was discovered and this natural iron or Hæmoglobin was enclosed in pure gelatine globes called Capsuloids.

These Capsuloids when taken into the stomach dissolve immediately and the iron is absorbed by the blood, strength created, vitality restored.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price from the office of The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York City.

CIVIL SERVICE CHANGES.

President McKinley Contemplating Changes of Cleveland's Order.

Washington, Dec. 18.—President McKinley is contemplating slight modifications of the famous civil-service order of President Cleveland, which threw the protection of the classified service over several thousand Federal employes and left only a few places at the disposal of the Administration officers. The changes contemplated by the President have the approval of the Civil-Service Commission and are aimed to give internal revenue and custom collectors and like officers the power to select their own subordinates, particularly those who handle money for which the collectors are liable under bond.

The Administration officers say that there are many branches of the public service in which trusted employes of this kind will be removed from the protection of the Civil-Service law, but that the aggregate number of employes affected is not large. The President's order may be issued very soon, and the knowledge of it is responsible for the widely circulated report that Mr. McKinley is about to revoke Cleveland's order and release about forty-five thousand employes from the classified civil-service.

As the story goes, Senators Hanna and Fairbanks, Elkins, Pritchard and others have told Mr. McKinley that his political future and that of the Republican party depends upon his undoing of the work of Cleveland, which, they say, was not decided upon until it was known that the Republicans were coming into power.

In view, however, of President McKinley's statement in his recent message that he will "uphold and extend" the Civil-Service law, it is not likely that he will listen to those who think it is his duty to undo the work of Cleveland, notwithstanding the fact that it was designed to keep Republicans out of the Federal offices. A sentiment in favor of repealing the Civil-Service law is very strong among certain elements in both Houses of Congress, but while they have made a well-organized attack upon the system, even Gen. Grosvenor, the leader of the forces, does not claim to have received much encouragement from President McKinjey.

Senator Hanna Denies the Report.

Washington, Dec. 18.—Senator Hanna denies the statements that he has called on the President and given him notification that unless he rescinded the civil-service orders of President Cleveland that he would not be responsible for his political future. The Senator states that the story is too silly to need denial, and that the matter is one for the President to decide, and not for a Senator from the State of Ohio.

MURDERED BY BURGLARS.

Farmer Shot Down and His Wife Bound and Gagged.

Norwalk, Ct., Dec. 18.—A crime occurred last evening in Wilton, a town six miles from here on the main road to Danbury. Two masked men broke into the home of David S. R. Lambert, bound and gagged Mrs. Lambert, and after chloroforming her, ransacked the house. In the midst of their foray they were surprised by Mr. Lambert, whom they shot four times, once through the base of the brain. At a late hour last night he was dying and Mrs. Lambert is almost insane through grief and the shock of her experience.

All the countryside was aroused. Farmers with lanterns and shotguns scoured the neighboring hills in the hope of finding the two men. The search will be continued to-day. The county is in fear. What, with the other crimes nearby, the farmers are aroused to fury, and if the miscreants are captured theirs will be a short shift and a sudden ending.

There is absolutely no clew to the men. Mrs. Lambert's description is meagre, as she was too frightened to scrutinize either very closely. She feels, however, that she would know them again, and the police of all the nearby towns are working desperately to run the men to earth.

Postmasters Appointed.

Washington, Dec. 18.—The following fourth-class postmasters have been appointed in New York and Pennsylvania:

New York—Clarence, Erie, C. G. Parker; Cuddenbackville, Orange, R. C. Jackson; Hornby, Steuben, H. W. Wheat; North Hoosick, Rensselaer C. L. Klages; Painted Post, Steuben, F. C. Wilcox; Presho, Steuben, L. E. Bennett; South Bradford, Steuben, William Lamphier; Vestal, Broome, Abram Depue.

Pennsylvania—Cadiz, Bradford, J. W. Prince; Durell, Bradford, C. S. Hendershot; Elroy, Montgomery, H. H. Moyer; Hanlin Station, Washington, W. J. Parkhill; Herrick Centre, Susquehanna, R. Tingley; Keepville, Erie, A. E. McAdoo; Monocacy Station, Berks, F. S. Potts; New Oxford, Adams, W. H. Emmert; Parryville, Carbon, Marian J. Snyder; Ricketts, Wyoming, G. J. Heintzlemann; Sheshequin, Bradford, W. M. Snyder; Troutville, Clearfield, T. J. Curry; Wampum, Lawrence, C. E. Fitch.

Sealskins Shut Out.

Washington, Dec. 18.—It has been discovered that the bill relating to pelagic sealing, which has just passed both branches of Congress and is before the President, contains a provision prohibiting the further bringing of sealskins into the United States from any source whatever.

As the United States is the largest market in the world for sealskins, this complete stoppage of the trade in this country will be a severe measure against the British and Canadian industries, which take and cure the skins and then dispose of them largely in the United States.

$1,000,000 Fire at Grand Forks.

Minneapolis, Dec. 18.—A special from Grand Forks, N. D., says that a loss of nearly a million dollars was caused there early yesterday morning by fire. The Hotel Dakotah, a large five-story structure that cost $250,000, was completely destroyed, as were the two large wholesale stores adjoining, Nash Brothers and the Grand Forks Mercantile Company.

Nash Brothers were grocers and fruit and cigar wholesale dealers, and the Mercantile Company dealt in groceries. Both concerns occupied a brick building about one hundred feet square and four or five stories high.

ANTI-SCALPING BILL

Hearing Before the House Committee on Commerce.

McKENZIE'S STATEMENTS

Apparent that He Made an Unfavorable Impression—The Railroad Side to Be Heard on Jan. 7—A Very Hot Fight Anticipated.

Washington, Dec. 18.—There promises to be a very hot fight in both Houses of Congress over the Anti-Scalping bill soon after the holidays. Both committees will probably report the bill, and the representatives of the scalpers are on hand for a prolonged siege. The hearing of the Senate committee of Thursday was followed by a hearing yesterday morning before the House Committee on Commerce.

Mr. McKenzie, representing the scalpers, consumed the time of the committeee from 10.30 until 12 o'clock, and was then granted an hour more to proceed with the statement of his case. The committee evidently intend to dispose of the matter speedily, as they continued their session after the meeting of the House, in order to get through with the hearing. Mr. McKenzie's statement was practically a repetition of what he said to the Senate Committee, and it was apparent that he made an unfavorable impression.

Important Admissions.

Some of the questions asked by members of the committee brought out extraordinary replies. One question disclosed the statement, in effect, that the scalping system was availed of by certain roads to evade the laws against discrimination, and Mr. McKenzie substantially admitted that scalping was based upon irregular business methods. He said that if all railroads practised strictly legitimate methods it might not be possible for the scalpers to make a living. He said that railroads not able to make discriminations openly accomplished their design through the scalpers, and he acknowledged, in answer to a question by the chairman, that there might be a doubt whether tickets in the hands of scalpers under fictitious names were "legally issued."

He defended the scalpers against the charge of being "green goods men" and "bunco men" by the statement that those who made the charge did not come with clean hands.

When Mr. McKenzie finished, Burt W. Lyon, of St. Louis, for the commercial travelers, denied some of Mr. McKenzie's statements. The latter had said that commercial travelers could save $5,000,000 by purchasing tickets from scalpers, for they sold them tickets at 2½ cents a mile. Mr. Lyon said that all the railroads sold mileage tickets to commercials at 2 cents per mile, a saving of seven millions of dollars.

The committee decided to hear from the railroads Jan. 7. General Passenger Agent George H. Daniels, of the New York Central, will speak in favor of the bill.

Chicago Merchants for the Bill.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—The Chicago members of the National Association of Merchants and Travelers are determined to make a hot fight against the scalpers from this time forward. They were, they say, content to assume a passive part in the fight, but now that they have been misrepresented, as they claim, by the pamphlet which has been forwarded to all members of Congress, they declare that they will bend all their energies to secure the passage of the bill which prohibits ticket scalping.

They have formally requested the House and Senate committees to set a date when they may be heard.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

Debate Over Report of Committee Against Free Alcohol.

Washington, Dec. 18.—The special committee on free alcohol used in the arts and manufactures, reported to the Senate yesterday, through Senator Platt (Conn.) that they had failed to frame a bill. The report stated that a bill was inadvisable at this time, because it would reduce the revenues.

In connection with the report Mr. Hoar (Mass.) said that he would take an early opportunity to point out the difference between those who produce whisky as a beverage and those who manufacture alcohol for use in the arts. "It is time," said he, "for Congress to deal with this question with a little more courage and a little more justice."

Mr. Chandler said that so long as the internal revenue tax on alcohol was so great in proportion to its cost, enormous customs duties upon all articles containing alcohol was absolutely necessary.

Mr. Hale said that he could not give his approval to a bill that would further reduce the revenues of the Government $10,000,000 per year.

Mr. Hoar (Mass.) said that Congress ought to put aside politics in the consideration of taxing alcohol. He believed it would be perfectly proper to place an additional tax of $1 per barrel on beer and thought that that would remove the financial difficulties of the Government.

EVERY MAN wants to arrange his affairs so that his financial interests will not suffer in the event of his death. Life Insurance does this.

Pythian Talent Entertainment.

The talent in Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, Knights of Pythias, entertained the remainder of the members, last evening at the regular meeting, in a delightful manner. The third rank was conferred on two candidates. It was decided on the recommendation of a committee to have a separate initiating team for each rank. The committee on piano was called on for a report and one of the members produced a toy instrument that caused no end of fun.

A POSTER TEA.

Mrs. Serrell's Parlor Charmingly Decorated in a Novel Manner.

A valuable collection of posters, the work of many well-known artists, was exhibited at the home of Mrs. L. W. Serrell, Jr., yesterday afternoon when a "poster" tea was held there for the benefit of the Women's Exchange. It was arranged by the advertising committee of the exchange.

The parlors of Mrs. Serrell's home were charmingly decorated. At the dining table Mrs. Francis Wood poured tea and Miss Caroline Vail poured chocolate. The guests were received by Mrs. L. W. Serrell, Jr., Mrs. Craig A. Marsh, Mrs. A. C. Vail and Mrs. S. R. Krom. Miss Krom assisted in the dining room.

The posters in the collection were loaned by Miss Tracy, Miss Clapp, Miss McCready, Mrs. J. P. Taylor, Miss Caroline Vail and Mrs. Serrell. 25 cents was collected at the door from each guest, and cake and candy were sold. A good sum was realized. There were about sixty present. The tea lasted from 3 to 6 o'clock.

Stole a Cape From a Dummy.

Somebody is in a handsome $18 electric seal cape, and Kohn, the West Front street dealer, is out one without any recompense for the sale—in fact it was a theft. The cape was displayed on a dummy in front of the store yesterday afternoon, but in the early part of the evening some evil disposed person slyly snatched the cape from the dummy and disappeared with it. It was a thirty inch cape, sabel color and silk lined. Mr. Kohn will pay a reward for information as to who the thief is.

Bad Little Boys.

Three small boys, David Adleman, James Gray and Frank McComas were brought before City Judge De Meza this morning, charged with malicious mischief and breaking the windows to a vacant barn on West Front street. The boys explained that they had been playing in the barn but that the windows had already been broken before they went there. The Judge remanded them until next Saturday so that he might investigate the matter.

A Full-Fledged Red Man Now.

Assemblyman Roger F. Murray became successively a hunter, a warrior and a chief in the Miantonomoh Tribe of Red Men last evening, when those three degrees were conferred upon him by the other braves of that organization. The meeting was a lively one and the Assemblyman took his share in the fun and made an eloquent address on the advantages of the wily red men over the palefaces.

Off for the South.

Halsey Compton, Isaac F. Randolph, Arthur Stryker and Warren Townley went south today by steamer. They go to Oriental and Newburn, South Carolina, for a two week's hunt. They took dogs and guns. They will try their luck at deer shooting during their absence.

—David White came up before City Judge DeMeza, this morning, for sentence. The Judge administered a lecture, warning the prisoner, but suspending sentence on this occasion.

—A special invitation is extended to all young men living in the vicinity to attend the young men's Bible class which meets in the Monroe Avenue church tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

—A freshly-clipped horse attached to a buckboard caused considerable excitement on Park avenue yesterday afternoon. The driver was finally able to manage the horse with much difficulty.

PETTY RIVALRY GONE.

An Era of Good Feeling Between the United Workmen Lodges.

An era of good feeling has begun between the two local lodges of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and the petty rivalry of the past has disappeared. Last evening Grand Master Workman H. S. Rutherford, of Cape May, paid his annual visit to Columbia Lodge. By special invitation a large delegation of the members of Central Lodge was present. The candidates were initiated. Then an excellent supper was served to the members and their guests by Caterer Stephenson. The collation was followed by speeches, in which Past Master Workmen Grey, Brokaw, Mague, Spicer and others, of Central Lodge, and Past Master Workmen Nash, Leifke, Laing, Dunham, Bauersachs and Loughlin, of Columbia Lodge, all made short speeches. The good time did not come to an end until after midnight.

The committee in charge consisted of Vincent W. Nash, chairman; J. W. A. Bauersachs, Garret Dunham Henry, Liefke and E. M. Laing.

A FINE CASKET WAGON.

Beautiful New Undertaking Wagon Acquired by A. M. Runyon & Son.

The new undertaking wagon of A. M. Runyon & Son, which has just arrived in this city, is worthy of notice, as it is the finest vehicle of its class ever seen here. It is a casket wagon, built upon the ambulance model, with rubber tires and ball-bearings. The inside woodwork is mahogany, and the top and side panels are of glass, with raying of black cloth, which can be taken out when it is desired to use the vehicle as a flower wagon. The body and gearing are painted a dark green, and the mountings are of rich brass work. When a wagon as fine as this is placed upon the streets it is a decided benefit to the city, and will undoubtedly be considered as such by all who see it.

A Birthday Surprise.

L E. Woolley, of New street, was tendered a surprise party in honor of his twenty-fifth birthday Thursday evening by his many friends from Westfield, Dunellen and Plainfield. After supper was served Benj. W. Hand, in behalf of those present, presented Mr. Woolley with a handsome rocking chair. After wishing Mr. Woolley many happy birthdays the guests departed for their homes, all deciding that they had had a grand good time.

Married Fifteen Years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bauersachs celebrated their fifteenth wedding anniversary at their home, 70 Grandview avenue, Monday evening. A number of their friends gathered to offer congratulations, and a most pleasant evening was spent. Games were played and refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Bauersachs received a number of beautiful presents as tokens of kind regards and well wishes of their friends.

—There will be a special Advent service at the Congregational church next Wednesday evening.

CHRIS'MAS TIME AGAIN.

De folks doan 'pear so joyful as dey mosely ustah be
W'en de time'd come aroun' again ter deckerate the tree;
Fob de missus 's been pohly, an' de cap'n's off ter sea,
An' dey worry, worry, worry 'bout t'ings dat 'll nevah be.

An' somehow I resents it,
An' it goes agens de grain
Ter see folks lookin mohnful
W'en it's Chris'mas time again.

De chillun all is mose grown up, an' doan come rompin' roun'
Ter be petted by der mammy, er toted up an' down.
An' some is gone ter business, an' some is settled down,
An' dey on'y nod w'en passin' in de streets about de town,

An' somehow I resents it,
An' it goes agens de grain,
Ter see folks lookin' mohnful,
W'en it's Chris'mas time again.

But, missus, doan you worry, an' chillun, be mob gay,
An' sen' some joyful message ter de cap'n far away.
Fob remembah dat de bressed Lawd come down on Chris'mas Day
Ter make us free from all our sins an' dribe our cares away.
Den glory in de highes'
An' peace on earth ter men,
Let all de worl' be happy
W'en it's Chris'mas time again.

DOROTHY'S DINNER.

"I intend," said Dorothy, resolutely, shutting her lips so firmly that the dimples straightened themselves out for once all around her pretty mouth—"I intend to have some people at my dinner table this Christmas Day who are poorer than I am—some people whose lives are saddened—who have heavier burdens to carry than I, and more trouble to make ends meet, if such a thing can be."

"You'd better buy yourself a new gown, Dorothy," laughed the Princess, "and your hat and gloves are so shabby they look like an upper housemaid's."

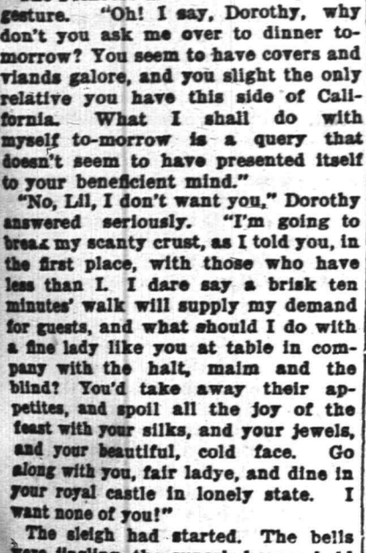
The Princess was Dorothy's cousin Lil. Dorothy, who had always been in the imaginative line, had dubbed her Princess years ago, when they were both children, because Lil had always been surrounded by velvet and fur and satin and jewels, and blooded horses and tall, solemn, cockney accented coachmen—in short, by anything and everything that money can buy or hire or the purveyors to wealth devise.

Dorothy had her living to get, and the Princess had more than she could do to spend her income.

The Princess made a little impatient gesture. "Oh! I say, Dorothy, why don't you ask me over to dinner tomorrow? You seem to have covers and viands galore, and you slight the only relative you have this side of California. What I shall do with myself to-morrow is a query that doesn't seem to have presented itself to your beneficient mind."

"No, Lil, I don't want you," Dorothy answered seriously. "I'm going to break my scanty crust, as I told you, in the first place, with those who have less than I. I dare say a brisk ten minutes' walk will supply my demand for guests, and what should I do with a fine lady like you at table in company with the halt, maim and the blind? You'd take away their appetites, and spoil all the joy of the feast with your silks, and your jewels, and your beautiful, cold face. Go along with you, fair ladye, and dine in your royal castle in lonely state. I want none of you!"

The sleigh had started. The bells were jingling, the superb horses held their heads high in the frosty air. The Princess called back curtly, "I shall do nothing of the kind. I shall dine with you."



COLEBROOK TAKES LEAVE.

Dorothy went thoughtfully into the house. When she had taken off her hood and brushed her hair the doorbell rang and the artist came in with the drawings for her new story. They were good drawings and appropriate ones, for Colebrook, like Dorothy, had been in old Moneybags' employ for a long time and knew just what was wanted and how to do it, but Dorothy showed little interest in the work that day.

There was only one thought uppermost in her mind—her dinner party. Colebrook laughed sarcastically when she told him about it. He was a cynical man, with a few streaks of gray in his hair and in the big, fierce military mustache he wore. Dorothy's ingenuousness often amused him. He had always regarded her as a child. His name for her was Scheherezade, in honor of that story telling wife of the Sultan, whose head was at stake unless she went on every night with her tale, whether she had anything to tell or not, just as Dorothy had to go on with hers, in order to appease butcher, baker, landlord and everybody else who had anything to do with her material comfort. "Don't you think it is a little far fetched to extend your plot making to your own dinner table? Fie! my child, write it out. It's a good fiction idea. Moneybags will buy it and I'll illustrate it with my top ability. Bless me, what a picture that would make—the group around the table gathered in from highways and byways, with you at the head. Will you give me a sitting so that I may make you an accurate portrait? Come, let us give over such extremely visionary schemes, and employ our ideas rather to enhance the glory of our own little pocket!"

He spoke banteringly, and the pink roses in Dorothy's face deepened to carmine. "I shall not write it out, thank you," she replied somewhat tartly. "I am tired of writing out things for other people to read and criticise. I intend to live this thing myself!"

"Do so, by all means," Colebrook said, twisting the corners of his gray mustache, smiling and rising to take his hat, "but I think when all's done you'll find it would have been easier the old way. Poor people deserve their reputation for ingratitude. If they treat you well while the meal is in progress you may consider yourself fortunate."

He took his leave, and Dorothy pouted a little as she watched him down the street. Then she put on her hat and jacket and set out for a distant quarter of the village, which she knew was inhabited by people upon whose shoulders the mantle of success had not fallen, and to whose impecuniosity her own slender salary would seem like unto the income of the Princess herself.

* * * *

It was Christmas Day and Dorothy's door bell was pealing forth sounds of welcome. There was a delicious odor streaming through the house, which spoke eloquently of the coming feast. The little parlor was radiant with a glowing fire, and with the blooming plants which were at once Dorothy's extravagance and delight. Mary Ann, Dorothy's ancient servitor, was in a state of excitement bordering on frenzy, and Dorothy trembled for the success of the dinner, which, however, turned out to be a jolly affair, cooked to a turn, and seasoned to the taste of queens, and kings, too, for that matter, as well as that of several much more ordinary people, for Dorothy's search among the poor and needy had not been in vain, and there came to occupy those three empty chairs in that tiny box of a dining room a deaf and dumb man, a decayed gentlewoman, and an aged seamstress carrying a young child in her arms, and so bent and bowed with rheumatism that it was with difficulty she made her way up the low stoop which ran along the front of the cottage.

Dorothy, arrayed in her prettiest gown, with a rose at her belt and another in her hair, ran to meet her guests, to carry the baby, and to welcome them, as perhaps two of them at least had never been welcomed in all their lives before. She was a pretty missionary with that glowing color in her face, and the soft light of pity in her brown eyes, but the best of it was that did not act the missionary at all, but only the sweet, simple, sympathetic hostess, who devoted herself to the comfort of her guests with a fervency that left no room for anything save enjoyment and happiness.

The feeble old gentlewoman whom Dorothy had decoyed into accepting a dinner invitation from a stranger had been coerced by sheer force of that young woman's affectionaate will, and as for the others it had required only the pressure of the hand and the fervent invitation. The cripple lived quite alone in a cheerless lodging, and the deaf and dumb man, whose profession was that of a teacher of mutes, had lost his situation through a recent fire, and was now wandering from one village to another, seeking new employment and living as he could.

The four sat down in Dorothy's bright, snug parlor, a cheerful, merry group, the speechless man with a block of paper and a pencil on his knee, that all might speak to him who would through the medium of sight, and if the old gentlewoman whose face was all furrows, and whose voice was cracked like a broken lute, did sit apart from the other guests clutching her ancient draperies nervously when they stood or sat about her, those others were blissfully unconscious of any such proceeding, and beamed at her as at their hostess with overflowing hearts.

The cripple, who was stout, was squeezed so tightly into her ancient bodice of rusty black, and her face was so many tints and tones of purple in consequence that Dorothy had a vague fear of what might happen when the effects of the dinner began to make themselves manifest. The cripple was a woman who had been handsome in a coarse, ordinary way, and the cripple's baby, or grandbaby, the child of a ne'er do-well son, who was a widower, was as fair a little human flower as one might find in many days' journeyings. It had brown eyes and pink cheeks, not unlike those of Dorothy herself, and Dorothy held it, and talked to it, and scribbled hospitably on the deaf mute's pad, and drew out the decayed gentlewoman on the early aristocracy of the village, and other kindred topics, and chatted merrily with the cripple the while, and so on until the dinner bell rang, and Mary Ann "spacheless with pride," as Dorothy afterward related, appeared ready to serve the company, wearing her Sunday gown and her broad, Celtic smile, which had been a comfort to Dorothy through many a season of depression when genius couldn't be made to burn, and Scheherezade's spirits had been at very low ebb indeed. But those troublous times seemed very far away now in the joy of the present. Dorothy was in her element. It was a cruel fate that had made her a Scheherzade instead of a sweet little housewife with dinners to serve and friends to entertain.

Her guests were glowing in response to her hospitality. The baby, luxuriously seated on a mammoth old edition of Webster, was participating gayly in the feast. There was a festal air about the miniature dining-room, with its bright rugs, its snowy curtains, its sparkling glass, its white linen and the blooming things Dorothy always would have about her.

The old gentlewoman was leaning back in her chair. Had the old times come back again? Did comfort and plenty wait to do her bidding as in days of yore? It was like a page from the book of her youth. She looked at Dorothy and smiled, and so did the deaf mute, and the cripple, and even the baby, who had loved and trusted her from the beginning, and then the bell rang sharply and suddenly, and Mary Ann in a flutter ran to the door with a dish in her hand, and pretty soon there swept down to the dining-room a vision of such rare loveliness that everybody looked up in surprise and ectasy.

It was only the Princess in full dinner dress. Dorothy had seen her in such guise many times before, but there was a radiance about her that was new, as if the Christmas fairies had come to her in the night and transformed her into a human thing who loved her kind. She shook hands warmly all around the table, dropped a sealed envelope at everybody's plate with playful admonitions not to open them until they got home, ordered Mary Ann around with a great show of proprietorship, established herself by the side of the old gentlewoman, to that worthy's intense and respectable satisfaction, and had soon ingratiated herself so deeply into the hearts of the guests that Dorothy forgave her all her sins, and beamed at her from the head of the table quite as radiantly as if she had been the poorest and worthiest object of them all.

Now, the dinner was not yet well under way when there was another warning note at the door, and Dorothy sprang up in amazement to meet Colebrook, who strolled good naturedly into the dining room, and, like the Princess, demanded to be speedily served with the best there was in the larder. This quite upset the gravity of the party, the deaf mute included, who smiled as broadly as if he were in the conspiracy, and the baby began beating such an enthusiastic kettledrum with one of the legs of the turkey that the cripple felt obliged to subdue him, though she did it in the gentlest and tenderest of ways, and in the midst of a storm of protestations from the entire party.

When the first wave of merriment had subsided Colebrook twisted his gray mustache and looked about him in his old whimsical way, but the Princess, who had known him a long time, plucked so vigorously at his sleeve, and the baby and Dorothy laughed at him so joyously, that he soon began to enjoy himself as he had not done since he had been a schoolboy, and Dorothy could hardly believe it when he began entertaining the company with droll stories and grotesque imitations of people and things he had encountered in a lifetime of journeying about the world.

And so the Christmas dinner went on to the close, and the close was plum pudding, with the whitest and creamiest of sauce, and the blackest of black coffee, for which a bit of brandy was burned with the bluest of all blue flames a proceeding which amused the baby no less than it did the cripple and the deaf mute, who had never seen it before and who accepted it as a huge Christmas joke along with the rest of the fun.

Thus in another hour the happy party separated to meet in such association perhaps never again on earth, and Dorothy, standing in the center of the departing group, and receiving their fervent farewells with glowing face and tear-dimmed eyes' seemed somehow to Colebrook to have the halo of the very Christ-child himself about her pretty head, and when the others had all gone, and the parlor lay in that soft light that the snow-covered earth sends through unshaded windows with the approach of night, the man had exercised the cynic, and the lover stood revealed.

"Scheherezade," he said softly, "you were right. The day you planned for others has been full of blessings. You were the necromancer who brought them all together. And now only you and I are left alone. Shall we not finish out the circlet of this Christmas garland by pledging a life of love and devotion to each other?"

Mary Ann brought in the tea things just then, and Dorothy hid her blushes behind the urn, while the face of the tall man at the other side of the table had taken on a look of grave sweetness that had never rested there before.

Reconnoitering.

Rev. Dr. Primrose—Have you made any preparation for Christmas?

Uncle 'Rastus—Yis, sah. I'se jes' done lookin' ober de neighborhood fer dogs and spring guns.

Little Willie Could Spell.

Just about Christmas time Mr. and Mrs. Harlemflatte find it necessary to do a great deal of spelling when they converse regarding shopping tours in the presence of their son, in whose mind they wish to preserve the Santa Clause traditions.

The other night Mr. Harlemflatte had come in laden with bundles, and when he had been relieved of them and was seated at the dinner table the conversation began in the usual way, for little Willie was present.

"Did you get the s-k-a-t-e-s and the d-r-u-m that h-e has b-e-e-n asking for?" asked Mrs. H., as she began serving the vegetables.

"Yes, and there was a n-i-c-e s-l-e-d for one eighty-five, and I took it," answered Mr. H., smiling at his young son and heir.

"You didn't forget the t-i-n so-l-d-i-e-r-s and the t-r-u-m-p-e-t I hope?" said his wife, "and the w-i-g and the w-h-i-s-k-e-r-s that you are to wear with the S-a-n-t-a C-l-a-u-s costume?"

"No. Got 'em all," answered Mr. Harlemflatte.

"I'll bet you forgot the v-e-l-o-c-i-p-e-d-e, now, didn't you?" she asked anxiously.

"That ain't right," broke in little Willie. "It's v-e-l-o-c-i-p-e-d-e, ain't it, Pop, and say, Pop, is it one of the kind that goes all round the block without stopping?"

Christmas Day.

Everybody knows that Christmas Day falls on the 25th day of December.

Of course! So it does—now. But it did not always do so. In the early centuries of Christianity the feast was kept up at various dates in the months of January, April, and May. For more than three hundred years, January 6th was Christmas Day in the Eastern Church. The Abyssinians called June 21st Christmas Day; while among the Armenians Christmas Day has always been January 18th, and is so now. The exact date is quite unknown.

The custom of decking our houses and churches with holly and mistletoe on this day is an exceedingly ancient one, and there seems little doubt that it is a remnant of the religious observances of the Druids.

A Designing Mother.

"I am really delighted at the interest my boy Tommy is taking in his writing," said Mrs. Hickleby. "He spends two hours a day at it."

"Really? How strange! How did you get him to do it?"

"Oh, as for that, I told him to write me out a list of everything he wanted for Christmas, and he's still at it.—Harper's Bazar.

Made Him Her Confident.

A little girl aged nine called her father to her bedside the other evening. "Papa," said the little diplomat, "I want to ask your advice."

"Well, my dear, what is it about?"

"What do you think it will be best to give me for a Christmas present?"

A CHRISTMAS CONFESSION.

There are some men I'm bound to hate,
Some types I simply can't endure;
But those I most abominate
Are dried up mummies—rich or poor—
Who say they loathe the Christmas tide
And ban it all to Jericho;
I'd tar and feather such and ride
Them on a rail—I hate them so.

To them old Santa Claus the blest
Is but a boresome myth, you see;
But, though I'm forty, I protest
He's still most charmingly real to me.
And by the saints! till I am gray,
And soon this bounteous world to leave
I'll hang my socks, say what you may,
For him to fill on Christmas eve.

You laugh! Well, I refuse to take
The word of crusty heathens here,
Who say that Santa is a take
For advertising every year.
And so without one secret pang,
Though forty, grave and dignified,
I'll fire the logs and o'er them hang
My stocking at sweet Christmas tide.

AUTHOR OF NIGHT BEFORE XMAS.

What the World Has Done to Keep Alive His Memory.

How many of us are there who have not gone to bed at some time or other with these lines running in our minds?

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all the house
Not a creature was stirring, not ever a mouse.

And how many of us are there, boys, girls and grown folks, who know anything about the man who wrote the poem?

In St. Peter's Church, in West Twentieth street, New York, may be seen a tablet erected to the memory of Clement Clarke Moore. That is all the world has done to keep alive the memory of the generous and good man who wrote this famous poem.

In 1840 he published a volume of poems, noteworthy for their simple, pure and beautiful sentiment. "The Night Before Christmas," perhaps because of its graceful humor, has outlived the rest.

Many stories are told of Dr. Moore, showing that he was a man with a good and noble heart. He loved animals and all things that brought his thoughts in communion with the Creator. It is also told of him that he was fond of playing the violin. He would sit for hours each day, in his old mansion, playing for the boys and girls, who would assemble as his unbidden though welcome guests.

On July 10, 1863, in the midst of the civil war, he died.

Bessie's Great Sacrifice.

The stockings had been hung up and the little ones gathered around the hearth to hear mamma tell the story of the Babe of Bethlehem. Their small faces expressed profound sympathy when they heard how the Son of God was born in a stable, how he lay on a bed of straw, how he shivered in the cool December night and how his life was in danger from the wicked Herod. Little Bessie seemed to be particularly impressed. She said nothing, but one could see that she was thinking hard.

When, half an hour later, mamma came to Bessie's bed to kiss her good night, she found the child pressing her doll to her bosom and gazing at it with unutterable affection. As she stooped over the bed, Bessie looked up and asked earnestly: "Mamma, ain't God's baby got any dolly?"

"No," replied the mother, smiling. Bessie looked at her doll again and hugged it. Then conflicting emotions showed themselves on the little face. After a long silence the child raised her eyes, which had such an expression as those of the martyrs must have worn at the stake, and said firmly: "I'll lend my dolly to God's baby. Take it to him, mamma."

Closing her eyes tight, Bessie laid the doll in her mother's hands and buried her face in the pillow to try to forget the great sacrifice she had made.

A Sterling Gift.

It is so easy to make a child happy. A rag-doll, a home-made toy, the simplest thing given with love and joy is enough to gladden the heart of a child. They care little for what money can buy, but they know how to prize a merry heart, a gentle voice and a loving smiles. Be glad with them at Christmas time, and give them the joy that is the rightful dower of childhood.

A Last Request.

Her father had said it could never be.

They both sat in the parlor—also in tears.

After long searching and a desperate effort she found her voice. Then, in despairing tones, she cried: —"Oh, Charley! If we must part let us wait till after Christmas!"

A Boy With a Future.

Visiting Uncle—Ted, what are you trying to do with that sheet of paper?

Four-Year-Old—I'm writing a letter to Santa Claus. I want him to bring me another mouth, so's I can eat with one and talk with the other.

He—They say iron enters largely into the composition of the human system.

She—I suppose that is the reason a man loses his temper when he gets hot.—Puck.

WITH LOVING HANDS.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS THAT MAY BE MADE AT HOME.

An Odd and Useful Device For Sister or Mother—A Novel Gift For the College Student In Which the College Colors Are Employed.

Christmas gifts should not be too costly. Expensive gifts upset the equilibrium of things generally, for they necessitate a return in kind and so degenerate into commerce. Perhaps the most acceptable of all holiday presents are those that bear the imprint of loving hands, something homemade and handmade. Gifts for intimate friends and members of the family should not represent a sum of money, but rather affection and kind thoughtfulness.

One of the cutest things of a homely kind is a device for keeping shoe buttons, needles and thread together, and it may be readily rigged up by any one who has the least faculty for "making things." A clay pipe is the foundation, and it is dressed up as an old lady in a calico dress. The back of the pipe forms the face, with that sharp point for the nose, and eyes and mouth are put on with pencil just as pipe nuns are made. The stem is then stuck into the spool of linen thread, which answers two purposes—that of holding the pipe up and of being handy when the thread is wanted. The old lady has a sunbonnet on her head, a fichu pinned around her neck with the shoe needle and a wide skirt. The buttons are in a bag that hangs on her sleeve. She also wears a white apron, upon which are written these words:

My name is Miss Piper.
I'm not a pewsiper,
But if from your shoes
Your buttons you lose
Just bring them to me
And you'll readily see
With what great delight
I'll sew them on tight.

The difficulty of making suitable gifts for a brother or cousin who is away at college has been greatly lessened by bringing the college colors into requisition. This is especially pretty where there are two colors combined or three, as is the case with Johns Hopkins university.

A pretty present made on this plan is a brush broom case made in the shape of a shield. Those the writer has seen were for Yale and Princeton. White was combined with the Yale blue to relieve it. The upper part of the shield, which was made of pasteboard, was covered with plain blue satin, and the body of the shield was striped up and down with the blue and white. On the plain blue white flags are painted with the sticks crossing in the middle and having a blue Y on the flag sheet. The back is, of course, a plain piece covered with satin, and the shield hangs up by a ribbon. Put a brush broom in it and write "Brush Up" or something on the card and send it to the best college friend you have whose colors you have used.

Another present which can be made in college colors is a doll pincushion. A jointed doll about ten inches long is dressed in the colors desired—say yellow with black trimmings for Princeton. It is then set on a circular piece of cardboard seven or eight inches in diameter, and the silk skirt, which has been made large enough to admit of it, is gathered together in the middle of the underside of the cardboard. It has also been stuffed with lamb's wool or cotton batting, and when finished it makes a very good pincushion. These doll cushions were introduced in New York at the time of the Yale-Princeton football game, but they are just as acceptable at Christmas time.

Crimson for Harvard, blue for Yale, yellow and black for Princeton, brown and white for Brown, blue and white for Columbia, scarlet and brown for St. Lawrence, carnelian and white for Cornell—any of these colors combined to make the simplest kind of an article will please a young man who takes pride in his college and the appearance of his room.

A HOLIDAY HINT.

A Homemade Christmas Present Suitable For Men or Women.

A Christmas present that is serviceable and elegant may be made with a slight expenditure of work and material. It is equally well adapted for gloves and for handkerchiefs and makes a gift suited to the needs of either the fastidious man or the dainty woman.

Cut two pieces of cardboard of the exact size you wish the case to be and cover each with black satin on which you have embroidered yellow crocuses and a yellow border in gold thread. Line each with yellow india silk and stretch across them bands of satin ribbon, as the diagram shows, which is precisely the method used in making the bill cases in vogue some years ago.

Overhand the ribbons neatly to the edge of the covered boards, and you will then find that whichever way the case is opened its contents remain smooth and neat, as it is the ribbons and not the articles they hold in place, which change from side to side.

At the center of each board on both its longer sides sew fast a handsome ribbon, by which when tied the case may be kept closed and free from dust, and when that last step is taken the work will be complete.

FOR EVENING TIES.

A Neat and Useful Christmas Present For a Gentleman.

A useful handmade Christmas present to a gentleman is a sachet for holding white ties. This design is a German fancy and bears the national tree, the oak. A more appropriate decoration would be an ivy branch, which is the emblem of friendship. It is long enough to hold white ties folded in half and broad enough for two to lie side by side inside it. The case opens in book fashion and the ties are kept in place by four straps or narrow white elastic, put across inside from side to side of the case, two near the top and two near the bottom. The outside cover must be of plain colored satin, embroidered, lined with quilted perfumed satin. The cone is edged with cord and the loops of the cord made at each corner.

A Novel Button Bag.

"If you want to look right, sew your buttons on tight" is the motto painted in water colors on a novel button bag that is being finished for the holidays. The main part of this bag is one-half yard of two inch ribbon, and its construction is quite simple. Fold the ribbon in half, and in the fold place a spool of patent shot thread. Above it on the silk lightly mark a line in order that when a row of machine stitching is run across the spool will be held in place, but not so tightly that the thread cannot be unwound. Above the thread pocket make a similar pocket for the paper of needles, then one for the scissors, and above this join the sides of the ribbon to form a small bag. Turn down the rough edges of the ribbon and make a narrow casing in which a small cord is to be run. This not only draws up the little ribbon bag, but serves to hang up the entire article. To the back of the bag attach six buttonholed leaves of white flannel for the needlebook. The motto can first be outlined on the ribbon with a soft pencil and then embroidered in with silk. Bright red and olive green make a dainty, pretty bag.

A Homemade Tape Measure.

An exceedingly pretty as well as useful adjunct to one's workbasket is a tape measure made from grosgrain ribbon to take the place of the usual ugly measure, which does not seem suited to the pretty baskets which are now so generally used. The measure can be made as long as one chooses, but for the one most generally used a yard and one-eighth of grosgrain ribbon three-quarters of an inch wide are needed. The ribbon, if a pale violet, should be marked off into quarter inches with violet ink, and the ends are fastened over little white sticks, which can be procured at any store where art notions are sold. The measure is made much prettier when tiny violets, outlined in ink, are scattered here and there on the ribbon.

Hand Painted Gifts.

Picture or easel draperies make acceptable Christmas gifts—for instance, one of pale shrimp pink with Safrano and La France roses; one of gray blue silk with a flight of swallows, or of light golden olive with a clematis vine showing rich, bronze green foliage and feathery white blossoms. Every one likes a hand screen to ornament the mantel or to shade the face from the blaze of the open fireplace. Exceedingly pretty ones of satin with gilt handles may be bought ready for decorating at a reasonable price. If a Watteau group can be copied from an old fan, no prettier design can be found. Cupid and Psyche, groups of butterflies or clusters of flowers are appropriate.

Hint For a Pretty and Novel Christmas Gift.

Many people carry home from their summer outing pieces of birch bark which they have stripped from the glistening trees during long walks in the country. Here is a pretty way to utilize it:

A good sized piece is needed to make a waste basket—although smaller ones are pretty to hold grasses—one that has been stripped unbroken from the tree. Make a cylindrical foundation of very heavy cardboard just the size of the bark. Line it with a pretty colored sateen. Cover the outside with the bark. Cut a circle of the cardboard to fit the base of the basket. Cover one side with sateen wadded with cotton, the other with birch bark, and, placing the sateen lining inside, overhand it with strong linen thread to the part of the basket already made. The ribbon which ornaments the top is slipped between the lining and the birch bark and sewed in place with silk of the same color. It is then left to hang over the edge—one long, one short alternately. The end of each ribbon is folded to a point and is tipped with a tiny silvered bell.

A russet red or any color suggestive of autumn leaves or else a pale green or light blue harmonizes well with the silver gray of the birch.

PRETTY CHRISTMAS GIFT.

Chafing Dish Recipe Book That Is Useful and Ornamental.

A very useful Christmas gift for a friend who owns a chafing dish is a little recipe book filled with directions for savory dishes that can be easily made in that ever ready little cooking utensil. The covers are made of heavy brown linen with a suitable design drawn with brown etching ink or worked in brown linen thread on the front cover. Inside are a dozen leaves of strong linen paper, on which are written in brown ink recipes for Welsh rarebit, creamed oysters, omelets and every imaginable concoction that can be made in a chafing dish. There are so many now to be found in the newspapers—some of them the work of the best cooks—that it is a very easy matter to gather enough to fill the book. A few pages should be left blank for the recipient to write new or favorite recipes. The writing should, of course, be very clear and distinct.

Sending Christmas Presents.

A word about the manner of sending a Christmas gift. A dainty wrapping will give a holiday air to the little remembrance that will add greatly to its value. The prettiest way to dress a Christmas gift and the one that savors most of sleighbells and freshly fallen snow is to wrap the parcel in glistening white French tissue paper and tie with silver cord or scarlet ribbon, slipping a bit of crisp holly or mistletoe through the knot and then fastening in a bow. Natural flowers are also used. For example, a dainty box containing a gift for a tiny child is wrapped in snowy paper and tied with white satin ribbon of the narrowest width, through which is thrust a bunch of tiny rosebuds, their ends just turning pink. In using flowers their color should always follow the color scheme of the gift as far as possible.

Souvenirs For Christmas Gifts.

A bright girl is concocting a square dozen of souvenirs for Christmas gifts. Last summer there was a jolly party of friends camping together in the Blue mountains, and this young woman, with her camera outfit, was an enthusiastic participant in the delights of the out of door life. Of course a series of views and groups was the result. She is now busy evolving from these views a dozen effective little volumes to be used as tokens on the 25th of the month.

The leaves of the books are cut from heavy cardboard, into which the photos are set as in an album. The leaves are not sewed or pasted, but tied together with inch wide ribbon at the points where a bound book is caught with thread or wire.

Filling the Christmas Stockings.

The filling of the stockings should not be intrusted to more than one person and to be really satisfactory must not be done until late. The delight of opening them must come at an early hour, because the children may be kept waiting for their large gifts until after breakfast, but the joy and delight of waking up and waiting until there is light enough in the room to see what is in the stocking is just half the battle, and old age must be advancing when this keen excitement is quite done away with.

A FLOURISHING SOCIETY OF EARNEST CHRISTIANS.

A HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE EDIFICE AND MEMBERSHIP OF TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH.

Before the Present Society Came Into Existence the Building Had Been the Home of Many Denominations—Growth and Influences of the Trinity Congregation an Interesting Chapter of Local Religious History.

PROBABLY in the memory of every old citizen who can recall the events of thirty or forty years ago, the Trinity Reformed church edifice, which is now being remodeled and enlarged to make room for its increasing membership, holds a unique position among the city's houses of worship.

The history of the building is a most varied one. It has since its erection been under the control of many different denominations, whose congregations have worshipped within its walls.

Half a century ago there occurred a split from the First Baptist church of this city, and the new congregation, known as the Second Baptist church, worshipped in Reform Hall, at Second street and Central avenue. In the year 1859 another church, which called itself the Union Baptist church, was organized from the Second Baptist church, and after two years of existence without any settled place of worship, it secured ground on West Second street and built the structure which is now called Trinity Reformed church. Morgan C. Bird, of this city, was the builder, and Rev. H. G. Mason was the first pastor. The building, when it was completed in 1861, was the same as it is at present, with the exception of the wings at the sides and the extension for the organ at the rear, which were added a number of years later.

The Union Baptists worshipped in the church for a few years, during which time Rev. Mr. Hill succeeded Mr. Mason as pastor. The financial affairs of the little church did not prosper, however, and it soon became evident that the debt was too large to be handled without a struggle of years. The building was accordingly sold on October 1st, 1864, to a Dutch Reformed congregation, and it was then renamed the Central Reformed Protestant Dutch church, of Plainfield. The church was in the classis of Raritan. Rev. Mr. Simonson, who in later years died at his home corner of Park avenue and Fifth street, was one of the successful pastors of the Dutch Reformed church after it had secured possession of the building. Under Rev. N. E. Smith, D. D., his successor, the congregation grew and the affairs of the church prospered to such an extent that in February, 1871, the building was enlarged by the addition of a wing on each side, which increased the width of the church eighteen feet and made room for two additional rows of pews. A recess was also built at the back of the church, for the organ, and the spire was partly rebuilt. The cost of these alterations was $11,000. The plans were drawn by G. L. Morse, and William C. Ayres, of West Second street, was the builder.

Those who were prophesying a rosy future for the church were destined to be sadly disappointed, however, as it soon became involved in a dispute with the classis of Raritan. The pastor was a brilliant and ambitious man, and when the troubles culminated in his being summoned to appear before the classis for discipline, he seceded from the Reformed church and managed to take most of his congregation with him. The message came from the classis to Dr. Smith on Monday, bidding him to appear before it on the following Saturday. So quickly did he make up his mind and act upon his decision, however, that when Saturday arrived there was no Central Dutch Reformed church to receive discipline. The pastor had already arrived at an agreement with the central governing body of the Congregational church, and as a result of this agreement the church on January 17th, 1872, by a formal resolution changed itself from the Central Reformed Protestant Dutch church to the First Congregational church of Plainfield. It retained the church building and Dr. Smith continued to act as pastor. The minutes of the first meeting of the board of trustees of the First Congregational church show that William B. Stewart, one of the most prominent members of the church, and president of the board of trustees, who now lives at South Plainfield, was authorized to issue and sign papers as might be necessary in completing the purchase of the church edifice by the consistory of the Central Reformed Dutch church, and that the shield side of the five-cent piece of the issue of 1867 be used as the seal of the church.

The Congregationalists soon found however, that they, too, were attempting a task beyond their strength in endeavoring to carry the church debt, which now amounted to over $40,000. Pastor and people labored hard to weather the financial storm under which the church was sailing. The next few years were marked by hard struggles and many discouragements. Mr. Stewart advanced the church about $30,000 in his endeavor to see it prosper. Other members gave and loaned their means. In the face of such pluck and generosity, the financial troubles might have been overcome, but a worse enemy than this now sprang up. Dissensions appeared among the congregation and, after trying in vain to secure harmony, Dr. Smith resigned the pastorate in 1878, and was succeeded by Rev Mr Manche, who proved to be a faithful pastor. The drift of affairs was such, however, that it soon became evident that a division of the congregation was inevitable

In the spring of 1880, a majority of the members withdrew their letters and started a movement for a separate church, which ended later on in the establishment of the Congregational society in Seventh street. The remnant which was left behind in the Second street church was very small, numbering, as a matter of fact, only about twelve persons. It soon became evident that the little remnant of a congregation was inclined to the Reformed church rather than to the Congregational. Its leaders entered into correspondence with President Campbell and others at Rutger's College, with a view to securing a preacher from the college as a temporary supply for the church. Rev. Prof. Doolittle, of New Brunswick, preached several times, as did also Rev. Dr. DeWitt, whose eloquence drew great crowds.

On the 16th day of March, 1880, a petition was presented to the classis of Newark by William Swalm, William B. Stewart and Theodore Mace, asking that a Reformed (Dutch) church be organized in Plainfield. A committee of the classis, of which Rev W. J. R. Taylor was chairman, visited the church and reported favorably upon its petition. The church was accordingly organized on March 29th, 1880, with a membership of 55, and the title of the Trinity Reformed (Dutch) church of Plainfield. Henry Lindsley and George L. VanEmburgh were elected elders, and David O. Kilbourn was elected deacon.

Foreclosure proceedings had already been commenced by the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and Trinity Reformed church purchased the edifice at Sheriff's sale on June 20th, 1880, for $12,000. Efforts were now made to secure a pastor, and in December, 1880, a call was given to Rev. A. V. V. Raymond, of the First Reformed church of Paterson. He accepted the call, and in January, 1881, entered upon his labors.

The outlook at the time Dr. Raymond accepted the call was not an encouraging one. The new pastor was an expensive man, and the promise of the church to pay him a salary of $3,000 a year was looked upon by some as almost suicidal policy. The result, however, proved that no mistake had been made in the selection. During the six years of Dr. Raymond's pastorate, the church enjoyed a remarkable growth in all its departments. A large membership was gathered and consolidated, and societies for the performance of Christian work were organized, chief among which was the Ladies' Christian Work Society, to whose efforts was largely due the payment of $2,800 on the church debt on January 1st, 1882. The Sunday-school, which was organized August 11th, 1880, by Henry Lindsley, a devoted Sunday-school worker, also proved a source of strength to the church. The present pastor, was called in May, 1887, from the Fourth Reformed church, of Philadelphia. He accepted the call, and was installed June 30th of the same year. His pastorate has been a record of continual growth for the church, in both temporal and spiritual matters. A debt of $14,000, chiefly contracted at the time of the purchase of the church property, has been entirely paid off during his ministry, and the membership has grown to between five and six hundred. The membership of the Sunday-school is now 425.

The following are the fifty-five charter members of Trinity Reformed church:

Of the original fifty-five members, twenty-four are still connected with the church, seventeen have removed and fourteen have died.

Between the organization in March, 1880, and the beginning of Rev. Dr. Raymond's pastorate in January, 1881, twenty-four more persons were received into membership.

After the alterations to the church edifice are completed the interior will be practically new. The most important change—the one that allows the alterations to be made—is the elevation of the structure about 5½ feet higher than formerly. By doing this, and excavating the celler deeper, it has been possible to provide capacious lecture and Sunday-school rooms with every convenience that is desirable in a house of religious worship.

The alterations have been going on for several months and while it is expected that the edifice will not be formally rededicated until about the first of February, the lecture room will be finished so that it can be occupied in another couple of weeks.

Entrance to the lecture and Sunday-school rooms is made through double doors set in the position where the entrance to the old auditorium was formerly located. Instead of going down three steps to the level of the floor, a great improvement is provided in an inclined walk that obviates the danger of falls for little children or old and feeble persons.

To the left of the vestibule on the lower floor is a room that can be used for a cloakroom or for the storage of bicycles. By going through this room one can also enter the vestibule leading into the auditorium without going outside the building.

The lecture room is well-lighted and commodious enough to comfortably seat between 300 and 400 persons. The decorations are light and finished in natural wood. On either side are six class rooms to be used by the Sunday-school. Sliding doors are there to be opened when required, transforming the interior into one large room. At the further end of the lecture room the primary department of the school is located, the floor being elevated so that little tots can see and be seen from the other rooms when the sliding doors are pulled aside.

In the southeast corner of the structure the ladies' parlor is located, with a door leading from the lecture room. This room will be prettily furnished and will be the meeting place for the women workers of the church when they are called together, and also for the meeting of the consistory, etc.

The kitchen and pantry are in the northeast corner. When finished this department will be furnished with all the articles necessary for church affairs where the culinary art comes in.

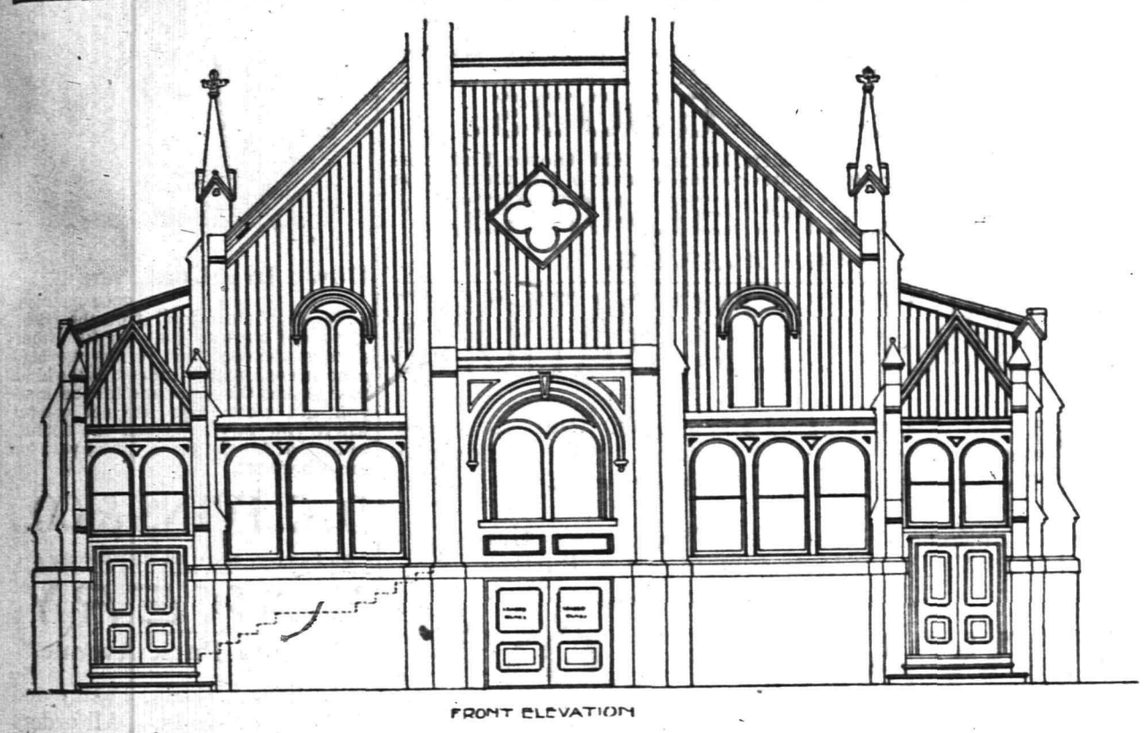
From the primary department small winding stairs lead to the pastor's study in the rear of the pulpit platform in the sanctuary. On the west side of the primary room a door leads to Exchange alley and it will be through this entrance, probably, that the pastor will usually come into the church on Sundays.

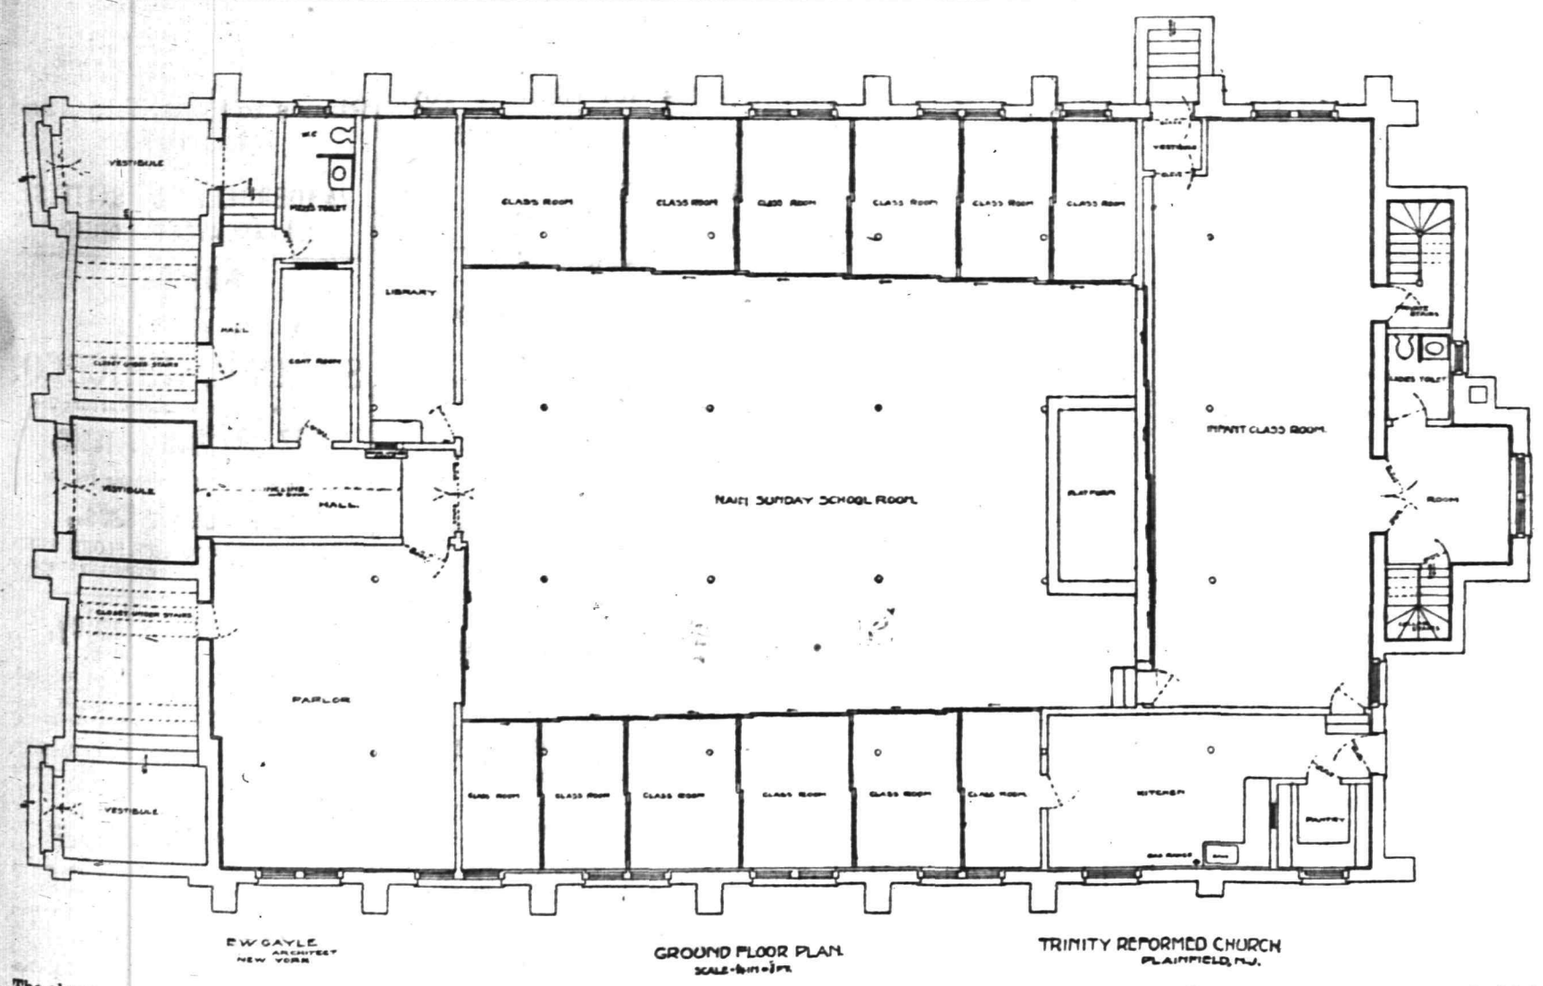
Of course, the alteration that will be noticed most of all will be the entrance to the auditorium. There will be large double doors on either side of the structure for this purpose. Entering, one turns to the right or left as the case be and mounts five steps to a landing and then five more to the level of the floor of the auditorium. When the changes were first proposed some objected to the steps that are necessary, but they are arranged so as to be very easy of ascent.

It will be several weeks yet before the auditorium is ready for use, but when it is completed it will appear as if but recently built. The walls and ceiling will be redecorated throughout, the floors newly carpeted and the seats freshly upholstered.

In carrying out the improvements on the church edifice the members were of necessity compelled to depend upon the honesty and the skill of the various contractors to make the alterations in a substantial and satisfactory manner. The contractors have achieved deserved credit for the manner of their workmanship. The various contracts were given out as follows: Architect, E. W. Gayle, New York; mason work, Seaman Williams & Co.; carpenter work, Chas, M. Wilson; raising church edifice, Henry L. Johns; tinning and roofing, Robert Jahn; plumbing, M. Armstrong; heating, D. S. Dunavan; painting new lecture room, Coriell & TenEyck; electric wiring and lighting, A. D. Philips; decorating and painting interior of church, Marsh, Ayers & Company; carpeting church, S. H. Whitney; upholstering pews, George R. Schlereth; rebuilding pipe organ, Midmer & Son; flagging sidewalks, A. Kane; grading and macadamizing George Staats.

H. E. Gayle, brother of the architect, and a member of the consistory of the church, is entitled to more than passing notice for the time he has donated as superintendent of the improvement from its beginning to the end.





The above cut represents the new Sunday-school room under the entire church edifice, 60x90 feet in size, that is now nearly ready for occupancy, and which will be used the last week in this month. All services will be held in the new Sunday-school room until the upper sanctuary is finished, which will be about one month later.

HOLIDAY SUGGESTIONS.

Two Neat Christmas Presents That Can Be Made by Hand.

Among homemade Christmas presents a set of envelopes for interesting clippings can be made as elaborate as one wishes. The essentials are to take long envelopes and label them for the various purposes for which they are intended. For instance, one set contains one envelope each for clippings relating to politics, medicine, society, stocks, religion, poetry, celebrities and college news. Such a set should be a very nice present for a sister to give a brother who was prominent in college journalism. Just the bare envelopes tied together with the college colors would suffice, but to make the set more fanciful take some chamois skin and cut it large enough to form a sort of book cover for the envelopes, decorate it if possible, but if not simply print the word clippings in gilt letters on the back. Then lay the envelopes together and punch two holes about 2½ inches apart, make holes in the chamois cover to correspond and run ribbons through envelopes and cover to tie them together.

Another fancy made after the same fashion is a number of decorated cards tied together in a book. The cards are long and tied at the ends. The outside card is decorated with clover blossoms and labeled in gilt letters, "Baby's Progress." The next leaf has "Baby's Birthday," next "Baby's Name," next "Baby's Weight," with spaces for weight at birth, at one month, at two months, at six months, etc.; next, "What Baby First Said," and last, "When Baby First Walked," with tiny shoes and slippers for decoration at the foot of the page. This, of course, would be a dainty gift for the fond young mother from her sister or dear friend. These, however, involve some skill in painting and are of no use to the ordinary mortal whose birth was not recognized by the color muse.

A FAN FANCY.

A Pretty Homemade Christmas Present For Mother or Sister.

The omnipresent fan is pressed into a variety of uses. One is to lay flat in the drawer as a scent bag, having wadding and a tangle of lace focused by a knot of ribbon or flowers as a wall pocket for photographs.

There is a not half bad one, as the Scotch say, used to hold toilet odds and ends when one has not the rich morocco case. Cut a piece of stiff card the exact size of the blade of the fan, cover it with chintz or plush and cut a little shield shaped pocket for the watch. Lower down on the screen add two small straps of plush to hold scissors and button hook. Three or four small hooks sewed to the cardboard in convenient places serve to hang keys, shoehorns, etc. Cover the fan on one side with silk, lay the plush side on the screen and sew the two together. Add a cord all around to hide the joints and a "natty" little bow of ribbon to hang it up by.

A fan so decorated makes an appropriate Christmas present for mother or sister.

For a Christmas Present.

A piece of satin 15 inches wide and 10 inches deep forms a charming sewing bag. This is to be folded in half and sewed up the side and bottom. The portion forming the top is cut to fashion four tabs 2½ inches in depth. The bag is lined throughout with silk or satin, forming a sort of binding at the top of the tabs, and is drawn up by ribbon run through a casing. The sides are trimmed by bows of ribbon and frills of lace, and on the front is embroidered the initial of the person for whom the bag is intended, surrounded by an empire wreath. This bag develops prettily in black and blue satin, with lace.

Embroidered Linen Christmas Gifts.

Embroidered linen novelties are numerous, one of the most sensible things being a cornucopia for a hair receiver, which can be opened and laundered. Linen embroidery is very tedious work, however, and the amateur had better not undertake it.

Envelope cases are made of linen and have places at each end for notebooks, one of which is meant for addresses.

JOLLY LITTLE JAPS.

THE DOLLS UTILIZED FOR HOMEMADE CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.

Ballet Dancer Shaving Paper Case That Is Just Too Cute For Anything—A Fantastic Penwiper and Blotting Pad Makes an Acceptable Gift.

As the holidays draw near there is a great demand for novelties, especially for those that can be made at home.

Two useful and dainty gifts which can be easily made by the average bright American girl are here described.

At a Japanese store, that home of pretty things within the reach of the most slender purses, can be purchased for the sum of 10 cents a lifelike little head with a fringe of wiry black hair protruding from under a paper disk. In the center of this is a hole, through which a duster is intended to be slipped, but a very fantastic penwiper and blotter combined may be readily made instead. Cut two circular pieces of chamois of two contrasting colors (every desirable shade can now be obtained in this leather; the model was made of yellow and royal purple), and, having pinked the edges, gather in a bunch from the center and fasten with a bit of wire to a burned match. Slip the match through the opening in the top of the head until it rests crosswise inside, thus fixing the penwiper firmly in place. Now cut six squares of blotting paper of the same color as the chamois and lay them alternately one on top of another; then cut a circle of chamois an inch and a half in diameter and lay in the center of the topmost piece of blotting paper. Take the head, make a hole in each side of the neck and, threading a large needle with baby ribbon, pass it from the chamois on top through the last sheet of blotting paper and then back again, this time passing through the hole in the side of the neck. Now take the two ends of the ribbon and tie first in a firm knot and then in a dainty little bow. Having made a similar bow on the other side, the novel little gift is finished. The ribbon used must of course be of the same color as the chamois.

Another pretty present is a Japanese ballet dancer shaving paper case. An ordinary Japanese doll about ten inches high is used for this novel little dancer. Having disrobed the victim of its native gown, proceed to array it in crape tissue paper. The one in question was dressed in light blue, the ribbon used being black. The trousers, which reach just to the end of the unsightly brown muslin and the beginning of the pink knee, are cut from an oblong piece of tissue paper, sewed up the center and shirred at the bottom of each leg to form a ruffle. A waist is cut from a straight piece with two holes cut for the arms, into which is sewed a plain straight sleeve shirred at the end to form a ruffle. This is creased around the center to make the wheellike effect shown in the illustration. The waist is then shirred around the neck about half an inch from the top to form a ruffled collar. For the skirt cut 20 circles about 4½ inches in diameter and notch their edges, fold in half and then again in quarters without creasing them. Thread these through the pointed end on a strong piece of linen cord and, tying the cord tightly round the waist of the doll, push the frills until they stand out evenly all around. A ribbon is then passed round the waist, crossed in front, then in the back and is tied in a bow in the center. A loop of the ribbon is then sewed to the crosspiece by which to hang it up.

Hand Painted Presents.

How many exquisite little holiday gifts one can prepare if she can paint! A fancy greatly appreciated by one who cannot paint is this: Take a satin ribbon from three to four inches wide, have it long enough to tie in a handsome bow, fringe the ends and then above this paint a tasteful design. Flowers are perhaps prettier than anything else, but I saw one with a tiny landscape painted upon it with such delicate touches that it was lovely. These bows are to be used as adornments for sofa arms or backs or to put upon the left hand corner of a chair back.

Another article upon which the brush may be used to advantage is the covering of a fine needle pillow. The latest novelty in shape is that of a muff, half the cover to be of pale pink, the other half of pale green. The ends were tied with bows of pink and green ribbons. The decoration was a branch of pine.

PINCUSHIONS.

Pretty Christmas Presents That Are Easy to Make.

A Christmas gift that will be appreciated by almost any of your friends is a doll pincushion. This is easily made by taking a doll's head and building about it a cushion of lamb's wool. An empty cotton spool is used as a pedestal for the head to rest upon, and the wool is laid about it. Over this is drawn a covering of satin in any color, cut bias and pasted over the edge of a round bottom of cardboard. The seam in front is concealed by a strip of tinsel braid. The top of the satin is gathered in tightly about the neck of the head, which is ornamented with a fancy turban, having a soft crown of white satin, with a band of the color like the cushion. The band is decorated with rows of pearl beads and has a gilt crescent at the front. The lower edge of the cushion is finished with a fine silk cord, and over the cardboard bottom is pasted a piece of fancy paper, which is trimmed off even with the card.

Other cushions have the heads ornamented with caps of different nationalities, such as the Russian, Swiss or Italian peasant, or little monk's hoods and toboggan caps. Hanging pin balls are most convenient for a bathroom, and bunches of vegetables, such as carrots, radishes, beets or the like, are quite ornamental to hang beside the dressing case. These are made of linen or satin, stuffed in the shape of the vegetable it imitates and then colored with water color paint. Threads of coarse linen are drawn through irregularly to imitate the roots, and the bunch of six or seven cushions is suspended by baby ribbons of uneven lengths.

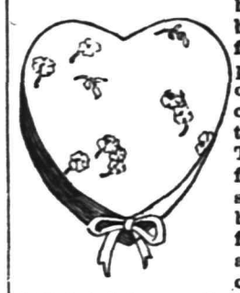
The large ornamental pincushions are made as elaborately as possible, and one of the handsomest examples is satin, covered with a top of embroidered tinsel net and a frill of tinsel lace put around to round off the corners. Bunches of "taste" ribbon are placed here and there. Another large cushion in yellow satin has a centerpiece of oriental embroidery, bordered with a ring tassel fringe in yellow, under which is placed a ruffle of fine oriental lace. This centerpiece is put on reversely to the square of the cushion, and the corners are filled in with ribbon bows, which require three-quarters of a yard of ribbon for each bow.

FOR THE DRESSING TABLE.

A Ring Box Makes a Pretty and Acceptable Christmas Present.

A dainty addition to a woman's dressing table is a tiny heart shaped ring box made of pale blue satin. Cut four heart shaped pieces from thin cardboard and cover three of them with satin. The fourth piece, for the cover, should be embroidered with forget-me-nots, and a layer of cotton wadding inserted between the satin and cardboard. Sew the covered pieces together so as to make two double faced cards. Cut an inch wide strip of limber cardboard and cover it with satin. Then, beginning at the indented place in the bottom card, overhand the narrow strip to it and sew up the seam at the side. Fasten the cover firmly to the box thus formed and sew a tiny loop of blue ribbon to the pointed end to open the box with.



A Christmas Hint.

A pretty hanging letter holder is useful for the desk and is easily made. The back is cut from cardboard, fancifully shaded and covered with plain silk, elaborately embroidered with flowers in embroidery silk. To this section is attached a pocket of bright figured silk, gathered near the top to form a frill and finished at the bottom with silk tassels. The holder is ornamented at top and sides by rows of wide satin or silk ribbon.

Better Than Purchased Presents.

Every woman cannot afford to give a handsome lamp for a Christmas gift, but any woman can concoct for her friend a set of those dainty feathery shades which are always in order upon table candelabra. Moreover, there are all manner of inexpensive shades for lamps which require a woman's deft fingers, and which are made far more charmingly at home in her boudoir than they can be purchased in the shops.

For the Writing Desk.

A handsome case for a writing pad is of white linen, mounted on a pasteboard foundation 12 by 8 inches. The front is daintily decorated with pink clover done in water colors and a pink moire ribbon holds the pad to the cover, which has a bow at the top to correspond. Attached to the upper and under sides are loops of leather for holding pen and pencil and for binding the covers together.

A TERROR ON WARPATH.

STOLE A HORSE, HELD UP A MAN AND PLAYED A BANJO.

Finally He Landed in the Toils of the Law and This Morning in City Court He was Sent to the County Jail for a Long Term.

James Pearl Rogers was his baptismal name. Pearl Rogers they call him. He furnished the good people of Plainfield a vaudeville show, unassisted, Saturday evening, but 'twas of such a startling nature that he is now to do penance for it for five months in the county jail.

Rogers is a colored man who came from the naughty town of Somerville. There he was well-known at the county jail. Once he found the jail door open and walked out. He did not take time to tell Sheriff Wyckoff that he was going. That resulted, on his capture, in a seven months' trip to the Trenton State prison.

As to Rogers' performance Saturday night he declared that he was so drunk that he has not the slightest idea of what happened, so his ingenious story will never be heard.

Wallace Vail, who lives at the corner of Dunellen and Clinton avenues, was the witness of Rogers' first act. Mr. Vail drove to Plainfield Saturday afternoon and left his horse and carriage under the City Hotel sheds. It was between 5 and 6 o'clock when he went after them. The carriage was there but the shafts were empty. The horse, blanket and robe had disappeared. Mr. Vail was somewhat excited and asked the first man he met on the street, who happened to be H. C. Smith, of Prospect avenue, if he had seen a horse. He hadn't, nor had anyone else in the vicinity.

Mr. Vail began to fear his eyesight was failing and he and Smith went to investigate. The horse wasn't there. Then they walked into the hotel stables and saw a horse hitched in one of the stalls. A man crouched beside it. It was dark in the stable, but Vail finally discovered that the horse was his. The man would make no answer to any of the remarks addressed to him. Vail stood guard at the door and Smith left for a policeman.

Then the stranger waked up. He jump through the door and grapped a big club and stated his intention of smashing Mr. Vail's head, Mr. Vail moved out of range. Then the man, who has since been identified as the dusky Pearl, jumped over the high board fence and disappeared.

John Angleman, of 1018 East Front street, was riding down town on his wheel. At 5:50 o'clock he passed Sandford avenue. He noticed a man walking on the south side of the street. Suddenly the man leaned down and bolted in his direction Angleman saw that he had something under his arm which looked like a club. He was sure that the man was a would be highwayman. He jumped from his wheel and the stranger paused and then ran away. He never said a word. Angleman followed and at the curb the man tripped over it and fell. Angleman kicked him in the ribs and then in the neck. He saw that the man was a colored man.

It was Pearl again. He says that he has no recollection of what happened Angleman is sure that he would have been assaulted if he had not been too quick for Pearl. After Pearl tumbled down, he got up again, strange to say, struck a few chords on his banjo, which he carried under his arm, put his foot through the head of it and threw it in the direction of Angleman and fled.

Angleman pursued. Then Pearl turned and put his hand on his hip pocket and delivered an eloquent but brief address, the burden of which was that he would put a hole through Angleman's neck. Pearl had no revolver. Angleman put his hand on his hip pocket and made a similar remark. He had no revolver either. Then Angleman yelled for the police and Pearl departed.

D. S. Dunavan and John Large were in the vicinity and they started in pursuit of Pearl. Dunavan stumbled and nearly threw Large. Pearl escaped behind a barn after running through the yard of William Rockwell.

Pearl has been blacking shoes at the City Hotel lately. Chief Grant and Sergeant Kiely found him at the hotel early in the evening and placed him under arrest. He was charged with being disorderly and using profane language. He pleaded guilty and, this morning, City Judge sentenced him to pay a fine of $100 and go to jail for 59 days.

THE PILGRIM FATHERS.

Forefathers' Day Service Held in the Congregational Church.

American Congregationalists have good reason to keep in remembrance the day when the Pilgrim Fathers landed at Plymouth; and a very interesting Forefathers' Day service was held yesterday morning in the Congregational church of this city.

An order of service prepared by "The Congregationalist" was followed, the opening exercises consisting of responsive readings, prayer by the pastor, Rev. Charles Lyman Goodrich, the singing of a hymn written for the Albany celebration of December 22d, 1820, and another composed for the Anniversary Festival at Plymouth, 1792. Four brief readings were then given by Rev. M. E. Dwight: "The Decision to Emigrate to America," from Dr. John Brown's "Pilgrim Fathers of New England;" "John Robinson's Charge to the People," from Horace Bushnell's "Fathers of New England;" "The Parting at Delfthaven," from William Bradford's "Journal," and "The Pilgrims' Arrival at Cape Cod," from Bradford's "History of the Plymouth Plantation."

After a prayer by pastor and people, and another hymn, "For All Thy Saints Who From Their Labors Rest," a very strong address on "The Pilgrims' Faith and the Pilgrims' Force," was delivered by Mr. Goodrich. He told of the persecutions which the Pilgrims had endured, their deep spiritual insight, and the reasons which led them to emigrate to America. They had strength of character to break away from established custom, and stand distinctly for the right, against established falsehood, whatever it might cost them. In the new world, they had strength of character to endure hard work, privation, disease and death. Americans are proud to claim them as their forefathers, but should strive also to have these two characteristics which were so strong in them. The Pilgrims' descendants need the spiritual insight to see God's will, and the certain good that lies along the way of duty. They need also the force which makes one struggle toward the ideal till the very last moment. This generation has more polish than its ancestors, but has it their strength, endurance and staunch fidelity to duty?

Rudyard Kipling's hymn, "God of Our Fathers, Known of Old," was read responsively by pastor and congregation, after which the closing hymn, one composed for the Forefathers' Celebration of 1802, was sung, and the congregation was dismissed with the benediction.

CABOOSE ON FIRE.

Central Railroad Property Damaged to the Amount of $200.

The fire department were called out at 11:42 o'clock yesterday morning to subdue flames that were rapidly destroying a caboose attached to a west bound Central freight train, standing opposite Compton avenue. The fire was started by a cap evidently becoming loosened from a signal torch and the torch becoming ignited and spreading the flames to the woodwork of the car. Engine Co. No. 1 and Alert Hose Company responded to the alarm. The car was gutted by the flames, but the running gear was not damaged so but what it could be taken along with the rest of the train when the fire department had quenched the flames with a liberal amount of water. The damage was about $200.

Rum and Religion.

The Rev. J. O. Jones, pastor of the Congregational church at Bound Brook, preached a sermon to a large audience last night upon the subject of "Religion and Bound Brook Rum." He stated that of ten religious institutions their yearly receipts hardly netted $14,000, while the fifteen "legitimate rum houses," as he termed them, collected annually more than $100,000. In addition to these were to be considered the "illegitimate" ones, which advertised oysters, but behind the walls sold lots of beer.

Ninety Days in Jail.

Frank Conshea, a well-known boroughite, was arrested Saturday night by Chief Marshal Wilson on a warrant issued on the complaint of Catherine Conshea. The complaint charges that Frank Conshea came home in an intoxicated condition and abused the complainant. This morning Conshea was arraigned before Recorder Thomas who imposed a fine of $60 or ninety days. The offender decided to take the days.

—The Sunday schools of the First Baptist church, East Third Street mission and Mt. Olive Baptist church will unite next Sunday afternoon in a Christmas service. It will be held at the First Baptist church. The music will be a great feature of the occasion.

HIS MIND WAS A BLANK

PECULIAR EXPERIENCE THAT WILLIAM ACKERMAN UNDERWENT.

Was Walking Along East Fourth Street When He Became Unconscious and Fell—Doesn't Think That He Was Assaulted.

William Ackerman, of 240 East Fourth street, had a peculiar experience while returning from work at the freight house Saturday evening.

Ackerman reached the corner of East Fourth and Washington streets at about 6:30 o'clock. At that point his mind became a blank, and he is unable to tell what occurred. He came to his senses about half an hour later, and found himself lying on the sidewalk, the blood streaming from his nose and his eyes badly swollen He managed to drag himself into the house which is nearby, and was cared for by his family.

Policeman Myers was on duty Saturday evening when a man whom he did not know approached hastily and informed him that Ackerman had been waylaid by a footpad and badly hurt on East Fourth street. When questioned further by the policeman the man stated that he had been on Fourth street and had seen a man leap over the fence and strike Ackerman a blow in the face. He did not look to see what occurred after that, but ran at once to notify the police.

Myers hurried at once to the scene of the alleged holdup, but found Ackerman already in his own house.

To a Daily Press reporter this morning Ackerman stated that he had probably not been struck. He admitted, however, that the story told to Myers might be true, as his mind was a perfect blank at the time. He is of the opinion that he was taken ill suddenly and fainted. His eyes and face are badly discolored and bruised.

There was nothing missing from the pockets of Ackerman except a small memorandum book, and that was found later on, near the spot where he fell.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL WORKERS TO MEET.

Field Workers' Association to be Held in This City Next Month.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the annual convention of the International Sunday-school Field Workers' Association of the United States and Canada, which is to be held in this city January 18th to 20th, held a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. building last Friday evening. The printed matter was drawn up and will be issued in about a week. All the day meetings of the convention will be held in the Y. M. C. A. hall. The evening meeting January 18th, will be held in the First Baptist church, the meeting of the next evening will be held in the Y. M. C. A. hall, and the final evening meeting will be in the First Presbyterian church. All the meetings will be open to the public.

Some of the delegates to this convention will come as far as two thousand miles to attend it. W. D. Murray, who is on the State executive committee, represents the committee here and has the conference in charge. The committee on entertainment is George F. Brown, Miss Nettie J. Beeching, L. W. Randolph and J. W. Gavett; the committee on advertising is E. E. Anthony, and the treasurer is D. M. Runyon.

EDWARD MILLIGAN DEAD.

Made His Summer Home at Washingtonville and was Highly Esteemed.

The friends in this city of Edward Milligan will be shocked to learn of his death which occurred last Saturday at his home in Brooklyn. Mr. Milligan, for a number of years past, has made his summer home at Washingtonville, and the winter has always been passed in Brooklyn. He was 59 years old and was highly esteemed by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. He leaves a wife and two daughters. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from the Reformed church, Seventh avenue and Carroll street, Brooklyn, at 2:30.

A Great Improvement.

There is general satisfaction among the residents of West Front street beyond Grant avenue over the action of the city in laying the sidewalk in front of the Sebring property. The line of stonewalks on that thoroughfare is now complete. The city is now filling up other gaps in the stone walks on Central avenue, Madison avenue, Washington street and Watchung avenue.

Cleans Up as He Goes Along.

Contractor Patsy Christmas has completed the Plainfield sanitary sewer and begun work in Stelle avenue. He has cleaned up the road as fast as he finished, and Plainfield avenue is in good condition again for travel.

Solons Meet Tonight.

The City Council will hold an adjourned meeting this evening and consider important matters.

A FIGHT FOR THE HOME

REV. ANNA SHAW DESCRIBES THE WORK OF THE W. C. T. U.

A Large Audience in Music Hall Yesterday Afternoon Heard the Noted Temperance Woman—Men Scored for Saloons

Rev. Anna A. Shaw delivered an address on "The American Home" in Music Hall yesterday afternoon. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Union, by whose invitation the speaker was brought here.

Mrs. T. M. Tomlinson, president of the County W. C. T. U., presided, and there were upon the platform Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, president of the New Jersey Woman's Suffrage Association; Mrs. Carmon Parse, president of the local union; the superintendents of the different departments of W. C. T. U. work in this city, and a number of others.

There is no word in the American language, no word in any language, the speaker said, which so thrills a people as the word which means home. It makes no difference whether the person speaking that word lives in a hovel or a mansion, its significance to them is equally great. Men the world over have sung of home and written of home, until it has become the one great central thought of life. Home ought to be, if it is not, the holy of holies in all the world, for there will never exisist holier or sublimer relationships than those which bind men and women together in filial love.

The cost of a home in cares and sacrifices is very great. Let a young man and a young woman decide to make a home of their own, and they sentence themselves to privation and toil and scifsacrifice. And no men sacrifice more for home than do American men. Yet, notwithstanding the fact that the home costs so much and is so precious a part of our lives, there is no other thing for which we care half so much that has so little protection. Children, who are the jewels of the home, are left unguarded and unprotected. It is this state of affairs which has given rise to the W. C. T. U. It is an organization sprung out of the woman's love of home, and is designed to protect home and guard the children.

Immediately after the war, when the liquor traffic had become so well intrenched in the affairs of the nation that it seemed almost hopeless to fight it, a little band of women started out in Ohio to protect their homes. They began their work in the saloons, securing signers to the temperance pledge, but this soon proved an almost useless task, as fully five hundred were ensnared by the drink habit for every one that was saved by the efforts of the women. The battle was between men with weakened bodies and nerves, and shattered wills on the one side, and the saloon with its temptations on the other hand, and the saloon came out ahead every time. The women then made up their minds that the saloon must go. As the fight to abolish the saloon progressed, however, it became evident to those engaged in the struggle that it rested not so much with the saloon keeper as with the attitude of the government towards the saloon. So long as the government says that wherever the American flag shall float there the saloon shall stand, there will be no remedy; but when it says that wherever the American flag shall float there the homes of the land shall be protected at any cost, then and not until then will the liquor traffic be broken.

When the W. C. T. U. started to work upon this line a cry went up that the women were getting out of their place and were actually getting into politics, and a great opposition developed among press and people. Some people said that the need was for better mothers, and that bad cooking was the cause of the saloon in this country. These people did not explain how in a family raised on the same cooking the boys drifted into the saloon and the girls got into prayer meetings.

As a matter of fact the children are safe so long as they can be kept in the home, and controlled by the mothers, but when they go upon the streets, which are controlled by the fathers, they are beset by temptations. If men can remedy this state of affairs and won't, then everything divine and human in justice says that women should be given a share of the control of affairs beyond the home circle. At present the temptations to evil are almost too great for any young man to withstand, and surely God will withhold his favor from a people who hope to prosper only as it can lay its hand on the boyhood of the land and blight all its manhood and character and hope of the future. Last year

FIRE DUE TO DEFECTIVE CHIMNEY

A House in the West End Threatened With Destruction This Morning.

A fire occurred this morning in a house near the Pond Tool Works which was occupied by William Rany, John Taylor, Mrs. J. Elliott, James Corbett and Mrs. Mary Henderson, all colored. An alarm was sent in from Box 47. When the department arrived the upper part of the house was in flames. The cause of the fire was due to the fact that the chimney only run as far as the attic and was badly constructed. Chief Doane says that it is surprising that a fire has not occurred in the house before. The house and contents were valued at $600 and the loss will be about $150. The fire was confined between the second story and the roof and in this part the fire did much damage. There was no insurance on the house or contents. It was found necessary to flood the house with water to save any part of it. The owner of the house is not known.

CHRISTMAS EXERCISES.

Special Programme Enjoyed by Grace M. E. Church Sunday-School.

Yesterday afternoon at Grace M. E. church the members of the Sunday-school presented an interesting programme appropriate to Christmastide. It consisted of anthems by the choir, singing by the school, recitations by Bessie Taft, Grace and Charles Powell, Pearl Ammerman, Reba Kline, Alice DeMott, Ethel Most, Grace Titue, Ethel Noe, Annie Hoagland, Stella Kline, Lottie Benner, Kittie Rutledge, Jennie Nelson, Mildred Long, Edna Sebring, Mabel Garey. Each number was given in an excellent manner and pleased all present. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Mrs. J. H. Carney, chairman; Miss Anna Most, Miss Belle Lunger, Miss Alice Carroll and Miss Marguerite Schuck.

TWENTY-NINE NEW MEMBERS.

All Souls Church Thriving Under Rev. A. C. Nickerson's Pastorate.

Twenty-nine persons united yesterday with All Souls church at the morning service, by signing the church book and by a public recognition service conducted by the pastor before the congregation. This church, like the Society of Friends, has no creed, but its members unite in an affirmation of what they consider religion to be. In the love of all that is holy and good they profess only to follow Jesus, and to strive for the exemplification of religion in love to God and love to man. Eight or nine others, unavoidably absent yesterday, will unite with this church in the immediate future. The Sunday-school at All Souls has doubled its numbers since last year.

Holiday Rates for Students.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey will make a rate of one fare and a third for the round trip for students and attendants at schools, colleges and seminaries returning home for the Christmas and New Year holidays. Tickets will be issued any day up to Dec. 24th inclusive and made good for return until Jan. 11th, 1898. To be able to secure the reduced rate it will be necessary for students to present certificate signed by proper officer of the school, college or seminary showing that the holder is a student at such institution.

Religious Interest Growing Deeper.

The religious interest in connection with the Gospel meetings at the Seventh-Day Baptist church is growing wider and deeper, as is shown by the attendance and the stand taken by both church members and the unconverted. One of the most important and helpful meetings was held yesterday forenoon. Pastor Main will preach tonight; but Evangelist Saunders will preach on the other evenings during the week. Everybody is cordially invited to come.

How to Bring Good Cheer.

Every where now the cry is "We are so busy that we have no time for anything extra." That may all be true but stop and think of the many homes where "Santa Claus will forget to stop Christmas Eve." Take the time and look up some game, toy or book that your dear ones are tired of and take or send them for distribution to Mrs. H. T. Smith, 65 Westervelt avenue, and see how much brighter your Christmas will be.

Chicken Roost Raided.

Somebody visited the chicken coop of Elmer Johnson, of Netherwood avenue, Thursday evening, and departed with fifteen fine fowls. While they were there several boys living in the neighborhood came to purchase eggs and went to the coop for them. The strangers hurried away with the result of their raid at the appearance of the boys and left no clue behind.

SAW HER SON IN FLAMES

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT THAT BEFELL A THREE-YEAR-OLD BOY

His Clothes Caught Fire and He Was Nearly Burned to Death—May Not Recover—His Mother Seriously Burned.

Fire, which had been an obedient servant in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johan Cassett, of 524 West Fourth street, suddenly became a terrible master there Saturday evening, when George, their three-year-old son, had his clothes accidentally set on fire and was almost burned to death before the eyes of his mother. The child is now in Muhlenberg Hospital, where he was sent by Dr. Simpson as soon as the latter arrived and saw the extent of the injuries. The child's condition is very critical and there are but slight hopes of his recovery. The mother is badly burned about the hands, a result of her efforts to save the child. One finger of her right hand is burned to a crisp.

The exact manner in which the accident occurred cannot be determined. Mrs. Cassett was in the basement with her three children, attending to some household duties. A fire was burning in the range, but the lids were on, and the bottom of the grate was protected by a door. Mrs. Cassett found it necessary to go into the upper part of the house for a few minutes, and left the basement, cautioning them not to go near the stove. Soon after she left two of the children followed her, leaving the other child in the basement alone.

Mrs. Cassett had been up stairs about five minutes when she was startled by the screams of her child coming from below. Rushing down the stairs she was terrified to find the little fellow in a mass of flames, every article of his clothing blazing fiercely. With no thought of herself, she rushed forward and began tearing the blazing clothing from the child's body. The screams of the mother attracted the attention of her brother, William J. Sanderson, who happened to be in the yard near the house. He rushed in and drawing off his large ulster overcoat, wrapped it around the child and extinguished the flames.

The clothing of Mrs. Cassett had caught fire while she was attempting to aid her child, and when her brother rushed upon the scene she ran terror stricken into the street, where the breeze fanned the flames until they threatened to envelop her whole body. A number of the neighbors, with rare presence of mind, rushed out and wrapped the woman in blankets, choking out the flames. Her apron and one side of her skirt were burned wholly away.

The smell of kerosene oil was detected upon the clothing of the child when he was removed to the hospital, and it is thought by the family that perhaps the litte fellow managed to secure the oilcan which stood upon a shelf nearby, and attempted to pour some of the oil upon the fire, when his clothes became saturated and the flame enveloped his body in an instant.

Read Letters From a Missionary.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Warren chapel held a pleasant business meeting and social in the chapel Firday afternoon. After the business, which included an amendment to the by-laws, had been disposed of, Miss Mary Mair gave an account of the work of her sister, Miss Rachel Mair, who is a missionary in southern Africa. The story was told mostly in letters which Miss Mair had received from her sister, beginning with a description of the outward voyage and continuing until a recent date. The reading of the letters was listened to with much interest. Tea was served at 4 o'clock, Mrs. J. O. McKelvey and Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman pouring it, and Miss Adele Kirby and Miss Maud Honeyman acting as waitresses.

Lamp Exploded.

Last Saturday night a lamp exploded at Caspar's hotel, on Front street. The lamp was burning high and Bartender Smith was fearful lest something serious would result, so he grasped the lamp with his apron and threw it out into the street. Immediately after the lamp exploded. The damage was very slight.

Church Notices Printed.

L. W. Serrell, W. O. Chapman and L. H. Biglow, Jr., have been appointed a committee to look after the weekly church notices at the First Baptist church, and the committee has adopted the plan of having a small announcement card printed each week to be distributed Sunday in the pews of the church.

Burst a Blood Vessel.

Mrs. Michael McCarthy, wife of Conductor McCarthy, of the street railway, burst a blood vessel in her foot last Saturday, and the accident was discovered in time to save serious trouble. Dr. Boone was called and dressed the wound and today the patient is much improved.

RELIEF FOR THE MINERS

Captain Brainerd of Arctic Fame to Conduct the Work.

PRESIDENT SIGNS THE BILL

Secretary Alger, of the War Department Will Begin at Once the Expenditure of the $200,000 Appropriated by Congress.

Washington, Dec. 20.—The President Saturday afternoon signed the joint resolutions passed by Congress for the relief of the miners in the Yukon River country.

It is probable that Capt. David L. Brainerd, of the Subsistence Department of the Army, will be placed in personal charge of the relief Klondike region with provisions. He is now on duty at the Army Building in New York City and has been ordered to report to Gen. Merriam, the commander of the Department of the Columbia, at Portland, Ore. On the way he will stop in Washington for consultation with Secretary Alger.

He will have particular charge of the commissariat department of the expedition. Capt. Brainerd accompanied Gen. Greely on his Arctic explorations and it was largely owing to his heroism that the small remnant of the party was enabled to prolong life until succor arrived. Brainerd also held the honor, until Nansen's feat, of having made the farthest north ever reached. He will go to Dyea, or Skaguay, or Chilcat River, with two officers to be selected by Gen. Merriam, to arrange for the relief expedition, and if the others, as is expected, find it necessary to return to Seattle to report, Capt. Brainerd will remain on the ground to carry out the arrangements.

Secretary Alger is giving much study to the best means of getting in supplies to the miners in the Yukon country, and has decided to ask bids for the delivery of stores directly at Dyea, Skaguay or Chilcat. Already a great deal of rivalry has sprung up among the towns on our Pacific coast for the honor of being the shipping port of the stores, and the business that will follow, and by requiring bidders to deliver their goods directly in Alaska the War Department will be saved the necessity of making a choice among them.

Secretary Alger's estimate now is that no less than 3,000,000 pounds of food stores will be required for the expedition. This makes the transportation problem a very serious one. It is estimated that a reindeer team cannot be guided safely with more than 300 pounds, so that no less than a thousand of these animals would be required as a pack train if they were the sole reliance. One question that has engaged the Secretary's attention is that of securing the consent of the Canadian Government for the passage of the relief expeditions over that part of Canadian territory which must necessarily be traversed in reaching the miners.

The Secretary will cable to William A. Kjellman, superintendent of the Teller Reindeer Station, in Alaska, who is now in Norway, and to Lieut. Henry T. Allen, military attache at Berlin, to purchase in Lapland 600 head of reindeer and ship them to Dyea, Alaska, via New York, as early as possible. Mr. Kjellman and Lieut. Allen will be instructed to employ sufficient drivers and herdsmen.

Besides employing reindeer, Secretary Alger may rent several ice locomotives from a Chicago firm. The wheels of these locomotives are punctured, and through the orifices steam plays upon the snow, which freezes and lays a track for the cars. Several officers are now en route to Skaguay to make a reconnissance and select the road which is most practicable.

Secretary Alger says that he believes the first expedition will leave Dyea about February, and that twelve expeditions will be en route for the Yukon region soon afterward.

Canada Gives Her Consent.

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 20.—The Government has decided to permit Americans to ship goods into Alaska through Canadian territory in bond. The same rules will apply as to other parts of the Dominion where there are regular transportation companies to carry the goods. In cases where there are no such companies the duty will be paid at the Canadian boundary and refunded after the goods reach such territory.

NEW ROUTE TO DAWSON.

It Is Overland from Spokane and Is Known as the "Telegraph Trail."

Washington, Dec. 20.—A new way to carry the supplies in to the suffering miners at Klondike has been offered to Secretary Alger. Congressman Jones, of Washington, went before him with a proposition from the Chamber of Commerce, of Spokane, to furnish supplies, providing the Government would transport them over the overland route from Spokane to Dawson.

In supporting this as the best and only feasible route in the Winter time, the Spokane people say that it is not a new trail, but one that has been used for many years; that at the present time parties are traveling over it, and that with reindeers, or even with horses or dog trains, provisions can be landed in reasonably short time at Dawson over this route. Much attention has of late been attracted to this route by the many encouraging reports coming from those who have been over it. It is what is known as the "Telegraph trail," being along the abandoned line of the Western Union, commenced in the 60s.

Secretary Alger has become interested enough in the matter to make an engagement for to-day with Frederic R. Marvin, of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce, who, with maps, data, and pictures, will explain carefully the full route.

Thorn Reads Philosophy.

Sing Sing, Dec. 20.—Martin Thorn, in his cell in the condemned cellroom in Sing Sing Prison, is an omniverous reader. He started in when he arrived with Dickens' "Old Curiosity Shop," and since then has read "David Copperfield," Plutarch's "Lives," and is now deeply interested in metaphysical works, his immediate study being a work on mental philosophy.

WAR WITH GERMANY?

Reports that the Kaiser Will Blow Us Out of the Pacific.

Boston, Dec. 20.—Europe's impetuous young War Lord has set out to blow Uncle Sam out of the Pacific Ocean, according to a cipher cable dispatch that has set the German-Americans here into a fever of excitement.

The dispatch was received by a German-American merchant whose name must be withheld for obvious reasons. He is agent for several large German capitalists, and he is instructed to close out at once all of the heavy holdings of these capitalists in American enterprises. He takes the order seriously, and he and all his friends are highly perturbed in consequence.

"This is a most surprising and alarming turn in European affairs," he said last night. "Germany actually has taken the first step towards war with the United States. Her mysterious fleet under command of Prince Henry is even now on its way to threaten American territory, instead of being bound to the new Chinese possessions, as the world has been given to understand.

"I am instructed to close out at once all of the heavy holdings of the German capitalists I represent. In their cable they state specifically that those in the inner imperial circles are confident in their secret belief that Henry goes against the United States."

These sensational statements might be discounted considerably if it were not for the fact that the Massachusetts liquor law is more successful in bringing about a closed Sunday than the Raines law is in New York.

THE WHITE HOUSE CHRISTMAS.

It Will Be Quiet—Cabinet Families Will Not Entertain.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Although the House did not finally adjourn until 7.10 p. m. Saturday, most of the members of the lower house left the city earlier in the day to spend the Christmas holidays at their homes. Sunday very few Congressmen remained in the city, and most of those who were here were making their plans to take their departure very soon. The length of the recess is somewhat longer than usual, being nearly three weeks, and gives the members who reside at a long distance from the capital an opportunity to pay a visit to their constituents.

Most of the cabinet circle will spend the holidays at Washington. The President and Mrs. McKinley, owing to the death of the President's mother, will spend the days quietly at the White House. They will have with them as their guests their niece, Miss Barber, and a friend, Miss Duncan.

Vice-President and Mrs. Hobart will leave the city early in the week for their home at Paterson, N. J., and will remain until just before the reassembling of the Senate. Secretary Long and family will probably spend the day with out-of-town friends, as they have not as yet taken a house to themselves, being at present located at the Portland Flats. Postmaster-General Gary and family will spend Christmas Day at their Baltimore home. During the holidays the Postmaster General will be in Baltimore as much as his official duties will permit him to be. The remaining members of the Cabinet, with their families, will be in Washington probably during the season.

NOOSE AWAITS CLEMMER.

Cannot Escape Under the Testimony of Miss DeKalb.

Norristown, Pa., Dec. 20.—The prospect that James A. Clemmer, one of the persons suspected of complicity in the murder of Mrs. Emma P. Kaiser, will make good his assertions that he would prove an alibi grows less promising with the approach of the hearing of Clemmer and Lizzie DeKalb to-morrow. Speaking of Miss DeKalb's confession, her attorney, J. P. Hale Jenkins, said:

"It will send Clemmer and Kaiser to the gallows and Miss DeKalb will be held guiltless."

As emphasizing this statement, District Attorney Strassburger said:

"If Miss DeKalb testifies along the line of her declaration, Clemmer will be so implicated that there will be no escape from the noose."

New witnesses at to-morrow's hearing will be Mrs. Anna Huzzard and Elwood Kromer. Mrs. Huzzard says that shortly before the murder she saw Charles O. Kaiser, Jr., and his wife drive past her home, followed by a couple whom she believes was Clemmer and Miss DeKalb. She also saw Kaiser driving toward Norristown with his murdered wife in the carriage.

Mr. Kromer, who is a liveryman at Berwyn, will identify Lizzie as the person who stole from him a sorrel horse and a spar-spring buggy Sept. 6, 1896. His evidence will go to prove that Kaiser, Clemmer and Lizzie DeKalb carried on a special business in stealing and disposing of horses.

Shipped Robbed at Sea.

New York, Dec. 20.—The Ward liner City of Washington, that sailed from Vera Cruz Dec. 1, and arrived in this port on Wednesday, carried in her strong-room $600,000 in Mexican coin. This was not an unusually large shipment of treasure for the Ward Line to handle, and no one in authority dreamed of danger. Nevertheless, during the voyage the strong-room, built to withstand the attack of almost everything but dynamite and located so as to be under constant observation, was broken into.

Only $3,000 was taken by the robbers, but the general impression is that the scheme of the daring perpetrators was to seize the entire treasure. Every effort has been made to keep the matter quiet so that the strong force of detectives put upon the case by the company might work to the best advantage.

WEDNESDAY, THE TWENTY-SECOND DAY OF DECEMBER, A. D., 1897,

at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all those certain tracts or parcels of land hereinafter particularly set forth, situate, lying and being in the township of Fanwood, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey. Firstly:

First Tract—Beginning at a stone in the southerly line of the road leading from Scotch Plains to Westfield and corner of Nathan Marsh's land; thence with his line southeasterly forty-five degrees two chains and eighteen links to a stone in Noah Parses' line; thence with said Parses' line southwesterly eighty links to a stone; thence northwesterly through the house where it joins the next building two chains and nineteen links to a stone in the southerly line of said road; thence with said southerly side of said road northeasterly eighty links to the place of beginning. Containing more or less. Being the same lands conveyed to said James A. Baker, June 4, 1887, by deed recorded in book 189 of deeds, page 561, etc. Secondly:

Second Tract—Beginning at a corner of North First street and is Philip Radins' land; thence along his line a northeast course one hundred and three ft. to a corner of A. D. Baud's line; thence along his line one chain and forty-seven links in a course of north forty-two and a quarter degrees west; thence southwest one hundred and three feet; thence southeast one chain and forty-seven links to the place of beginning. Being the same lands conveyed to said James A. Baker, February 19, 1887, by deed recorded in book 187, page 226, etc.

Third Tract—Beginning at a point at the intersection of the northeasterly side line of Park avenue with the southeasterly side line of Bartle avenue; thence running northeasterly along the southeasterly side line of Bartle avenue one hundred and seventy-four feet to a point in said side line of Bartle avenue; thence southeasterly at right angles with said Bartle avenue thirty-seven feet; thence southwesterly parallel with Bartle avenue one hundred and seventy-six feet, more or less to the northeasterly side line of Park avenue; thence northwesterly along said side line of Park avenue thirty-seven feet, more or less, to the point or place of beginning. Being lot No. 1 on map of Bartle property, dated November, 1897, on file in Union County clerk's office.

Fourth Tract—Beginning at a point in the southeasterly side line of Bartle avenue said point being distant one hundred and seventy-four feet northeasterly from the intersection of the southeasterly side line of Bartle avenue with the northeasterly side line of Park avenue; thence northeasterly along Bartle avenue sixty feet, more or less, to a point and corner of lands conveyed to Baker by George K. Parsell, said deed bearing date March 31, 1885; thence southeasterly along line of said Baker's land one hundred and twenty-one feet, more or less, to a point and corner in said Baker's land; thence southwesterly nearly parallel with Bartle avenue twenty feet to a point in other lands of said Baker; thence southeasterly ten feet, more or less, to a point another corner of said Baker's land; thence southwesterly along the southeasterly side line of Baker's land forty feet to a point; thence northwesterly making a new line through Baker's land one hundred and thirty-eight feet, more or less, to the point and place of beginning. Being lot No. 2 on above map. It is intended by this last described lot to include all the premises conveyed to James A. Baker described in deed of George K. Parsell and wife, dated March 31, 1885; also all the rear northeasterly portion of the premises conveyed to said Baker by the following deeds: Deed of Joseph M. Osborn, sheriff, dated June 15, 1871, and recorded in book 57 of deeds for Union county, on pages 513, etc.; and deed of Henry Hetfield and wife, dated May 6, 1872, and recorded in book 152 of deeds for Union county, on pages 171, etc.

Fifth Tract—Beginning at a point thirty-seven feet northeasterly from Bartle avenue in a line drawn at right angles with Bartle avenue, said line beginning one hundred and seventy-four feet northeasterly along the southeasterly side line of Bartle avenue, from where the same is intersected by the northeasterly side of Park avenue; thence running southwesterly parallel with Bartle avenue one hundred and seventy-six feet, more or less, to the northeasterly side line of Park avenue; thence southeasterly along the northeasterly side line of Park avenue thirty-seven feet, more or less, to a corner of Baker's land; thence northeasterly along line of lands of Baker and line of lands formerly owned by Whitaker one hundred and seven feet, more or less, to a point and corner; thence northeasterly along line of said Baker sixty-nine feet, more or less, to a point and corner of lot last above described; thence northwesterly one hundred and one feet, more or less along said lot to the point and place of beginning. Being lot No. 3 on above map.

To be sold in parcels and in the order and manner as directed in writ.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.
At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagah, Ind. Ter. Chief. This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and la grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—A special service will be held in the Congregational church Wednesday evening.

Don't be persuaded into buying liniments without reputation or merit—Chamberlain's Pain Balm costs no no more, and its merits have been proven by a test of many years. Such letters as the following, from L. G. Bagley, Hueneme, Cal., are constantly being received: "The best remedy for pain I have ever used is Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and I say so after having used it in my family for several years." It cures rheumatism, lame back, sprains and swellings. For sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

E. B. Smith, Allan Myers and Wm Hussey, of Stevens Institute, left Plainfield Saturday evening, after assisting their classmates, Walter B. Rittenhouse, of East Sixth street, and M. P. Walker, of Connecticut, in making a two days' test at the pumping station of the Plainfield Water Supply Company. The test proved very successful.

The Coming Woman
Who goes to the club while her husband tends the baby as well as the good old-fashioned woman who looks after her home, will both at times get run down in health. They will be troubled with loss of appetite, headaches, sleeplessness, fainting or dizzy spells. The most wonderful remedy for these woman is Electric Bitters. Thousands of sufferers from lame back and weak kidneys rise up and call it blessed. It is the medicine for women. Female complaints and nervous troubles of all kinds are soon relieved by the use of Electric Bitters. Delicate women should keep this remedy on hand to build up the system. Only 50c per bottle. For sale by L. W. Randolph.

—A regular meeting of Cypress Commandery, Knights Templar, will be held this evening.

After hearing some friends continually praising Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Curtis Fleck, of Anaheim, California, purchased a bottle of it for his own use and is now as enthusiastic over its wonderful work as anyone can be. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—A meeting of the Monday Afternoon Club will be held this afternoon.

Mr. C. M. Dixon, a well known merchant, of Pleasant Ridge, Fulton Co., Pa., has a little girl who is frequently threatened with croup, but when the first symptoms appear, his wife gives her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which always affords prompt relief. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—There will be a meeting of Trinity Commandery, Knights Templar, this evening.

Free of Charge to Sufferers.
Cut this out and take it to your druggist and get a sample bottle free of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Cough's and Colds. They do not ask you to buy before trying. This will show you the great merits of this truly wonderful remedy, and show you what can be accomplished by the regular size bottle. This is no experiment, and would be disastrous to the proprietors, did they not know it would invariably cure. Many of the best physicians are now using it in their practice with great results, and are relying on it in most severe cases. It is guaranteed. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.

MORE SPANISH THREATS.

A Madrid Paper Rages at the United States Gulf Squadron.

Madrid, Dec. 20.—The Imparcial, in an article on the United States Congress, says:

"After the insults and calumnies against Spain, our excellent almost protector and friend, McKinley, as compensation, is going to send a squadron to the Gulf of Mexico, a measure never so unnecessary as now, since Cuba has a captain general whose policy is just and humane. Spain has just made great concessions to Cuba. This is because the Yankees are seeking to justify the policy of the insurgents, who base their hopes on the intervention of their friends.

"The sending of this squadron will revivify their hopes and cause a continuation of the struggle. The intervention of the United States will be a monstrous act of cynicism. Those who kept silence in the presence of the German cruisers at Hayti do not dare to risk the disapprobation of Europe.

"We know means which foil with the tricks of the Yankees. These means are the great wisdom of Spain, the great loyalty of the island, the grand activity in our arsenals and the great energy of the Government. It is unnecessary to mention the patriotism of Spain."

An official note just issued says that the dispatch of an American squadron to the Gulf of Mexico has not made a bad impression here, as the Government is aware that in the present season the Gulf of Mexico is the only sea where naval maneuvres are possible, and that these Winter maneuvres have not occurred for two years past on account of a desire to avoid wounding Spanish susceptibilities.

MAJOR HANDY STILL ILL.

He Will Be Moved to His Home in South Carolina.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Maj. Moses P. Handy, who has recently returned from Paris, whither he went to arrange for the American exhibit at the great show of 1900, is still in a very critical condition, although he is well enough to be moved to South Carolina.

MAJOR MOSES P. HANDY.

Maj. Handy is suffering from disease of the heart, and it is feared that he will be unable to take any further part in making arrangements for the Paris Exposition.

HANNA GOING HOME.

Says He Hasn't Heard of Any Other Senatorial Candidate.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Senator Hanna will leave for Ohio to-day or to-morrow and remain there until after his campaign for re-election is ended. He will go direct to his home at Cleveland and will spend Christmas week there. Early in the following week he will go to the State capitol at Columbus.

The Legislature meets Jan. 3, but the balloting does not begin until Tuesday, Jan. 11. The date of the Republican caucus has not yet been fixed, but it is usually held on Thursday or Friday preceding the balloting. Senator Hanna declines to discuss the situation for publication beyond saying that he has not heard of any other Republican candidate.

"I stand as the choice of the Republicans of Ohio," said he, "as that choice was declared by them in convention assembled at Toledo, and my candidacy has been formally indorsed by all except four counties in the State."

FIRE PURSUES GRAND FORK.

Second Big Blaze in a Week Threatens the Town.

Grand Forks, N. Dak., Dec. 20.—The business portion of the city was threatened by another fire last night, which might have been more destructive than that of Friday, when the Hotel Dacotah, the Mercantile Company and Nash Brothers' buildings were burned.

Shortly after 6 o'clock smoke was seen issuing from the first floor of the big department store of Benner & Beggs, and in less than fifteen minutes the building was in flames and the fire had crept into the Stanchfield clothing house and the H. A. Stone jewelry store, the buildings adjoining. After three hours' work the fire was subdued. The damage to the building and stock of Benner & Beggs will be $55,000. Losses to the other firms will be small.

Chinese Want to Vote.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Representative Smith, of Illinois, has introduced a bill permitting the naturalization of Americanized Chinese. A big lobby of Chinese laundrymen and merchants are back of the measure. Wong Chin Foo, in a memorial to Congress, says that the naturalization of Chinese laborers is not urged, but that the bill applies to American-born Chinese children, also to those Chinese who are able to speak English and who have severed their queues.

Bismarck Is Failing.

London, Dec. 20.—A special dispatch from Hamburg says that Prince Bismarck, who braced up for the Emperor's visit, has relapsed into his former weakness, despondency and persistent insomnia. Mentally and physically Prince Bismarck is rapidly declining.

Speaker Reed to Speak.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Speaker Reed will go to Philadelphia during the holiday recess and deliver an address at the celebration of the semi-centennial of Girard College.

CONGRESS TO GO SLOW

A Policy of Dragging Legislation Likely to Prevail.

ACTION ON CUBA UNLIKELY

Representative King of Utah to Visit the Island and Make Investigations—Speaker Reed's Committee on Rules to Meet During Recess.

Washington, Dec. 20.—The adjournment of Congress for the holiday recess does not mean that Congress will entirely suspend its functions until Jan. 5. Owing to the fact that the committees were not announced until the last day of the extra session, no opportunity was given for them to organize. During the recess the all-powerful Committee on Rules of the House, which is practically the arbiter of legislation, will meet at the call of Speaker Reed and make such amendments to the rules as may be deemed proper by the Speaker. The Republican members of that committee, Messrs. Anderson, of Iowa, and Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, with the Speaker, will settle the fate of any special legislation which may be deemed necessary during the present session.

The postponement of the debate on the legislative bill until after the holiday recess indicates that the policy of dragging legislation is to prevail. There will be a sharp, if not bitter, rivalry between committees, to secure the advancement of legislation which they report, while a contest is expected in regard to private claim legislation, which has been practically suppressed for the last three years.

An unusually large number of members of Congress will remain here during the holiday recess, with the view of collecting material for speeches on civil service and other issues of the next campaign. The fact that Gen. Grosvenor of Ohio is at the head of the anti-civil service raid, without rebuke or criticism from the President, is regarded as sufficient license for Republican representatives from other States to save themselves by taking such ground as they may please with respect to that question. It is authoritatively stated that all the Indiana delegates but one — Representative Johnson—stand against civil service reform, and he is not a candidate for reelection. The same is true in Michigan and to a considerable extent in Illinois and Wisconsin.

There seems to be no change in the situation in respect to either Cuba or Hawaii. There is very little likelihood of the House being able to reach a vote on Cuba, while it is not believed reasonably certain that a two-thirds vote cannot be procured in the Senate to ratify the treaty, and, as a result, Hawaii will be annexed by a joint resolution, which only requires a majority vote.

As to Cuba, it is reasonably certain that Speaker Reed will not permit a vote. There seems to be an understanding among those in power that time is wanted in which to consider the issues involved, and while the ultimate and final vote in behalf of Cuba is liable to be unanimous, it is thought best by Republican leaders, in view of European conditions, to hold the subject up for more careful consideration. A Republican ex-member of Congress, with long diplomatic service abroad, is authority for the statement that there is a combination of leading European powers which will control the Cuban question.

Congressman William Henry King, of Salt Lake City, Utah, has made all arrangements to take a trip to Cuba for the purpose of personally investigating the true condition of affairs on the Island. He has his passports and personal letters of introduction to Consul General Lee, and is only waiting to receive favorable news from his child, who has been ill at Salt Lake City, before starting on his trip. Immediately on receipt of this information he will take the train for Key West. From that point Congressman King will go by steamer to Cuba and make as thorough an investigation of the condition of the insurgents, their strength and numbers, and the system of Spanish government of the natives, as possible.

Congressman King is one of the youngest members of the House, being but 34 years of age. He has long been known to be a friend of the insurgents and has made more than one speech in their behalf in the House. He is ambitious and energetic and is willing to brave the dangers of the Island for the sake of obtaining the information he seeks.

Loss to Lafayette College.

Easton, Pa., Dec. 20.—Pardee Hall, the splendid scientific building presented to Lafayette College by Ario Pardee in 1871, at a cost of $285,000, destroyed in 1879 and rebuilt, was again almost destroyed by fire Saturday morning. It began at 5 o'clock, and burned fiercely for three hours, when it was got under control. The eastern part of the building was saved. The centre and the western portions were completely gutted.

The loss will exceed $100,000. The total insurance is $100,000 on the building, $30,000 on the furniture and equipment, $9,000 on the Ward library, $6,000 on Washington Society and $4,000 on Franklin Society rooms.

Gompers Re-elected President.

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 20.—It is possible adjournment of the convention of the American Federation of Labor will be reached this evening. Samuel Gompers has been re-elected president, defeating Ernest Kreft, of Philadelphia. The report of the Committee on the president's report contained the recommendation that the president issue an appeal to the unions to contribute toward a fund for the aid of the striking engineers of England. The report of the committee in regard to the question of the restriction of immigration was adopted.

Big Fire in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Dec. 20.—A fire started in the basement of the building occupied by the Mermod & Jaccard Jewelry Company, at the corner of Locust street and Broadway, early yesterday morning, and in an almost incredibly short time the five-story building was completely gutted. The total loss will reach $335,000, fully covered by insurance.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Tonight and Tuesday Snow, Turning to Rain; Warmer.

At 2 o'Clock the Thermometer at Leggett's Pharmacy Registered 23 Degrees.

The press of the entire State is almost a unit in demanding the re-enactment of the sunset election law. There is no politics at all in the matter. The plan of opening the polls at sunrise and closing them at sunset is in force in many States and it works to the complete satisfaction of all. The old story that the law would practically disfranchise the laboring man by making it impossible for him to get to the polls in time to get his ballot in is all nonsense. The sunset law would give him all the opportunity he needs and it would close the door to many corrupt practices that are rendered possible under the present system of carrying the voting two or three hours into the night. This antiquated system complicates and hinders the work of getting the returns and gives a great deal of needless trouble. New Jersey should adopt some of the modern notions that have been tested in other States. The first of these notions to be adopted should be that specifying sunset as the time to close the polls.—New Brunswick Times.

To extend credit to each of our exchanges that issued Christmas editions in such a manner as their excellence really deserved would take altogether more space than can be spared for the subject. Never before has there been so many handsome Christmas editions of New Jersey newspapers issued as was the case this year. They were not only pretty from a typographical standpoint but as well filled with entertaining and appropriate reading for the Yuletide season. Among the papers that deserve especial mention for their enterprise and originality in this direction are the Somerville Democrat, Somerset Unionist-Gazette, Washington Star, Westfield Standard, Rahway Democrat, New Brunswick Times and the News of this city. Of our own modest efforts in this direction we have but to say that the large sale of papers on Saturday and the many complimentary remarks passed on the edition gave evidence that it was appreciated and admired.

The Daily Press calendar for 1898 will be delivered to our friends next Saturday morning by the sturdy and faithful little fellows who brave all sorts of weather the year around to carry the paper to those desirous of a bright and correct compilation of local events as they occur. The calendar this year, as usual, is dedicated to the carrier boys and a beautiful half-tone engraving of a typical newsboy graces its front. The feature of former years—a list of fire alarm boxes—is retained and thus makes the calendar doubly important to hang in the house or office for ready reference.

'HIS NEXT BEST FRIEND," PLAINTIFF

Lawyer Angleman Instituted a Suit for a Minor.

A somewhat odd case is pending in Justice Thomas' court in the action of Winfield S. Angleman, representing Howell Thatcher, a minor, against Charles F. Debele to recover $125 wages which it is alleged that the defendant owes young Thatcher. Mr. Angleman is put down in the legal papers in the case as "his next best friend." Mr. Debele told a Press reporter this morning that the boy had no claim on him. He says that Thatcher came from the poor house in Essex county and was to stay with him till he was twenty-one years of age, he to provide him with a home and clothes in return for his services. Debele claims that the boy became disobedient and offensive in his conduct and so he discharged him. The boy has been with him for about three years.

WESTFIELD

NO FIRE PROTECTION.

LOW PRESSURE ON FIRE HYDRANTS MAKES THEM WORTHLESS.

Chief Dennis Makes This Complaint to the Township Committee—Other News Items of Interest in Westfield.

The owners of property on Quimby street made complaint to the Westfield Township Committee, at its meeting last Friday night, claiming that there are serious defects in the construction of the street which causes all the water to run into the cellars of the houses, filling them completely whenever it rains. Engineer H. C. VanEmburgh was instructed to make an investigation of the street and devise some means to carry off the surface water. Martin Pickell appeared before the Committee and stated that last Wednesday evening while driving on Elmer street he met with a serious accident, colliding with a huge stone placed in the street in front of the property of Robert Woodruff, very near the middle of the street. He wished to know to whom he should look to make the damage of his carriage good. He was instructed to apply to the Board of Freeholders. Chief J. A. Dennis, of the Westfield Fire department, appeared before the Committee and stated that the town would be in serious danger in case of a fire at the present time, as the pressure upon the fire hydrants is not sufficient to throw a stream upon a house. The pressure should amount to sixty pounds, but it is now only twenty pounds. The matter will be investigated by the Committee and some measures looking toward the protection of the town will be taken. 148 property owners filed agreements to pay their sewer assessments in annual instalments, and bills amounting to $189 were ordered paid. The public hearing on the granting of the trolley franchise will be held in Westfield Club Hall on the 28th inst.

Mrs. C. E. Pearsall and her sister, Miss May Moffett, took Mrs. Pearsall's young son to a barber shop on Elm street last Friday afternoon, and while they were within the shop the child's carriage, containing among other things, Mrs. Pearsall's purse, was allowed to stand on the sidewalk. Two youngsters, John Swentzel and Jacob Schneider, happened along and carried away the pocketbook. It contained $5 and some small change. When Mrs. Pearsall and her sister emerged from the shop they discovered the loss and remembering having seen the two lads about the carriage, they followed them and demanded the money. Swentzel weakened and returned the pocketbook. The $5 remained, but the small change had been spent by the lads in the puchase of candy.

Giatano Eramo, an Italian living on Central avenue, Westfield, was arrested last Friday afternoon on complaint of one of the officers of the Rising Sun Brewing Company, of Elizabeth, on a charge of having burned a number of beer kegs belonging to the company. He was given a hearing before Justice Collins Friday night, and was released on his own recognizance to appear for further examination tomorrow.

Thomas Hyslop has returned from a stay of several weeks in the Elizabeth General Hospital, and is much improved in health.

Rev. Wesley Martin, of Flemington, exchanged pulpits with Rev. W. H. Ruth, of the Westfield Methodist church, yesterday.

Miss Georgiana Reusch, of Cranford, has returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. E. Eckel, of Chestnut street.

E. J. Whitehead, of New York city, spent Sunday as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Warncke, of the Boulevard.

Miss Estelle Hegeman will spend the Christmas holidays with friends in Brooklyn.

Miss Mabel Holcomb, of Westfield avenue, has returned from a visit in Brooklyn.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manuufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. An Important Remedy.

Everything considered, it is probable that Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the most important remedy you can know about. Its uses are many and the complaints it cures are those that cannot be neglected.

It Repairs

broken-down conditions of the system, cures wasting diseases, obstinate throat and lung troubles, and increases flesh, strength and energy.

Most any Emulsion is good, but ours is more desirable because it is always fresh and because we supply the usual dollar quantity for 50 cents.

BOOM IN KITE FLYING

A PASTIME ENJOYED ALIKE NOW BY YOUNG AND OLD.

The Modern Kite, Built on Scientific Lines in Such Vogue That Its Manufacture Has Become an Important Branch of Industry.

Nowadays every up-to-date sporting goods store has a department devoted to the sale of kites. This branch of business has developed within the last two years, and, whereas the kite once played an unimportant part in the trade, it has come to occupy a place that demands the attention of experts and the services of special salesmen. They had sent kites to high altitudes, and had succeeded in interesting the scientific world in their experiments. In Boston attention had been called to the possibilities of kite flying by the observers at the Blue Hill weather station, and the publicity given to the subject by the newspapers throughout the country served as an excellent advertisement for kites.

Early this year a well-known dealer in sporting goods, who had read of the experiments made with kites at Blue Hill, decided to find out whether a full-grown man could become interested in such play. He took his vacation early, and sent to Blue Hills for a kite. He went to the seashore, intending to spend a week. He felt little interest in the matter at first, but before the week was over he had become enthusiastic, and had bought half a dozen kites. He was away from his business for nearly a month and when he returned it was only to make arrangements to go away again. He had become a kite fiend.

As soon as the dealer in sporting goods found out how fascinating kite flying was he sent orders to the superintendent of his factory to clear a space in the shops for the manufacture of kites, and wrote to the inventor of the improved aeroplane, offering to pay him a good royalty for the right to make and sell kites after his pattern. The man who had made the kites hadn't thought of the possibility of turning them to a commercial advantage up to that time. As soon as he received the letter from the dealer in sporting goods, however, he sent a pattern to the Patent Office and took out a patent on his invention. Then he wrote to the manufacturer of sporting goods, accepting his offer.

The tradesman was a hustler, and he announced to all of his patrons that he had the greatest thing of the decade if it was worked properly. He bought copies of all the newspapers containing articles on kites and reprinted them in a circular, which he spread broadcast. He instructed a number of men in the art of kite flying and sent them around the country to introduce the new article. He went himself to a number of summer resorts early in the season and interested his acquaintances in the matter. He arranged exhibitions in different parts of the country and made the kite the most prominent article in his stock. His work soon began to bear fruit.

Orders came from dealers for stocks of kites and letters of inquiry from men who had read or heard of the aeroplane, as it is called now. The manufacturer and dealer answered with the assurance that the inquirer was fortunate to be early, as there was such a demand for the kite that had his letter been a day later he must have gone without a favorable answer. It became necessary to enlarge the aeroplane department in the factory and to work day and night to keep pace with the demand. The inventor and the manufacturer began to rub their hands and congratulate themselves; and other inventors and manufacturers entered the field.

Hotels and summer resorts began to buy kites to use in exhibitions. By the first of August there was hardly a hotel that had not given an exhibition of kite flying to its guests. Men who knew how to fly kites made a good living travelling around the country using their ability in the pay of innkeepers. With the coming of fall the managers of county fairs and cattle shows, always anxious to find some new attractions for sightseers, began to arrange aeroplane exhibitions. They wanted lanterns and flags sent up, offered to pay well, and the demand soon exceeded the supply. Now there are several dealers importing goods who employ many men making kites, and have on their books the names of a number of exhibitors. The business has assumed such proportions that the kite is no longer relegated to an obscure corner of the shop. It occupies a prominent place near the entrance and forms one of the important items in the books.

The kites are made in a number of sizes, the smallest being about two feet high. The largest yet put on the market is eight feet high. They consist of a wooden frame, light but stiff, covered with linen bands so arranged that they will take wind with little effort on the part of the flyer. To sail the old-fashioned kite it was necessary for one person to hold it some feet above the ground while another ran violently against the wind with the string. To sail the modern kite all that is necessary is to lay it on the ground and pull gently at the string. The old-fashioned ones had tails which were invariably too heavy or too light; the modern ones have no tails. To adjust the big kites it was necessary to tie stones to the tails or to cut the tails off; when one flies an aeroplane he simply undoes a knot or slips a ring up the string a few inches. The old-fashioned paper machine is now laid away, a curious relic of the barborous age of kiting, and its place is taken by a trim machine that shows its modernness in every joint and fold.—New York Sun.

NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED IN UP-TO-DATE LAUNDRY WORK.

We run the laundry and take care of all details, but you "boss" it. We do what you tell us to do. It may give you a new sensation to find that you get a domestic finish when you ask for it, and to discover that your collars are actually ironed in the way that the maker intended them to be ironed.

We are running a laundry with the most improved methods and appliances. We use pure water and good soap. We are using two things that are not commonly used in laundries—care and intelligence. If you have found a laundry that pleases you perfectly, we have nothing to say to you. If you have any reason to be dissatisfied, we would like to give you a practical demonstration of our way of running a laundry.

Tell us where and when to call for your work, when you want it delivered, and let us know any particular thing that you would like to have done with it.

We want you to understand that we are running this laundry for you, and that your wishes are to be regarded in every particular. We will give you just exactly what you want. If we can find out what that is. Perhaps you believe that it is impossible to have your laundry well handled without irritation and annoyance to you. We are sure that you are mistaken. May we have an opportunity of demonstrating it?

LIMITED.

The "Portland Range" abounds with new and good ideas—it's FIRST range in every way.

Get off cars at Plane St. But note name "Amos" and "No. 73" before entering store.

Furniture for Remembrances

Little need to jog your memory as to value of the things you gave last year—furniture pieces were those most favored, we'll warrant. Our store's in even better trim to help you than 'twas in '96—and buy on the 75c-a-week-easy-payment-plan if cash is short. Come and see us—even if you haven't cash; we'll try to "fix you up."

And SUCH a Lot of Pretty Chairs!

It's one of our pet hobbies to keep this line complete and inviting above all similar stocks. More room for choice in shapes, sizes, woods, coverings than you've any notion of! Cherry, maple, oak, enameled, gilt chairs, plain and richly covered—$1.75 up to $50. Spend all the time you like among them. Buying is not forced on any one.

For surprisingly slender prices—great hosts of gifts. Tea and Dinner Sets from simplest to most elaborate—Children's Chairs, 50c up—Express Wagons and Sleds—Easels and Music Cabinets, all woods—Lamps and Clocks—Pictures—Brass and Onyx Tables—the "Columbia" Sewing Machine at $29, cash or credit—Chiffoniers and Shaving Stands—Desks and Hat Racks—but why keep on? We'd need two pages, 'stead of a corner in one to tell of all.

"Gift Stoves"

You may smile, but this live stove department has been filled with those buying stoves and ranges for gifts, and ordering them reserved for late delivery. Incidentally, 'tis Newark's largest stock of the sort—over half our main floor and basement is filled with warrranted makes—all low in price. The "Portland" Range is a treat of itself—seen it? Oil heaters here—too.

Ready for Business

evidently, and the business should be done by all means. Buildings require paint. Of course, a house may be left unpainted and left to become weatherbeaten and a wreck. That doesn't pay, though; it's much cheaper to paint, and our paints in all colors are the best in the market for durability under the most trying conditions. They are well adapted to our exposure and we sell everything in the line of paints and painters' supplies at short prices.

ELOPEMENT IN LUETGERT CASE.

Defense Will Allege Mrs. Luetgert Eloped with an Englishman.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—A peculiar report has been circulated in the Criminal Court building in connection with the trial of Adolph L. Luetgert for the murder of his wife. It is that evidence will be brought by the defense to show that Robert Davey, an Englishman, who is alleged to have swindled Luetgert and who went to New York in April, eloped with Mrs. Luetgert, meeting her in the East early in May.

Mr. Harmon and the other attorneys for the defense declined to talk about this report. Mr. Harmon in his opening address, however, laid stress on the transactions between Davey and Luetgert. He described Davey's negotiations with the sausage maker for the purchase of the factory for $200,000 in bonds and $100,000 in cash. He said Davey went to New York before the disappearance of Mrs. Luetgert and took money belonging to the sausage maker.

Luetgert went to New York before May 1, the lawyer said, to look for Davey, and learned he had been swindled. Incidentally, but with an apparent effort at accuracy, Mr. Harmon explained that Davey had spent many evenings in the Luetgert home. Luetgert and his wife talked over Davey's scheme, said the lawyer, and she was bitterly disappointed when the plans came to naught.

It is supposed the defense will seek to show Davey was attentive to Mrs. Luetgert, sometimes spending hours in her company, and that he arranged for her to join him in New York, after he had absconded with her husband's money.

Mr. Harmon emphatically said Davey borrowed numerous sums from Luetgert after the failure of the Dreyer Bank, and hastened the sausage maker's failure.

NAMED BY THE PRESIDENT.

Another Batch of Nominations Sent to the Senate.

Washington, Dec. 20.—The President on Saturday sent the following nominations to the Senate:

William P. Williams, of Illinois, to be Assistant Treasurer of the United States at Chicago.

William Penn Nixon, Collector of Customs for the District of Chicago.

Archibald A. Young, Surveyor of Customs for the Port of Indianapolis, Ind.

John L. Hodges, Assayer in charge of the Mint of the United States at Denver.

Joseph Spear, Jr., Surveyor of Customs in the District of San Francisco.

John C. Ames, Marshal of the United States for the Northern District of Illinois.

Frank W. Parker and John R. McFie, Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of the Territory of New Mexico.

James L. Martin, Attorney of the United States for the District of Vermont.

The Senate confirmed a long list of nominations, including:

Ethan A. Hitchcock, of Missouri, to be Minister to Russia; William Penn Nixon, Collector of Customs, District of Chicago; William P. Williams, Assistant Treasurer at Chicago.

EXPENSIVE ELECTION BET.

Philadelphia Lawyer Gives a $2,000 Dinner for Twelve Men.

Philadelphia, Dec. 20.—A dinner of twelve covers, which cost $2,000, or more than $150 a cover, was given Saturday evening at the Hotel Bellevue. It grew out of an election bet made before the election for Sheriff last year.

The men making the bet were in the Bellevue discussing the relative chances of Crow and Ashbridge. Among the twelve were James Elverson, Jr., and A. S. L. Shields. The former held that Crow would win, and Mr. Shields fancied the other candidate and lost. So certain was each that a dinner, to be given to twelve men by the loser, was made as a wager. Mr. Elverson, Jr., was wearing at the time a diamond pin shaped like a horseshoe. Thus it was suggested that the souvenir of the dinner be in the shape of a horseshoe.

At each plate to-night was a horseshoe pin of diamonds set in platinum and an exact imitation of the one worn by Mr. Elverson, Jr., at the time of the bet. The total cost of $2,000 was reached in this way. The pins cost probably $80 apiece and the cases $6. This accounts for $1,032. The menu cards cost at least $20 each, another $240, and the rest was for the decorations, the dinner, and the expensive wines.

THE BIG WIRE TRUST.

Members Give a Statement of What They Propose to Accomplish.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—The gentlemen who are engaged in organizing a combination of the wire manufacturing interests of the country have issued an explanation of the enterprise, in which they say:

"With the view of largely increasing the export trade in wire, wire nails and other products, and also materially reducing the cost of their manufacture and sale, certain gentlemen who for many years have been identified with and successful in the business, have, after a careful study of the situation, decided to organize a new corporation which will immediately engage in these lines, and will also acquire by purchase, the properties of the leading manufacturers of wire throughout the United States.

"It is not proposed to antagonize the interests of any other manufacturers in any respect, nor to increase the manufacture of steel billets, nor is it the intention to increase prices to the consumer."

All Want Arbitration.

Washington, Dec. 20.—It is expected that soon after the holiday recess a memorial, signed by several thousand Englishmen, will be presented to Congress, asking for an Anglo-American treaty of arbitration. It is understood that the memorial is now in Washington.

92,000 Idle Men in New York.

New York, Dec. 20.—Times are steadily improving, but there are still 92,000 people out of employment, according to careful canvasses made by the organized trades of New York. This is 33,000 better than last year.

MAY DIVIDE UP CHINA

Russia, Germany and Austria Are in the Game.

The Britishers Are Wild with Rage at the Theft of Their Land-Grabbing Business—Serious Trouble Surely Ahead.

London, Dec. 20.—It is now an indisputable fact that Germany has an understanding with Russia in regard to the partition of China. The news from Vienna that Russia has landed men at Port Arthur and taken possession of that place is not confirmed, and it is not likely to be, for the Russian policy contemplates a port on the Pacific. A Russian diplomatist thus describes the situation:

"Nobody can help foreseeing a possible outbreak in China. Therefore it is necessary to cleverly define our spheres of influence and our possessions, and likewise those of Germany. Thus we have given carte blanche to Germany for the development of her commerce in China, while we remain friends and defenders of China."

Austria has evidently been made the confidant of both powers, and the semi-official Fremder blatt of Vienna says that after the Japanese war the people of Berlin waited for some sign of Chinese gratitude for the part Germany took in protecting her from the conquering Japanese. This sign never came, and the disappointed hopes of the Germans will now be realized in another form.

The English press follows the German undertaking in China with the same unfriendliness as it showed to the German acquisitions in Africa. The English long ago grew accustomed to competing in distant lands with Russians and Frenchmen, but their new rival is inconvenient on account of his growing exporting power.

It is hinted that France and England will join in the partition, leaving Central China greatly reduced in size. This is very doubtful as far as England is concerned, for Russia and Germany are known absolutely to have the power, if they have the will, to exclude England from their arrangements. The sense of England's exclusion and ignorance of what action the Government intends to take have driven the Tory papers of London wild with rage.

GOVERNMENT'S GRIP ON CARNEGIE.

The Harvey Steel Patents Discovered to Be Invalid.

Washington, Dec. 20.—The Harvey patents for making steel armor plate have been discovered to be invalid, and will be so declared in the near future. This is the result of a secret investigation which has been conducted in the Patent Office at the instigation of the Navy Department during the past month. As a result the Government will withhold $4,000 due the Carnegie and Bethlehem companies to compensate for the amounts paid on royalties for the use of the Harvey processes.

There had been a suspicion in the minds of prominent officials of the Navy Department for several years that the Harvey process was really an old one. Secretary Long finally ordered the matter carefully investigated. As a result there was discovered in the secret archives of the Patent Office caveats filed over seven years prior to the granting of the Harvey patents, covering identically the same process. These caveats were filed by an American citizen representing clients living in England, Germany and Italy.

The effect of this discovery is to invalidate the Harvey patent, as it shows a clear priority on the part of the caveator.

The Carnegie Company seems to have anticipated this discovery, for they have recently purchased the Krupp process for hardening steel plates. This process is now said to be superior to the Harvey process, and it is even hinted that they do not object to having the Harvey process knocked out, now that they have acquired the other method.

The present royalty allowed for the Harvey process has been reduced from the original price of $100 a ton to $10 a ton. The total amount of armor plate made and to be made under existing contracts by the two concerns is 24,612 tons, for which nearly $15,000,000 will have been paid, or nearly $9,000,000 over the combined cost of the two plants.

FITZ'S OPINION OF M'COY.

He Says the "Kid" Is Entitled to No Great Credit.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 20.—Champion Robert Fitzsimmons, who is playing an engagement in this city, in commenting on the McCoy-Creedon fight, said:

"I do not take the rumor that McCoy will challenge me seriously. There are plenty of people ready to challenge me now that I have retired from the ring. McCoy is entitled to no special credit for whipping Creedon. Creedon has not been taking care of himself, and was ready for a defeat.

"If he had been in the condition he was at New Orleans when I defeated him a year ago McCoy would not have whipped him. He is more than a match for McCoy, and I expected him to win.

"I will not fight the victor. I retired from the ring March 17. All this talk about another go with Corbett is all bluff inspired by the Brady-Corbett people."

Killed Three at a Bull Fight.

Guadalajara, Mexico, Dec. 20.—At a bull fight here one of the ferocious Spanish bulls jumped the barricade surrounding the ring and charged into the crowd of spectators. The animal gored three persons to death and seriously injured nine others. In the excitement a number of persons were almost trampled to death by the panic-stricken crowd.

Death in a Tunnel.

Baltimore, Dec. 20.—William Kelley was killed instantly and H. G. Hickson seriously injured by a locomotive while walking in the Belt Line tunnel between Dolphin and Lanvale streets early yesterday morning. It is thought the men were struck by an express train on the Baltimore & Ohio Railway, but Hickson has not yet been able to give a connected account of how they happened to be in the tunnel.

"BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW."

Do you ever ask yourself why you keep chickens?

Is it for pleasure? If so, would not a little profit add to the pride and pleasure?

Possibly it is because you wish to be sure of absolutely fresh eggs on your table. If so, would you not prefer to get the eggs during the winter rather than in the spring, "when everybody's eggs are fresh?"

We can make bricks in these days without straw, but no one can make hens lay eggs in the winter months unless he supplies special foods and care.

We aim to carry in our different stores everything that is necessary for the "Business Hen"—that is, the hen that pays for her board—and we would be pleased to hear from either large or small poultry raisers.

Among other things we would suggest:

Granulated Charcoal,	Poultry Feed,
Ground Oyster Shells,	Buckwheat Grain,
Chicken & Pigeon Grit,	Barley,
Granulated Bone,	Hemp Seed,
Meat Meal,	Millet Seed,
Clover Heads,	Sheridan's Powder.

SPORTS

STRIKES AND SPARES.

Tomorrow night on the Ulrich bowling alleys there will be a match between the Lyceum and Knob Hill teams.

F. H. Ball and Clarence Murphy, of the Park Club, are now tie for the highest bowling score for December. Each hold the score of 235. Clarence Murphy and W. J. Roome, Jr., are tie for the greatest number of 200 scores. Each have four to his credit.

The Park Club bowling team will roll a match game tonight with the N. J. A. C. team, instead of Thursday evening, which is accoring to the schedule. The reason for this change is that the game between the bachelor and benedict teams will be rolled Thursday night at the Park Club.

WHIST.

The eleventh match for the A. W. L. trophy was played in Baltimore Saturday night between the Walbrook Whist Club, holders, and the Albany Club, challengers. The result was a victory for the Walbrook Club by the score of 26 tricks to 18.

Greatness.

"The great man is he who does not lose his child's heart," and the possession of the child's heart always prompts sympathy with children, and in no way can you better prove that sympathy at this season than by some gift that will prove 'a thing of beauty and a joy forever,' and that is the very kind of gift you are sure to get from Collier's varied and low-priced collection.

Crushed One of His Toes.

Robert VanNest, aged seventeen years, an employe of A. M. Griffen, the Front street hardware dealer, met with an accident in the plumbing shop last Saturday afternoon when a heavy weight dropped on his foot crushing one of his toes. He was taken to his home, where his mother dressed the wound. Young VanNest was able to resume work today.

A Chimney Fire.

A small chimney fire occurred yesterday morning about 9 o'clock in the rooms on East Second street occupied by John Neighbor and family. Mr. Neighbor discovered the fire and with the assistance of John Ross of the fire department, who used two extinguishers, the fire was soon put out. There was no damage.

TROLLEY TO DUNELLEN.

New Brunswick Times Says the People Are Anxious For It.

It is more than likely that the Brunswick Traction Company's application for a franchise for a trolley line within the borough limits of Dunellen will be favorably acted upon at the next meeting of the Borough Council Monday night, says the New Brunswick Times. The people are heartily in favor of a trolley. In fact it is said that they are trolley mad. The only details to be yet arranged are the conditions under which the Brunswick traction Company shall be given the franchise. It will very probably be required to macadamize the streets through which it runs and also to make other concessions. All of these, however, have been practically agreed to by Edward Racel and it is likely that it will be read twice at the meeting next Monday night and will be passed for the third and final reading at the first meeting of the Council in January, so that the work of laying the tracks in the borough may be commenced about the middle of the month. The company has pending an application to the Piscataway Township Committee for a line through Bound Brook to Dunellen. When this road is built and that through Bound Brook laid there will then be a continuous line from New Brunswick to Plainfield, as the Brunswick Traction Company's line will connect at Dunellen with the line already in operation to Plainfield.

THE MOST COSTLY FRUIT.

Hothouse Grapes at $9 a Pound, and Hothouse Peaches at $2.50 Each.

Hothouse grapes are the costliest of fruits. They are never less than 75 cents a pound, and when they are most costly, in February and March, they sell for $9 a pound, sometimes going as high as $10 a pound. At prices ranging up to $2 a pound there is a ready sale for them; at the higher prices they are sold almost exclusively for the use of invalids. There is a sale for all that are produced, but the production at the season of highest prices is small. The cost of production is great, and the vines may die from exhaustion after a single season of forcing.

The next most costly fruit is the hot house peaches. Hot house peaches sell in February at $2.50 each. They are used mainly by invalids, but such peaches are also often sold for gifts. They are presented as flowers or as bonbons would be. Three or four peaches are packed in cotton and set off with a few peach leaves in a handsome box. Hothouse peaches run down to about 60 cents each in April and May, when we begin to get the first of the peaches from the south.—New York Sun.

—Next Sunday an appropriate service will be held at the Crescent Avenue church, at which time all of the mission schools connected with the church will assemble at the church and join in a programme prepared for the occasion.

—A. E. Butler, the Park avenue barber, was very unfortunate this morning in losing $17 while on his way from his home to the shop. The money was in a pocketbook which also contained two letters. In another column the loss is advertised.

A FIGHT FOR THE HOME.

there were 17,000 deaths caused by the liquor habit. There is need of more of the father's influence in the home and more of the mother's influence in the state. The weakness of American families is a lack of intimate relations between the members. Children need the influence and advise of both father and mother to be guided aright, and besides being more intimate with their families, men should also carry into their management of public affairs the conscious obligation of fatherhood, protecting their children in the State as they do in the home.

During the meeting there was singing by the members of the Loyal Temperance Legion and by a male quartette selected by Alfred Freeman from the choir of Grace Episcopal church. Miss M. G. Morse presided at the piano.

TO COLLECT BACK TAXES

COUNCIL PASSES A RESOLUTION TO AID MARTIN ACT COMMISSIONERS.

It Applies to Delinquents Since 1886—A Settlement Effected With Mrs. Catherine Lounsbury—Other Business Transacted.

At the adjourned meeting of the City Council held last evening Councilman Westphal was made president pro tem in the absence of President Dumont, who was unable to be present. All the other members answered to the roll call.

From Mrs. Catherine Lounsbury, of 129 Plainfield avenue, a communication was received in which she stated that the property held by her was formerly owned by other people, whom she thought should pay the proportionate share of the back taxes prior to 1886, and she asked that the Council give her a clear deed for her property in consideration of $110, the amount assessed. She said she was willing to pay the $110 and file a bond, the amount to be decided by the Corporation Counsel, to secure the property against further assessment. Accompanying the communication was a note from the Martin Act Commissioners stating that Mrs. Lounsbury's property had been assessed at $110. The Council granted the petition and the matter will now be referred to the Corporation Counsel so that he can fix the amount of the bond to be furnished, after which Mrs. Lounsbury will receive a clear deed.

In a communication, the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company accepted the ordinance recently adopted by the city regarding the placing of the company's wires under ground. The acceptance was referred to the Corporation Counsel for investigation as to its being correct.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Stebbins that $900 be expended to place a suitable heating apparatus in the Industrial Home.

Mr. Barrows did not favor the expense, as a new Council will soon take their seats, and as one member of the present Council was absent he thought it best not to take any action. The resolution was not put to a vote, as not one of the members would second it.

Mr. Runyon called up the ordinance regarding the redistricting of the city, and the same was adopted on the final reading.

At this time Mr. Runyon introduced a resolution drafted by Corporation Counsel Marsh regarding the work of collecting the back taxes this side of 1886. The resolution did not appear clear to the members of the Council, and Mr. Newman said that he was not willing to vote until the matter was explained. The other members felt the same way and Mr. Marsh was sent for. He appeared soon after and explained the resolution so that the Council voted unanimously to adopt it. The resolution makes it possible for the city to collect certain back taxes this side of 1886, and it is desirable that it should adopt the same. Without its adoption it is barely possible that certain collections could be made. Mr. Marsh stated that there is no question regarding liens this side of 1886. He also stated that there is a perfect book of records of all taxes from 1886 on, but it was imperative the resolution should be adopted to cover certain cases. He said the adoption of the resolution was for the benefit of the city and also the Martin Act Commissioners to help them in their work. After this explanation the vote of the Council was unanimous in the affimative. The Council then adjourned to meet on the evening of December 29th at 8 o'clock.

IED FROM THE BURNS.

Little George Cassett Succumbed to the Injuries He Received.

George, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Johan Casset, of 524 West Third street, the child who was accidentally burned Saturday evening, and was taken to the Muhlenberg Hospital, died in that institution this morning.

The entire body of the child was a mass of burns, and his sufferings were very great. Dr. Simpson stated yesterday that there was but little hope of recovery, and the end, when it came, was not unexpected.

Mrs. Cassett, whose hands were burned almost to a crisp in her efforts to tear the burning clothing from the child, is in a slightly improved condition today.

Gave a Ficticious Address.

A women was arrested in Erich's drygoods store on Sixth avenue in New York charged with shoplifting. When arraigned before Justice Brann in Jefferson Market police court she gave her name as Mrs. Annie Johnston, of 24 Carlton avenue, Plainfield. Seth L. Milligan went her bail. There is no 24 Carlton avenue in this city and so far as can be learned no Mrs. Annie Johnston.

PARKS TUMBLED DOWN.

Bowling Team Journeyed to Bayonne and Was Defeated.

Alas for the poor Parks, they tumbled down in the Central Journal Bowling League last evening with a sickening thud. The team went to Bayonne and rolled three games with the team from the New Jersey Athletic Club and lost them all. They say their is a naughty hoodoo that haunts the N. J. A. C. alleys. Whatever it was, the Park Club bowlers felt its effects decidedly last night.

It would have been bad enough to lose three games if they had been close enough to be exciting. But they weren't. The Jerseys went off by themselves, rolled in championship form and left their poor Plainfield opponents struggling along in the rear.

The first game was a complete walk over for the home team. Captain F. O. Ball and "Doc" Thiers were the only ones of the visitors who did any thing. The wind-up showed the Jerseys 81 pins ahead.

"Let us brace up," said the Parks, but they didn't. The Jerseys did, however, and won by the remarkable majority of 180 pins.

P. B. Matthews was substituted for F N. Ball, who was out of form. Murphy, the legal light, suffered the worst in the second game.

With a faint remembrance of their wonderful rolling in the last game of other matches, the Parks did turn over a new leaf. The Jerseys, however, were soaring far above in heights unknown. The pins fell down at their command, and they rolled up the great score of 929, against which the Park's puny effort was 156 pins behind. In this game, Allen E Laing took Lawyer Murphy's place and rolled well, scoring 180.

The result of the three games places the Parks last in the chase for the Journal trophy.

The individual scores were as follows:

N. J. A. C.	1st game.	2d game.	3d game.
Southard	158	184	173
Pitcher	171	190	191

OLD WOMEN'S SAD END.

DRANK ENOUGH WOOD ALCOHOL TO CAUSE THEIR DEATH.

The Stuff Had Been Smuggled Into the Industrial Home—Ann Kelly and Catherine Baird Were the Victims.

A tragic end to two lives occurred yesterday at the City Industrial Home at the corner of West Front street and Rock avenue, when Mrs. Ann Kelly, aged 60 years, and Mrs. Catherine Baird, aged 65, died under peculiar circumstances. For a long time these two women had been the only inmates of the Home. Occasionally they were allowed to go out and enjoy a walk, but it was noticed that recently they desired to leave quite often. The object of this was not discovered until yesterday. It was then discovered that both of them had been purchasing wood alcohol for the purpose of drinking it.

Mrs. Kelly died yesterday morning, and at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. Baird passed away.

Overseer of the Poor Marx, when seen last evening by a Press reporter, stated that death was due to drinking wood alcohol, and that the poison had been smuggled into the Home without his knowledge. He knew that both women had been addicted to the use of intoxicants, but had no idea that they were using pure alcohol since they entered the Home. This fact became known when a few days ago Mrs. Kelley came back from the city slightly intoxicated.

Mrs. Kelley has no relatives living. Mrs. Baird's only relative is a grandson living in Brooklyn. His name is not known. Mr. Marx will make an effort to find the grandson and notify him of the death of his grandmother.

Every Sunday morning the women were allowed to go to church, and last Sunday after Mrs. Kelly returned from church it was noticed that she was intoxicated. She was reprimanded for it, but this had little effect. After the death of the women a bottle containing alcohol was found bearing a label to that effect. The name of the druggist furnishing the poison had been scratched from the bottle and the officials are unable to tell where it was purchased.

Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed.

There are at present two more inmates at the Home. At no time since the Home was opened has the number exceeded four city charges.

HORSES AND CAR COLLIDE

STEEDS BADLY INJURED AND FRONT OF CAR WRECKED.

The Team was Attached to One of D. C. Ivins and Co.'s Coal Wagons, and the Crash Came as They Turned Street Corner

A trolley car, a coal wagon, two spanking big horses and nearly a score of human beings were mixed up in an exciting and dangerous manner at the corner of Watchung avenue and East Fourth street at 6 o'clock last evening. It was all due to the collision of the team of horses and the street car.

It was just after the whistles had blown the workday away when one of D C. Ivins & Co 's big coal wagons, drawn by a ponderous pair of gray horses, driven by Benjamin Monroe, came down East Fourth street towards Watchung avenue at a fair rate of speed. At the same time street car No. 15 had left North avenue and was bowling along towards the intersection of the streets where the coal wagon would turn and intercept it.

As the car approached East Fourth street Monroe guided his horses into Watchung avenue. The driver of the horses and the motorman of the car realized that a collision was imminent. Both made desperate efforts to avoid the accident. But they were too near each other. The roadway was slippery and the horses could not be hauled up or reined to one side.

The car and the team came together with terrific force. There was a crashing of glass in the vestibule arrangement, a tearing of wood, the groans of the injured horses and the yells of the frightened motorman and driver. The car contained fifteen passengers and immediately after the shock there was a frantic scramble of the occupants to get out of the way of what, for the moment, suggested to their minds an awful calamity of some kind. A number of the passengers were women and they gave expression to their fears in frightened screeches in much the same tone as when a mouse invades the presence. It was but a moment, however, before the car was clear of its passengers. No one was hurt save to the nervous system.

Michael Welsh was motorman and when he saw that the collision was certain he made as quick a move as possible to get inside of the car. In doing this he probably saved himself serious injury. James McCormick was the conductor. When the crash came he rushed for the front platform but, as he neared it and saw the catastrophe, he turned and hurried to the rear end and applied the brake to the car.

The horses were thrown to the ground. Until some of the men held their heads they struggled to get their feet free from the fender in which they had become meshed. The harness was broken and twisted and it was several minutes before the animals could be gotten to their feet. The forehead, head and sides of the animals were badly cut and bruised. They were finally led away to the stable and Dr. Mattison, a veterinary surgeon, called. He found the injuries very serious. It is possible that the horses may be injured internally, and if so they will probably die.

Traffic on the railway was delayed for twelve minutes, and it was necessary to take the damaged car to the shops for repair. The vestibule was completely wrecked, the platform bent and several window glasses shattered.

The railway officials say that Monroe was driving faster than he should have been in turning the corner. Monroe says that he was not driving unduly fast, but that the motorman did not sound his bell.

STRUCK BY A WAGON TONGUE.

Dangerous Predicament that a Westfield Man Got Into.

The horses attached to the delivery wagon of Woodhull & Martin took fright and ran away on Elm street, in Westfield, Saturday morning. William Edgar, the janitor of the Lincoln High School, happened to be standing in the street and was struck by the pole of the wagon. Edgar was pinned between one of the horses and his own wagon, and in his efforts to release himself he was thrown to the ground. He was rescued without further injuries than a bruised leg and foot and several bad scratches. The horses were brought to a stop without doing further damage.

Prosecutor Winfield Very Sick.

Charles H. Winfield, prosecutor of pleas of Hudson County, was reported to be dangerously ill of nervous prostration at his home, in Jersey City, yesterday. It is thought that he cannot live. Mr. Winfield is a brother of Mrs. C. H. Schermerhorn, of this city.

WALKING WAS SLIPPERY

PLAINFIELD HAS A DISAGREEABLE TASTE OF HARSH WINTER.

A Snow Storm That Promised Well Turned into Hail and Rain and Froze as It Struck the Ground—Many Fell.

Plainfield has had another taste of winter and it found little in it to admire. A real cold wave came bringing with it the lowest temperature of the season and a snow storm that promised great things, but changed into a combination of rain and sleet that covered everything with a quarter of an inch of ice. The first touch of cold weather came Saturday and it promised skating and kindred other winter sports. The brisk, sharp weather was invigorating. Yesterday the sky was overcast and the air was cold and raw. A snow storm was predicted. During the morning the first flakes began to fall It came in fine flakes and seemed the beginning of a heavy fall of snow. During the afternoon the snow changed to hail and the hail to rain. Cold, chilling rain it was that froze the moment it reached the ground.

The walking fast became uncertain as night came on. Those who had to be out in the storm found themselves covered with an armor of ice. The sidewalks and roads became very slippery. Pedestrians struggled along on the sidewalks until several falls reminded them that the road was, after all, the best place. There were not many out during the evening, but the morning found the sidewalks as bad as ever.

The small boy had expected to go coasting today, but the change in the face of the elements gave him skating instead. At an early hour this morning the small boys were speeding up and down the icy sidewalks on their skates. They had it all their own way except in the business section, for the pedestrians preferred the rough surface of the roads to the ice on the sidewalks. The skating was really good, and the youngsters flew up and down until school time, when they regretfully departed thence.

The roads were somewhat rough where the ice had been cut up by the wheels, but the horses found it bad enough. Many fell and the drivers of the rest were on the alert every moment to help their charges on their feet. Down town, ashes and sand had been scattered on most of the driveways and on a portion of the main thoroughfares.

Many falls were reported all over the city. Pedestrians sat down with uncomfortable suddenness as they attempted to walk on the sidewalks The steps were the most dangerous places of all and many fell last night and this morning in trying to ascend or descend the stairs leading to their homes. Strains and bruises were numerous, but no very serious casualty has as yet been reported.

The steps to the entrance of the Y. M. C. A. building were the scene of numerous tumbles last evening. As men, young and old, departed from there many of them rolled or slid down the steps ere they realized that the pavements were icy.

The corner of Watchung and North avenues was the scene of frequent falls until it was sprinkled with sand, this morning.

The platforms at the North avenue station were like glass last evening, as were the steps and hand rails of the cars. No one was hurt, however. This morning sand had been plentifully distributed, but the commuters who usually run for the trains preferred to wait rather than try experiments on the ice.

A horse owned by Schleif, the Park avenue baker, had a serious time of it early this morning on North avenue. The animal slipped on the icy street and down he went. After much trouble he was placed on his feet again, but it was only a few minutes when he fell again. Once more the animal regained his feet and he was then taken to the blacksmith shop where sharp shoes were put on his feet.

During the early part of the evening Garret Eick, of East Third street, fell on the slippery pavements at the corner of Front street and Park avenue and was severely shaken up. Mr. Eick struck his head on the sidewalk.

A Band Concert.

Next Monday night will be a gala one among the Odd Fellows in Plainfield when Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., will have for an entertainment the Hungarian Band. The band will give a grand concert. Westfield Lodge has been invited and the home lodge will confer the third degree on several candidates. A banquet will follow. All Odd Fellows are invited.

The Misses Nettie and Susan Goff spent yesterday with friends in New York city.

"UNCLE DAN" RODE THE GOAT.

He is the Oldest Man in New Jersey to Join the Knights Templar.

After a long and eventful life, "Uncle" Dan Roberts capped the climax last evening by becoming a full-fledged Knights Templar, a member of Trinity Commandery. Although nearing four score years, "Uncle Dan" is as hale and hearty as ever, and just as popular with the good people of Plainfield as he was forty years ago. He now holds the record of being the oldest man in New Jersey to join the Knights Templar.

All this happened at the regular meeting of Trinity Commandery last evening. The Templar degree was conferred on Mr. Roberts, which his son, A. K. Roberts, of Clinton Commandery, New York, came out to witness the initiation of his father in that old Masonic organization. There was also an unusually large attendance of members of the Commandery. After the usual business of the meeting was transacted, the Knights adjourned to the dining room of the City Hotel, where John E. Beerbower had an elaborate banquet prepared for their benefit. The collation was an excellent one, and was much enjoyed by the diners. After the dinner was over and the cigars were lighted, speeches were made. "Uncle Dan" was called on for a few remarks and other well-known citizens made short speeches in which the order and the local commandery came in for their share of commendation.

Locked in Their Rooms.

The famous Asbestos Club of this city met with an unusual experience last evening. The members held an extra session to arrange for the Christmas celebration, and after the business of the evening was transacted they started to go home. They got as far as the door and there they were stopped, for G. Thorn who carries the key had locked the door unintentionally and had gone home. The members were obliged to call a boy and send him after Mr. Thorn. The latter appeared in a little while and released the prisoners.

Recovered From the Assault.

Albert Lee, of Bound Brook, who received severe injuries recently at the American Engine Company works was discharged from the hospital yesterday where he has been confined since the accident.

FATAL FALL FROM A ROOF

A WESTFIELD TINSMITH SLIPPED AND RECEIVED FATAL INJURIES.

Cornelius Wyckoff the Unfortunate Victim of the Accident—Broke Collar Bone and Shoulder and Cracked His Skull

Cornelius Wyckoff, a tinsmith in the employ of Harry N. Taylor, fell from the roof of a house on Charles street, Westfield, yesterday, and received injuries from which he died a few hours later.

Wyckoff was a man twenty-seven years of age. He was at work on the house of James O. Clark when the accident occurred. The air was misty at the time and it is supposed that the wooden work of the roof became slippery and that Wyckoff lost his footing when standing near the edge of the roof. His fellow workmen knew nothing of the accident until they heard the groans of the unfortunate man and found him lying on the ground. Dr. R. R. Sinclair was summoned and the examination made by him showed that the man's collar bone was broken, his right shoulder dislocated and the skull fractured. The indications were that he had struck upon his head in the fall.

The injured man was removed to his home on North Broad street and given all possible care, but the concussion of the brain resulting from the injuries was of such severity that it proved fatal within a few hours.

Mrs. Wyckoff was away from home at the time the accident occurred, attending the funeral of her father.

Wyckoff's father was also working on the building as a carpenter when the accident happened, and was one of the first to rush to his son's assistance.

Wyckoff formerly lived in this city, where he was known by many people. He learned his trade of plumber and tinsmith in the shop of Carney Bros.

A Compound Fracture.

William Conway, a six-year-old lad living at 811 North avenue, Netherwood, was seriously injured while attempting to steal a ride upon a milkman's delivery wagon which passed in front of his house. The lad's right leg was caught in the wheel and received a compound fracture, which may render it necessary to have the foot amputated. Dr. Zeglio, of this city, was summoned and gave the injury proper medical attention.

TAXES DELINQUENT NOW

A BIG RUSH TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF LAST DAY OF GRACE.

City Collector Bird Received Over $28,000 Yesterday, the Largest Day's Business Ever Recorded in Office—Borough's Share

Yesterday was an unusually busy day in the office of the City Tax Collector. Yesterday was the last day for the paying of the city taxes for the year of 1897, after which they became delinquent. The taxes were due last January and the tax bills were sent out during the year. Many of the good people of Plainfield have been putting off the important day when they must settle with the city for their share of its financial support until the time is almost up, and hence the busy day for Collector Bird.

Every year there is a large number of taxpayers who wait until the last moment to settle, and so the rush was expected. The hard times made the number unusually large this year. Collector Bird was on the lookout, however, and had reinforced his usual corps of assistants. The extra number on duty in the office had their hands full to take the money from the anxious taxpayers who wanted to settle up their accounts with the city in short order.

From early morning until the hour of closing in the evening there was a stream of men and women going to and from the office.

The amount of money received during the day was the largest ever taken in by the Plainfield tax collector in the history of the city. Over $28.000 in checks and cash was received, not including several hundred dollars of sewer taxes overdue that was paid during the day.

This morning's mail for the Collector was unusually large, and, when opened was found to contain checks to the amount of over $4,000, which was not mailed in time to arrive yesterday. A number of taxpayers, who failed to pay yesterday, dropped in this morning.

Now that the time for paying taxes is up, the delinquent tax list will be made up and interest charged.

Yesterday was a busy one for Borough Tax Collector Spencer. From early morning until late at night he was at his post of duty receiving taxes for the year. It being the last day upon which taxes could be paid without adding the extra fee for collection, the office was thronged all day. Mr. Spencer received about $6,500, which amount he deposited in the bank. This morning there was about $1,100 paid over to the Collector. This is a most excellent showing and gives evidence that good work has been accomplished by Mr. Spencer.

PRIZES FOR MATHEMATICS.

Former Councilman John Valiant to Encourage Harder Study.

An important meeting of the borough Board of Education was held last evening in the schoolhouse on Somerset street. Superintendent Whitman reported the net proceeds of the recent entertainment to be $49. The Board directed that the sum be used to purchase books for the library and to decorate the rooms in the building appropriately. This work will be done under the direction of the superintendent and teachers. Miss Mary Eby, a teacher in the High School, who was hired for one month, was secured to teach for the balance of the school year.

The members were agreeably surprised to receive from former Councilman John Valiant an offer of two mathematical prizes of $15 and $10, to be contested for by the members of the graduating class. This rule has never been introduced into the school before, and it is quite likely others will follow the example of Mr. Valiant.

Superintendent Whitman submitted to the Board a revised course for the High School with various alterations, and it was adopted unanimously. The new course will go into effect next term after January 1st. The other business transacted was of a routine nature.

Mr. Dawson Resigns.

R M. Dawson, who has been superintendent of this district for the Prudential Life Insurance Company for several years, has resigned and will take up a position of responsibility in New York. Mr. Dawson has built up a large business for the Prudential in this district, and his many friends will regret to learn that he has severed the connections that will take him away from Plainfield.

—Wm. Debele, the Somerset street milkman, experienced a little difficulty with his horse this morning. The animal fell prostrate as a result of the slippery condition of the street. A few neighbors gathered at the scene of the trouble and succeeded in getting the horse on his feet.

RELIEF BY REINDEER

Secretary Alger Cables to Norway for Animals.

THE KLONDIKE EXPEDITION

Condensed Food in All Shapes to Be Chiefly Used—Canada Asked to Suspend Duties and Allow Troops to Pass.

Washington, Dec. 21.—Secretary Alger has cabled to William A. Kjellman, the chief Government reindeer herdsman, now in Alton, Norway, to inform the War Department immediately how soon 600 reindeer can be shipped to this country. These are wanted for use as draft animals, in getting supplies to the miners in the Klondike region. It is expected that they must be transferred at New York to the railroads, and in that manner carried across the continent, and again by sea from the Pacific coast up to Dyea, or such other point as may be selected as the base of operations by the relief expeditions.

Secretary Alger has determined, after advising with the medical officers of the War Department and persons who have had much experience in Arctic regions, to make large use of condensed food preparations. Not only will the meats taken be in the most concentrated form, but particular efforts are making to secure condensed preparations of vegetables, such as potatoes and onions.

Canadian Courtesies.

Secretary Alger has begun an inquiry to ascertain the amount of such stores available for purchase by the Government and the prices demanded for them.

The State Department has already asked the British Government to request of the Canadian Government permission to pass these stores through Canadian territory free of duty. It is not anticipated that any objection will be made to the request, nor to the accompanying request that will be made for permission for our soldiers to pass over Canadian territory as guards for the expedition, although an order of the Privy Council will be required for the suspension of duties.

CANADA'S CUSTOM DUTIES.

Her Commissioner Recites Regulations for Yukon Goods.

Washington, Dec. 21.—A response has been received to a recent letter from Secretary Gage to the Canadian Commissioner of Customs, requesting information as to the bonding of miners' outfits through Canadian territory, en route from Juneau, Alaska, by way of the Chilkoot Pass and the Yukon River to Circle City, Alaska. The Commissioner says that the following regulations have been prepared to meet the case:

"Imported goods, as above described, shall be reported to the Canadian Custom House, Lake Tagis, and may be entered for exportation there, on the usual form 'in transit' in duplicate. The goods may then be delivered without payment of duty, to be carried to their destination out of Canada by any transportation company which has duly executed a bond in the form prescribed by the Minister of Customs, for the due and faithful delivery of all packages carried by such company, and for the general compliance with the customs laws and regulations governing such traffic.

"A duplicate of the entry in-transitu, duly signed and marked with the proper customs stamp, shall accompany each shipment of goods conveyed by a bonded carrier, so that the same may be returned to the Customs House at Fort Cudahy, with a certificate thereon, as to the lading of the goods in the United States, or of their having passed outwards from Canada within six months from date of entry.

"If the goods, when entered in-transitu for exportation, are not delivered to be forwarded by a bonded carrier, as provided in the last preceding section, the duty thereon is to be deposited with the customs officer at Lake Tagish, subject to a refund of the same at the port of Fort Cudahy, when the goods pass outward thereat, or upon the certificate of an officer of the United States, or of the Canadian customs, that the said goods have been landed in the United States within six months from the date of the in-transitu entry.

"The duty deposited in such case is to be indorsed on the entry and certified to by the customs officer in charge, and the duplicate of the entry duly certified and marked with the customs stamp, is to be delivered to the person making the deposit of duty.

"A report of each entry in-transitu shall be forwarded by mail without delay, by the customs officer at Fort Cudahy, for the collection of duties on the goods entered in-transitu and not duly exported. The articles usually classed as travelers' baggage are to be passed free, without entry."

Commissioner McDougall, in a letter accompanying these regulations, says that they are framed with the desire to afford the utmost facilities for the traffic in question compatible with security to the revenue. He further says:

"Responsible transportation companies will doubtless be soon in operation for the conveyance of goods over the Chilkoot and other passes down the Yukon River and its tributaries, in which case United States goods may go forward in bond to Alaska without payment of duty."

Buying Wheat for Armour.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 21.—Fifty agents in different sections of Nebraska continue to purchase wheat to supply Armour's demands in Chicago. One hundred thousand bushels of wheat will be shipped from the State on his orders this week. His numerous agents in this State, South Dakota and Kansas are buying all the wheat in sight for immediate delivery.

Doubt About Minister's Death.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 21.—The dragging of the river for the body of the Rev. Samuel Spurrier, the missing preacher, goes on under the direction of the Police Department, but the body has not yet been recovered. The police are beginning to believe that perhaps the old man is not dead, but has wandered away and will yet turn up all right.

MILLION DOLLARS TO PAY.

Damages Due to Britain in Behring Sea Award.

Boston, Dec. 21.—Justices Putnam and King, the commissioners for the United States and Canada, respectively, in the arbitration of the Behring Sea claims, have completed their work, and, it is understood, will soon begin the preparation of their reports to their respective governments. Instead of the $425,000 recommended by Mr. Cleveland when President, but rejected by the Senate at the instance mainly of Senator Morgan, the United States will have to pay Great Britain about $1,000,000 as indemnity for seizing British ships while sealing in Behring Sea.

The commissioners have been holding daily sessions here, during which they have gone over the disputed claims step by step, reviewing the evidence as in the case of a law court. It is understood that an agreement as to the amount of the indemnity claimed has been reached in all except a few cases, and these are likely to be settled without the appointment of an umpire, which is provided for in the convention authorizing the commission.

The amount awarded to Great Britain will be paid within six months of the time when the final decision is reached, whether it is made by the two commissioners or by an umpire. It is not known exactly what claims have been ruled out, but it is understood that the total approved claims will amount to perhaps more than $1,000,000. This sum will include interest for ten years.

FITZ WILL FIGHT NO MORE.

Says That He Has Retired from the Prize Ring.

New York, Dec. 21.—The story published yesterday that Martin Julian had announced that Fitzsimmons would give Corbett another chance caused a good deal of talk in sporting circles, but once more the prospects of another meeting have gone glimmering. The following dispatch explains itself:

"Chicago, Ill., Dec. 20.

"I have permanently left the ring, and would not cross the street to see a fight. I will hold title of champion until a regular battle for championship is fought. Then I'll give the title to the winner. BOB FITZSIMMONS."

A similar statement comes from Martin Julian, Fitzsimmons' manager and brother-in-law. So it again looks as if Corbett is the only man entitled to receive challenges for the honor. He may refuse to accept the belt for a while, hoping to get on a fight with the Australian after a long wait, but he will have to claim it eventually or retire with his rival.

GIRLS WHIP A PARSON.

Lashed Him on the Street for Scoring a Dance.

Webester City, Iowa, Dec. 21.—A dance late Saturday night in Wright County brought down the censure of Rev. N. A. Forrest in his sermon at Walnut Grove Presbyterian Church on Sunday. In his remarks he was very severe on the young women present. The dance had wound up in a row.

In the congregation were Misses Lillie Barstow and Mary Cunningham. Both were present at the dance. They left the church, and going to their homes each secured a whip and, returning, met the minister on the street as he was leaving the church and gave him a severe whipping. He attempted to explain to them, and they would not listen to him.

The pastor was prostrated Sunday evening and unable to hold services. The young ladies are daughters of prominent farmers and well thought of in the community.

Boy Parricide Gets Life.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 21.—At Barbourville Isom Lawson was convicted of the murder of his father, the Rev. Irion Lawson, a popular Baptist preacher, and sentenced to the penitentiary for life. The lad is only 14, and killed his father because the latter saw fit to correct the youth for some misdeed.

Dauntless Off to Sea.

Washington, Dec. 21.—The Treasury Department has notified the Collector of Customs at Key West to look out for the tug Dauntless, which left Jacksonville recently, and which the Treasury Department is informed intends to take on a filibustering expedition at or near Key West.

The People Believe

What They Read About Hood's Sarsaparilla

Their Faith in This Medicine is Grounded on Merit

They Know It Absolutely Cures When Other Medicines Fail

Hood's Sarsaparilla is not merely a simple preparation of Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and a little Iodide of Potassium.

Besides these excellent alteratives, it also contains those great anti-bilious and liver remedies, Mandrake and Dandelion. It also contains those great kidney remedies, Uva Ursi, Juniper Berries, and Pipsissewa.

Nor are these all. Other very valuable curative agents are harmoniously combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it is carefully prepared under the personal supervision of a regularly educated pharmacist.

Knowing these facts, is the abiding faith the people have in Hood's Sarsaparilla a matter of surprise? You can see why Hood's Sarsaparilla cures, when other medicines totally, absolutely fail.

"My little girl was afflicted with eczema and suffered for seven years. She was attended by physicians and tried many different kinds of medicine without relief. After taking a few bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla she was cured." MRS. EMMA FRANKLIN, Honeoye, New York.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagah, Ind. Ter. Chief. This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and la grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Miss Pansy Jean Herring, of East Second street, has returned from a visit with Philadelphia friends.

Don't be persuaded into buying liniments without reputation or merit—Chamberlain's Pain Balm costs no no more, and its merits have been proven by a test of many years. Such letters as the following, from L. G. Bagley, Hueneme, Cal., are constantly being received: "The best remedy for pain I have ever used is Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and I say so after having used it in my family for several years." It cures rheumatism, lame back, sprains and swellings. For sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—The borough public school will close next Friday and remain so until after the holidays.

The Coming Woman

Who goes to the club while her husband tends the baby as well as the good old-fashioned woman who looks after her home, will both at times get run down in health. They will be troubled with loss of appetite, headaches, sleeplessness, fainting or dizzy spells. The most wonderful remedy for these woman is Electric Bitters. Thousands of sufferers from lame back and weak kidneys rise up and call it blessed. It is the medicine for women. Female complaints and nervous troubles of all kinds are soon relieved by the use of Electric Bitters. Delicate women should keep this remedy on hand to build up the system. Only 50c per bottle. For sale by L. W. Randolph.

—Next Thursday evening the members of Grace M. E. church and Sunday school will celebrate Christmastide.

After hearing some friends continually praising Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Curtis Fleck, of Anaheim, California, purchased a bottle of it for his own use and is now as enthusiastic over its wonderful work as anyone can be. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—Vincent chapel was open yesterday and today to receive donations of toys and magazines for the Epworth League Christmas box that is to be sent to the Flower and Fruit mission in New York.

Mr. C. M. Dixon, a well known merchant, of Pleasant Ridge, Fulton Co., Pa., has a little girl who is frequently threatened with croup, but when the first symptoms appear, his wife gives her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which always affords prompt relief. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—A Christian Endeavor meeting of interest will be held at Warren chapel this evening. All are invited.

GEORGIANS WADING IN BLOOD.

Challenge Follows a Poker Scandal. Prominent Men in It.

Atlanta, Dec. 21.—A challenge to a duel was given and accepted in open court yesterday and would have been fought last night had not both parties been watched by the police. If the principals stay angry they may meet today. The challenge was given by Col Orth H. Stein, the editor whose paper a few days ago attacked the local judiciary. It was accepted by Maj. Harvey Johnson, who has just returned after eight years' service as Consul-General of the United States to Belgium.

Maj. Johnson represented Solicitor-General James F. O'Neil in the proceedings growing out of O'Neil's assault upon Stein in a hotel lobby last Saturday.

It was said that six well-known State officials had been raided in a poker game and that Stein's article was a severe criticism of the action of the local court in dealing with the prisoners. O'Neil had met Stein and slapped his face in public.

Stein said that he was prepared to prove every word of his newspaper statement, and then Johnson, speaking as attorney in behalf of his client, made the declaration that Stein was a murderer and that his photograph appeared in the "Rogues' Gallery." He accused him of having a price upon his head, and was about to continue, when Stein, pale with anger, ordered him to halt. There was tremendous confusion, but Johnson raised his voice and made a most dramatic denouncement of his journalistic opponent.

Stein took the situation calmly and said: "Name your time and place."

Johnson replied that the present time and that the street in front of the Courthouse would do. The two men pushed their way through the crowd, Stein, with a revolver in his hand, but Johnson turned abruptly and announced that he was unarmed. Stein aimed at him and then lowered his pistol, by which time the court officers had grasped them both. Stein turned to Johnson and called him a coward and a liar.

Judge Calhoun imposed a heavy fine upon Solicitor-General O'Neil and discharged Stein. Representatives of all three men were in session last night, and there is no doubt that they will meet as soon as preliminaries are arranged.

The murder charged against Stein grows out of his having killed a man in Kansas City some years ago for criticising his newspaper articles.

CHARLES DANIE DEAD.

Twenty-eight Years a Judge and Twice Elected to Congress.

Buffalo, Dec. 21.—Ex-Congressman Charles Daniels, who was stricken with paralysis in his office in this city yesterday afternoon, did shortly after 6 o'clock last evening.

Charles Daniels came of a Welsh family. He was born in New York city in 1826, and was apprenticed to a shoemaker at any early age. While working at his shoemaker's bench he studied law, and was admitted to the Bar in Buffalo. His legal career was brilliant. He was first a County Judge, and was elected to the Supreme Court in 1863. He was appointed by Gov. Seymour to hold the office of Justice of that court until Jan. 1, 1864. He was twice re-elected and held office until December, 1891.

After his retirement from the Bench on account of age limit Judge Daniels was twice elected member of Congress from the Thirty-third District, serving with distinction in both the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses. Since the close of his career in Congress the Judge had practiced law in Buffalo.

WRECKED BY RUNAWAY TRAIN.

Fifty Cars Demolished After a Wild Run Down a Mountain.

Altoona, Pa., Dec. 21.—A freight train of thirty-one loaded cars, traveling down the mountain to this city last night, became unmanageable in consequence of the slippery condition of the tracks, made the twelve miles from Gallitzin to Altoona in as many minutes, and crashed into a freight train in the yard here, directly in front of the passenger station.

About fifty cars were demolished, and the Hollidaysburg passenger train, which was standing on the tracks outside the passenger shed, was thrown over on its side. The engineer and fireman of the runaway train were helped from the cab of the wrecked locomotive and both were able to walk away. Their escape was almost miraculous.

Three other trainmen were taken to the hospital. S. Kuster of Hagerstown, Md., who was in charge of a car of poultry; two brakemen, named Corbin and Vurner, are reported missing.

The Pope in Good Health.

New York, Dec. 21.—Bishop Emard, of Valley-Field, Province of Quebec, was a passenger on the French liner, La Normandie, which arrived yesterday. The bishop spoke enthusiastically of his visit to the Pope. "The Pope is enjoying wonderful health," he said. "He shows the vitality of a young man, and think, he is 87 years old! I had an audience of an hour and ten minutes with the Pope, and his vivacity was as great as it ever was."

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Five people were burned to death and many injured in a factory fire in Spain.

The three window glass factories at Alexandria, Ind., will resume operations Jan. 8, giving employment to 1,200 men.

Wages of the employes of the China, Pembroke & Webster Cotton Mills, at Suncook, N. H., will be cut 10 per cent. Jan. 1.

SITUATION IN CHINA

British War Ships Entered Port Arthur Last Week.

BRITAIN MAY AID JAPAN.

Russian Occupation of Port Arthur Said to Be Based on the Visit of the British War Ship Daphne—Denial from St. Petersburg.

Berlin, Germany, Dec. 21.—The Paris correspondent of the Cologne Gazette, says that it is stated on reliable authority that the Russian occupation of Port Arthur was connected with the visit there of the British war ship Daphne a week ago, when, in spite of the protests of the Chinese, the Daphne entered the inner harbor to ascertain, as alleged, whether there were Russian ships there.

China complained of the incident to the representatives of the powers at Pekin.

The British Far Eastern squadron is said to be at Talicmoan and is shortly expected at Port Arthur.

The Cologne Gazette regards the occupation as merely a continuance of the co-operation of Germany with Russia in Eastern Asia.

A Russian Statement.

St. Petersburg, Russia, Dec. 21.—The Novosti declares the occupation of Port Arthur has nothing political behind it, adding:

"It must be a matter of indifference to the powers who are not planning seizures of Chinese territory as to which point the Russian squadron chooses for its Winter station."

ENGLAND'S PROBABLE ATTITUDE.

Said that the British Squadron Will Be Stationed at Wei-Hai-Wei.

London, Dec. 21.—An unconfirmed report is current here that part of the British Far Eastern squadron will be stationed at Wei-Hai-Wei this Winter. If true, this indicates that Great Britain is working with Japan. The latter still occupies Wei-Hai-Wei, pending payment of the Chinese war indemnity.

The evening newspapers are much disturbed over the situation. "What do we get?" is the burden of their complaint. They all insist upon the necessity for immediate action.

The Globe says: "Russia and Germany now have the two most important strategetical positions in northern China, and Great Britain, whose commercial interests there are ten times greater, must be content with the crumbs from the St. Petersburg and Berlin tables."

The Pall Mall Gazette echoes the Standard's inquiry as to America's attitude, and remarks: "Of course, the partition of the coast, which is bound to come, will not be confined to Russia and Germany. Every naval State in the world is actively concerned in the disturbance of the equilibrium in the Far East, Great Britain, France and Japan especially. But the United States cannot be treated as a quantity to be ignored. Tame acquiescence with these seizures is not worthy of our past, and is fatal to our future. We may remark that we shall not be without sympathizers, as the Japanese will most joyfully back any scheme to redress the bitter humiliation they have suffered at the hands of Russia."

Advices from Paris show France is awaiting Great Britain's action. If Great Britain follows the lead of Russia and Germany and occupies a seaport, France will forthwith follow suit.

GERMAN SHIPS NOT FOR SAMOA.

A Report Concerning a Menace to the United States Ridiculed.

Washington, Dec. 21.—The assertion that the German fleet under Prince Henry will go to Samoa and Hawaii, thus creating a menacing situation for the United States is ridiculed in all official quarters here. When the reports were called to the attention of the German representatives they laughed heartily at the idea of a German diversion against Samoa or Hawaii. Nothing of this kind has ever been considered.

The German fleet will go to China via the Suez Canal, and its destination is Kiao Chou Bay. Germany, the United States and Great Britain are parties to a tripartite arrangement for the government of Samoa, and although the plan has not proved satisfactory, there has been no recent friction, and at no time a condition which would call for a naval demonstration. Germany has taken no interest in the annexation of Hawaii to the United States, and her only interests there are those of the 1,400 German citizens there who form a considerable part of the wealthy sugar planting colony.

No Doubt of McKenna's Confirmation

Washington, Dec. 21.—There does not seem to be any doubt of the confirmation of Attorney-General McKenna as Supreme Court Justice. The case will be taken up by the committee shortly after the holidays, and will be reported to the Senate. There are nine members on the Judiciary Committee of the Senate, and it does not appear probable that more than one or two of the members will vote against confirmation. Senator Teller, of Colorado, and Senator Clark, of Wyoming, bolting Republicans, are on the committee. It is not believed that the silver question will enter into the question of confirmation to any great extent, but the question of the Attorney General's connection with the sale of the Pacific Railroad may influence two or three of the members of the committee to vote unfavorably on the nomination.

COMPLIMENTS THE JUDGE.

The Newark Advertiser editorially comments on the remarks recently made by Judge Magie on the Princeton Inn license, at the Princeton club dinner in this city, as follows:

Chief Justice Magie, of the Supreme Court of the State, is a member of the board of trustees of Princeton College, is an exemplary member of the Presbyterian church, and is also a broad-minded man, in touch with the activities and sympathies of the great world. Chief Justice Magie is outspoken and hearty in his defence of the Princeton professors, who, as citizens of New Jersey, signed the application for the Princeton Inn license. This was something, he declares, that they had a perfect right to do as citizens. There is a generous word of defence by the Justice, also, for the undergraduates at Princeton, who have been held up as morally weak and likely to go to the "demnition bow-wows" if a family hotel should receive an ordinary hotel license at Princeton. Chief Justice Magie's experience with the undergraduates, he avers, has been one of commendation rather than condemnation. It is a pleasure to know that there is a generous-spirited, broad-minded and up-to-date scholar presiding over the Supreme Court of New Jersey.

"Why don't you run a newspaper like that?" a merchant said to a reporter the other day, throwing out a Chicago daily. "For the same reason you don't run a store like that," the reporter replied, turning to a full page advertisement of a Chicago house showing a twelve-story building. The merchant looked attentively at the picture a moment and said: "I never looked at it in that way before."—Paterson Press.

—All bills against the city poor fund must be in the hands of Overseer Marx by Friday night to secure attention.

—Antique furniture at your own price. Attend the auction sale at Musgrave's Thursday morning, Dec. 23d, at 315 West Front street.

—A routine business meeting of the North Plainfield Borough Board of Education was held last evening. No business of importance was transacted.

—S. Scheuer & Co., the biggest grocery firm in the State, do not sell goods cheap by spells. It is all-the-year-around practice with them. Their big advertisement, now running in The Press, tells of some of their holiday offerings. Read it over.

—Last evening passersby noticed that the large swinging doors leading into the lecture room of Trinity Reformed church were not fastened and children of the neighborhood were running in and out of the building. George Saums, a member of the church, noticed the fact as he was passing, and immediately notified the contractor, C. M. Wilson, who securely locked the building up for the night.

JUST HIS "NEXT FRIEND"

Lawyer Angleman Explains His Position in the Thatcher-Debele Case.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—My attention has been called to an article in your issue of Monday in regard to the case of Thatcher against Debele, in Justice Thomas' court. You take especial pains to say: "Mr. Angleman is put down in the papers in the case as 'his next best friend,'" and to call attention to "his next best friend" in the head-line. Please do not make me murder the English language in this manner. If you had examined the papers, you would have seen that the phrase used is "his next friend" and not "his next best friend." Permit me also to say that the case is an ordinary one brought by an infant, and that it is necessary in bringing such suits to follow a certain procedure, well known to lawyers. As to the merits of the case, which Mr. Debele seems so anxious to try in the newspapers and not in the court, it would appear to many persons that one who had been working for three years and had received nothing for it is worthy of a better fate than to be turned adrift in the middle of winter without a cent in his pocket.

W. S. Angleman.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

Mrs. Winfield Hetfield spent yesterday with Plainfield friends.

Mrs. George Day has returned from a visit with Plainfield friends.

John Herbert and wife have returned from a visit with friends in New York.

Lawyer Irving L. Brady, of Plainfield, was in town yesterday on business.

Jesse Dalrymple, of Jersey City, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. A. N. Randolph.

Isaac Stites has been detained from business for a few days on account of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Fredericks spent Sunday in Somerville with relatives.

Helen Batchelor, of Elizabeth, will spend the holidays with her mother, Mrs. A. L. Egbert.

George VanNest, who has been confined to his home with a severe illness, is much improved,

Miss Amy Sampson, of New Market, is visiting her aunt, Miss Louise Megg, of Plainfield.

Rev. L. E. Livermore and wife, of Plainfield, spent yesterday with relatives in New Market.

Walter Apgar and several friends, of North Plainfield, spent Sunday in town with Mrs. Frank Bowlsby.

Evangelist E. B. Saunders preached a powerful sermon at the Baptist church, New Market, last Sunday.

Rev. Frank Fletcher, of New Market, attended the regular meeting of the Ministers' Association held at Raritan yesterday.

The case of Isaac Stites against the Dunellen Brick Works was tried yesterday before Recorder Thomas, and judgment was given the plaintiff.

This evening the Council will meet and again consider the question of the trolley, and it is to be hoped that something definite will be accomplished.

A regular meeting of the Building and Loan Association was held last evening for the collection of dues. Next Thursday evening a business meeting will be held.

Tomorrow evening union services will be held in the Presbyterian church, and Friday evening in the Baptist church at New Market. These meetings are very well attended and the interest shows no signs of abatement.

Next Saturday night Rev. Frank Fletcher, of New Market, will go to Bound Brook and make an address at the Christmas entertainment to be held at the Presbyterian church. This is the third time Mr. Fletcher has made addresses at the same place, and his welcome and popularity is assured.

The contract case of D. W. Sofield against George Huff was tried yesterday before Justice Storms at New Market, and judgment was given for the plaintiff. Justice Storms has issued summons in the cases of S. B. Merrill against John Zabriskie and Charlotta Bowyer, which are returnable December 27th at 9 and 10 o'clock.

The death of Matthias A. Apgar, of High Bridge, occurred last Sunday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walters, of Church street, after a short illness with pneumonia. Mr. Apgar had been living with his daughter for several months, and when he was taken ill it was feared that he would not recover owing to his advanced age, 74 years. The funeral will be under the direction of Undertaker Walter G. Runyon, who will send the body to High Bridge tomorrow for interment. A short service will be held at the home of Mrs. Walters, and the regular funeral service will be held at High Bridge.

No Cure—No Pay.

That is the way all druggists sell Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic for Malaria, Chills and Fever. It is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter, nauseating Tonics. Price, 50c. For sale by R. J. Shaw. 11 30 eod 1y

Then and Now.

In Biblical days twenty-three and one-fifth miles was estimated to be a day's journey; this is about the distance from Plainfield to New York, which cannot be made in much less than an hour, but it costs you quite a little to get there; this outlay you can save by going to Collier's for your Christmas presents, where the same goods, the same variety and the same prices are offered you.

Words of Affection for Christmas.

Mrs. Edward Mosher, of Brooklyn, a sister-in-law of Justice Joseph E. Mosher, of this city, is spending the winter in Los Angeles for her health. The relatives of Mrs. Mosher, a number of whom reside in Plainfield, decided to give her some assurance that although in a distant State she was not unremembered as Christmas drew near, and so each one has written her a Christmas letter. There will be thirty five of the letters in all, and they will all reach Mrs. Mosher at the same time,

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manuufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

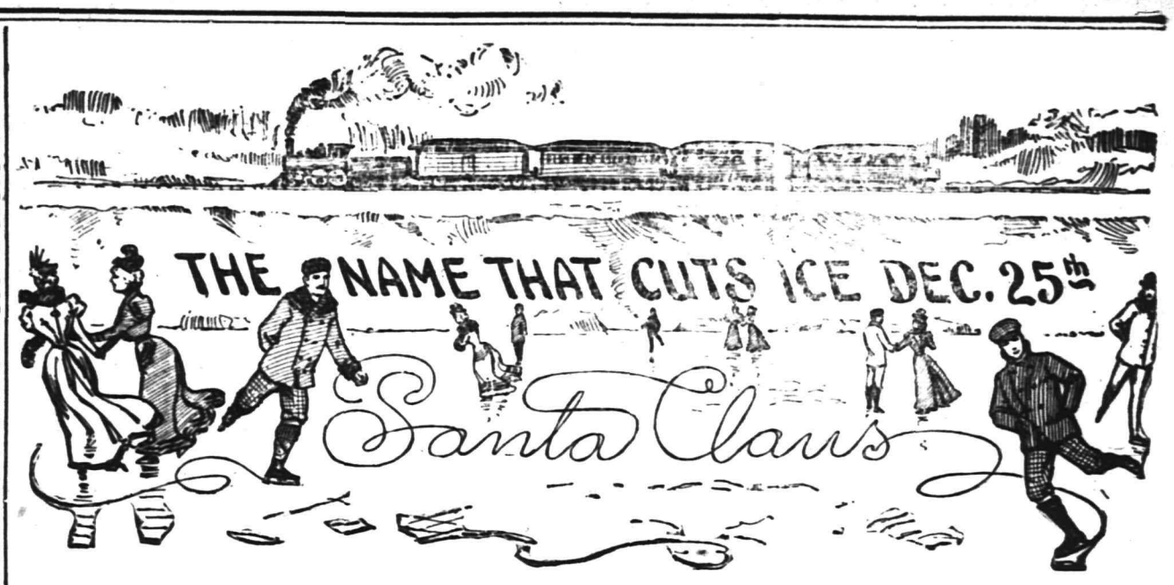
Union Christmas Meeting.

The union Christmas meeting of the Christian Endeavor Union, of the city, will be held Saturday morning from 10 o'clock to 11, in the Park Avenue Baptist church.



Soon to be Fulfilled.

This store has proved its advantages as a shopping place for Holiday Gifts. Christmas buying has begun in earnest, as every stock is now at its best and the most perplexing question, "What shall I give?" is easily answered here. We invite you to come, make this store your headquarters, go where you please, the store is yours.

Store Notes.

Shirts are a useful present for the men, we are selling an extra good white shirt for $2.29 the half dozen.

Another good bargain for the men is a box of fine half hose, 6 pairs in a box, 98c.

Umbrellas always come in good, that lot of fine gloria silk, steel frame umbrellas for $1 is a great one, large sizes for men $1.25.

We are doing a great business in Sterling Silver novelties. They say we have the best assortment in town.

Nearly 500 Men's silk initial handkerchiefs sold Saturday, and 500 more to sell, worth 75c, our price 37c.

In the rug department there are some very handsome imported axminster rugs and art squares.

Probably the largest assortment of handkerchiefs ever displayed in Plainfield are to be found here. Prices start at 5c up to $1.

A good dress goods bargain is that lot of fine imported dress goods that have been reduced to $2 49 for a pattern of 7 yards.

We are doing the kid glove business of this town. The reason is the kid glove we sell for $1 is equal to any $1.50 kid in the market.

Special.

100 dozen of 22 in silk initial Handkerchiefs for men, made to sell for 75c—our price 37c. All initials and all you want, quantity unlimited.

Umbrellas.

JACK TAR'S HARD LOT

CASES OF CRUELTY IN THE FORECASTLE LIKE THE DARK AGES.

Redress Often Tardy—Instances Brought to Light by the Work of the Seamen's Union—The Sailor on the High Seas at the Mercy of the Ship's Master.

That the sailor who ships for a cruise on any vessel places himself in absolute bondage and in the most complete of servitude until the time for which he has signed has expired is a broad statement to make in these days of advanced reform, but it is one that is very generally conceded. It is in the power of the "king" of the ship to put him in irons, place him on short rations, fell him to the deck with brass knuckles, strike him with belaying pins, capstan bars and marlin-spikes, and hammer and pound him at will, and his chances of redress are very slight. It is only when absolute murder has been done that the culprits are brought to justice. When a vessel is at sea the officers always go heavily armed, but nowadays a sailor may not carry even a pocket knife with a point to it, much less the old time sheath knife.

Probably one of the most brutal murders on the high seas occurred some years ago, when the old ship St. Paul sailed from this port to round Cape Horn to San Francisco. The ship, which was known as a "hard case," had a crew of as fine, able bodied men as ever left port. When down in the "rolling forties" one day, off the River Platte, the vessel got into a kind of cyclone called by sailors a "pump hell." In a moment the ship was upon her beam ends and all hands were quickly aloft shortening sail. There were twenty-four men on the main yard taking in the mainsail. On the deck were the captain, mate, second mate, boatswain and steward, the latter being at the helm. Because the men on the yard could not work fast enough to suit the captain, he and the others on deck began firing, using three revolvers and a shotgun. Five men were killed, four dropping into the sea, and the other to the deck.

When the other men reached the deck they were ordered to throw the body of their companion overboard, which they did. Then the work of shortening sail was resumed. As the vessel neared San Francisco the captain offered the men $300 apiece to say nothing of the shooting and killing. When port was reached one of the men hung an old blue flannel shirt in the rigging, and soon the harbor police had the five accused men in custody. At the trial all were found guilty except the steward, and sentenced to long terms of imprisonment, which they are now serving in the State Penitentiary of California.

Another case of brutality was on the ship Tillie Starbuck, about four years ago, when Arthur C. Smith, a young man, was shipped by "sharks" at Portland, Ore., as an able seaman. Smith informed the captain that he had never been to sea before, but the latter said they would "put him through a course of sprouts" before they got through with him. Then he became frightened, and jumping overboard, tried to swim to shore. The boatswain jumped into a boat and soon had smith back on the ship, where he got his first taste of sea discipline, and was locked in the forecastle until the vessel was ready for sea.

After sail had been set Smith was brought up and placed at the wheel, although he did not know one end of the ship from another. His ignorance soon became apparent and he was kicked and beaten and driven aloft to loosen the skysails. As the ship was rolling heavily he became frightened after he had gotten a little way up and he clambered back to the deck. Then his real troubles began. The captain started in by making him get on the main hatch and crow like a rooster for an hour. When he failed to crow to please the captain the boatswain would remind him with a rope's end. After the crowing, a sling would be thrown over the midship capsal, and Smith would have to heave it in three inches forehead for one hour and then back again for another hour.

When the vessel was two weeks out Smith was put on the starving list, his daily allowance being three hard biscuits, one pint of tea and one-quarter pound of "salt-horse." This was because he did not know his duty. The other seamen helped him out with food whenever possible, but he had to subsist mainly on the "slush" used to grease the masts. "Slush" is the fat skimmed off the water in which the "salt horse" is boiled. When Smith was ordered to grease the masts most of the contents of the can went into his mouth. On the vessel's reaching King's Ferry, near Cardiff, Wales, Smith left her, and, making his way to Liverpool, reported his case to the American Consul, with the result that nothing was done. He shipped on another vessel, and is now an A. No. 1 seaman.

A Golden Floor.

The Bristol Observer relates the following story: King George II was once invited out to dine with a wealthy and eccentric old duke, who possessed more money than he very well know what to do with. Upon this occasion, wishing to impress his majesty with the immensity of his riches, he had the floor of the dining hall paved from end to end with sovereigns, the head being up. Each coin was stuck in a mixture of lime, which soon dried, leaving the precious "tile" securely fastened. When the king arrived, and was shown what had been done in his honor, his amazement knew no bounds, and it was with difficulty he could be persuaded to set foot upon the golden floor.

NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED IN UP-TO-DATE LAUNDRY WORK.

We run the laundry and take care of all details, but you "boss" it. We do what you tell us to do. It may give you a new sensation to find that you get a domestic finish when you ask for it, and to discover that your collars are actually ironed in the way that the maker intended them to be ironed.

We are running a laundry with the most improved methods and appliances. We use pure water and good soap. We are using two things that are not commonly used in laundries—care and intelligence. If you have found a laundry that pleases you perfectly, we have nothing to say to you. If you have any reason to be dissatisfied, we would like to give you a practical demonstration of our way of running a laundry.

Tell us where and when to call for your work, when you want it delivered, and let us know any particular thing that you would like to have done with it.

We want you to understand that we are running this laundry for you, and that your wishes are to be regarded in every particular. We will give you just exactly what you want, if we can find out what that is. Perhaps you believe that it is impossible to have your laundry well handled without irritation and annoyance to you. We are sure that you are mistaken. May we have an opportunity of demonstrating it?

Furniture for Remembrances

Little need to jog your memory as to value of the things you gave last year—furniture pieces were those most favored, we'll warrant. Our store's in even better trim to help you than 'twas in '96—and buy on the 75c-a-week-easy-payment-plan if cash is short. Come and see us—even if you haven't cash; we'll try to "fix you up."

And SUCH a Lot of Pretty Chairs!

It's one of our pet hobbies to keep this line complete and inviting above all similar stocks. More room for choice in shapes, sizes, woods, coverings than you've any notion of! Cherry, maple, oak, enameled, gilt chairs, plain and richly covered—$1.75 up to $50. Spend all the time you like among them. Buying is not forced on any one.

For surprisingly slender prices—great hosts of gifts. Tea and Dinner Sets from simplest to most elaborate—Children's Chairs, 50c up—Express Wagons and Sleds—Easels and Music Cabinets, all woods—Lamps and Clocks—Pictures—Brass and Onyx Tables—the "Columbia" Sewing Machine at $29, cash or credit—Chiffoniers and Shaving Stands—Desks and Hat Racks—but why keep on? We'd need two pages, 'stead of a corner in one to tell of all.

"Gift Stoves"

You may smile, but this live stove department has been filled with those buying stoves and ranges for gifts, and ordering them reserved for late delivery. Incidentally, 'tis Newark's largest stock of the sort—over half our main floor and basement is filled with warrranted makes—all low in price. The "Portland" Range is a treat of itself—seen it? Plainfield proof for Plainfield people.
Our citizens say they cure backache.
Cure urinary disorders.
Cure sick kidneys.
Experience has taught them this is so.
Conviction for every sufferer.
In the testimoney of friends and neighbors.
Read this case:

Mrs. I. L. Holmes, of 442 W. 2d street, says: "I have used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and have derived more benefit from them than from anything else I ever used. Before I owned this remedy I was bothered almost constantly with a severe pain across the small of my back so bad at times that I thought I must give up. If I sat down and got up, or was lying down and attempted to rise suddenly or retained one position for any length of time, sharp acute pain always followed. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such trouble and went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They helped me from the first and I improved right along under the treatment. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others who suffer from kidney complaint."

SHARP BATTLE IN CUBA

The Spanish Describe the "Heroic Defence" at Guamo.

MANY INSURGENTS KILLED

Rumored in Havana that Ruiz Is Alive, Official Reports to the Contrary, Notwithstanding—Alleged Filibusters—Weyler's Defense.

Havana, Dec. 21.—A Spanish detachment at Guamo, on the Cauto River, north of Manzanillo, Santiago de Cuba, was besieged, according to the official account, from Nov. 8 to 12 last, and valiantly repelled the insurgents. On Nov. 27 a fierce attack was made on the fort by a large body of insurgents, with two cannon. More than one hundred and fifty cannon shots nearly demolished the fort and destroyed a factory. Finally the insurgents got inside the wire fence around the fort and called on the garrison to surrender. The garrison refused to listen to the demand, and "with heroic pride continued the defense" until Dec. 10 last.

The insurgents left twenty-six killed inside the wire fence and a quantity of arms and ammunition, which the garrison used to prolong its desperate defense. Gen. Aldave, while reconnoitering in the neighborhood, found the bodies of three other insurgents and many graves. During the siege and the attack on the fort the insurgents lost, it is officially asserted, 200 killed and wounded. The garrison had only six killed and thirty-one wounded. But the fort was completely destroyed, while the garrison was without water, with pestilence all around and only a little pork for food. Gen. Blanco will recompense the members of the garrison for their losses.

Gen. Pando and the column under Col. Bruna, assisted by the gunboats Dependiente, Luisa, Centionala and Velazquez, found in the River Cauto three large torpedoes and also many sunken vessels. They destroyed with dynamite a quantity of the effects of the insurgents at Cienaga del Buey and Cayaman.

Gen. Aldave, who left Cauto del Emboscadero about the same time, had an engagement on Dec. 8 at Laguna de Ytabo, losing twenty killed, among them a doctor and two officers. The insurgents were compelled to abandon their trenches and retired with large loss. While reconnoitering the extensive zones in that district Gen. Aldave had one soldier seriously wounded and a captain slightly wounded.

WATCHING FOR FILIBUSTERS.

The Montgomery Guarding Against a Pensacola Expedition.

Pensacola, Fla., Dec. 21.—Information reached the commander of the United States steamer Montgomery Friday to the effect that several suspected filibusters were in the harbor. Fires were started and preparations made for getting under way at a moment's notice. A squad of armed men, in charge of an officer, were placed on board the revenue cutter Penrose, and they will be relieved every four hours until furtner developments. The Montgomery fitted out several boats with guns, ammunition and armed crews to patrol the harbor, while the Penrose did duty outside, around Warrington. All the boats of the Montgomery have orders to fire two blank charges to bring to any suspected vessel, and upon her neglecting to do so a loaded shell is to be fired.

The Somers N. Smith, a pilot boat; a vessel called the Britannia and a schooner are loading here under official supervision. The Smith is said to have run several successful expeditions in the past, having escaped the Montgomery once. She came in from sea on Thursday night, and is taking on board a cargo. The Britannia and the schooner are also taking a cargo of boxes, supposed to be ammunition, etc., on board, and it is reported that the Dauntless is waiting somewhere outside the bar in order to ship the munitions at sea.

SAY RUIZ IS STILL ALIVE.

So Rumored in Havana, According to a Dispatch to Paris.

Paris, France, Dec. 21.—A dispatch from Havana says that while the insurgents report the execution of Lieut.-Col. Ruiz after court martial, rumors are also current that he is still living.

Official Report of the Execution.

Havana, Dec. 21.—The official statement as to the execution by the insurgents of Lieut.-Col. Joaquin Ruiz, aide-de-camp of Capt.-Gen. Blanco, says that he was shot last Friday, by order of the insurgent commander Alejandro Rodriguez, with the approval of the insurgent colonel, Nestor Aranguren, whom he went to see, to induce him to accept the Spanish scheme for autonomy. The general opinion here is that it was a barbarous act.

Weyler's Plan of Campaign.

Madrid, Spain, Dec. 21.—The National gives prominence to a double-leaded editorial, under the caption of "Weyler," to the effect that the latter's principal mission in life at the present moment is to defend the army and his command in Cuba against the "insults" alleged to have been contained in President McKinley's recent message to Congress, and that he will energetically protest to the Minister for War—Gen. Correa—and to the Queen Regent against these "insults," at the same time justifying the acts of the army.

A Monster Prairie Canal.

Topeka, Kan., Dec. 21.—Gov. Leedy announces that he will present a scheme to the Nebraska Irrigation Convention which suggests a seventeen-hundred-mile canal, from Montana to Texas. The purpose would be to divert the flood of waters of the Missouri and Mississippi valleys, impound them and let them down when wanted.

The canal would tap the Mississippi River at Milk River, in Montana, and empty into Red River, in Texas. The cost would be only $300,000,000.

Gettysburg Commander Dead.

Waterville, Me., Dec. 21.—Colonel Francis E. Heath died yesterday. He was colonel of the Nineteenth Maine Regiment, and commanded a brigade at Gettysburg.

Coughs and colds need not be endured; they can be cured, and that quickly.

Many mixtures are temporary in effect, but Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is a permanent remedy.

The oil feeds the blood and warms the body; the hypophosphites tone up the nerves; the glycerine soothes the inflamed throat and lungs.

The combination cures. This may prevent serious lung troubles.

ANTI-FLIRTING BILL.

To Restrain the Enthusiasm of Amorous Medical Students.

Richmond, Va., Dec. 21.—Senator McCune, of Shenandoah, is trying to do by legislation what all the vigilance of principals and teachers in Virginia has utterly failed to accomplish—that is, prevent college students from flirting with the girls in the female colleges.

The Woman's College, of this city, of which Dr. Nelson is principal, is supposed to be the prime mover in the measure. The college is flanked on either side by medical colleges, and though the girls' grounds for exercise are surrounded by brick walls it has been no bar to flirtation, and bold students constantly found ways and means of communicating with the girls.

McCune's bill provides, among other things, that it shall be unlawful to interfere with or in any way disturb or disquiet the pupils of any school or college or female institute or the principals or teachers in charge of them while in any public road or street or the school premises, nor shall any communication be had for such purpose, either orally, by signs, or in writing. It also provides that it shall be unlawful for any person to enter the premises of such school or college, except on business, without first having obtained the permission of the principal.

Every person convicted of such offense shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $50, and upon every subsequent offense shall pay a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $50, and be imprisoned not less than ten nor more than thirty days, in the discretion of the court.

The bill also makes it an offense for any person to loiter about such institutions or the roads or streets near by for the purpose of annoying the pupils or teachers as they pass.

NEW SECT IN AMERICA.

Polish Catholics Start What They Call the "American Reformation."

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Polish Catholic seceders from the Roman Church, who have organized the independent "Polish Catholic Church of America," with three parishes located in Chicago, received Bishop Anthony Kozlowsky, leader of the revolt, as the spiritual head of the church in America with impressive ceremonies.

The new prelate has just returned from Europe, where he went by appointment of his people to receive ordination as a bishop. He could not secure recognition from the Holy See, and was consecrated by a bishop of the Catholic Christian Church of Switzerland.

By this act a new sect is formally established in America which occupies the anomalous position of recognizing the Roman Pontiff as primate of the Occident, as subscribing to the Roman Catholic faith as based on the foundation of the Apostles, the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, the traditions of the fathers, the Athanasian creed and the Council of Trent.

Gorman Will Not Move to New York.

Washington, Dec. 21.—Senator Gorman's future, after his retirement from the Senate, is a matter of considerable importance, apparently, to his friends and those who are not his friends. The rumor that he would remove to New York is denounced by the Senator himself as a pure fabrication, and he says that none of the plans which have been mapped out for him are with his approval. It is not believed the Senator will remove from Maryland, but will settle down at his residence in Laurel, Md., after his term expires, taking an interest in Maryland politics, though refraining from actively interfering with the work of the party organization. The Senator is as anxious for harmony in the Democratic party in Maryland as his opponents are, and will do nothing after his term expires to hinder the return of the party to power in his State.

What Durrant's Father Says.

San Francisco, Dec. 21.—The father of Theodore Durrant, the condemned murderer, says: "We have not given up the fight for my son's life. We will try to get a writ of error from the State Supreme Court. If this is denied we can go direct to the latter court and make the application, that is if we can raise the money, for the expense of this long litigation has impoverished us."

Pneumatic tubes for the mail service of Chicago will be in operation between the depots, sub-stations and the general office soon.

Chicago's Federation of Labor has requested its members who are in the militia to resign, and that no members hereafter enlist.

The leaders of the Kansas silverites will meet in Topeka next month to memorialize Congress against the retirement of the greenbacks.

Four notes for $1,000 each, given by Adolph L. Luetgert to Judge Vincent, of Chicago, for legal services, were alleged to bear forged indorsements.

Jack Dalton, the Alaska prospector, said in an interview at Seattle, Wash., that horses could be used to better advantage than reindeer in the Klondike relief expedition.

ARTICULAR MENTION.

George L. VanEmburgh, of East Second street, is detained at home by a heavy cold and a severe attack of his old enemy, neuralgia.

Counsellor William K. McClure, of Crescent avenue, left for Boston yesterday to attend the meeting of the directors of the Megantic Fish and Game Club, of Maine.

Miss Gertrude Andrews, of this city, is spending the Christmastide season with her friend, Miss Nancy Carnegie, daughter of Andrew Carnegie, of Pittsburg, at Carnegie Island, near Florida.

Trolley Likely to Go Through.

An executive meeting of the Dunellen Common Council was held last evening to consider the trolley ordinance, and the members of the Council agreed unanimously on the ordinance after certain unreasonable restrictions were omitted. The Council will meet tonight in adjourned session to pass the ordinance on its second reading, and it is safe to predict that there will be no further opposition to the trolley on the part of the Council.

Read Two Papers.

The regular meeting of the Monday Afternoon Club was held yesterday, at which time Mrs. Charles B Corwin read the paper on "Current Events," and a paper prepared by Mrs. J. M. Whiton, on "Erasmus, and the Men of Learning," was read by another member of the club. The subject for the year is "Holland," and the paper by Mrs. Whiton was in connection with that subject.

Woman Lawyer in Supreme Court.

Washington, Dec. 21.—Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, the temperance and political worker, was yesterday admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court upon the motion of Mrs. R. D. Mussey. Mrs. Foster is the sixteenth woman attorney to be admitted to the bar of the court, and the fifth to be admitted on the motion of a woman associate.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

L. N. Lovell Says That the Expenses Incurred By Them Are Just.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Your correspondent "M" suggests that the new Council coming into power should cut down all appropriations, beginning with our free schools. Without stopping to consider the fact that the Common Council has nothing whatever to do with the appropriation for the schools, permit me to ask what means can be pursued to lessen the cost of the schools? The law demands that the School Board shall provide buildings and instruction for all children between certain ages. There are no more school buildings in Plainfield than are needed for the children under the care of the Board. It would be very like a crime to ask that the number of teachers should be reduced, a crime not only against the teachers but certainly against the scholars.

It is an accepted principle in ordinary mechanics that machinery should not be overloaded, and any teacher who is directed to take charge of sixty children has a task far beyond the safety line of work. Let our friend "M," who I boldly assert has never been a trained teacher, undertake the task of controlling and teaching say a dozen ordinary boys, and the result of that effort will convince him that the expenses ought not to be reduced by lessening the number of teachers. If he has any milk of human kindness in him he will sympathize with the teachers who have only forty children in their charge.

With regard to how far the free public schools ought to go in teaching, the universal sentiment of the best citizens certainly includes the High School education, and in all the older parts of our country, as well as in regions more newly settled, High Schools are demanded by the people, and this not for the children of the rich, nor as preparatory for a college education, but as necessary for a fair preparation for the work of life. With the increased competition of the age, young people cannot be too well equipped, and a fairly good education is almost absolutely essential for success. So far as one may properly judge of the circumstances of the parents of the scholars in our High School, they are people not very well off in this world's goods, and their children must receive what school education they get at the public expense. Is it a fair question to ask if the State does not receive direct benefit in many cases from the care the High School takes of those who have reached a dangerous age? There is no doubt but that the State does obtain direct gain from the quality of teaching imparted. The expenses of our Plainfield High School is partly borne by out-of-town scholars, and no resident of this city, with any knowledge of all that relates to this question, can complain of the tax he pays to support it.

If Mr. "M" will obtain one of the Chautauqua books for this year's reading, "The Social Spirit in America," and read chapter XII therein, he will be benefited thereby.

Yours truly,
L. N. Lovell.

WARNING IS SOUNDED.

Disaster Will Follow in the Wake of Currency Legislation.

Washington, Dec. 21.—In an open letter Senator Chandler advises the Administration to put a stop to the attempt to meddle with the country's finances, as proposed by Secretary Gage and his allies of the Gold-Standard League.

If they will cease their demand for impossible currency legislation, the Senator says, Congress will pass the necessary appropriation bills and probably take care of Hawaii and Cuba; business will revive, and the Republican party will, in November, 1898, elect a majority of the House in the Fifty-sixth Congress.

On the other hand, if Secretary Gage continues to press his bill Congress will be plunged into an uproar, and Democratic victories will follow in 1898 and 1900.

Irish Leader Is Coming.

New York, Dec. 21.—A cablegram has been received in this city from John E. Redmond, M. P., formally accepting an invitation to visit America next month and speak on the '98 rebellion in Ireland. The invitation was sent to Mr. Redmond by a number of men prominent in Irish national circles, who desire to have this subject properly presented to the American public, with a view to stimulating interest in the centennial celebration in Ireland next year and awakening enthusiasm in the pilgrimage to the battlefields of '98, which is to be given next July under the auspices of the '98 Centennial Association.

Warship to Investigate.

Washington, Dec. 21.—The cruiser Detroit arrived at Port au Prince yesterday and Capt. McCalla, of the Marblehead, which has been stationed there, informed the Navy Department by cable that he would sail at once for Key West. At that place he will coal and proceed to Navassa Island to investigate charges of inhuman treatment of the American laborers by the agents of the corporation controlling the island.

Capt. McCalla would have proceeded directly to Navassa from Port au Prince, but was short of coal and deemed it imprudent to chance fever by coaling in the West Indies.

Steamer Not for Cuba.

New York, Dec. 21.—The story that the City of Columbia, of the Columbian line, had sailed last Thursday on a filibustering mission to Cuba, instead of to the Klondike, its announced destination, was vigorously denied by E. C. Machen, the vice-president and manager of the line.

"Such a report is an outrage," said Mr. Machen. "When we fitted out the steamer for the Klondike we advertised in the papers and invited persons to come and look her over. They came by the thousand and 535 of them hired berths. Does this look like filibustering?"

Gas Consolidation in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Dec. 21.—As a result of negotiations which have been pending for three years, plans for the consolidation of all the gas companies of Pittsburg and Allegheny have been completed. The new company will have a capital of $5,000,000 and will build a new plant in Pittsburg at a cost of $800,000.

PRUSSIA'S GREAT FIELD MARSHAL.

Eighty-eight Years Old and Honored by All German Royalty.

General Field Marshal Count Blumenthal recently celebrated the seventieth anniversary of his entrance into the army of Prussia. The count was 88 years old and he received telegrams of congratulation from the emperor, Empress Frederick, and many other royal personages. The aged field marshal has ever been a great favorite with the dowager empress especially, and the old soldier was also much beloved by the late emperor. The count was born one may say, in the military service of his country. He has fought in every war Prussia has engaged in since 1827. His promotion was rapid, and his great fidelity to his royal master won for him all sorts of praise in and out of the army. One of the first acts of the late Frederick William when he became emperor was to raise the faithful old soldier to the rank of field marshal. By virtue of that title he is the chief of the general staff of the Prussian army. The count is now living with his eldest daughter, Frau von Guellendorf, near Rothen. Each year he spends a few weeks at Koenigstein-in-the-Taunus, where Empress Frederick always visits him.

Use of London's Mail Service.

In England a new use for the mail has been found. A London workman who could not spare the time to take his three-year-old son to his home at a considerable distance from his shop, conceived the brilliant idea of sending the child as a postal package. A card was pinned upon his clothes bearing these words: "Live Animal." The father paid ninepence postage and the child reached his mother in safety.—New York Tribune.

UNITED STATES VS. TEXAS.

Dispute Over an Island Seized by the Federal Government.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—A special from Fort Worth, Tex., says:

"The State of Texas and the United States Government are in conflict over a piece of ground on the east end of Galveston Island, on which is located the State quarantine station, and which has been taken possession of by the Federal authorities, who intend erecting a torpedo station thereon. The United States claim it under the terms of the Texas annexation treaty, which required the ceding to the Government by the republic of Texas of all lands used for purposes of military defenses, or upon which fortifications were standing. The State will dispute the claim on the ground that there were no available fortifications in existence on the ground in controversy at the time the treaty was made.

THOUGHT THAT DEATH WAS EASIER THAN TO LIVE

ALONZO TOWNLEY, DESPONDENT FROM ADVERSITY, PUT A BULLET INTO HIS TEMPLE.

The Tragic Event Carried Out in the Kitchen of His Daughter's Home—Had Been in Ill Health and Out of Work for a Long Time.

His physical system ravaged with dropsy, his mind unoccupied with work, his financial resources limited, Alonzo Townley frequently trained his thoughts into a disconsolate channel wherein all the brightness of life seemed to have faded away in the adversity that had overtaken him in his old age. And it was while in one of these despondent moods yesterday afternoon that he steadied the muzzle of a revolver by his temple and emptied its leaden contents into a vital part of his head—in a word, committed suicide. The deed was committed in the home of Mr. Townley's son-in-law, Charles Moore, of 109 New street, while he was sitting on a sofa in the kitchen on the first floor.

Yesterday morning Mr. Townley was out for a while, but returned about noon. It was noticed that he was not feeling very well, but as he frequently appeared in the same condition nothing particularly strange was thought of it. He remained in the kitchen on the first floor, his favorite place. When his son-in law, Charles Moore, who is a conductor on the street railway, came home about noon, Mr. Townley urged him to go up stairs and take his usual sleep. Mrs. Moore was in the basement at the time and her husband went down stairs and sat in a chair. He had just lost himself in sleep when he was aroused suddenly by a pistol shot. His wife started to go up stairs. Mr. Moore caught her and told her not to go, as he would see what the trouble was. When he reached the kitchen he found Mr. Townley sitting on the sofa in a drooping condition. Beside him on the floor was the revolver that had accomplished the deed. Mr. Moore hastened for Dr. Adams. In the meantime Mrs. Moore came up stairs and was nearly prostrated by what she saw.

During the past two years Mr. Townley has been seriously ill with dropsy. About two years ago his wife died and that affliction seemed to worry him very much, and no doubt assisted the disease in making great inroads into his health. At times he was almost frantic with suffering and this affected his mind to a considerable extent. It is thought that while in this condition he planned to take his life.

He lived with his daughter, Mrs. Charles Moore, and they did everything possible for his convenience, but his illness made him irritable. At times he desired to be left entirely alone. In consequence he was left to his own thoughts a great deal and continually brooded over his ailments.

When Dr. Adams arrived Mr. Townley was dead. It is thought that before Mr. Moore left the house life had passed from the body.

Mr. Townley had a brother, George Townley, who, it will be remembered, committed suicide several years ago.

Mr. Townley was 52 years old, and was born near Smalleytown. All of his life he has lived in this vicinity where he was well known and respected. At the outbreak of the war he enlisted with several other Plainfielders, who went to Elizabeth and joined the 14th regiment. He served from the beginning to the end of the war. Once he was shot in the left arm, making it impossible for him to follow his trade, that of a mason, as he could not hold a trowel in his left hand for any length of time. After he returned from the war he was in the employ of Councilman J. B. Dumont, and had entire charge of the latter's place in this city. After that he became a lather, and the last work he did in that line was at Trinity Reformed church only a few weeks ago. He followed the business of coaching for a time, but on account of his health he gave that up. Since that time he has not been engaged in any business. He was very well thought of by all as he had led an upright life in the community.

After Mr. Townley died his children were notified and they were soon at the house. They were all grief-stricken over the sad occurrence. They have the sympathy of all in their bereavement. Five sons and two daughters survive the departed father.

Mr. Townley has one sister living in the west and she was notified immediately of the fatality.

A "STAG" DINNER.

Wagonette Club Entertained at Dinner by Charles B. Morse.

The annual "stag" dinner of the Wagonette Club was held at the home of Charles Burdette Morse, of Franklin place, last evening. Fourteen members of the club were present at the affair which was given in honor of the birthday of the host. After the dinner, progressive hearts was the order of the evening. The first prize was won by Howard T. Lewis, of Alfred University. George A. Horne, of Lehigh University, was the winner of the second prize. Claude Edwards carried off the consolation prize. A phonograph entertained the party for a portion of the evening, while the rest of the time passed with vocal and instrumental selections.

A Fine Library.

Mrs. John Gifford, of Princeton, chairman of the Department of Forestry and Protection of the Palisades in the New Jersey State Federation, has a fine library ready for lending throughout the State. The books are neatly covered with white duck. The catalogue announces that the library is designed to introduce the study of forestry and is arranged in seven classes. Clubs desiring to use the library may do so by addressing Mrs. Gifford for particulars and paying express charges on the books.

Masons Elect.

Last evening, at a meeting of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., the following officers for the ensuing year were chosen: Master, H. O. Hance; senior warden, G. T. Dunham; junior warden, R. A. Meeker; treasurer, C. H. Rugg; secretary, Charles Yaeger.

Her Troubles at an End.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Catherine Baird, one of the two inmates of the Industrial Home who died from the effects of drinking wood alcohol, was held at the undertaking establishment of Runyon & Son, on Park avenue, at 11 o'clock this morning. A short address was delivered by Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, of Hope chapel, and a few friends of the deceased were present. The burial was in the city plot.

Charles Vail, of the West End, is confined to his home by illness.

Celebrated Her Birthday.

Miss Grace Rowland, of East Second street, celebrated the anniversary of her birthday yesterday, and last evening she entertained a few friends at her home in honor of the event. The evening was passed in playing whist, and Miss Lottie Connett and Frank Fulton succeeded in winning the honors from Miss Rowland and Mr. VarNauten. After the games refreshments were served to the guests which included with the above-named persons William MacLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Peck.

It Won't Disappoint You.

There is probably not more than a half dozen people in Plainfield who know the exact location of the fire alarm boxes. When the fire gong sounds the first impulse is to know where the box is located. For several years Plainfielders have religiously depended on The Daily Press calendar to furnish them with this information. It won't disappoint you this year. The sturdy little carrier boys will deliver it next Saturday morning, wishing you a "Merry Christmas."

Cases on Contract.

The cases of Peter E. See against George W. Nuce and Peter E. See against Thomas J. Hughes, both on contract, were set for trial in Justice Crosley's court yesterday afternoon, but both claims were settled by the defendants before the cases came to trial. The attorney for the plaintiff was J. P. D. Kirch.

HUM OF TROLLEY LEGISLATION HEARD ALL OVER

SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN OFFICIALS APPROVE OF PLANS TO RUN THROUGH THEIR TOWNS.

The Sentiment Seems to Be Turning Against the County Ownership Idea—The Plains People Enthused—Principal Points in the Dunellen Ordinance.

It now looks as though the trolley is going through the borough of Dunellen. At a meeting of the Council held last evening the trolley ordinance was passed unanimously on its second reading. A more harmonious meeting of the members has never been held. The lobby was filled with interested spectators, and when they were given an opportunity to vote for or against the trolley, everyone voted in the affirmative. Mr. Radel, of the Brunswick Traction Company, was present and seemed to be satisfied with the work of the Council. After the meeting he purchased three boxes of cigars and treated the Councilmen. Everyone at the meeting seemed pleased to think that the trolley is now in sight. When the Council held a conference last Monday evening the amended ordinance was agreed upon unanimously, and no further difficulty is looked for.

The Council is desirious that the Trolley Company shall widen a strip of the road over which they pass, which is located at the western end of the borough, and this no doubt will be agreed to by the company. At the next meeting of the Council the ordinance will be passed on its third reading and it will then be advertised for the usual length of time previous to its going into effect.

The ordinance provides that the track shall be a single one with a turnout in the borough. The tracks will come into the borough on the Bound Brook road, then pass through North avenue to the deviding line between Dunellen and Plainfield. The T rail is to be used, and the wires are to be eighteen feet from the ground. The cars to be used are to have all the necessary equipments, such as fenders, stoves, etc., and they are to run every half hour between 6 a. m. and 8 p. m. Other times the cars are to be run under one hour headway. The fare to be charged shall not exceed five cents to all parts of the borough and Bound Brook and Plainfield. The road is to be completed within six months after the passage of the ordinance. The company is to issue school tickets at three cents each.

The ordinance says that the track shall be laid on the south side of the road over which it runs. The company agrees to macadamize all streets used from curb to curb and afterwards pay one-third of the cost of keeping the road in repair. They also filed a $2,000 bond for the faithful performance of the contract.

The Fanwood Township Committee gave a public hearing to the representatives of the Elizabeth and Westfield Electric Street Railway Co., at the Fanwood township rooms last evening. The company presented its petition for a franchise, and after considerable discussion the committee accepted the petition and set Thursday evening, January 6th, as the date for a public hearing upon the question of granting a franchise.

The feeling among the citizens of Fanwood and Scotch Plains is very favorable to the granting of the franchise, and it is probable that the action of the Township Committee will be controlled by this sentiment.

Col. Hein, the secretary of the Railway Company, presented its claims to the committee. He said that people all along the line of the proposed route, from Elizabeth to Plainfield, were taking such an interest in the road that he felt confident the franchise would be granted in both Westfield and Cranford.

It was the desire of the company, he said, to build its tracks upon North avenue from Westfield to Midway avenue, the old railroad cut, to Park avenue in Scotch Plains, and then on the proposed extension of Second street into this city. It is understood that the company has purchased the right of way over nearly all of the proposed route on the extension of Second street. If the franchise is granted the road can be in operation by July next

Some amusement was caused in the meeting when the chairman mentioned the fact that there was considerable involved in advertising and other matters connected with the proposed special meeting, and that the committee had been left to pay these bills by the Philadelphia and New York Traction Company. Col. Hein stated that the objection could be readily removed, and he at once handed a certified check to Township Treasurer Nicholl, to cover any expense involved in calling the meeting.

By a unanimous vote the citizens of Cranford, at a public meeting held Monday night to consider the trolley question, recorded themselves as opposed to the trolley line on the county road, proposed to be built at public expense and leased to a private corporation. By a vote equally emphatic they recommended that the Township Committee grant a franchise to build and operate an electric road on South avenue, under proper conditions, to the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company. President Riker, of the Westfield and Elizabeth Company, described the Plainfield trolley system, and the advantages it confers upon the residents of this city. Besides building up Cranford, he said the company would pay general taxes, a share of its receipts, and would keep the street it occupied in good condition.

The Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railroad Company, which first applied for a franchise to operate a trolley line between Elizabeth and Plainfield, but was compelled to cease operations because of the introduction of the Bergen plan, is rapidly completing arrangements to build a trolley line on the south side of the Central Railroad tracks. The management claims that it has all the consents required. Mr. Bergen said yesterday that in the event of the failure of the county plans he would advocate giving up Westfield avenue to a private corporarion for trolley purposes. In this event it is thought the Westfield and Elizabeth Railroad will build on Westfield avenue.

The Board of Freeholders of Union county sat in special session yesterday afternoon and heard the report from the citizens' committee appointed recently to investigate the county trolley scheme. There was an apparent division of mind when the committee asked that the County Solicitor be instructed to ask the next Legislature to pass a bill permitting the county to build a trolley line from Elizabeth to Plainfield along Westfield avenue. One of the Freeholders favored the plan, but the majority was opposed, and no action was taken on the matter.

VISITORS TO HELP CELEBRATE.

Central Lodge Arranging for Big Time Tomorrow Evening.

Central Lodge, A. O U. W., will celebrate the eighth anniversary of its organization tomorrow evening in the lodge rooms. The celebration will be a private one, except that an invitation has been extended to the members of Upchurch Lodge, of Westfield, Bernards Lodge, of Bernardsville, and Columbia Lodge, of Plainfield. The grand officers of the State will also be present. An elaborate programme has been arranged for the meeting and will be preceded by two initiations. After the entertainment a collation will be served by the committee of arrangoments. The committee in charge of the celebration consists of Edward Mosher, George W. Clark and L. J. Spicer.

Leased Ferry Again.

The New Jersey Central Railroad Company has leased for a term of five years the Liberty street ferry, North river, to Communipaw, for the consideration of $10,000.

W. E. MARTIN MARRIED.

Former Postal Telegraph Manager Takes a Wife in Newark.

The marriage is announced of Miss Mattie Smith, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Newark, and William C. Martin, formerly manager of the local office of the Postal Telegraph Company, and also a resident of Newark. The marriage took place last Saturday evening at the home of the bride in Newark. Mr. and Mrs. Martin are now keeping house on Thirteenth avenue, Newark. Mr. Martin is a telegraph operator and is well known in this city, where he has a number of friends. His wife is also well-known in Plainfield where she resided for years. They have the best wishes of all for a happy and prosperous journey through life.

A New Residence.

H. C. McVoy, of Westervelt avenue, has completed arrangements to erect for himself a handsome residence on Sandford avenue, and when the structure is completed he and his wife will take up their residence there.

FOOTPADS OPERATED IN THE HEART OF THE CITY.

DARING HOLDUP THAT WAS ENACTED ON WEST THIRD STREET EARLY LAST EVENING.

John Heptner, an Insurance Collector, Accosted by Two Strangers, Pillored and Chloroformed—Robbed and Left Unconscious.

Within only a few blocks of the centre of the city, a man was held up and robbed by two strangers last evening within an hour of the setting of the sun. The bold deed was committed unseen by anyone except the participants. The victim lay on the cold stones under the influence of chloroform for an hour before he was discovered. Meanwhile the strangers had disappeared leaving no clue to their identity.

John Heptner is a collector in this city for the Metropolitan Insurance Company. He has been employed here for about ten months and has been found an industrious and hard-working man. He resides with his family at 215 Richmond street. He is a man of about forty-five years of age.

Late yesterday afternoon, Heptner's duties called him in the West End. He passed along West Third street, between Madison and Central avenues, when a man stopped him and asked for a match. Heptner stopped right in front of Spicer & Hubbard's mill. When Heptner stopped and looked up he saw two men. They were both tall, fully as tall as Heptner, who stands six feet high. One wore an overcoat and had a full beard. It was too dark to distinguish whether they were well dressed or not.

"Got a match?" muttered the man with the beard.

Heptner felt in the change pocket of his overcoat for a match. At that moment the stranger with the beard suddenly grasped Heptner by the throat. Heptner struggled and tried to wrench free from his assailant. Then the other stranger slapped a handkerchief over the eyes and nose of the struggling insurance agent and he has no remembrance of what happened next. From Heptner's condition when found and his story of his experiences, it is supposed that the handkerchief was saturated with chloroform.

Another Plainfielder was hurrying home through the same thoroughfare an hour later when he noticed something lying on the sidewalk that looked like a man. He came closer and saw that a man was lying on the sidewalk, face downwards. His overcoat was unbuttoned. He lay all in a heap. The Plainfielder, whose name has not yet been ascertained, supposed that he had merely found another victim of rum. He tried to straighten the man up. He dragged the helpless form over to the fence and leaned it against a post. The man did not act like one under the influence of liquor and the Plainfielder could not distinguish the odor of strong drink about him. His efforts to rouse the man were in vain, so the Plainfielder left him leaning against the fence and hurried to the station house to notify the police.

Patrolmen Mattox and McCue were detailed to investigate the case. They hurried to the scene of the assault at once. They found Heptner leaning against the post. They finally succeeded in bringing him to his senses. He seemed dazed at first and was not able to tell what had happened. He was conveyed to the station house. Restoratives were applied and he was finally able to relate his story as already given.

There was no trace of violence about him when he was discovered, except that the back of his left hand was badly bruised. It appeared as if someone had stepped on it. His overcoat and coat were found open as if the highwaymen had gone through his clothes.

At the time of the assault he had $26 in change belonging to the company and $4 belonging to himself. He also had a record book of the company. When he recovered consciousness, the money was gone. His money had been in a pocketbook in his inside overcoat pocket. The pocketbook was gone also.

When seen at his home by a Press reporter this morning Mr. Heptner told his story of the assault and robbery. He did not think that he would be able to identify the men should he meet them again. He had not fully recovered from the effects of the chloroform and remained at home during the day. He was utterly unable to account for the injury to his hand.

At the time of the holdup there were two coal trains standing on the Jersey Central tracks, and Chief Grant is of the opinion that the assault and robbery was committed by two hoboes who landed from the train while it stopped and were back again in time to depart on board the train with Heptner's money.

The Plainfielder who found Mr. Heptner was Mr. VanWinkle.

SUPERINTENDENT PEDDLE TO RESIGN?

For Many Years He Has Been an Efficient Railroad Official.

There is a rumor abroad that seems to bear a semblance to truth, to the effect that Wm. H. Peddle, who has for so many years been the efficient superintendent of the New Jersey Central division of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, is to resign his present position Jan. 1st. While none of the officials of the railroad have spoken authoritatively on the subject, the rumor is a leading topic of conversation among the employes of the company.

George H. Freck, the genial trainmaster, is spoken prominently of as Mr. Peddle's successor to the position of superintendent. It is understood that Mr. Peddle will resign his position with the Central to assume a more lucrative one with J. P. Morgan & Co., the well-known bankers. It is also said that he is to go with the Old Colony Railroad.

PROSECUTOR WINFIELD BETTER.

Will Give Up Work and Go South as Soon as He Can Travel.

The condition of Prosecutor Charles H. Winfield, of Hudson county, who has been seriously ill for several days, was somewhat improved yesterday. Upon the advice of his physician he has decided to give up his professional duties for a time, and as soon as he can travel to go south.

Councilor F. G. Welsh.

At the regular meeting of Martha Washington Council, No. 23, D. of A., auxiliary to the Jr O. U. A. M., held in their rooms last evening, after the regular routine business was transacted the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Councilor, F. G. Welsh; assistant councilor, Miss Ratie Johnson; vice-councilor, Miss Etta Johnson; assistant vice-councilor, Mrs. Sarah Page; assistant recording secretary, G. S. Martin; conductor, Mrs. Mary Welsh; warden, Mrs. Mary M. Hoffman; inside sentinel, Mrs. Ellen Smith; outside sentinel, Mrs Sarah J. Higgins; trustee, 18 months, Mrs. Sarah J Higgins.

ANTI-GAMBLING AMENDMENT UP.

The Supreme Court to Review the Work of the Board of Canvassers.

The decision of Justices Dixon and Collins allowing the writ of certiorari concerning the adoption of the anti-race-track amendment was filed in the Supreme Court office yesterday. Accompanying it was a long opinion written by Justice VanSyckel, who also heard the application. He refuses to assent to the granting of the writ.

The writ brings up for review by the Supreme Court the action of the State Board of Canvassers in declaring the anti-gambling amendment adopted at the special election. Notice was served on Secretary of State Wurts yesterday directing him to file with the clerk of the Supreme Court tomorrow the official record and proceedings of the State Board of Canvassers, together with the returns of the special election. No testimony will be taken in the case, which will be argued at the February term. The point to be decided is the legality of the action of the Board of Canvassers in declaring the anti-gambling amendment adopted, although it received but 70,443 votes, while there were 69,642 votes against it and 961 ballots were rejected. The claim is made that the amendment did not receive the majority of votes cast.

Funeral of Mrs. Boylan.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Susan T. Boylon were held yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the residence of her son-in-law, Lebbeus Ayres, at Oak Tree. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, pastor of the First Baptist church, this city. His text was Psalms 16, and his remarks were very comforting to the bereaved ones. Interment was in the Baptist cemetery, this city.

—York Commandery, K. T., of New York, will give a grand reception at Madison Square Garden on the evening of January 25th, and a number of members from Trinity Commandery, of this city, will attend.

MISS HERBERT SUICIDES

Daughter of the Ex-Secretary Leaps From a Window.

HAD BEEN ILL SOME TIME

Made Two Attempts on Her Life. First Tried to Bleed Herself to Death, and That Failing, Jumped from a Third-Story Window.

Washington, Dec. 22. — Miss Leila Herbert, daughter of ex-Secretary of the Navy Herbert, committed suicide yesterday morning. She jumped from the third-story window of her father's residence, 1313 New Hampshire avenue, and received fatal injuries. Miss Herbert has been ill for some time past with nervous trouble.

She spent last Summer in the mountains of Virginia, having gone there for quiet and rest. She was alone in a country house, there being no other boarders.

One day last Fall she went horseback riding at Casenova, Va., and met with an accident, her horse throwing her. She sustained a most serious injury, and the doctors told her she would probably be a cripple for life. This so weighed upon her that she had attacks of melancholia, and it is believed that she was suffering from one of these attacks yesterday.

Two Attempts.

Miss Herbert made two attempts at her life. First she tried to bleed herself to death by cutting the arteries in her wrist, but evidently this did not bring the relief she sought quickly enough, so about 10 o'clock she rushed to the window and threw herself out. She was terribly injured by striking the stone pavement, her head and face being crushed. She was picked up and carried into the house, death resulting soon afterward.

This makes the third suicide in the families of the members of Cleveland's Cabinet, all of them young ladies. The first was Miss Bayard, daughter of the Secretary of State. The second was Miss Garland, daughter of Attorney-General Garland. She killed herself by shooting in her father's home on Rhode Island avenue. All the suicides took their lives after their fathers had retired from public life.

Was a General Favorite.

Miss Leila Herbert was the eldest of ex-Secretary Herbert's three children and was a charming figure in Washington society. She came with her father to Washington when he was elected to Congress, and at once took charge of his household affairs, making the Herbert home one of the most attractive and comfortable in Washington from the spirit of true Southern hospitality, which gave it an atmosphere of its own among fashionable homes.

When her father became Secretary of the Navy, in President Cleveland's second administration, Miss Herbert was called upon to take her place in the circle of Cabinet ladies, where she met successfully the heavy social responsibilities placed upon her youthful shoulders. Socially she was exceedingly popular and her presence was sought at all gatherings. Her social triumphs here were repeated in Europe, where she went to attend the great naval demonstration at Kiel.

How the Suicide Occurred.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The following authorized statement has been made by a gentleman familiar with all of the facts of Miss Herbert's suicide:

Miss Herbert, at the time of the occurrence, was suffering from acute melancholia. It developed several weeks ago, as the final result of injuries received by being thrown from her horse last Spring. The melancholia was not insanity in the sense of being accompanied by delusions. At the same time there was profound depression, and as is always the case in this type of disease, there was great danger that suicidal tendencies would develop. For this reason nurses were provided to maintain the closest watchfulness. No suicidal tendency developed, however, until Monday, when, for the first time, Miss Herbert made an attempt to get out of the window, but was restrained by the nurse. This led to additional caution, and two nurses alternated in constant watchfulness of the patient. She was at all times rational, quiet and gentle, and it was supposed the disease would yield to treatment.

Early yesterday morning the nurse on duty noticed a small spot of blood on the bed covering. She inquired what it meant, but the invalid endeavored to pass it by lightly. On making an investigation, however, the nurse found that the under bedclothes were saturated with blood, and that Miss Herbert had severed the artery of her wrist with a pair of scissors. Feeling that the emergency was great, the nurse hastened to the door and called an alarm. In this momentary withdrawal from the bedside Miss Herbert sprang from the window. The plunge was made headforemost, so that she lighted on the top of her head on the asphalt pavement. This injury alone was sufficient to have caused death. The severance of the artery also would have resulted fatally. When the physician reached her Miss Herbert was still breathing, but died about an hour after the leap.

The Coroner returned a verdict of suicide during temporary insanity. He decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

GAGE'S FINANCIAL PLAN.

The Measure Will Be Strongly Opposed by Republicans.

Washington, Dec. 22. — Secretary Gage's financial plan, which has been submitted to the House Committee on Banking and Currency, is not expected to receive the sanction of that committee. It is evident that the opposition to the measure proposed by the Secretary is very strong among Republicans, who still cling to the hope of an international agreement for the bimetallism theory. The letter of Senator Chandler, published the other day, meets with the approval of many Senators, among them, it is asserted, being Senator Hanna.

There is some doubt as to the President's position in relation to the financial plans of Secretary Gage. Before sending in his message to Congress it was common gossip in Washington that the President did not altogether indorse the financial views of the Secretary of the Treasury. It is known that when the details of the measure were first made public they were not to the liking of many of the prominent members of the Republican party in the House and Senate. Besides Hanna, it is said that Speaker Reed did not fall in with the plans for financial legislation, and expressed his disapproval of the measure. These reports of dissatisfaction on the President's part were, perhaps, exaggerated somewhat, but it is a noticeable fact that in his message, beyond merely suggesting to Congress the consideration of the plans of Secretary Gage and indorsing his plan for the paying out of greenbacks only in return for the actual gold, he did not refer to the measure proposed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

There is, since the letter from Senator Chandler was made public, but little prospect that the bill drawn by the Secretary will be reported to the House. While most Republicans deem it unwise to press financial legislation of too radical a nature at this time, it is likely a substitute for Gage's plan will be drawn, and will contain the principal features recommended by the President.

MERCHANTS EXPECT A WAR.

In San Francisco They Are Making Hay Selling Supplies to Russia.

San Francisco, Dec. 22.—In mercantile circles of San Francisco the intelligence that a Russian fleet has occupied Port Arthur, following so closely on the news that Russia had obtained a firm grip on Corea, leads to the belief that active hostilities between the Mikado and the Czar cannot long be deferred.

It is regarded as significant that agents of the Russian Empire recently have made extensive purchases of army supplies in the United States for the garrison at Vladivostock. A few days ago cable messages from Vladivostock, by way of St. Petersburg, were received here, inviting several firms to bid on an immense quantity of provisions. The merchants here expect a great demand for supplies to maintain the fleets and armies now assembling in the Orient.

Matthews Whips Leonard.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 22.—Matty Matthews, of New York City, received the decision over Mike Leonard, also of New York City, at the end of their twenty-round bout before the Rienzi A. C. last night. Matthews earned the decision fairly, as Leonard found it almost impossible to land with effect in any round. Leonard was weak at several stages of the contest, but he put up the gamest kind of a fight.

Mrs. Nack's Case.

New York, Dec. 22.—Mrs. Nack, who helped Martin Thorn murder William Guldensuppe at Woodside, will be arraigned before Justice Garretson, in the Supreme Court at Long Island City, the week of Jan. 3. District Attorney Youngs is still of the opinion that he ought to save Queens County the expense of a trial, and the woman will probably escape with a comparatively short term of imprisonment.

Will Sign the Sealing Bill.

Washington, Dec. 22.—It is authoritatively stated that President McKinley will sign the bill to prohibit pelagic sealing. In spite of the efforts made by Representative Johnson and others the bill will meet the approval of the President within a few days. If he wished the President could take until the reconvening of Congress to consider the bill, but he is not likely to do this.

Millionaire's Son Suicides.

Denver, Col., Dec. 22.—Henry E. Huck, a son of Millionaire Malster L. C. Huck, of Chicago, committed suicide at the Keeley Institute yesterday. Huck was a morphine eater, and was at the institute under treatment for this habit. He took an enormous dose. His reason for the act was given as a quarrel with his father, who recently reduced his allowance to $1,000 per annum.

Collision Ends in Death.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—Two men were killed and two were injured seriously yesterday noon by a rear-end collision on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railway at Cayuga, Ind. The dead are J. S. Holden and L. B. Horton, engineers.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.
At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagah, Ind. Ter. Chief. This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and la grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—It has been remarked that it would have been well had those in charge of the City Industrial Home placed crepe on the front door out of respect to the two persons who died at that institution last Monday.

Don't be persuaded into buying liniments without reputation or merit—Chamberlain's Pain Balm costs no no more, and its merits have been proven by a test of many years. Such letters as the following, from L. G. Bagley, Hueneme, Cal., are constantly being received: "The best remedy for pain I have ever used is Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and I say so after having used it in my family for several years." It cures rheumatism, lame back, sprains and swellings. For sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—John Hand Camp, No 28, S. of V., will join with the G. A. R. and the Woman's Relief Corps this year in the installation of officers.

The Coming Woman
Who goes to the club while her husband tends the baby as well as the good old-fashioned woman who looks after her home, will both at times get run down in health. They will be troubled with loss of appetite, headaches, sleeplessness, fainting or dizzy spells. The most wonderful remedy for these woman is Electric Bitters. Thousands of sufferers from lame back and weak kidneys rise up and call it blessed. It is the medicine for women. Female complaints and nervous troubles of all kinds are soon relieved by the use of Electric Bitters. Delicate women should keep this remedy on hand to build up the system. Only 50c per bottle. For sale by L. W. Randolph.

—Clarkson Mundy has moved from Pearl street in the borough to 336 East Third street in this city.

After hearing some friends continually praising Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Curtis Fleck, of Anaheim, California, purchased a bottle of it for his own use and is now as enthusiastic over its wonderful work as anyone can be. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—Last Friday a child was born to Lucy Swain, colored, of this city.

Mr. C. M. Dixon, a well known merchant, of Pleasant Ridge, Fulton Co., Pa, has a little girl who is frequently threatened with croup, but when the first symptoms appear, his wife gives her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which always affords prompt relief. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—Next Friday evening the Women's Relief Corps will meet and make arrangements for the installation of the new officers which will take place at the first meeting night in January.

Free of Charge to Sufferers.
Cut this out and take it to your druggist and get a sample bottle free of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Cough's and Colds. They do not ask you to buy before trying. This will show you the great merits of this truly wonderful remedy, and show you what can be accomplished by the regular size bottle. This is no experiment, and would be disastrous to the proprietors, did they not know it would invariably cure. Many of the best physicians are now using it in their practice with great results, and are relying on it in most severe cases. It is guaranteed. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.

FIRED ON OUR SAILORS

United States Steamer Bancroft Shot at in Smyrna.

TURKEY HAS APOLOGIZED

The Porte Also Dismisses and Imprisons Two Officers—Dr. Angell Protests and Secures Prompt Reparation for the Firing.

Constantinople, Turkey, Dec. 22.—It appears that when the United States steamer Bancroft arrived at Smyrna, during the night of Dec. 4, she was greeted with a blank cannon shot and rifle bullets from the fort of Yenikale. A boat from the war ship, sent shorewards to ask for explanations, was fired upon and compelled to return.

Thereupon the American Admiral lodged a protest with the United States Minister here, Dr. James B. Angell, who demanded the punishment of the guilty parties and an apology from the Turkish Government, which was given on Sunday last. In addition two Turkish officers were dismissed and sentenced to a week's arrest.

The entry of ships into Smyrna at night is prohibited, but on this occasion the lamps in the outer lighthouses were still burning, and the Bancroft stopped when the requisite signals were made.

Not Regarded of Great Importance.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The Navy Department has received news of the firing on the Bancroft from the State Department, which had been informed through Minister Angell, at Constantinople of the outcome of the incident. The matter was not regarded as of great importance. In fact, several instances have occurred within the memory of naval officers stationed at the department of just such arbitrary efforts to enforce vexatious port regulations which are common to Oriental seaports.

A similar rule is applied at Havana, where the guns of Morro Castle do not hesitate to fire at any vessel passing in or out of the harbor after nightfall. The Russians established a similar rule (though more liberal in scope) at Vladivostock, the great Pacific fortress, after the guards had awakened one foggy morning to find that a large British squadron was lying under the guns of the forts, having entered unseen in the night.

WOMAN'S TALE OF MURDER.

"The Woman in Black" Makes a Confession in the Kaiser Case.

Norristown, Pa., Dec. 22.—The hearing of James A. Clemmer and Elizabeth K. De Kalb, the two alleged accomplices of Charles O. Kaiser, in the murder of his wife, Emma P. Kaiser, on Oct. 28, 1896, took place before Magistrate Lenhardt yesterday.

Mrs. Kaiser was shot while riding with her husband on a lonely road near here. The alleged motive for the crime was the desire to secure $10,000 insurance on her life. Kaiser has been sentenced to death for the murder.

District Attorney Strassburger refused to permit Clemmer to waive a hearing, and, after a few minor witnesses had been examined, Miss De Kalb, the "woman in black," went on the stand and told the story of her life and the plans of the conspiracy. Her story was of a startling nature and most damaging to Clemmer. The latter listened with great attention to her words, but remained calm and cool under the trying ordeal.

She told of a plan which Clemmer and Kaiser had agreed upon for getting Mrs. Kaiser out of the way. This was to chloroform the woman and set fire to the bed. This plan, she said, was not carried out, because Kaiser lost his nerve. Miss De Kalb told of several carriage rides she had with Mrs. Kaiser, the majority of which were planned by Clemmer. On all of these unforeseen circumstances happened which the commonwealth believed delayed the murder of Mrs. Kaiser. Her description of the drive which ended in the murder was minute and was attentively listened to.

For the testimony given it is believed the commonwealth will allow her to enter a plea of accessory after the fact. It was thought to be impossible to convict Clemmer without Miss De Kalb's evidence, hence the abandonment of the original intention to prosecute both as principals.

CUBAN WAR STATISTICS.

Statement from the Spaniards Concerning Losses on Both Sides.

Havana, Dec. 22.—It is announced from the palace that during the last ten days the insurgents have lost 303 men killed and that, in addition, the Spanish troops have captured seventeen prisoners and sixty-nine armed insurgents have surrendered. The troops, it is further announced, have captured ninety-six firearms during this time. Among the killed, the official statement continues, are three insurgent leaders and three officers of the insurgent forces.

The Spanish troops during the same period, according to the official statistics, lost three officers and thirty-three soldiers killed and had thirteen officers and 213 soldiers killed.

Bank Clerk Arrested.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 22.—Julius A. Brose, discount clerk in the State Banking Company here, was arrested yesterday afternoon on the charge of having embezzled $7,200. He is a single man, 29 years of age. A short time ago the banking officials noticed a deficiency in the funds of the bank, and a firm of New York experts traced the thefts to Brose, and at the conclusion of the investigations reported that he was short $7,200.

Wants to Die in Evening Dress.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 22.—James Mingle, recently convicted of having murdered the babe, Dollie Briscoe, and her mother, Mary Briscoe, wants to die in evening dress. Sheriff Baxter, when told of this request, replied that the county was not in the habit of decorating its murderers, and was inclined to the belief that he would be executed with the clothes he now wears, unless he himself made arrangements for others.

December 23—Parliamentary Club meets at Y. M. C. A. 10 a. m.

AT TRENTON.

There was a private conference between Governor Griggs, Senator Sewell, William Bettle and Speaker-to-be Watkins in the executive chamber of the State House yesterday, and when it ended the Governor announced that he would appoint all of the County Judges and prosecutors where vacancies would occur in 1898 before he resigned as Governor.

The contest over the secretaryship of the Senate was ended today when Senator H. W. Johnson, of Camden, announced that George A. Frey, of Camden, had distanced all competitors and would get the place.

The Assembly caucus today resulted in the choice of John H. Flavel for sergeant-at-arms, and ex-Assemblyman T. J. Jones for clerk. Both men are from Essex.

The idea of former Councilman John Valiant of offering cash prizes to the scholars of the borough public school as an incentive for the best mastery of their studies, is one that cannot be praised too highly. Too often pupils only strive to acquire just enough to permit them to pass their examinations in various studies, but with the honor and recompense attached to the prizes generously offered by Mr. Valiant there will be induced a steadier application to their school work—in this case, mathematics—than would be the case otherwise.

One has but to make a tour of the stores now to be reminded that Christmas is but a little way off. Every tradesman has his place decked out in holiday display, while hordes of shoppers and retinues of clerks are busily engaged in the practice of buying and selling, and bringing good cheer generally to the land. Of all the seasons of the year the holidays pass all too soon

NEW JERSEY'S CORPORATION TAX.

Easily Collected Assessments That Make a State Tax Unnecessary.

It takes $1,800,000 to pay the yearly expenses of running New Jersey's State Government. Besides there are yearly appropriations for State institutions aggregating about $300,000. To meet this large expenditure there is no State tax. The money comes from the corporations which are incorporated in or do business in the State.

In the report of the State Board of Assessors, just submitted to the Governor, it is shown that the taxes assessed upon the railroad and miscellaneous corporations for the past year aggregate $2,180,542.37. This is for the use of the State. Besides there is an assessment of $402,578.05 against second-class railroad property, which is distributed among the municipalities in which the property is situated. More than one-half, or $1,104,346.85, of the tax for State purposes is derived from the railroad and canal companies.

The Pennsylvania Railroad system is the largest taxpayer, turning in $314,293 13; the Central Railroad of New Jersey pays $232,182.76, and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western $200,530.75. The five life insurance companies of the State are the heaviest taxpayers after the railroads. They pay $152,534 78. The miscellaneous corporations are assessed for $857,730.67 tax on their capital stock. The assessment on the large corporations is sure to be paid, but there is a heavy loss on the miscellaneous corporations, some of which never go further than incorporation, while others go out of business, and upon failing to pay the tax assessed against them are deprived of their charters by proclamation of the Governor. Several hundred of them are yearly wiped out, but there are enough new concerns to make up for the loss.

PASSING COMMENT.

A Plainfield man who is interested in bicycle matters is taking a poll of his friends to discover which is the more popular, the chain-geared or the chainless wheel. He has recorded several hundred votes so far, and the result shows a decided majority in favor of the old style, chained-geared wheel.

The first Baptist church in New Jersey was erected at Middletown, in Monmouth county. It was a child of the first in America, the one in Rhode Island, and the pioneers from this colony, who settled at Middletown under the Nicoll's Patent, given in 1665, organized the church there. It was the beginning of the great Baptist movement, which spread to the south and southwest.

As an evidence of the strength of the Master Horseshoers' Association, recently organized in this city, an incident is related where a Plainfield cartman went to New York recently with a load of furniture. On the road one of the team of horses lost a shoe and the driver waited until he reached New York before attempting to get another shoe. In the city he called at several blacksmith shops, but the proprietors would not put a shoe on the horse because the other shoes did not bear the union mark. The man was unable to have a shoe put on the foot in the city, and soon afterward he was arrested for driving a lame footed horse. As a result it cost the Plainfielder about $15 to get out of his trouble.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manuufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

An Important Remedy.

Everything considered, it is probable that Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the most important remedy you can know about. Its uses are many and the complaints it cures are those that cannot be neglected.

It Repairs

broken-down conditions of the system, cures wasting diseases, obstinate throat and lung troubles, and increases flesh, strength and energy.

Most any Emulsion is good, but ours is more desirable because it is always fresh and because we supply the usual dollar quantity for 50 cents.

THEATRICAL.

Manager Maze Edwards is determined to present clean, wholesome attractions for his holiday bills at Music Hall, and in his selection for Christmas has been very successful. By special arrangement with the famous comedian, Roland Reed, he has secured the sparkling comedy, "Lend Me Your Wife," in which Mr. Reed starred an entire season. It will be produced here Christmas matinee and night by a carefully-selected cast of New York favorites, headed by James Darling, who for many seasons has been Mr. Reed's understudy and has so often appeared when Mr. Reed has been indisposed. The present company has been playing the comedy for several weeks, so it is no "snap" affair, and all attending may be assured of "a good show." Reserved seat tickets are now ready at box office. A specialty will be observed in the matinee prices, which are fixed at 50 cents for all seats on lower floor, and same will be reserved.

FIRST WEDDING IN FORTY YEARS.

Piscatawaytown Church to be the Scene of a Nuptial Ceremony.

For forty years there has been no wedding celebrated in the ancient church in more ancient Piscataway-town, known as St. James Episcopal church. But now the long spell is to be broken, for it is announced that Wednesday, December 29th, at high noon, Rev. E. B. Joyce, of Christ church, will unite in marriage Miss Alice Lyon Dixon and Wilfred Roberts Woodward.

Mr. Woodward is the head teacher in the Piscataway-town school and Miss Dixon is the organist in the church. The people in Piscataway-town are very much interested in the event and December 29th promises to be a red letter day.

Gifts for the Holiday Season.

At this festive time of the year the wonderful display of holiday goods in the various establishments outrivals a dream of Fairyland. Things useful and ornamental are displayed on every hand. The taste of everyone who purchases Christmas gifts can be gratified. The profusion of beautiful wares is marvelous to behold. It would be interesting to know how many pianos are sold for presents at this time, how many homes are made more beautiful through their influence. A visit to the piano warerooms of J. & C. Fischer, in New York, would repay those who are interested, or those who desire to purchase a high grade piano.

Shakespeare's Advice.

The man with the faint heart who yet aspires to win the fair lady, should remember Shakespeare's words: "Win her with gifts, if she respect not words; dumb jewels often, in their silent way, more than quick words, do move a woman's mind." and the best place to get these jewels in their latest settings and at the very lowest rates is at Collier's, 105 Park avenue.

CHICAGO MAKES A BID.

Wants the Armor-Plate Plant Built in That City.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—"If the Government decides upon constructing an armor-plate plant Chicago will make a bid for its location on the shores of Lake Michigan," said Congressman Lorimer in an interview.

"There is a vast deal of rivalry in this matter," continued Mr. Lorimer. "To my certain knowledge Pittsburg, Newport News, Philadelphia, Milwaukee and Waukegan are making preparations for bidding. None of them, however, can offer the advantages that Chicago will be able to place before the Government when the time comes.

"In this connection I will mention a matter that has not heretofore been made public. Before I introduced the bill in Congress to let a twenty-year contract for armor plate at $200 a ton a number of business men of Chicago who did not desire to have their names appear in this connection came to me and told me they would donate to the Government all the land necessary providing the plant be located here. They went further and authorized me to assure the Government that for ten years they would make up the difference in the rates of transportation from here to the shipyards as between those from any other point asking for the plant. This would be a great saving, and the item will have weight. The men who made this proposition are leaders in the business enterprises of Chicago and are also identified with the principal railroad and steamboat interests of the country. Before I return to Washington I shall call upon them and learn if they are in the same mood. I have no doubt they are.

"There is no surmising when the bill will come up. There is considerable opposition to what is termed the Government going into business. While there are those opposed to paying the prevailing prices for armor plate, yet these same men are averse to a Government plant.

"The House is largely in favor of the latter, but as it cannot originate the measure the mode of procedure will be about as follows: The Committee on Naval Affairs will recommend an appropriation fixing the price of plate at $400 per ton. The House will cut this down to about $300. Then it will go to the Senate, where it is hoped the appropriation will be stricken out altogether and a report in favor of the construction of a plant by the Government indorsed. Should it come back to the House in that shape we can then get at it, and the probable result will be its location in Chicago."

Mr. Lorimer added that the manufacture of armor plate would not be the only industry connected with the plant. In connection with it will be an arsenal and the manufacture of large and small arms.

THIEF GOT $10,000

Bundle of Bills Stolen from an Express Company in Columbia.

Columbia, S. C., Dec. 22.—The police of this city have just learned that the office of the Southern Express Company here was robbed of $10,000 in cash on Sunday night. The theft was kept secret by the company's officers, who hoped to catch the thief and recover the money without making the affair public. By informing the police at this time the officers virtually confess that they are at a loss for clews.

A stranger on Saturday evening entered the company's office and asked a number of questions of the only clerk there. He was standing near the stove, when the clerk went out on the street for a moment. When the clerk returned the man ran out of the door, jumped into a hack and drove rapidly away. The clerk on making an investigation found that the stranger had taken with him a bundle of bills amounting to $10,000, which was lying in the safe. He gave chase to the hack, but was soon left behind.

Superintendent Sader, when informed of the robbery, secured a special train and made the run from Charlotte to this place with all possible speed. With him was a force of detectives, who at once went to work. Seemingly they have accomplished nothing.

The thief is believed to be one of the members of an organized gang, as on Sunday Allen's jewelry store was robbed by a party of three or four men, all strangers.

This is the first big express robbery that has occurred in the State, and every effort will be made to capture the thief and his friends, who, it is believed, were in waiting outside while he was in the office engaging the express company's clerk in conversation.

Berlin, Germany, Dec. 22.—Princess Hohenlohe, wife of the Imperial Chancellor, is dead. She had been suffering from inflammation of the lungs.

Princess Hohenlohe, who was born Feb. 16, 1829, was formerly Princess Marie Von Sayn-Wittgenstein-Borleburg. She was married on Feb. 16, 1847, to Prince Von Hohenlohe-Schillingsfurst. They had four children, three sons and a daughter.

Costly War on De Armitt.

Pittsburg, Dec. 22.—The war upon De Armitt has been a costly one to the miners. Already $17,000 has been paid out, according to Secretary Warner's report, and on account of insufficient contributions being received, the association still owes a total of $2,200. This does not include money due strikers still in need of support. Warner says that to have properly conducted the war would have required $10,000 a week.

NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED IN UP-TO-DATE LAUNDRY WORK.

We run the laundry and take care of all details, but you "boss" it. We do what you tell us to do. It may give you a new sensation to find that you get a domestic finish when you ask for it, and to discover that your collars are actually ironed in the way that the maker intended them to be ironed.

We are running a laundry with the most improved methods and appliances. We use pure water and good soap. We are using two things that are not commonly used in laundries—care and intelligence. If you have found a laundry that pleases you perfectly, we have nothing to say to you. If you have any reason to be dissatisfied, we would like to give you a practical demonstration of our way of running a laundry.

Tell us where and when to call for your work, when you want it delivered, and let us know any particular thing that you would like to have done with it.

We want you to understand that we are running this laundry for you, and that your wishes are to be regarded in every particular. We will give you just exactly what you want, if we can find out what that is. Perhaps you believe that it is impossible to have your laundry well handled without irritation and annoyance to you. We are sure that you are mistaken. May we have an opportunity of demonstrating it?

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., Dec. 6th, 1897.

AN ORDINANCE

concerning the appointment and compensation of Overseer of the Poor and Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation.

WHEREAS, it was enacted by an Act of the Legislature approved March 26, th 1892, that in all cities of the second class in this State, it shall and may be lawful for the Common Council to provide for the appointment of one Overseer of the Poor and three Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation, to be appointed by the Mayor, by and with the consent of the Common Council, and that the offices of such Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation now existing in said cities shall be abolished upon the appointment of said officers under said act, and by Act of March 28th, 1893, the term of office of Overseer of the Poor is fixed at three years.

AND WHEREAS, the Common Council has determined and hereby determines to proceed under said statutes:

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That pursuant to the Act of the Legislature in such case made and provided, the Mayor shall nominate, and by and with the consent of the Common Council, appoint three Commissioners of Appeal in cases of taxation on or before the first Monday in February, A. D. 1898, and at the time of such appointment shall designate the term for each of said Commissioners, one of whom shall be appointed for a term to begin on said first Monday in February next, and to expire one year from that time; the second for a term to begin on said first Monday in February next, and to expire two years from that time; and the third for a term to begin on said first Monday in February next, and to expire three years from that time; and annually thereafter, at or before the expiration of the term of any Commissioner, his successor shall be appointed in the manner aforesaid for the term of three years.

Section 2. That not more than a bare majority of such Board of Commissioners shall at any time be members of one political party, or be appointed from the same Ward. The compensation to be paid to each of said Commissioners shall be the sum of Five Dollars a day for every day he shall have attended on the hearing and determining of appeals in cases of taxation.

Section 3. That pursuant to said Acts of the Legislature hereinabove referred to, the Mayor shall nominate, and by and with the consent and advice of the Common Council appoint one Overseer of the Poor, on the first Monday in February, A. D. 1898, for the term of three years, and until the qualification of his successor, which said Overseer of the Poor shall possess such powers and perform such duties as are prescribed by the laws and ordinances in force in the City of Plainfield respecting the office of Overseer of the Poor, that hereafter, all nominations and appointments of Overseer of the Poor shall be, as required by said Acts of the Legislature, for the term of three years, and until the qualification of a successor in said office and at the times of such appointments respectively, the salary of the Overseer of the Poor shall be fixed, as now provided by law.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., Dec. 6, 1897.

AN ORDINANCE

to amend an Ordinance entitled "An Ordinance relating to the construction of buildings," approved Jan. 3d, 1896, amended Dec. 8th, 1896.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

That Section 32 of the ordinance cited in the title to this ordinance be and the same is hereby amended by adding to the first paragraph of said section, after the words, "slate, metal or terra cotta," the words following, that is to say, "or other fire proof material first approved by the Inspector of Buildings."

Scalp Treatment! Ladies, ATTENTION!

E. Joycelyn Geisinger,

SCALP SPECIALIST,

is now in Plainfield, and solicits your patronage. Her method is recommended by the most prominent physicians in New York city, as well as those in your own city. Treatments are thoroughly scientific in every particular, consisting of massage, steaming, singing and shampooing. If you are troubled with thin or falling hair or any scalp affection, give this series of treatment your early attention. Kapa Kota preparations, which are used in treating, are delightfully invigorating and refreshing. For sale at Armstrong's Pharmacy, Park avenue. All appointments must be made a week ahead. A Tale of Divorce.

Its Author Prostrated By Overwork.

Hammersmith is a suburb of London. Its inhabitants are interested in Mrs. Ellen B Wayne, a young woman of literary tastes who lost her health through overwork. Her color left her, her appetite gradually disappeared, she became sleepless, nervous and restless, she was so exhausted, that after working at her table for four consecutive hours, she fainted while writing "A Tale of Divorce." Her physician said, "she has nearly divorced body from soul, she need iron."

Five weeks later the story was published and Mrs. Wayne, through taking Capsuloids alone, had become one of the rosiest of English women.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50 or sent direct at the same price by The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 105 Fulton Street, New York.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Dec. 22.—James B. Griner, ex-Representative in the State Legislature from this city and of late proprietor of the Pullman House at Duryea, shot and killed his step-daughter yesterday. Griner had been in financial trouble, and yesterday morning Attorney Eugene Ward went up from this city and closed his hotel on an execution amounting to $2,000.

After this had been done Griner took a train for Scranton and bought a revolver there. Coming back to the hotel he began abusing his wife and daughter. A family quarrel followed, which attracted the attention of the neighbors.

Then came three shots, and the neighbors rushed in to find Caroline Shiffer, the step-daughter, lying on the floor, her mother bending over her and Griner standing near with a revolver in his hand. Three shots had taken effect in the body of the young woman.

Griner did not try to escape, but submitted to arrest, and was at once taken to Pittston for a hearing before Squire Loftus. Later he was brought to the County Jail in this city. He would not talk to the policeman.

Griner has been a well-known figure in Luzerne County politics for years. He ran against and defeated Daniel L. Hart, the playwright, in the legislative election in Wilkesbarre in 1894.

SIXTY-TWO CARS WRECKED.

$75,000 Damage Done and Three Lives Lost.

Altoona, Pa., Dec. 22.—As a result of Monday night's freight wreck, which was caused by a runaway train on the Pennsylvania Railroad, three men lost their lives and damage to the extent of $75,000 was done to locomotives and freight and passenger cars of the Pennsylvania company. The dead are: S. Kuster, Hagerstown, Ind.; Charles J. Numer, brakeman; S. C. Corbin, brakeman.

Kuster died a few minutes after midnight, after being removed to the hospital. The bodies of Numer and Corbin were not recovered from the wreckage until yesterday morning. Numer could be heard talking for four hours after the wreck occurred, but could not be reached until after the mass of debris had crushed him to death. The body of Corbin was found in a pile of debris, thirty feet in the air. He lay under the roof of a car and was probably instantly killed.

One locomotive was completely and two others were partially destroyed. Four passenger coaches and fifty-eight loaded freight cars were completely wrecked. Besides this lass the damage to the merchandise with which the cars were loaded is heavy.

MAUD GONNE INSULTED?

Story that Vice-President Hobart Was Rude to Her.

Washington, Dec. 22.—A story is going the rounds here which is calculated to do Vice-President Hobart harm. It is in connection with the visit paid to the Vice-President by Miss Maud Gonne, the Irish lecturer.

The call on the Vice-President was not a lengthy one, and certain members of the committee have since said that Miss Gonne was brusquely treated by Mr. Hobart. They say his manner was bluff to the extent of rudeness. It is said that he bluffly demanded what she was doing in this country, whether she came for love, fame or fortune, if she were single or married, and wound up the conversation by telling Miss Gonne to take a lot of her countrymen back to Ireland with her.

Vice-President Hobart says:

"There must surely be some mistake. I was charmed with the young lady. Of course, the conversation was not a serious one. I do not remember everything that was said. I believe I did joke about such a charming young lady being single. But I can remember nothing that might be construed as offensive."

Big Fire in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Dec. 22.—The Auditorium, the largest and finest playhouse west of Chicago, and the Auditorium Hotel, one of the most fashionable family hotels in the city, situated at Holmes and Ninth streets, were gutted by fire that started in the theatre shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning. The 106 guests, many of them children, escaped in safety. The loss on the property, which is owned by Alexander Frazer, a local business man, will aggregate $450,000. The insurance is $85,000. The Auditorium was built in 1886 by Col. George W. Warder at a cost of $350,000. It was named the Warder Grand Opera House and was opened by Booth and Barrett.

Revolt Against Civil Service.

Boise, Idaho, Dec. 22.—Surveyor-General Joseph Perault is in revolt against the Civil Service law and the Interior Department. He has received notice that Frank C. Whitthorne has been transferred by the Interior Department from the Surveyor-General's office in the State of Washington to the office here under the civil-service rules. Mr. Perault has written the department that he will not permit Whitthorne to take a place in his office. He does not propose, he says, to have any employes sent to him under the civil-service rules or any other rules.

Milk Trust Formed.

New York, Dec. 22.—The Milk Trust, which proposes to supply New York and Brooklyn with milk under conditions which, it is alleged, will reduce the cost to the consumer and insure a better grade of the product, has become an accomplished fact. Articles of incorporation have been filed in Trenton, N. J., and all that remains to be done is to arrange the details for the conduct of the retail business. The new corporation is to be known as "The Farmers' Dairy and Produce Company," and it is capitalized at $15,000,000.

Looks to the Church.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Ex-Queen Liliuokalani is directing all her energies toward the cultivation of the Catholic prelates at the capital. During the past few months she has been assiduous in attending all Catholic functions to which she could arrange an invitation by any method of diplomacy. There are rumors that she is on the point of declaring her conversion to the Catholic faith

BRITAIN TO AID CHINA

Naval Demonstration to Be Made to Warn Germany and Russia.

JAPAN FOLLOWS ENGLAND

The Latter Does Not Mean to Let the Celestial Empire Be Cut Up Unless Consulted—Czar Offers to Pay the Mikado.

London, Dec. 22. — The British squadron will make a demonstration at Chefoo, on the northeast of the Shantung Promontory, a Shanghai dispatch reports, as a warning. It is supposed that Great Britain intends to oppose the division of China without consulting her.

It is reported there that Russia has offered China a loan to pay off the indemnity of the war with Japan, and it is believed, the dispatch says, that Japan and England are acting in concert to preserve China from disintegration, favoring the idea of a protectorate over Central China, with a capital at Nanking.

It is rumored also, the dispatch alleges, that a large Russian military force is coming overland from Siberia.

A Germano-Chinese commission has been arranged, Shanghai hears, to settle the boundaries of the occupied district at Kiao Chou. It is evident, therefore, that the occupation will be permanent.

The British intend to occupy Ta-lien-wan, south of Port Arthur, in order to guard the Gulf of Pe-chi-li.

FRENCH SHIP GOES TO CHINA.

The Cruiser Jean Bart Ordered to Proceed at Once.

London, Dec. 22.—A special dispatch from Brest says the French cruiser Jean Bart has been ordered to proceed immediately to China.

Shanghai, Dec. 22.—The German admiral commanding at Kiao Chou Bay refuses to admit newspaper men within the German lines. There have been no further developments at Kiao Chou. All is quiet here.

The Jean Bart, above referred to, is rated as a second-class cruiser. She is of over four thousand tons displacement, is 346 feet long, has forty-three feet beam and her estimated speed is nineteen knots. She has an armored deck four inches in thickness, mounts four 6.2-inch quick firing guns, six 5.5-inch guns, fourteen 2.5-inch guns, and has nine guns of smaller calibre. Her crew numbers 332 men.

Japan's Two New Cruisers.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The two new cruisers which Japan is having built in this country will be launched within a short time. The cruiser at Cramp's ship yards at Philadelphia has been christened the Kasagi-Kan, and the launching has been set for Jan. 20.

The cruiser at the Union Iron Works, at San Francisco, has been named the Chitose. The launching will occur some time in February. Both cruisers have a tonnage of about five thousand tons each, and the contracts call for a speed of twenty-two knots.

Berlin Paper Talks of Force.

Berlin, Dec. 22.—The Norddeutsche Allegemeine Zeitung, in the course of another article on the attitude of non-European powers toward Germany, especially with reference to Hayti's action "under the mistaken idea she would be supported by America," says:

"The case of Cuba shows how the Monroe doctrine should be met. Everything depends upon whether the application of the doctrine finds itself limited by the right of nations in the form of a line or ironclads, with an armament of guns."

FIRE THEIR WEAPON.

Indians Threaten to Burn the United States Court.

Wichita, Kan., Dec. 22.—Information has been received at the office of the United States Marshal at South McAlester, I. T., to the effect that the lawless element among the Indians has formed a conspiracy to burn up the United States Court House there and all other United States Court buildings in the Indian Territory.

The Indians are growing more restive as the first of January approaches, as upon that day all of their tribal courts are abolished, and the Federal courts have jurisdiction over all the litigation affecting Indians.

Under the Indian law one Indian cannot sue another for debt of any nature. There are vast numbers of notes held by shrewd Indians against their less provident brethren, now collectable, which can be sued on and collected as soon as the Indians come in under the Federal law. It will ruin many thousands of Indians who have heretofore been considered wealthy.

Conference on Miners' Wages.

Pittsburg, Dec. 22.—The joint convention of miners and coal operators, called to fix the wage rate for the ensuing six months, met here yesterday. Twenty-nine operators and 100 delegates of the miners' organization attended. A plan which was practically agreed upon will be carried out. No attempt will be made now to fix the wage rate.

Action on this important matter will be deferred, as it has been decided to hold an inter-State conference in Columbus, Ohio, about Jan. 15. Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and West Virginia will be represented at this meeting. The afternoon session yesterday was devoted to a discussion of the details of the arrangements for this conference.

Jimmy Barry Discharged.

London, Dec. 22.—Jimmy Barry, of Chicago, the bantam-weight champion, and the others arrested in connection with the fatal fight at the National Sporting Club on Dec. 6 last, have been released from custody, the public prosecutor refusing to take up the case.

Bryan Safe for China.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Senators who have seen President McKinley regarding the appointment of Charles Page Bryan as Minister to China find he has no intention of reconsidering the appointment.

"BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW."

Do you ever ask yourself why you keep chickens?

Is it for pleasure? If so, would not a little profit add to the pride and pleasure?

Possibly it is because you wish to be sure of absolutely fresh eggs on your table. If so, would you not prefer to get the eggs during the winter rather than in the spring, "when everybody's eggs are fresh?"

We can make bricks in these days without straw but no one can make hens lay eggs in the winter months unless he supplies special foods and care.

We aim to carry in our different stores everything that is necessary for the "Business Hen"—that is, the hen that pays for her board—and we would be pleased to hear from either large or small poultry raisers.

Among other things we would suggest:

Granulated Charcoal,	Poultry Feed,
Ground Oyster Shells,	Buckwheat Grain,
Chicken & Pigeon Grit,	Barley,
Granulated Bone,	Hemp Seed,
Meat Meal,	Millet Seed,
Clover Heads,	Sheridan's Powder.

SPORTS

STRIKES AND SPARES.

Last evening on the Ulrich bowling alleys the Knob Hill team beat the Lyceum team by the score of 1449 to 1375. Some very good individual scores were made and the contest was a lively one from start to finish. Soden was high man on the Knob Hill team, with a score of 171, while Gallagher, of the Lyceum team, made the high score of 177 for his side. There will be prize bowling on the above alleys Christmas Eve, and no doubt there will be a large crowd present. Below will be found the scores of last evening's game:

WITH ROD AND GUN.

James Gunn, William Wyckoff and Job Swain, of the borough, spent one day last week hunting at Summit, and they returned with 23 rabbits.

Constable in a Plight.

Constable Mattox is in a predicament. Several days ago he distrained a cart and wagon in the suit of John Welch against Alvan Mefford, in Justice Nash's court. The goods levied on were in the barn of Mr. Graves at the corner of Liberty and South Second streets, and are now claimed by Eugene Baus, a son in-law of Mefford. The first case was started by Welch's lawyer, Irving L. Brady. Now William Newcorn, lawyer for Baus, threatens legel proceedings for his client unless the goods taken are returned at once. Constable Mattox does not exactly know what to do and can only wait developements.

Wants a Liquor License.

Fred W. Hand, of North Plainfield, expects to apply to the Middlesex County Court for a license to run a wholesale liquor establishment in Dunellen. There is a vigorous protest against the license. This expression of opinion will be sent to the court at New Brunswick. It is thought that the number of drinking places in the borough are sufficient for the demand.

Must Hustle to Escape Penalty.

Contractor Patsy Christmas has not made much progress with the Stelle avenue sanitary sewer during the last two days on account of the storm. According to his contract he is bound to complete the work this month under penalty of paying $10 a day for every day over that time, and he has been notified that he must hustle up the work or the penalty will be enforced.

For Sweet Teeth.

One of the merchants of this city who are making a creditable display of holiday goods is A. Lusardi, whose stores are on North avenue and on the corner of Front and Somerset street. The stock includes a fine display of Christmas candies, selected fruits and nuts, which are being sold at prices that please the buyers of such goods.

FELL ON A SLIPPERY WALK.

Mrs. W. H. Brown, of Kensington Avenue, Met With an Accident.

Mrs. W. H. Brown, of 455 Kensington avenue, slipped on a slippery board in her dooryard this morning and fell, cutting a deep gash in her scalp.

She went out in the yard to feed the chickens and the light fall of snow hid some ice that had formed on the board walk. She slipped on it and fell. It is supposed that she struck her head against a stone, for a cut several inches long was made.

She lay on the ground unconscious for half an hour and then recovered. The shock of the fall had temporarily paralyzed her and she could not move.

Her husband was working in the barn close by, but he is somewhat deaf and did not hear her screams. He found her, however, when he came out of the barn and carried her to the house.

She recovered the use of her limbs soon after. She had carried a pail of water when she fell and the contents of the pail had saturated her clothing. Her scalp wound was a serious but not dangerous one.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Thomas McDonald, of the borough, a student at Hackettstown Institute, is spending the holiday season at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard McDonald, of Harmony street.

Invitations were been issued today for the wedding reception of Miss Margaret M. Rocap and William MacGowan Jenkins, Tuesday evening, January 4th, 1898, at the home of the Misses Rocap, 615 Central avenue. The wedding ceremony will be private.

Y. M. C. A. to Hold "Open House."

Ever since the opening of the new building of the Plainfield Young Men's Christian Association, it has been the custom of the association to hold "open house" New Year's Day. This year the Y. M. C. A. will keep "open house" New Year's Day from 3 to 5 o'clock p. m. There will be exercises in the gymnasium and a basket ball game. Instrumental music will entertain the visitors in another part of the building.

Admitted Giving Ficticious Name.

The alleged shop-lifter in New York, who gave her name as Mrs. Annie Johnson, and who claimed to come from Plainfield, has acknowledged that the name and address that she gave were ficticious. It is now conceded that she does not live in Plainfield, although she is somewhat acquainted with the streets in this city.

The Mayor to Act as Host.

Next Tuesday evening, at the Union County Country Club, Mayor Fisk will entertain the members of the 1898 Council at dinner.

The marriage of Miss Lucy Dayton, of South Plainfield, and George Schenck, of Metuchen, will take place this evening at the home of the bride. A number of people from this city will witness the happy event.

SAVED BY THEIR WHEELBARROWS.

Floated on Them Until the Water Subsided and Then Wheeled Them Back.

"Speaking about storms," said Capt. William Dunbar Jenkins of the Aransas Pas Harbor Company, "one hears all sorts of stories about the cyclones which have from time to time ravaged the Gulf coast. It was in 1886 that a very severe storm blew in the vicinity of Rockport, and it was during the blow that several miles of the sand and shell embankment reared by Col. Uriah Lott, the builder of the San Antonio and Aransas Pass road, was washed into the bay. Col. Lott employed a large number of Mexicans, and many of these poor fellows were camped on the embankment. When morning dawned, after the cyclone, scores of them were missing and it was thought drowned.

"As a matter of fact and considerable surprise, not a single Mexican lost his life. For days afterward they could be seen coming across the sand marsh, each man wheeling his wheelbarrow. When the men realized that they were doomed to risk a watery grave, every son-of-a-gun of them grasped his wheelbarrow and floated away in it. The barrows all grounded as the water subsided, and the Mexicans made for the coast, and in the direction of what remained of the embankment. Work was not again resumed on the roadbed, but large sections of the work are still noticeable along the bay coast."—New Orleans Times Democrat.

Siberia's Snow Flowers.

Travelers in Siberia tell of the wonderful flower that grows there, and which blooms only in January, when the winter is at its height. The blossom has something of the characteristics of a "morning-glory," lasting only a single day. The flower, when it opens, is star-shaped, its petals of the same length as the leaves, and about half an inch in width. On the third day the extremities of the anthers, which are five in number, show minute, glistening specks, veritable vegetable diamonds, about the size of a pin's head—these are the seed of the flower. A Russian nobleman named Anthoskoff took a number of the seeds to St. Petersburg. They were placed in a pot of snow and frozen earth. On the coldest day of the following January the miraculous flower burst through its icy covering and displayed its beauties to the wondering scientists. The plant has been very appropriately named "the snow flower."

AN INDUSTRIAL HELP.

NEW BOARD OF TRADE B-ING ORGANIZED BY CHARLES HAND.

It Will Endeavor to Bring Manufacturing Enterprises to This City and Prevent the Outflow of Local Capital.

The problem of how to keep Plainfield capital at home and advance the general commercial interests seems in a fair way to be solved within a short time, as a movement is now on foot to organize a new Board of Trade to be conducted on up-to-date, aggressive lines. The movement, which has been in contemplation for some time, has enlisted the sympathies and support of many representative business men.

Among the friends of the new movement are many members of the present Board of Trade who, while they recognize the good work that the organization has done, are willing to forward any movement designed to advance the interests of the city. It is possible that when the organization of the new board is complete there will be a consolidation which will leave but one body bearing the name "Board of Trade."

The friends of the new movement are now preparing the necessary papers stating its aims and methods.

The object of the new organization, as explained to a Daily Press reporter yesterday, will be to advance in every possible way the welfare of this city. It will endeavor to bring manufacturing enterprises to locate in Plainfield, will protect local merchants, and will bend its energies toward preventing the outflow of capital. As has already been stated in The Daily Press, between $7,000 and $10,000 is paid by Plainfielders every month into out of town organizations, such as building and loan association. An effort will be made to prevent this by providing more and better local investments for those in this city who have large or small sums of money to invest. A meeting will probably be called in the early part of next month to perfect the organization.

Last evening the following proposition was drawn up and presented to many of the local business men by Charles H. Hand:

A PROPOSITION for the organization and maintenance of a Board of Trade, to facilitate business in the City of Plainfield and the Borough of North Plainfield.

We, the following named citizens and business men of the City of Plainfield and the Borough of North Plainfield, do hereby agree to become members of a Board of Trade, to be organized in the City of Plainfield, and to pay an initiation fee of $1 and monthly dues of 50 cents each, for the support and maintenance of the above mentioned board.

The officers of the association for the year One Thousand, Eight Hundred and Ninety-eight, will be as follows:

President—
First Vice-President—James C. Pope.
Second Vice-President—George Kyte.
Secretary—
Treasurer—Frank S. Runyon.
Business Manager—Charles H. Hand.
Attorney—William R. Codington.

There will also be a board of trustees, which will be made up of the following named gentlemen: George J. Tobin.

The object of the Board of Trade will be to promote and assist business interests in the city of Plainfield and in the borough of North Plainfield; to encourage manufacturing companies to locate their plants in our city and borough and thereby create a business revival.

By this method, capital, which is now finding investment in other cities, will be kept in our own town, thereby giving to our mechanics and business men the $10,000 (or thereabout) that is monthly leaving our city and borough and is being invested in other cities.

The Board of Trade will have rooms in this city, where they will hold weekly meetings and special meetings when necessary. They will also have an office in New York, where New York and Brooklyn people and the heads of manufacturing companies, desirous of locating in Plainfield or the borough, can receive all information necessary to further the interests of the city and borough.

The proposition found many signers among the business men and the circulation will be continued. The vacancies in the list of officers and the Board of Trustees will be completed at the meeting for organization.

Glee Club Trip.

Raymond A. McGee started with the Yale Glee Club on their western trip yesterday morning. The club gave a concert in Brooklyn last night and gives another in Philadelphia tonight. Tomorrow the club goes to Pittsburg, where they will combine with the Princeton Glee Club to give a joint concert.

A Christmas Service.

Saturday morning from 10 to 11 o'clock a Christian Endeavor service appropriate to Christmastide will be held in the Park Avenue Baptist church. The leader will probably be Horace J. Martin. All Christian Endeavorers and others are invited to attend the service.

A SCHOOL RECEPTION.

A Pleasant Time Enjoyed at the New Jersey Military Academy

The first reception of the season was given last evening at the New Jersey Military Academy, and it was in every particular a success. The attractive school home was well filled with an audience that was delighted with the excellent programme presented. Dr A. D. Warde, who conducts the school, was highly complimented for the auspicious event.

The programme opened with an instrumental selection by William E. MacClymont, pianist, Walter Serrell, flute, and Lindley Hillman, violinist. The artists were heartily applauded for their fine work. Then followed a vocal selection by the school, after which W. E MacClymont gave a well-executed piano selection. Another selection by the school was followed with a solo by Clarence Smalley, and the chorus by the school. A piano solo by Bert Simpson received kindly recognition from the audience.

A decidedly pleasant feature of the programme was a short talk by A. V. D. Honeyman, who took for his subject "Russia" Mr. Honeyman entertained the audience in a delightful manner by telling in his usual happy style of the many interesting things concerning this great country, and the valuable amount of knowledge he has gained from frequent trips abroad was well imported to those present.

After the talk there was another selection by the instrumental trio, a solo by Edward Grannat, and a closing number by the chorus. The auidence joined heartily in a social chat after which they departed thanking Dr. Warde for the pleasant time they were permitted to enjoy. During the latter part of the evening W. E. MacClymont played one of his own composition, "The New Jersey Military Academy March," which won favor and commendation from all.

A HOLIDAY SOCIAL.

Mt. Olive Christian Endeavorers Had a Pleasant Time.

The Mt. Olive Christian Endeavorers held their holiday social last evening and the lecture room was completely filled.

Singing by the society was the first on the programme; then the lesson of the evening was read by the president, Miss M. A May, and prayer was offered by Rev. Brown. Five girls, Sadie Doyle, Etta Kingslow, Sarah Scott, Maud Gun and Anna Ross were "Five Beams" from the Star of Bethlehem, bringing their message to the Endeavorers. The last on the programme was a solo rendered in such a way by W. E Groves that he was compelled to respond with an encore.

While all were enjoying the refreshments, the sexton, Mr. Robinson, was called and presented with a sum of money for his kindness to the society since its organization in March of 1897, and wished a merry Christmas by the president in behalf of the society.

FUNERAL OF ALONZO C. TOWNLEY.

Buried With Military Honors by the G. A. R. Members.

The funeral services of the late Alonzo C. Townley were held this afternoon at 2:30 from the house on New street. The officiating clergyman was Rev. E. M. Rodman, pastor of Grace P. E. church. The attendance of relatives and friends was large, an evidence of the highest esteem for the departed. Interment was in the Winfield Scott Post, No. 73. G. A. R., plot at Westfield. Mr. Townley was buried with military honors, although he was not a member of the G. A. R. Those from the local post who served as pall-bearers were Commander I. L. McVoy, Past Commander W. W. Coriell, Adjutant E C. Morse, T. O. Doane, Peter V. Weaver and Major Anderson.

Special Church Exercises.

Next Sunday appropriate Christmas exercises will be held at Trinity Reformed church. In the morning there will be a sermon by the pastor, Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph.D., and a special programme of music. In the evening the exercises will be under the direction of the Sunday school. The Christmas entertainment will take place Thursday evening of next week.

Danced the Evening Away.

The Prospect Social Club gave a dance in Washington Hall last evening. There were about fifty couples in attendance. Alfred Springer had charge of the door and James McCarthy acted as floor manager. Prof. O'Reilly furnished the music.

Boniface Bailey Dead.

Theodore Bailey, known throughout New Jersey as a prominent hotel keeper and liveryman, died at his home, 216 Main street, Orange, Tuesday evening, of a complication of diseases. Mr. Bailey was born at Somerville in 1831.

—The work of laying water pipes at Lincoln is rapidly nearing completion.

GREAT GAME IT WILL BE

PARK CLUB BACHELORS AND BENEDICTS TO CONTEST AT BOWLING.

Holiday Sociability is Now Paramount at the Cozy Little Home of the Club—Junior Dance Tomorrow Evening.

The hospitality at the Park Club is proverbial. All the year round guests, reporters and all are treated with such cordiality that the club is noted for that feature of its club life. At the Christmas season, however, the charming little clubhouse is opened wide and the house committee makes effort to receive all in royal fashion and furnish the members and their friends with varied entertainment for the holiday week.

This year is to be no exception. The house committtee, with its hustling chairman, Edwin T. Douglass, has planned something for almost every evening during the holiday week. During the last few years there has been no more attractive feature of the club life than the annual bowling contests between the Bachelors and Benedicts of the club. This year the contest is to form part of the yuletide celebration. This evening the first of the games between the two ten-men teams of club members, one composed of the young unmarried men and the bachelors, and the other of the married men of the club, will be rolled on the club alleys. The match is always the occasion for plenty of fun. The staid Benedicts forget their dignity, entering into the spirit of the contest heart and soul. For the evening they are boys again. Their wives and families come and watch the game and laugh and applaud the antics of both sides.

The second game in the series will be rolled on Thursday evening of next week. If each side should win one game, another deciding game will be rolled during the following week.

The next event this week after the Bachelor-Benedict game is the Junior dance tomorrow night, when the junior members and their friends will dance in the arrival of Merry Christmas. Christmas Day there will be no special feature at the club. Many of the members will find plenty to keep them at home most of the day. The regular adherents of the bowling alleys and the pool and billiard tables will be on hand, however.

Monday night Compass Whist will be the attraction for the male members of the club who have any aspirations in the whistic arena. Tuesday night is for members only, and no juniors will be admitted. Thursday evening comes the second Bachelor-Benedict game.

The Friday night following will be New Year's Eve when the formal dance of the club will be held. The older members are supposed to turn out and greet the incoming year to the inspiring air of some waltz or two-step. That will end the holiday week.

The club house has now assumed its gala appearance for the holiday season. Greens have been used with a generous hand and the ball room is one bower of them. Taste has been exercised in the decoration of the room and the effect is very pleasing to the artistic eye.

Christmas at the Hospital.

Christmas will be celebrated Saturday afternoon at the Muhlenberg Hospital with appropriate exercises. It is expected that the choir from Grace P. E. church will be present and give several selections, and there will also be some remarks and the distribution of presents to the nurses and patients. The Christmas tree for the celebration has beeen taken from the grounds surrounding Grace church on Seventh street.

To Attend a Big Reception

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., has accepted an invitation to attend a grand reception to be given by York Commandery, of New York, on the evening of Tuesday, January 25th, at Madison Square Garden. There will be an exhibition drill by the members of Apollo Commandery, of Troy, and of the crack commanderies in this section. They will be accompanied by their own band of music of forty pieces.

Prosecutor Winfield Slightly Better.

Prosecutor Winfield, of Hudson county, was more comfortable yesterday. His physician, Dr. G. K. Dickinson, said yesterday: "Mr. Winfield passed a comfortable night, and is resting quietly today. There seems to be a slight improvement in his condition. He needs rest badly, and if he obeys my instructions to abstain from all labor an improvement in his condition may be looked for."

Home for Aged Women.

Andrew K. Rowan has deeded his beautiful house in Trenton to the New Jersey Methodist Conference as a home for aged women. The property has a frontage of 400 feet and is 250 feet deep.

A CHRISTMAS VACATION

SCHOLARS WILL HAVE TEN DAYS RELAXATION FROM STUDIES.

The High School Building Decorated in Holiday Attire by the Various Classes—Annual Gift Presentation This Morning.

Today the Christmas vacation begins in the Plainfield public schools and for ten days the children of the city will enjoy all the long-anticipated pleasures of a continued holiday and of Christmas and New Year's Day. It has been the usual custom among the pupils at the High School to decorate their rooms on this occasion with their class colors and greens. Before the classes all assembled in one room and when each class had its individual room, there was great rivalry between the different classes as to which should have the prettiest room. This year the High School building has assumed its holiday attire, thanks to the labors of the pupils all yesterday afternoon, and is bright indeed with the bright combination of colors and greens.

The privilege of decorating the Assembly hall fell to the lot of the Seniors this year, and several score yards of blue and yellow bunting, to represent the class colors, blue and gold, have been draped about on all sides of the room. The clock was surrounded by bunting and beneath it was a large blackboard on which was drawn a large representation of the class pin and a "Merry Christmas."

The Junior class was to have the privilege of decorating the clock, but they finally resigned it to the Seniors. They had the decoration of the First classroom opening out of the Assembly hall. Red and white bunting, the class colors, was twisted about the chandelier and long streamers stretched to each corner.

The honors of the day were carried off by the class of '00, "Naughty Naught," as they were called. Their colors, red and dark green, were very appropriate for the holiday season in that they corresponded with the bright colors of the holly. In the decorations of the Second classroom they used the red bunting and the evergreen rope. Holly was also used, and the effect was charming.

The Fourth class was divided in itself. The Latin division had its classroom decorated in gold and white and the English division in violet and silver gray. The boards were covered with the usual appropriate Christmas decorations.

Everybody had on their class colors in bunches varying in size. The members of the class of '99 also wore a sprig of holly.

There were numerous proclamations from one class to another accompanied by various presents. The Juniors had a long printed proclamation which was directed to the Senior class. It was accompanied by a wooden monkey on a stick. The attention of the Seniors was called to it, and they were requested to study it and learn much from observation. They were advised to think about it, if they could without injury to themselves.

The Third class sent a short poem to the Fourth class, accompanied by a "Yellow Kid" and a monkey, in which the Fourth class was instructed to run away and play with the toys, but to be careful not to disturb their elders, and particularly to be careful in the presence of the Third class.

The annual presentation of gifts from the Senior class to the Junior class was held at the close of the morning session. All the Juniors were remembered with some little trinket, to which was attached some appropriate quotation or original verse. There was much amusement over some of the gifts.

The Christmas exercises were held in the morning and were largely attended by graduates and friends of the school. The programme as published in last night's Press was followed in its entirety and much enjoyed. An informal reception followed, when the graduates met their former instructors and looked the building over to see the many changes that have recently been made.

Executions Issued.

Recorder Thomas has issued executions in the cases of Isaac Stites against the Dunellen Brick Works; and W. A. Coddington, assignee for the J. P. Laire Hardware Company, against I. B. Allen, Chester A. Cleaves and Eugene Guinard, of Warrenville. He has also issued a summons in the case of George O. Stevens against the Dunellen Brick Works, returnable next Thursday afternoon.

Bachelors' Club Entertained.

The members of the Bachelors' Club were entertained last evening at the home of Morris Dumont, of East Seventh street. The evening was spent in playing whist.

PRINTING OFFICE GUTTED BY FIRE.

A. J. Leader's New York Business Badly Damaged by Flames.

A. J. Leader, of 63 Duer street, was a severe loser by the fire fiend Tuesday night Mr Leader conducts a large printing office on Reade street in New York, over Vernon Bros.' paper warehouse. Tuesday night the office was closed up a few minutes after 6 o'clock and Mr. Leader went to Brooklyn, where he was to spend the night with Mrs. Leader's mother.

He was greatly surprised the next morning to arrive at the office and find his men walking up and down in front of the building awaiting his coming, while a detail of policemen and firemen were in charge of the establishment.

It seems that a half-hour after the office was closed fire broke out in the place in some mysterious manner, and before the fire department could subdue the flames the interior had been gutted. The heat was intense enough to melt the type in the cases. Besides the damage to the type and cases a large amount of printed matter, ready for delivery, was destroyed. The loss was about $2,000, partially covered by insurance.

Mr. Leader has no safe in the office and had left his books and a small amount of money and a few checks in the desk. Fortunately the desk was not reached by the flames and the books were not burned, though the covers were badly scorched. Some one stole the money, however, and after finding that they could not use the checks threw them into a corner, where they were found the next morning.

Mr. Leader exhibited his energy, however, in immediately ordering a new supply of type and arranging to have the business in operation in a few days.

Mr. Leader's many friends will regret to hear of his loss

A. D. Porter, who lived on Craig place last summer, has an office on the same floor as the printing office, and he sustained a loss of $500 on printed books.

COURAGE PROPPED TOO MUCH.

His Aching Tooth Out, He Did Not Let Up Till Arrested.

Hans Vanderbeeck, of Piscataway town, suffered a week with an aching tooth because he did not have the courage to have it pulled. Finally pain triumphed and he went to New Brunswick determined to have the tooth extracted. His courage oozed away before he reached town and he felt the need of a prop.

Props at 10 cents a glass were to be found in every tavern between Piscataway town and New Brunswick, and by the time Hans reached the dentist's office he would have had out every tooth in his head if the idea had suggested itself. He was jubilant over getting rid of the troublesome molar and started in to celebrate so vigorously that he was gathered in by the police as a disturber of the peace and happiness of the old Dutch town.

Hans Vanderbeeck will have four days in the county bastile, during which time he may meditate upon sobriety and the inability of the New Brunswick police to sympathize with great joy.

FIRE IN BATHROOM.

Mysterious Blaze That Frightened a Plainfield Family.

When Horace J. Martin, of West Front street, returned home last evening about 6 o'clock, he was informed by one of his children that there was a fire in the bathroom. Mr. Martin hastened at once to the above room and discovered that the curtains and carpet were in a blaze. The flames had not made much headway and Mr. Martin was soon able to extinguish the fire.

Just how the fire occurred is a mystery, but Mr. Martin thinks that it was the result of lighting the gas in the bathroom. Mrs. Martin was away from home at the time and the only persons home were the children, and they were greatly frightened. Had Mr. Martin been a little late in getting home no doubt the entire house would have been consumed The loss will be about $35, but the insurance will cover it.

Trial was Postponed.

The case of Peck & Whipple Co. against John J. Heidloff, on contract, which was set for trial in Justice Mosher's court yesterday afternoon, was postponed for one week.

Justice Moffett's Court.

Justice Moffett yesterday issued a summons in the case of Burton & Davis against the late firm of W. L. & J. M. Smalley, on contract, returnable December 31st.

Suit on Contract.

Suit has been started in Justice Mosher's court in the case of Vincent L. Frazee against Henry H. Cory, on contract, for $100.

A HAPPY HOME WEDDING

CELEBRATED IN A FASHIONABLE MANNER AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Miss Lucy Dayton Joined in Nuptial Union to George Schenck, of Metuchen—Pretty Gowns Worn—Those From Plainfield.

One of the fashionable home weddings of the season took place in South Plainfield last evening, when Miss Lucy Dayton, of that place, became the wife of George Schenck, of Metuchen.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Dayton. The house was beautifully decorated with greens and cut flowers, and in the parlor, where the wedding took place, an arch of greens was arranged.

The bride was attired in a white satin gown, with tulle veil, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She was accompanied by Miss Carrie Dayton, of South Plainfield, and Miss Eva Dayton, of this city, as bridemaids. They, also, wore white satin gowns. The best man was William Schenck, a brother of the groom.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Cubberly, pastor of the South Plainfield Baptist church. It took place at 7 o'clock in the presence of a large gathering of the friends and relatives of the couple.

After the ceremony, and informal reception was held, and later in the evening the guests enjoyed a dance. The wedding supper, which was served at 12 o'clock, was an elaborate affair and was much enjoyed by the many guests.

The display of presents was very large and included many articles of great beauty and value.

At 2 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Schenck left on the Lehigh Valley Railroad for their wedding journey. Upon their return they will make their home in Metuchen.

Among the guests from this city were: Fred W. Dunn and family, Mr. and Mrs. Barkalew, F. S. Green and family, the Misses Sadie and Lulu Randolph, Walter Coriell and William Coriell.

NOMINATED OFFICERS.

Unity Lodge Name Their Leaders for the Ensuing Year.

VanWinkle, Jr.; outer guard, J. W. A. Bauersachs; representatives to the grand lodge, F. Putnam, F. Sears. J. W. A. Bauersachs and N. Guttman; trustee for three years, N. Guttman, F. Sears, George Radford and J.W. A. Bauersachs. The election will be held next Wednesday evening.

OLD CHRISTMAS CUSTOMS.

A Seasonable Paper Read to the Parliamentary Club Today.

The Parliamentary Club held a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. building this morning, and listened to an interesting report from the bulletin committee on "Old Christmas Customs." The report was presented by Mrs. F. A. Dunham, chairman of the committee. The committee on local affairs also rendered a report, answering a number of questions concerning the organization, committees and duties of the Common Council of this city. Mrs. F. H. Crum read several items of interest clipped from publications regarding the work of the State Federation of Women's Clubs and the new work of that organization in the line of education. An article was also read concerning the purpose and organization of the Rainy Day Club of New York city.

Surprise for the Organist.

The choir of the Park Avenue Baptist church gave the organist, D. E. Davis, a pleasant surprise when it met for the regular rehearsal last evening. One of the members of the choir, on behalf of the entire body, presented Mr. Davis with a handsome chair as a token of their esteem and appreciation of the valuable work that he has accomplished as organist of the church.

Read Scripture

A service especially appropriate to Christmastide was held at the Congregational church last evening. The meeting was in charge of Rev. C. L. Goodrich, while E. L. Suffern, A. C. LaBoyteaux and Rev. Mr. Dwight took part by reading from the Scriptures appropriate selections and making a few remarks.

A CRISIS IN EUROPE FOR NEW GOLD FIELDS

Significant Warning to Great Britain From St. Petersburg.

A Party Starts for a Richer Country Than the Klondike.

CHINESE RELY ON RUSSIA ALONG STICKEEN RIVER

England Has No Influence at Pekin. Suggested that the British and Japanese Jointly Occupy Wei-Hai-Wei—American Interests.

St. Petersburg, Russia, Dec. 23.—In a strongly anti-British article the Novesti says: "In consequence of the pretension of England to compensate herself for the Russian occupation of Port Arthur by the acquisition of Port Hamilton or Lazareff, and in view of the possibility of the disturbing action of Japan, Europe stands on the brink of grave diplomatic complications. It is therefore well to recall that the reinforcement of the German squadron in the Pacific permits Russia, France and Germany to effectively prevent a disturbance of the balance of power between the three powers on one hand and Great Britain and Japan on the other, such as might be produced by violent seizures of territory."

In conclusion the Novesti expresses the hope that the isolation of Great Britain, in regard to the other European powers, will "paralyze her action sufficiently to permit the preservation of peace from the dangers threatening it at the present moment."

CHINA TURNS TO RUSSIA.

St. Petersburg Influence Is Predominant at Pekin at Present.

Pekin, China, Dec. 23.—The Chinese Government has granted Russia permission to Winter a squadron at Port Arthur. Great Britain demands a quid pro quo if concessions have been made to other powers. It has been suggested that the Japanese and British occupy Wei-Hai-Wei joinly.

The situation at Kiao Chou Bay is unchanged. Germany remains unyielding, and the Chinese counsels are diveded as to whether it should be peace or war with Germany. China regards Russia as her only friend, and is asking her advice alone. British influence is nil, having suffered greatly through the failure of the loan negotiations.

Russia demands the dismissal of the British railroad engineers in north China, and it is probable that they will be dismissed. The German drill instructors will be dismissed at the expiration of their contracts and will be replaced by Russians. Russian officers have already been appointed to drill the armies of North China.

"In spite of official denials, it is regarded as certain that Port Arthur and Kiao Chou Bay were promised to Russia by a secret treaty."

China is negotiating for a loan rom Russia.

German Squadron Leaves England.

Portsmouth, England, Dec. 23.—The German war ships Deutschland and Gefion, under the command of Prince Henry of Prussia, have left for Gibraltar.

ENGLAND WATCHING US.

Said to Be Very Anxious to Learn the United States' Attitude.

Washington, Dec. 23.—It is understood that the authorities here have been unofficially sounded as to the attitude of the United States toward the complications in the far East, with a view to learning whether American interests in China were regarded as sufficient to warrant any active step by this Government. From what sources the inquiries have come is not disclosed. If from Great Britain it must have come through Col. Hay, the American Ambassador at London, as the British officials here have received no instructions as to the Chinese situation. It is well understood, however, that Great Britain would look with favor on any active step by the United States which would serve as a check for the advances of Germany and Russia.

The British interests in China are ten times greater than those of Germany, Russia and the United States, and yet, with Germany and Russia firmly located on Chinese soil, Great Britain is left in a sort of cul de sac. It is known, also, that the Chinese authorities would welcome a movement by the United States and that this has been communicated to officials here.

Although these soundings, for they amount to nothing more as yet, have not taken official form, they have been sufficient to gain a pretty general understanding as to the attitude of this Government. This, in brief, is that the United States has no interest in territorial extension now going on in China, as Germany and Russia have done, and that her only concern is to guard established American interests in China. These American interests appear to be much greater than is generally known. There are the following American treaty ports in China:

Canton, Chee-Foo, Ching Kiang, Foo Chow, Haiplong, Nakow, Holhow, Ichang, Kewkiang, Lung Chow, Mengtsu, New Chang, Ningpo, Pakhoi, Shanghai, Ashashi, Soochow, Swatow, Tien Tsin, Wenchow, Wuhu and three other ports on the West River of Canton, recently added. At each of these places there are American settlements and an American reservation, within which Americans may own property and try their civil cases before their own courts, conducted by American consuls.

Some of these American settlements are quite extensive, that at Shanghai, just outside the walls of the city, accupying a wide sweep of lands. At those points also the commercial interests of the United States are large and are constantly growing. They are the centres for the American missionary communities, too. For instance, at Canton there is the American Presbyterian Board, with twenty-two members; the American Baptist Mission, with fifteen representatives; the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, with a large staff, and the American Bible Society. There are similar communities scattered all through the empire. They have considerable property interests and the protection of their property and persons always has been closely looked after by the United States.

Said to Be More Inaccessible Than the Yukon Region, However—Information from the Canadian Officials—The Yukon Relief Plans.

Los Angelos, Cal., Dec. 23.—J. E. Perrins, until recently president of the New England Whip Company, has started with a party of fifteen for the new gold field in the Northwestern territory, said to extend over fifteen miles along a tributary of the Stickeen River and to be richer than the Klondike country. Dawson, after whom Dawson City was named, states that the region gives every indication of an abundance of gold, but that it is even more inaccessible than the Klondike, there being but one way to get in, and that extremely dangerous. The Winters are more severe than on the Yukon and of longer duration. The nearest trading post or point of communication with the outside world is several hundred miles distant.

The party will leave San Francisco to-day for Victoria, B. C. From there they go by steamer to Fort Wrangle, and then overland to Stickeen River. Their information regarding the new country comes direct from Messrs. Ogilvie and Dawson, Canadian officials, who, a year ago, surveyed portions of the Northwest Territory. Acting upon instructions from these gentlemen, Mr. Perrins limited his party to sixteen. Messrs. Ogilvie and Dawson will join the party at Victoria.

THE KLONDIKE RELIEF PLANS.

Dr. Jackson Ordered to Lapland to Buy the Reindeer.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Capt. Brainard, of the Subsistence Department of the army, arrived in Washington yesterday and conferred with Secretary Alger respecting plans for the relief of the Yukon miners. Responses to the Secretary's inquiry indicate that an ample supply of condensed food preparations can be had at reasonable rates if contracts are made at once.

Gen. Merriam, commanding the Department of Columbia, telegraphs that he has selected Maj. L. H. Rucker, Fourth Cavalry, to proceed to Alaska and make a reconnoissance of the passes leading from the head of the Lynn Canal.

Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, has brought to the attention of the War Department the claims of a Boston company, which is said to have 200,000 pounds of supplies at Fort Seikirk.

Nothing has been heard from Mr. Kjellmann, the reindeer herder, now in Lapland, so Dr. Jackson has been ordered to proceed to Lapland to buy the animals.

The Spokane Chamber of Commerce has sent here Frederick R. Marvin, to urge the superior facilities of the overland route northward from Spokane. This is the old telegraph route, laid down by Western Union Telegraph agents years ago, when they sought to run a telegraph line to Bering Strait.

Nuggets on Exhibition.

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 23.—The general passenger department of the Great Northern Railway has received a consignment of gold dust and nuggets from the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, the total weight being twenty-seven pounds eleven ounces, and having a value of $6,365. The precious stuff ranges from a nugget of one pound six ounces down to coarse grains of pinhead size, and comes from Bonanza Creek, in the Klondike district, and Minook Creek, in the Tanana district. The gold will be displayed here for a few days and then go East to the general agencies of the road for exhibition.

It is the largest quantity of the yellow metal from Alaska yet handled outside of the banks and mints.

The Coming Woman

Who goes to the club while her husband tends the baby as well as the good old-fashioned woman who looks after her home, will both at times get run down in health. They will be troubled with loss of appetite, headaches, sleeplessness, fainting or dizzy spells. The most wonderful remedy for these woman is Electric Bitters. Thousands of sufferers from lame back and weak kidneys rise up and call it blessed. It is the medicine for women. Female complaints and nervous troubles of all kinds are soon relieved by the use of Electric Bitters. Delicate women should keep this remedy on hand to build up the system. Only 50c per bottle. For sale by L. W. Randolph.

—No more sessions of the sewing school connected with the East Third Street mission will be held until after the holiday season.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagah, Ind. Ter. Chief. This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and la grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—The Christmas Assembly, at New Brunswick, will be held Christmas Eve in Columbia Hall. A number of Plainfielders are invited.

After hearing some friends continually praising Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Curtis Fleck, of Anaheim, California, purchased a bottle of it for his own use and is now as enthusiastic over its wonderful work as anyone can be. —Edward Tomlinson, of LaGrande avenue, has taken a position at M. F Estil's store for the holiday rush season.

Don't be persuaded into buying liniments without reputation or merit—Chamberlain's Pain Balm costs no no more, and its merits have been proven by a test of many years. Such letters as the following, from L. G. Bagley, Hueneme, Cal., are constantly being received: "The best remedy for pain I have ever used is Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and I say so after having used it in my family for several years." It cures rheumatism lame back, sprains and swellings. For sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Patrolman Watson has recovered from his illness and is able to be on duty again.

Mr. C. M. Dixon, a well known merchant, of Pleasant Ridge, Fulton Co., Pa., has a little girl who is frequently threatened with croup, but when the first symptoms appear, his wife gives her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which always affords prompt relief. CUBAN VICTORY REPORTED.

A Large Spanish Force Defeated in Oriente.

New York, Dec. 23.—Lieut. Bartoldine Yuayza, of the Cuban army, says that the report of an important Cuban victory has just been received. It was in Oriente. The Spanish General Pando had been for three weeks trying to open the Cante River, which the Cubans had filled with torpedoes.

The Cubans under Gen. Calixto Garcia, 2,500 strong, were massed on the west bank. The Cuban general, Carlos Roloff, with 1,000 men, was besieging Bayamo. The Spanish gunboats got thirty miles up the river and there attacked the Cubans, whom they finally drove to their barricades in the woods.

Reinforcements were sent for by courier, a young American graduate of West Point named Hechtman, and the Spaniards were repulsed. The Cuban loss was 106 killed, 300 wounded. The Spanish loss was about the same. Three hundred Spanish prisoners were taken.

POLITICAL PRISONERS SHOT.

Several Prominent Men in Guatemala Suffer Death.

San Francisco, Dec. 23.—News has reached this city of the shooting in Guatemala of a number of political prisoners, including two men who are known all over the Central American republic. The execution occurred last month at Huehuetenango. The principal victim was Capt. Hurculano Ruiz, brother-in-law of Gen. Daniel Fuentes, now in this city. Another victim was the Honduran colonel, Francisco Zellaya. He was accused of aiding the revolution party and was executed by order of Barrios, the command being carried out by Gen. Luis Molina.

Three other prominent Guatemalans suffered death in the same manner, including Licenciado Marcello de Leon, a lawyer, and Elia Zandobal. It is estimated that there are now in Guatemalan prisons no less than 228 prisoners of the late revolution.

LABOR'S POLITICAL PROGRAMME.

Party Lines to Be Ignored in Its Battle for Power.

Denver, Dec. 23.—The Rocky Mountain News sent a telegram to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, at Nashville, asking him to outline the plans of his organization for independent political action. The following response was received:

"The American Federation of Labor proposes to take such political action as will compel the lawmakers, the executives and the judiciary to enact, to enforce and to define laws in the interest of the people. We shall elect our own representatives wherever possible, and at all times defeat the enemies of our cause, irrespective of party. To achieve these purposes, however, we realize that it is necessary for the workers of our country, East, West, North and South, to unite and concentrate their entire efforts to attain the greatest success."

WEYLER AGAINST AUTONOMY.

Says Spain Will Lose Cuba if the Plan Is Persisted in.

Madrid, Dec. 23.—Gen. Weyler, during the course of an interview just published, is quoted as declaring formally that there is no hope of the success of autonomy, adding that no insurgent will submit except to the Marquis of Santa Lucia and another chief, and asserting that the insurrection would continue furiously.

The General is also quoted as remarking that if the Spanish Government persisted in autonomy Spain would lose Cuba in a few months.

In conclusion, the former Captain-General of Cuba said he opposed the dissolution of the Chamber until the Government renounced its policy of giving Cuba an autonomous form of government.

Will Pass Bankruptcy Bill.

Washington, Dec. 23.—The opponents of the Bankruptcy bill concede that it will pass both Houses. A majority of the House Democrats, in all probability, will vote against it. They say that its involuntary feature will allow the creditor class of the East to oppress the poor in the West, while the voluntary phase will encourage dishonesty. The opposition, however, consider it useless to organize to defeat the measure, and they will simply put themselves on record. The bill has been reported to the House and will be taken up very soon.

Funeral of Miss Herbert.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Funeral services over the remains of Miss Leila Herbert were held late yesterday afternoon at St. Andrew's Episopal Church. The honorary pall bearers were Senators Pettus and Morgan, Dr. G. L. M. Curry, Secretary Long, Paymaster-General Stewart, Chief Constructor Hichborn, Mr. Charles J. Bell, Col. Winthrop, Admiral Ramsay and Capt. Charles O'Neill, of the navy. The remains were taken to Montgomery, Ala., last night.

Durrant's Latest Move.

San Francisco, Dec. 23.—The attorneys for Durrant have filed notice that they will ask for a change of venue from the recent order of sentence by Judge Bahrs on the ground that the court is prejudiced. An appeal to the Governor for a commutation of sentence will also be made on the ground that a review of the co-relation of the Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams cases should be made. Another effort to get the case before the Federal courts will also be made.

RUN DOWN BY A TRAIN

Twenty Persons Injured and Three Will Probably Die.

TRAPPED BETWEEN GATES

In the Midst of Singing They Hear No Warning—Excited Guard at a Crossing Lowers the Bars Directly in Front of the Horses—Twenty Badly Injured.

Passaic, N. J., Dec. 23.—Without warning, a big stage, loaded with thirty-five men and young women, was struck last evening at Delawanna crossing by a Delaware, Lackawanna & Western freight train.

Every one of the thirty-five was injured, and their escape from instant death is marvelous. Eleven of the victims were seriously injured. Those who were not removed to hospitals were taken to their homes.

Those Dangerously Wounded.

The full list of those who are known to be seriously injured is given as follows:

CRANE, WILLIAM, driver.
DENNIS, LENA.
ERNEST, MICHAEL.
FEENY, JOHN.
HAY, JOHN.
HITCHINS, MARGARET.
JOLLY, PAUL.
M'KERSON, ANNA.
MORAN, WILLIAM.
SWENKY, CHARLES.
WASDYKE, NELLIE.

In a Death Trap.

The victims are employes of the Worthen & Aldrich mill. They were on their way home, singing and laughing. They had no warning of the approach of the train. It was stormy, and the curtains were drawn.

It is said that the train failed to whistle, and that the gateman became excited when he saw the headlight of the engine, and lowered the gates with the coach on the track. The gate on the far side of the crossing descended directly in front of the horses, bringing them to a stop in the path of the approaching train.

Before the stage party realized what had happened, the engine crashed into the load of living freight, crushing the stage to atoms.

The train stopped within a stone's throw. Looking back, the engineer saw in the wreck of the stage a mass of insensible humanity. When the crash came shrieks had risen and died away in an instant. Clinging to the engine pilot was Charles Swenky.

In that mass behind were the girls and men. Several recovered consciousness in a few minutes, and their groans and cries were pitiful.

Gateman Blamed.

Those who were injured most were removed to the hospitals, while the rest were taken to their homes.

The gateman is blamed for the accident. An eyewitness says he saw the gateman drop the gates while the stage was on the track.

Crane, the stage driver, is known as a careful man. The engine struck the stage directly in the centre, crushing it like paper. The driver's back was broken and he is injured internally.

Postmasters Appointed.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Fourth-class postmasters have been appointed in New York and Pennsylvania as follows:

New York—Almeda, Delaware County, Loren H. Elmendorf; East Pembrooke, Genesee, John H. Dickinson; Eminence, Schoharie, Arthur W. Piass; Hobart, Delaware, James B. Rich; Hume, Allegheny, N. M. Wells; Margaretville, Delaware, James H. Hitt; Manchester, Ontario, John W. Overacre; Mount Vission, Otsego, Henry G. Bunn; Sullivanville, Chemung, Alex. Hummer; Upton, Locas, Aaron Trapp.

Pennsylvania—Blandon, Berks County, A. G. Rothermel; Little Gap, Carbon, John I. Roth; Magic, Butler, N. H. Thompson.

Natives Protest Against Annexation.

Washington, Dec. 23.—One of the native Hawaiians now in Washington to protest against annexation stated that the people of Hawaii had a better claim to their country than the people of the United States have to theirs. He also remarked that from the stories he reads in the daily newspapers of awful crimes committed daily in the United States he was convinced that the morals of the people of Hawaii were much higher than those of the American people, and he was not sure but that it would be a good thing to annex the United States to his native country.

Burglar's Victim Dead.

Wilton, Ct., Dec. 23.—David S. R. Lambert, who was shot four times by masked robbers at his home here last Friday night, died yesterday morning without recovering consciousness. One bullet had lodged in his brain and another had pierced his left lung. The police have yet no clews to the murderers. The town has offered a reward of $200 for their arrest, all that the statute allows. The county has hired detectives and put them on the case.

Giddy Michigan Teachers.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Dec. 23.—The School Board of this city has decided that many of the teachers are giving too much attention to affairs of society and has called a halt in the form of a resolution requesting teachers to refrain from attending dances, parties and other social entertainments held on evenings preceding days when school is to be in session.

REVISING THE ELECTION LAWS.

The committee appointed by Governor Griggs to revise the election laws held a meeting in Elizabeth yesterday. Senator Johnson, who is a member of the Commission, authorized the following statement for publication as to the views of the committee on the Australian ballot system and Sunset Election law:

I desire that it should be stated that this committee will recommend no Australian ballot law. It has been announced that the committee had met and agreed to recommend a number of things, but this is merely newspaper talk. The Sunset Election law is more of a newspaper agitation than a popular sentiment, and I think the whole of the committee agrees with me when I say that we have no intention to curtail the hours of voting. Whatever repeating is done takes place early in the day, and the effect of closing the polls before 7 o'clock would be to disfranchise a great many people. Even on Election Day a great many people go to New York, and they would not get back in time to vote. There are railroad men and others who are similarly situated, and would not vote at all. The 7 o'clock feature of the Election law is all right, and the committee sees no reason to change it. The committee will revise the election laws as they now stand, but will not recommend any radical changes.

There are two periods in the year when advertising is particularly necessary. These are when business is very dull, and when it is voluminous, as it is just now. In the former case the advertisement helps to draw the crowd; in the latter case it helps to systematize their movements. Christmas shopping would be a bedlam in many stores but for the advertisements which answer a hundred questions before they are asked by buyers. —Paterson Press.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

Philately.

The mania for collecting postage stamps is on the increase again in this country, and large sums are daily being paid for rare specimens. To the average citizen, however, there is more profit in the trading stamp, the advantages of which are insured to all purchases of clocks, watches, and all jeweler's novelties at Collier's.

The Jersey Fowls are the Best.

Jed Smalley says that there is as much difference between Jersey turkeys and poultry and the southern and western variety as there is between buttermilk and ice cream. He also says that the New York market always demands a higher price for Jerseys, because they are finer and more carefully matured and the most tender of the fowl family.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manuufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. THEATRICAL.

The Christmas Day attraction at Stillman Music Hall promises to be novel and interesting. The play, "Lend Me Your Wife," is one of the best ever presented in New York, and in the character of "Dick Easily," Roland Reed achieved one of his greatest successes. The part will be played here Saturday by James Darling, who has been associated with Mr. Reed for a number of years, and the supporting company are equally efficient.

The Bijou Theatre in New York is a magnet of much power of attraction for the lovers of merriment with irresistable May Irwin, the mirth-inciter, and the "Swell Miss Fitzwell," as the setting which so advantageously displays the rare qualities of this commedienne. Her popularity is certainly extraordinary and the remarkable manner in which she nightly packs the Bijou Theatre to its utmost capacity and in many instances turns hundreds of people away, is an astonishing manifestation of how firmly it has grown in that city. Miss Irwin is now in her fourth week with a financial record to her credit which is several thousand dollars in excess of that of the same number of weeks, relatively, of any of her previous engagements. Her advent at the Bijou has proven to be one of the most pronounced successes of the season.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

[OFFICIAL.]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union held Thursday, December 2d, 1897, at 2:30 p. m. All members present.

The minutes of the previous meeting, (reading of bills being omitted) were on motion approved as read.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Freeholder Swain reported progress on trolley matters, stating that the report of the committee appointed at the citizens' meeting held in the Court House, was not yet ready.

Freeholder Roll said that he thought it would be a good idea for the members of the Board of Freeholders to be supplied with copies of the report, which would be prepared by the citizens' committee; also with copies of the draft of the law to be submitted to the Legislature, in order that the members of the Board would have time to examine thoroughly into the matter and be prepared when the trolley question came before them to act understandingly.

Freeholder Swain agreed to have the members supplied with the copies as suggested by Freeholder Roll before the next meeting of the Board.

NEW BUSINESS.

Prof. Watson, of Elizabeth, addressed the Board on behalf of the Southwest Improvement Association of said city. He spoke especially with reference to the laying of sidewalks and the placing of shade trees upon the streets, he urged that all sidewalks should be 6 or 8 feet wide, laid contiguous with the curb line and the shade trees placed on the street line; wherever such work was done by the county it should be done in such a manner as to be an object lesson for the benefit of all the county.

The ordinance entitled "an ordinance to regulate the use of any road or roads in the county of Union that are improved and maintained by the Board of Chosen Freeholders of said county" was taken up, as amended on second reading for the third reading and final action.

Freeholder King moved that it be adopted as a whole, which was so ordered.

The ordinance as amended was read in full.

Freeholder Farrell moved its adoption and on roll call it was unanimously adopted

By Freeholder Farrell:

Resolved, That a duplicate check be given to James A. Burnett for $51.50 in the place of one given October 7th, 1897, which has been lost, upon giving of a bond of indemnity to the county.

Freeholder Brucklacher moved the adoption of the resolution and on roll-call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Roll:

Resolved, That bill of Wm. B. Denman for bridge material amounting to $96 48 be paid, when sworn to and properly approved.

Freeholder Clark moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll-call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Roll:

Resolved, That the County Road Inspector be authorized to grant the permits required under the ordinance in relation to county roads, passed by this Board this day.

Freeholder Robison moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll-call, it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Wahl:

Resolved, That the matter respecting the destruction of the bridge over road known as Burnett avenue, in the Township of New Providence, be referred to such committee as the Director of this Board may name, together with the County Attorney, with power to take steps to prevent the further unlawful destruction of the same and report to this Board at its next meeting

Freeholder Clark moved the adoption and, after some discussion, it was adopted without dissent.

The Director appointed as the said committee, Freeholders Wahl, Roll and Swain.

By Freeholder Tier:

Resolved, That the matter of the application for the satisfaction of a judgment obtained by Patrick Sheridan, late County Collector, vs. the City of Plainfield, be referred to the County Collector and Attorney, and that the Director and clerk of this Board be authorized to execute a satisfaction of the same in case said County Collector and Attorney report said judgment as having been paid and satisfied.

COMING CIVIL SERVICE CHANGES.

Cabinet Officers to Report What Exemption They Think Advisable.

Washington, Dec. 23.—The result of Tuesday's Cabinet meeting in regard to civil service seems to be misunderstood. The President has not abandoned his purpose of exempting certain offices from the working of the law. He has only postponed issuing his order until the members of the Cabinet can report to him in writing exactly what offices they desire taken from the classified service. This order will not now be issued until after the first of the year.

It is stated that the offices to be exempted, as predicted in these dispatches last Saturday, will be mainly those outside Washington. The Treasury Department will recommend that Deputy Collectors of Internal Revenue, Deputy Collectors of Customs and Assistant Sub-Treasurers be exempted; the Department of Justice, Deputy Marshals and Assistant District Attorneys; the Interior Department, certain officials connected with the Pension Bureau, while the Postoffice Department will want Assistant Postmasters, cashiers and other bonded officials included in the order.

Soldier Frozen to Death.

Helena, Mont., Dec. 23.—News has reached here of the death of Private John W. H. Davis, Fourth Cavalry, stationed in Yellowstone Park, by freezing to death. Davis was carrying the mail from the Lake Hotel to Thumb station. Private George Murphy, who was with him, turned back, and was saved, although badly frozen. Davis' body was found on Monday in a little gully, where he had sought shelter from the cold.

Firedamp Kills Many.

Dortmund, Prussia, Dec. 23.—An explosion of firedamp took place yesterday at the Kaiser Stuhlzwei pit. Eight corpses have been brought to the surface and seven men living, but injured severely. There are five still missing.

A Special Issue of Stamps.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Postmaster-General Gary has decided to order a special issue of stamps commemorative of the holding of the Trans-Mississippi Exposition at Omaha the coming year.

NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED IN UP-TO-DATE LAUNDRY WORK.

We run the laundry and take care of all details, but you "boss" it. We do what you tell us to do. It may give you a new sensation to find that you get a domestic finish when you ask for it, and to discover that your collars are actually ironed in the way that the maker intended them to be ironed.

We are running a laundry with the most improved methods and appliances. We use pure water and good soap. We are using two things that are not commonly used in laundries—care and intelligence. If you have found a laundry that pleases you perfectly, we have nothing to say to you. If you have any reason to be dissatisfied, we would like to give you a practical demonstration of our way of running a laundry.

Tell us where and when to call for your work, when you want it delivered, and let us know any particular thing that you would like to have done with it.

We want you to understand that we are running this laundry for you, and that your wishes are to be regarded in every particular. We will give you just exactly what you want, if we can find out what that is. Perhaps you believe that it is impossible to have your laundry well handled without irritation and annoyance to you. We are sure that you are mistaken. May we have an opportunity of demonstrating it?

Mrs. I. L. Holmes, of 442 W. 2d street, says: "I have used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and have derived more benefit from them than from anything else I ever used. Before I owned this remedy I was bothered almost constantly with a severe pain across the small of my back so bad at times that I thought I must give up. If I sat down and got up, or was lying down and attempted to rise suddenly or retained one position for any length of time, sharp acute pain always followed. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised for such trouble and went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They helped me from the first and I improved right along under the treatment. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others who suffer from kidney complaint."

ARE AGAINST MR. GAGE

Western Senators Will Follow the President, but Not Secretary.

SENATOR WARREN TALKS

Says His Colleagues May Favor Mr. McKinley's Recommendations, but Will Do Nothing to Strengthen the Single Gold Standard.

Washington, Dec. 23.—It is undoubtedly true that the Western Senators who remained loyal to the Republican party during the Presidential campaign, and who aided in passing the Tariff bill, are placed in a most embarrassing position by Secretary Gage's utterance before the Banking and Currency Committee last week, when the Republican leaders thought the Secretary's declarations in regard "to fastening more thoroughly the single gold standard upon the country," indiscreet and impolitic. They knew that the Republican Senators from the Western States were striving to find a way to aid the Republican majority to pass some financial legislation, and Secretary Gage's declaration at once made it clear that these Western Senators would be embarrassed and perhaps prevented in any action contemplated to aid the Administration.

Serious Defection.

Senator Wolcott was the first to give his views. He made an open declaration against Secretary Gage and his plan. To-day he is followed by other Western Senators, who explain how they do not see their way clear to follow the Secretary of the Treasury. The revolt of Senator Wolcott is especially disastrous at this time, because he is a member of the Senate Finance Committee, and has hitherto worked with the Republicans in reporting Administration bills. He certainly will not favor Secretary Gage's plan, and although he might indorse a bill carrying out the views of the President, he will join with Senator Jones, of Nevada, and the Democratic members of the committee in preventing Secretary Gage from carrying out his financial ideas. Senators Carter, of Montana, and Hansbrough, of North Dakota, who have been with the Administration, express little hope of currency legislation at this session.

Senator Warren, of Wyoming, who has been one of the stanchest friends of the Administration, gives his views in the following words: "With the recommendations of the President regarding national banks most of us will agree, and we realize that there are also some good points in Mr. Gage's proposed bill. We cannot, however, follow him to the extent of doing anything to still further fasten the single gold standard upon this country. I regard the discussion of this matter at this time as being most inopportune. The declared purpose of Secretary Gage complicates the situation, and will without doubt array against his proposed measure a number of Western Republicans and will make it an easy task for the Democrats to prevent any legislation from being enacted. Consequently the whole matter ought to be dropped. I regard it as idiotic to stir up all this agitation upon the financial question when the country is about to take a turn toward better times.

"Will Produce Unrest."

"It will produce nothing but further unrest in business circles. It will cause an unnecessary uneasiness about our currency here and abroad, and it ought not to be tolerated for a moment. I am in favor of the President's recommendations regarding the issue of bank notes up to the par value of the bonds deposited to secure circulation, and for the establishment of banks with small capital, and for the withdrawal of all national bank notes under $10. I would go further and say that all of their notes and all other Government bills below $5 should be replaced by silver dollars. It may be said that silver certificates are already in circulation. That is true, but the presence of the silver dollar itself would be an object lesson which would mean a great deal to our people. I know that in my State, where silver dollars are used almost exclusively, the people have grown to like them much better than paper money. The sentimental love for the hard silver dollar may be something that cannot stand the cold criticism of the banker, but it certainly exists.

"I have just come back from Boston," continued the Senator, "and while there I was told that the Eastern Republicans, independents, gold democrats, etc., had voted for McKinley in order to maintain a sound currency, and that they were entitled to have some legislation in the line of currency reform. I answered them that they had simply chosen between two evils, and had taken the one which they regarded as the least objectionable, and the least which might be granted them now was better for them than Bryanism would have been. I did not see, therefore, that they had any cause for complaint.

Position of the West.

"I reminded them, too, that out West we had voted for McKinley because we were assured that his election did not mean further steps toward a single gold standard. We stood by the party under the promise that there would be efforts for international bimetallism and a larger recognition of silver. We are entitled to have these promises kept. If they are not kept it will be impossible for us to hold the Republicans in line. But, as I said before, I do not think this is the time to bring the question to an issue. Let us see what the Dingley bill will do for us in the way of revenue, and above all, let us see whether we cannot make a stride toward better times. If we can do this, there is no reason why we should agitate the financial question now. We can come back here next session prepared to take the matter up with a clearer understanding and under more favorable circumstances. The legislation that is now desired—I will not say that it is needed—ought to be pigeonholed and the country given a rest."

A delegation of fur importers called on President McKinley and asked him not to sign the Sealing bill until skins purchased in London in ignorance of the proposed law could be imported.

SPURRIER SAID TO BE ALIVE.

Report that Missing Minister Disappeared to Avoid Testifying.

Harrisburg, Dec. 23.—It is believed the mystery surrounding the disappearance of the Rev. Samuel Spurrier, of Bainbridge, is about to be cleared up, and that within a short time he will be produced alive.

According to the hints dropped the old man left Bainbrige to escape being a witness in a lawsuit over the settlement of an estate at Bainbridge, and it is said he was seen in conversation on Thursday afternoon in Middletown with one of the parties in the suit, which has since been amicably settled. He boarded a street car in Middletown at 6 o'clock, and two hours later was seen at Front and Reily streets, in this city, along the river front. Then he disappeared, and his satchel, with the blood-smeared documents, was found, which seemed to sustain the theory of murder.

But it seems that the old man is not only living, but he is said to be carrying a brand new satchel full of Bibles and hymn books. It is claimed that persons with whom the old man took breakfast and dinner last Friday have called on Chief Westen and told him about it, giving such an accurate description of him as to leave no room for doubt as to his identity.

BRYAN THE MAN FOR 1900

Says Senator Tillman of South Carolina.

Washington, Dec. 23.—In commenting last night on the future of William J. Bryan, Senator Benjamin R. Tillman of South Carolina said: "I think Mr. Bryan has lost nothing since the election. He has made no mistake that I know of.

"There might be some criticism of his apparent constant obtrusion of himself upon the public, but it is very hard for so prominent a man to hide his light under a bushel or retire to anything like private life.

"Unless some unforeseen blunder of a very serious nature should be made, I cannot now see any possibility of any other man than Mr. Bryan being nominated in 1900. I think he will retain all the elements that voted for him last year, and will get a million or two million more votes from disgusted Republicans and repentant Democrats. In fact, all the power of plutocracy and hell cannot beat him."

FOUR HUNTERS FROZEN TO DEATH.

They Perish Within Half a Mile of a Farm House.

Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 23.—Passengers reaching here yesterday from Seary County report that a party of four hunters were found frozen to death by the roadside in Daws Creek bottom, Newton County, on Monday. The great hunting preserves of Northwest Arkansas are in Seary, Newton, Marion and contiguous counties, and it is believed from descriptions of the dead hunters that they are W. H. Hughes, A. H. Dolphin, John W. Bright and Sam S. Evies, who outfitted here for a deer, bear and turkey hunt up in that section a couple of weeks ago.

They claimed Chicago as their home, and it is said they passed through Marshall, in Seary County, early last week, saying they were going into the Boston Mountains for game.

Yellow Fever Has Arrived.

New York, Dec. 23.—The Ward line steamship Saratoga, from Mexican ports via Havana, reached quarantine yesterday with her master, Capt. E. P. Buck, very ill, suffering from fever, which he contracted while the vessel was lying at Havana. After sailing the captain was obliged to take to his room, and when the steamship arrived here his condition was critical. All of the Saratoga's passengers were taken off and sent to Hoffman Island for observation. The Saratoga has been at the ports of Vera Cruz, Tampico, Campeche, Progreso and Havana during the last voyage. She left Havana a few days ago.

Revenue Collector at Albany.

Washington, Dec. 23.—The President has appointed John G. Ward as Internal Revenue Collector at Albany, in place of Lewis W. Pratt, who disappeared some weeks ago with funds collected from the brewers. The President received a message from Senator Platt containing the indorsement of twenty-seven members of Congress from New York for Mr. Ward, and requested that the appointment be made at once.

This is why it was made instead of waiting until Congress reassembles in January. Mr. Ward will take office at once.

Big Cotton Strike Now.

Fall River, Mass., Dec. 23.—The cotton manufacturers are confronted with the prospect of a strike. A section of the union officials and members favor a strike at seven mills on Jan. 3. The mills which they suggest are the Union, Seamore, Border City, Shove, Durfee, Chace and American. These mills employ about eleven thousand operatives. It is proposed to strike at all of the mills on March 1.

SANG CHRISTMAS CAROLS

Yuletide Exercises in Public Schools This Morning.

At the Bryant Public School this morning exercises appropriate to Christmastide were held. The first hour was devoted to the singing of carols by the scholars of the school and they were rendered exceedingly well. The rest of the time was given to the presentation of two selections of the tableau style. The first selection was given by the scholors of the seventh, sixth and fifth year grades. The second selection was given by the members of the fourth, third and second year grades. Following this part of the programme, President J. B. Probasco, of the School Board, and Superintendent H M. Maxson, made short addresses to the scholars. This afternoon is being devoted to class exercises for the scholars only, no visitors being present. Each class held different exercises of a pleasing character and the scholars acquitted themselves with credit under the direction of Miss Shattuck, the principal.

The programme at Franklin School was as follows:

Processional, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing."
Chorus, "Ring Out the Tidings".....School
Chorus, "Once a Little Baby Lay,"
First Grade Pupils

Attempted Burglary.

Burglars attempted to force an entrance to the millinery and dressmaking establishment of Mrs. L. Adams, at 214 East Front street, last night at about 10:30 o'clock. The lights in the rear of the store had been extinguished and Mrs. Adams was about to lock up the place for the night when she heard the noise of the burglars attempting to force the cellar window in the rear of the store. Policemen Vanderweg and Totten were summoned and by the time they arrived the men had fled. The traces of their burglars' tools were found on the cellar window and on one of the upstairs windows.

Essenic Order Elect.

The Knights of the Ancient Essenic Order met last evening in regular session and elected the following officers: Excellent Senator, William N. Runyon; senior senechal, Frank Jones; junior senechal, Nathan R. Titsworth; sarcedos, F. W. Stack; secretary, C. E. Teel; treasurer, G. O. Stevens; surgeon, Dr. Andrew Fritts. The officers will be installed January 12th.

Dr. D. C. Adams is ill at his home on Grove street. He is attended by Dr. T. S. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Coriell, of West Front street, are arranging to go south for the winter.

Cyrus Moore, of this city, who has been in the south for a long time on account of his health, is improving nicely.

Mrs. W. W. Coriell, of West Front street, was called to Trenton today to the bedside of her brother, who is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. McVoy, of East Front street, will soon go to Tallahassee, Fla. The trip will be for business and pleasure.

The engagement of Miss Maude Kinsey, of West Front street, to V. Christofferson, of Orchard place, has just been announced.

Rev Phillip S. Gibson, pastor of the Mt Olive colored Baptist church, has returned from a stay in Allegheny City, Pa., where he conducted a series of evangelistic services. He will occupy the pulpit of the Ebenezer colored Baptist church, of Orange, next Sunday.

WON LONG ISLAND BRIDE.

Rev. M. H. Lowry, of Rahway, Weds Miss Eva B. Aldrich, of Port Jefferson.

The Rev. M. H. Lowry, pastor of the First Baptist church, Rahway, and Miss Eva B. Aldrich, of Port Jefferson, L. I., were married yesterday at the home of the bride. Mr. Lowry formerly had charge of the Baptist church in Port Jefferson. The Rev. Robert Lowry, of Plainfield, father of the bridegroom, united the couple.

The wedding was a notable social event. A reception will be given the newly married couple at the home of the bridegroom's father in Plainfield, Tuesday evening next. Wednesday evening a reception will be tendered him in the Rahway church. The Wednesday Night Prayer Meeting Club and the Junior Christian Endeavor Society will have charge of the details, which promise to be elaborate.

PASSING COMMENT.

The story of an amusing Irish bull, made by a former member of the Plainfield police force, was told amid great applause by Rev. T. Logan Murphy, at the Catholic Club recently. The law establishing electrocution as the legal means of capital punishment had just passed the legislature of New York State, and the ex-policeman was standing upon the street corner reading the news of the passage of the law when a friend of his passed by.

"Arrah, there, Tom," he shouted, waving the newspaper, "do you's know that the nixt man that is hanged in New York is going to be electrocuted?"

Christmas.

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse, the stockings were hung by the chimney with care, in the hope that St. Nicholas soon would be there; and the man of the house ere he went to his bed, to his wife in the sweet tones of charity said: "I am happy tonight in the comforting thought, that with promptings of Christmas my deeds have been fraught, for the needy with comfort and warmth to console this day I have furnished supplies of good coal, and tomorrow with good cheer their hearthstones will glow with the pick of the mines bought of Stevens & Co."

On a Reception Committee.

P. W. Donohue and T. McLoughlin, representing Division No. 4 of the A. O. H. of this city, are on the committee who will tender a reception to Miss Maude Gonne, the Joan of Arc of Ireland, when she speaks in the Lyric Theatre in Elizabeth December 28th.

THE SINGLE MEN VICTORS

PARK CLUB BENEDICTS DOWNED ON THE BOWLING ALLEYS.

A Large Number of Spectators Were Present to Encourage the Players, but the Harried Men Seemed Unable to Win.

There was plenty of fun at the Park Club last evening. The great event was the bowling contest between the Bachelors and the Benedicts. Last year the latter team won easily from their opponents, and they were very anxious to win the honors again last evening. Their zeal exceeded their efforts and they were severely beaten by the Bachelors. Even the excellent bowling of Dr. Thiers, who made the high score of 191, could not make up the deficiency, and down went the married men with a woeful cry. At the start both sides were very jubilant. They felt confident that everything would come their way, but, alas, they were doomed. Defeat may have been due to the fact that that genial personage, former Mayor B. A Hegeman, Jr., had just returned from a business trip through Pennsylvania, and had not shaken off the quiet and subdued manner of the Quakers. The "Tall Sycamore" of Somerset, who usually can get anybody out of trouble when it comes to law, was utterly helpless, and Mr. Reed had to be satisfied with the score of 137.

There was "Uncle" Peter Matthews. He evidently was in his best form, for he made a score of 155, and could have done better had the occasion required it. A singular fact in connection with the scores made by the married men was that Messrs. Hegeman, Howell and McGee each rolled a score of 122 The difference in the total scores was large. The Benedicts had to be satisfied with making the score of 1394, while their opponents scored 1517. It was evident that the married men were not in form, and that they require a little more practice for the next game to be rolled next week Thursday. There is much that could be said about the individual bowling of both sides, but as the Benedicts feel so down-hearted over their defeat it is thought best not to particularize.

The game was a lively one and afforded much amusement for the large number of spectators present. Each side was cheered throughout and given much encouragement. It is understood that the Benedicts have leased the alleys for every night until next Thursday, so that they can be in good shape for the coming contest. Below will be found the full score of last night's battle:

MISS HAWKINS SURPRISED.

Whatsoever Circle of King's Daughters Were the Unexpected Visitors.

Last evening the members of the Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughters, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, tendered a pleasant surprise to Miss Florence Hawkins, of LaGrande avenue. The surprised was wholly unaware of the coming of her friends, and when they arrived words failed to express her joy at their coming. The guests immediately made themselves feel "at home," and the evening was devoted to singing, playing games, etc., after which a bountiful supply of refreshments were served to all.

Jerusalem Chapter Elect.

A regular communication of Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, R. A M., was held last evening, at which officers for the coming year were elected as follows: High Priest, D C. Adams; king, C. C. Howard; scribe, Walter A Freeman; treasurer, Henry Liefke; secretary, H. C. VanAuken; captain of host, C. Goss; principal sojourner, R. A. Meeker; royal arch captain, Edward Nelson.

Well Deserves This Praise.

C. H. Schermerhorn, the veteran telegrapher of the C. R R., who has been manager at Plainfield for lo, these many years, is still holding the post, and his smiling face can be seen daily. Brother Schermerhorn has a pleasant word for everyone, and is very popular in Plainfield, as well as with all the boys along the line.—Railroad Telegrapher.

The Star Course.

The third entertainment in the Y. M C. A. Star Course will be given New Year's night at 8 o'clock. The attractions for this entertainment will be J. S. Blackton, humorist and caricaturist, and Will Lile, banjo specialist. The advertisement of the course appears in an advertising column.

EIGHT YEARS OF AGE.

THRIVING CONDITION OF CENTRAL LODGE A. O. U. W.

Anniversary Celebrated in an Auspicious Manner—Many Visitors Present—Sketch of the Growth of the Order in This City.

Central Lodge, No. 48, Ancient Order of United Workmen, celebrated its eighth anniversary last evening in an auspicious manner. Previous to the celebration the lodge initiated two members, after which many enjoyable features were presented. The visitors present included Grand Master Rutherford, of Cape May; Grand Foreman Stahl, of Trenton; Grand Overseer McCullough, of Swedesboro; Grand Recorder Lippincott, of Camden; Grand Receiver Goldsontest, of Camden; Grand Medical Examiner Barwis, of Trenton; Grand Outside Watch Nash, of Plainfield; Deputy Grand Master Workman VanDusen, of Rahway. There were also visitors present from Columbia Lodge, No. 58. Ancient Order of United Workmen. Master Workman Tomlinson, of Elizabeth Lodge, was among the visitors.

The history of the lodge was read by N. C. Mague. Past Workman Westphal was introduced as the father of Central Lodge, and he also made a few remarks, as did also Past Master Workmen Newcorn and Gray, of Central Lodge, Master Workman Dunham, of Columbia Lodge. There were recitations by Master Workman Rogers and Past Master Baker, of Central Lodge. The speeches and general good time was followed by a banquet served by the committee of arrangements consisting of Edward Mosher, George W. Clark, George Spicer, and H. C. Rand was the caterer.

Central Lodge, No. 48, was organized December 26, 1889, with forty-eight charter members. It was organized by W. A. Westphal and instituted by Grand Master Workman John Deiffendorf, of Newark. The total membership is now 122. In 1894 Henry Leifke applied for a withdrawal card, and he then organized Columbia Lodge, which now has a membership of 117 During the eight years of existence Central Lodge has paid to the grand lodge $11,000.

The lodge has lost eight members by death. It has received from the grand lodge from the funeral benefit fund $16,000. The actual cost to each member for an insurance of $2,000 has been $17 yearly. The lodge has lost forty members by suspension and withdrawal, and this number, with the eight lost by death, makes just the number of charter members with which the lodge started. When Columbia Lodge was organized in 1894 there were sixty-six charter members Last year there was initiation every meeting but one.

At the last meeting of the grand lodge, Central lodge was presented with an ivory gavel for the fact that they had an initiation at every meeting. Last year the lodge was one of ten having the highest percentage, and this year it has the highest percentage of any lodge in the State. The membership continues to grow, and this body is one of the most popular and influential of the many secret societies.

YOUNG HEARTS MADE HAPPY.

Christmastide Appropriately Observed in Dunellen Methodist Church.

Christmastide was appropriately and pleasantly celebrated last evening in the Dunellen Methodist Episcopal church The church was elaborately decorated for the occasion.

The programme was in charge of George Schenck, superintendent of the Sunday-school. It consisted of singing of carols by the scholars of the school, several selections by a male quartette, and recitations were given by George Fleet, Geo. Giddes, William Kennedy, Harold Leech, Ella Wheeler, Bessie Vail and Miss Leivers. A feature of the programme was the recitation given by Miss Nellie Brown. She recited a piece entitled "The Hermit." Still another feature was a literary selection, "I am going to hang my stocking," by six little tots, and a recitation, "A Christmas Secret," by Miss H. S. Shiveley.

After the rendition of the programme, presents were distributed by those in charge.

Red Cart Czar's Catastrophe.

Early this morning while Mail Messenger Frisbie was wheeling his mail cart down to North avenue from the station a heavy gust of wind overtook the rig and turned it over completely, dumping all of the mail bags into the street. Several persons were around at the time, and they assisted Frisbie in straightening out matters. An express wagon was then secured to take the mail to the postoffice.

SAID TO BE INSOLVENT.

APPLICATION FOR RECEIVER FOR PLAINFIELD SANITARY COMPANY.

DeWitt C Ivins is the Petitioner—Failure of a Stockholder to Pay for His Shares Said to Be the Trouble.

The following, printed on a postal card, has been sent out by Riker & Riker, the Newark lawyers:

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

Pursuant to an order to show cause, made in the Court of Chancery Dec. 21st, 1897, you are notified that suit has been begun in said court by DeWitt C. Ivins against the Plainfield Sanitary Company for the appointment of a receiver for said company, and an injunction against the further prosecution of its business on the ground of insolvency. That said order is returnable at Chancery Chambers, in the city of Newark, N. J., Dec. 28th inst. at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time and place all parties interested will be heard.

Riker & Riker.
Solicitors of complainant

Though not known generally to the public it has been suspected by many business men of late that the Sanitary Company were not in the best of financial condition, and the announcement that D. C. Ivins, one of the directors and stockholders, had made an application for the appointment of a receiver, was not a great surprise.

Several of the officials of the company, including Mr. Ivins, were seen by Press reporters this morning, but they declined to give any further information about the insolvency of the company than that conveyed in the notice sent out by the lawyers. It was stated, however, that the application for a receiver did not mean that the affairs of the company were to be closed up and the plant for garbage disposal abandoned.

It is said that when the company was organized quite a large number of shares were taken by a certain man, but that when the time came for him to put up his share of money he failed to materialize with the cash and that that discrepancy put the company in a plight.

The legal action now taken, it is understood, is merely formal in the way of reorganizing the enterprise on a sounder basis.

THE JURY DISAGREED.

Twelve Men in the Thatcher-Debele Case Were Not of One Mind.

The case of Howell Thatcher, a minor, against Charles Debele, on contract, was tried yesterday afternoon before Recorder Thomas and a twelve men jury. The plaintiff being under age, he was represented by Lawyer Winfield S. Angleman. McNabb & Clark represented the defendant.

The suit was for wages alleged to be due the plaintiff. In 1894 Thatcher left the Essex county poor house and went to work for Mr. Debele. He also worked for Mr. Debele's brother, and between the two he worked about three years. The boy claimed that he did not receive the amount of money promised him. He claimed he was to receive $100 when he reached the age of eighteen years, and that he had not received. Mr. Debele stated at the trial that the boy had injured his live stock and had caused him other trouble. On the other hand Mr. Angleman wanted to know why Mr. Debele kept the boy if he was so bad.

After the case had been argued it was given to the jury, composed of L. W. Hammond, J. D. Moon, C. F. Buell, H. M. Clark, Abram King, Wm. Boe, Albert Perry, Jacob Voehl, Andrew Love, A. I. Smalley, John Kline and Peter Hansen. After the jury was out about three hours they stated that they were unable to agree. At first they agreed to give the boy $25, but then a dispute arose as to who should pay the costs of the court. Some held that one side should pay, while others contended that both sides should pay. Being unable to come to any agreement on this point the jury was discharged and another trial will be held later.

Fire Victim Buried.

The funeral services of George, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cassett, who was burned to death last Saturday evening, were held at the residence of the parents, on West Third street, yesterday afternoon. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Phillip S. Gibson, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church.

Colored Men Enjoyed a Spread.

The Colored Southern League, of this city, held a meeting at the residence of Spencer Conway, on West Fourth street, last evening, and enjoyed a collation. About seventy five guests were present, and a very pleasant evening was passed in speech-making and sociability.

Baby Died in the South.

Word has been received in this city telling of the death of the two-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August O. Trust, who are residing in the south. They have the sympathy of many friends and acquaintances in this city.

DRAGGED BY A TRAIN.

B. A. STARR RISKED HIS LIFE TO AVOID MISSING HIS TRAIN.

Tried to Board a Fast Moving Train This Morning and Was Thrown Off His Feet—Got up and Fell Against the Car

The New York train that leaves Plainfield at 8:48 a. m., was well under way this morning when Benjamin A Starr, of Park avenue, came within an inch of losing his life. It is the same old story of where the commuter is late and is willing to risk his life for the sake of being on time in New York. Frequently those at the North Avenue station witness such performances and daily they expect to see someone killed.

This morning Mr. Starr was late in arriving at the station. While the train was pulling out from the station he was busily engaged with Baggage master Garretson, attending to some small business matters. Mr. Starr suddenly realized that the train was getting away from him, and he ran to catch it. By this time the forepart of the train had reached the Watchung avenue bridge, and was increasing its speed rapidly. Just as Mr. Starr ran up alongside of the car next to the last one he slipped and fell. As he got up the heavy wind caused him to stagger and he was thrown up against the car. The crowd standing at the station held their breath in suspense. Mr. Starr did not give up his object, but he succeeded in catching hold of the hand rail on the last car at the rear end.

For a moment he was unable to control himself and was dragged for several feet with one hand on the rail. The strain was severe, but he kept hold until he could place his other hand on the rail. Then, with a great effort, he raised himself sufficiently to sit on the bottom step of the car. His feet were hanging dangerously near the ground, and it was a miracle that they did not strike the girders on the bridge. The train was going very fast by this time. Just as Mr. Starr arose from his sitting position a heavy gust of wind blew his hat off of his head and carried his umbrella out of his hand. They were carried a considerable distance by the wind. Station Porter Edward Martin ran down the track and picked them up and brought them back to the station.

Mr. Starr, as the train passed rapidly down the road, waved his hands to those behind to let them know that he was all right.

Mr. Starr's escape was one of the most fortunate that has been witnessed at the station for a long time.

A STUDY IN VOTES.

F. H. Andrews Ran Ahead of His Ticket in the West End.

A study of the vote cast at the municipal election Tuesday, Dec. 7th, shows that the Fourth ward was the only ward in which Andrews ran ahead of his ticket. The record is as follows: First ward, 26 behind ticket; second ward, 9 behind ticket; third ward, 19 behind ticket; fourth ward, 4 ahead ticket. It should be borne in mind that the Fourth ward is not noted as being a prohibition ward. Blimm, whom the anti-prohibition Republicans, or rather the saloon Republicans were pasting over Andrews, ran 10 votes behind his ticket in the first district and 6 votes in the second, or 16 behind in the ward. Andrews ran 2 votes behind his ticket in the first district and 6 ahead in the second, or 4 ahead in the ward. As Blimm received upwards of 50 Republican votes on account of the temperance question and personal feeling, being known to many in the ward, this shows he was cut on about 65 Citizens' tickets in favor of Andrews. As Andrews was also cut some in favor of Homan, this also brought the Andrews vote down, but still left him 4 votes ahead of his ticket in his ward. Andrews ran ahead of Lievers, who lives in the ward; 3 votes in the first district and 20 votes in the second, or 23 in the ward. As Andrews' majority was but 81 votes, a change of 41 votes would have defeated him. There were 509 Citizens' votes cast in the ward. Taking the basis of a change of 1 in 5, the same as at the State election would show a change of 101 votes in favor of Andrews.

Blaze in a Parlor.

A small but destructive fire occurred about 9 o'clock this morning at the residence of William H. Day, 825 Richmond street. The blaze originated in an unexplained manner in the parlor, and badly damaged a valuable chair, a rug and other furniture before it was extinguished. No alarm was sent out. The damage, amounting to about $100, is fully covered by insurance.

—Miss Betts, of Grandview avenue, will sing "Inflammatus," from Rossini's Stabat Mater, at the Christmas service at St. Joseph's R. C. church, tomorrow morning.

MAY HAVE NEW FACTORY

A PHILADELPHIA ENTERPRISE LIKELY TO COME TO PLAINFIELD.

Movement to Organize a New Board of Trade Endorsed by Merchants—Elston M. French Writing to Philadelphia Firm.

The movement to organize a new Board of Trade to advance the financial and commercial interests of Plainfield is being pushed forward by its friends, and the reports of those most actively interested are to the effect that the movement is meeting with general favor among the business men and mechanics of the city, upon whom its success will depend.

The proposition stating the objects and methods of the new organization and naming its officers for the first year, which was formulated by Chas. H. Hand, has been circulated briskly among the representative business men of the city since that time, and there has been a willingness to sign the paper that has exceeded the expectations of the promoters.

Lawyer Harry C. Runyon, who has actively interested himself in the work of securing signers, reported to a Daily Press representative today that fully eighty signers had already been secured. At this rate there will be no difficulty in securing 150 signers, which is the number that is wanted before the meeting for organization, early in January.

Real Estate Dealer Elston M. French is interesting himself in a project which will undoubtedly have the support of the new Board of Trade. Several weeks ago Mr. French began correspondence with a Philadelphia manufacturing concern employing about one hundred hands, including many women, with a view to inducing them to establish a plant in this city. At the time he was not able to offer any special concessions except cheap land and railroad siding, but he has now written informing them of the organization of the new Board of Trade, and stating that through it the firm can probably be given a number of valuable concessions, including an acre of land, a railroad siding, free city water for one year, and possible concessions from the Electric Light Company.

It is hoped that through the efforts of the new organization it will be possible to secure the location of several more manufacturing concerns in the city during the coming year Other matters that will receive the attention of the Board are the reduction of fire insurance rates, which are now thought to be to high, the reduction of the tax rate, the improvement of local investment facilities, the increase of fire protection and the securing of better street lighting, and the extension of the trolley to Scotch Plains and to Bound Brook.

LOVERS' LANE KEPT OPEN.

Fence That Farmer Fox Put Across it Ordered Down by a Jury.

A lawsuit which started in the rivalry between two farmers' sons for a girl's hand was ended in court at New Brunswick yesterday morning. The case was that of A. F. Randolph against Michael Fox. Each owns a farm in Piscataway township. Fox's place separates Randolph's farm from that of the Buckelew family. Sons of both farmers courted Buckelew's daughter.

When young Randolph married the girl Mr. Fox, by way of reprisal, built a fence across a lane by which the Randolph and Buckelew families had to exchange visits for twenty years. Randolph sued Fox for right of way through the lane.

The case occupied the attention of Justice Dixon and a jury Wednesday, and at 8 o'clock yesterday morning the jury awarded 6 cents damages and the right of way through the lane.

Trolley Now to Bound Brook.

The Brunswick Traction Company formally opened its line from New Brunswick to Bound Brook yesterday afternoon. Car 111, with Edward Radel, secretary and general manager of the company, as motorman, made the trip. The line was then thrown open to the public. This is the first link in a chain of trolley lines that will connect New Brunswick with Bound Brook, Dunellen and Plainfield.

Daughters of Rebekah Elect.

At the meeting of Friendship Degree Lodge, No. 4, Daughters of Rebekah, held last evening, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: Noble Grand, Miss Elizabeth Dunlap; vice-grand, Mrs. P. A. VanFleet; recording secretary, Mrs. J. F. Kettering; permanent secretary, Mrs. Welch; treasurer, Mrs. Chamberlain.

His Hand Lacerated

Charles Crosby, an employe on the works of the American Engine Company in Bound Brook, caught his hand in a lathe a few days ago and it was badly lacerated He will not be able to work for some time.

TO SING GLAD CAROLS.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAMMES IN THE LOCAL CHURCHES.

Choirs Will do Their Best to Spread Good Cheer to Those Who Attend Service Sunday in the Spirit of the Yuletide Season.

Of all the days in the year, Christmas bears the closest relationship to the church. It is fitting that on the day of the Saviour's birth all Christians should observe the celebration of the occasion with special exercises. Among the special programmes to be given in the Plainfield houses of worship are the following:

There will be a musical service at the First Presbyterian church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, under the direction of W. E. MacClymont, A. G. O., choirmaster and organist, assisted by W. P. DeNike, 'cellist; P. L. Conde, violinist; George Audsley, flutist, and Mrs. B. T. Barnes, pianist, with a chorus of eighteen voices The following is the programme:

Benediction.
Organ postlude—Toccata in F ..... Bach

The services at the First Baptist church Sunday morning will be chiefly musical, with appropriate anthems for Christmas and solos by Miss Harris, Mrs Ward, and Messrs. Holmes and Smith, accompanied by organ, violin and violoncello. The Sunday-school exercises will be held at 3 p. m. The schools of the Mt. Olive and East Third Street missions participating. At this service there will be special instrumental and vocal music, including carols by the schools, recitations and a brief address by the pastor of the church.

The music committee of Trinity Reformed church has succeeded in arranging for some special music to be rendered at the Christmas service in the Y. M. C. A. building tomorrow morning. A quartette, consisting of Mrs. J. H. Manley, Mrs. Alfred K. Willett, Fred S. Cutter and Robert Clark, will sing several selections appropriate to the occasion. In addition to the above, Mrs. Manley will sing several solos. This service will no doubt be largely attended by members and friends of the church.

The Christmas music at the Church of the Redeemer is as follows:

Processional—Hymn 49, "Adeste Fidelis."

NATIONAL BANK FAILS

Chestnut Street Institution in Philadelphia Closed.

IN HANDS OF EXAMINER

Much Surprise at the Suspension—City Funds Amounting to $289,854 and State Funds Amounting to $225,000 in the Bank.

Philadelphia, Dec. 24.—The doors of the Chestnut Street National Bank were closed yesterday morning by direction of National Bank Examiner Hardt. Its affairs are now in the hands of the Bank Examiner.

The following notice was posted on the door of the bank:

"The Chestnut Street National Bank is closed for business, and is in the hands of the National Bank Examiner. WILLIAM M. HARDT, "Examiner."

Little Excitement.

A crowd of depositors soon gathered about the door, but there was no especial excitement, and, as a general rule, after each had learned the nature of the notice on the door he moved away and his place in the crowd would be taken by others anxious to learn something regarding the situation.

The bank has at all times held a good reputation, but it has been known for some time that its business, and necessarily its profits, had fallen off considerably. The suspension, however, was a great surprise, especially in view of the high standing of its officers.

William M. Singerly is its president, and Isaac Cooper vice-president. The bank was started in 1887 on a capital of $500,000, with Robert E. Pattison as president. When the latter became Governor of Pennsylvania in 1891 Mr. Singerly succeeded him as president of the bank.

Trust Company Closed.

The Chestnut Street Trust and Savings Fund Company, the officers of which are identical with those of the bank, and the offices being located in the same building, was also closed for business to-day, but to what extent the trust company is involved in the bank's affairs has not yet been announced.

The last report of the condition of the Chestnut Street National Bank, made on Oct. 5, 1897: was.

Resources—Loans and discounts, $2,790,508.65; overdrafts, secured and unsecured, $3,552.34; United States bonds to secure circulation, $50,000; United States bonds to secure United States deposits, $100,000; premiums on United States bonds, $10,500; due from national banks, $226,631.70; due from State banks and bankers, $3,851.46; due from approved reserve agents, $300,732.78; checks and other cash items, $54,387.74; exchanges for clearing house, $174,596.47; notes of other national banks, $3,184; fractional paper currency, nickels and cents, $2,835.94; lawful money reserve in bank, $140,040.50; redemption fund with United States Treasurer, $2,250. Total, $3,868,070.58.

Liabilities—Capital stock paid in, $500,000; surplus fund, $150,000; undivided profits, less expenses and taxes paid, $24,924.86; national bank notes outstanding, $43,600; due to other national banks, $506,110.41; due to State banks and bankers, $134,771.70; individual deposits subject to check, $2,035,856; demand certificates of deposit, $1,520; cashier's checks outstanding, $126,572.51; United States deposits, $94,715.10; bills payable, $250,000. Total, $3,868,070.58.

A City Depository.

The bank was a city depository, and there were city funds there to the amount of $289,854. The State of Pennsylvania also had on deposit with the bank on Dec. 1, $225,000, according to the official statement of State Treasurer Haywood, issued on that date.

The bank was also a depository of the National Government, but the Government is protected by holding $100,000 United States bonds as security.

It is said that the bank holds the funds of the city police and firemen's pension fund, the school teachers' pension and annuity fund and deposits of the Fairmount Park Commission, which latter includes bequests for the park improvement.

STATEMENT OF MR. ECKELS.

Failure Due to Shrinkage in Pulp and Paper Mill Securities.

Washington, Dec. 24.—Comptroller of the Currency Eckels says that the failure of the Chestnut Street National Bank of Philadelphia was primarily due to the shrinkage in value of the bonds and notes of the Singerly Pulp and Paper Mills, located at Elkton, Md. The capital of the bank is $500,000, and at the present time its deposits aggregate about $1,700,000, and its surplus about $150,000. Mr. Eckels has been in Philadelphia several times recently, trying to make arrangements by which the pulp and paper mills securities could be taken out of the assets of the bank and preferred stock of the Philadelphia Record Company substituted. By this and certain other changes Mr. Eckels hoped to put the bank in first-class condition.

Up to 5 o'clock Wednesday night it was thought that the plan would be adopted, but at that time a hitch occurred which rendered suspension necessary. When the pulp and paper mills securities were taken by the bank they were regarded by every one as first class, but since that time paper has fallen in price from ten cents a pound to less than two cents, and the securities have depreciated in proportion. Mr. Eckels said there was not the least suspicion of any wrong-doing on the part of any one connected with the bank, and he still had strong hopes of arranging for the voluntary liquidation of the bank's affairs without the expense incident to the appointment of a receiver.

Mr. Eckels expressed the belief that the bank ultimately would pay every dollar it owes.

Hopes to Pay in Full.

Philadelphia, Dec. 24. — President Singerly last night said to a reporter: "We are at work trying to secure the indebtedness of the bank, with a view of going into voluntary liquidation and paying depositors dollar for dollar."

This is the only statement that can be procured from the bank officers or the department of the Comptroller of the Currency.

HER HEART BROKEN.

Salvation Army Cruelty May Kill Mrs. Ballington Booth.

New York, Dec. 24.—Mrs. Maud B. Booth, wife of Commander Ballington Booth of the American Volunteers, is said to be growing weaker hourly in the Presbyterian Hospital, and there is but little hope of her recovery. Mrs. Booth is said to be dying of a broken heart.

The cause of her illness is an injury to the pulmonary artery. This, her physicians say, was caused "by sudden grief or a severe shock."

While Commander Booth refuses to speak of the cause of his wife's illness further than to express the prevailing fear that she may not recover, members of the Volunteers freely discuss Mrs. Booth's illness and its cause. One of the most prominent members said:

"Mrs. Booth is dying of a broken heart, not only figuratively, but literally. The physicians diagnose her illness as a ruptured blood vessel of the heart, but we attribute it to the unjust and cruel treatment she has received from the Salvation Army ever since she and her husband were compelled to leave it."

Mrs. Booth's illness dates back to a short time after the separation of herself and husband from the Salvation Army. She often complained to the Commander about that time of a severe pain in the region of the heart. This was at first attributed to a mild attack of neuralgia of the muscles of the heart, but as the pain became serious she consulted the surgeons of the Presbyterian Hospital, and then learned of the serious character of the trouble.

It is little more than two years since the friction arose in the Salvation Army which ended in the estrangement of Ballington Booth from his relatives. In February of the same year Ballington Booth and his wife withdrew from the Salvation Army and organized the Volunteers.

Gen. Booth Hears the News.

London, Dec. 24. — Gen. William Booth, the founder and head of the Salvation Army, received several cable dispatches yesterday relating to the condition of Mrs. Ballington Booth, who is reported to be dying in New York of a broken heart in consequence of the persecutions of the Salvation Army.

When the General left Army Headquarters for the day he ordered that if any dispatches for him were received later they should be kept until this morning.

THE TROUBLE IN CHINA.

Why Japan Could Not Declare War Against Either Russia or China.

London, Dec. 24.—The Vienna correspondent of the Standard says that the first news of the occupation of Port Arthur emanated from Tokio, a fact significant of Japanese vigilance. Discussing Japan's position, the correspondent says:

"She cannot declare war against either China or Russia, because if she did the ten large ironclads that are being built for her in Europe and America and are nearly finished would be shut up till the war was over. She will, therefore, risk nothing by herself."

A dispatch from Rome says that at a meeting of the Italian Cabinet it was decided to dispatch a squadron to Chinese waters.

French Cruiser for China.

Toulon, France, Dec. 24.—The French cruiser Pascal has sailed for China. The Pascal is a second-class cruiser of about 4,000 tons displacement. She has a 1½-inch armored deck, carries four 6.4-inch quick-firing guns, ten 3.9-inch guns, eight 1.8-inch guns and four 1.4-inch rapid-fire guns, and carries a crew of 378 men. Her speed is estimated at twenty knots.

Japan's War Ship Nearly Done

San Francisco, Dec. 24.—Work on the Japanese war vessel Chitos, in course of construction at the Union Iron Works, is being pushed forward and she will be launched early in January. She will go at once to Japan, where she will receive her armament. The Japanese Government use the English Armstrong guns on all the ships, hence she will not be equipped at this port.

Pardoned by McKinley.

St. Louis, Dec. 24.—William E. Burr, Jr., ex-cashier of the St. Louis National Bank, now serving a sentence of five years at the Jefferson City State Penitentiary for the embezzlement of $20,000, has been pardoned by President McKinley. The pardon, it is said, was issued on the recommendation of Attorney-General McKenna, who received petitions of clemency from National Republican Committeeman Kerens, the two Democratic Senators and other influential people of the State.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagah, Ind. Ter. Chief. This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and la grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Howard Leggett, the East Front street druggist, is able to be out again after a short illness.

After hearing some friends continually praising Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Curtis Fleck, of Anaheim, California, purchased a bottle of it for his own use and is now as enthusiastic over its wonderful work as anyone can be The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T.S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Miss Susie Boes, of Central avenue, is visiting relatives at Lebanon, Hunterdon county.

Don't be persuaded into buying liniments without reputation or merit—Chamberlain's Pain Balm costs no no more, and its merits have been proven by a test of many years. Such letters as the following, from L. G. Bagley, Hueneme, Cal., are constantly being received: "The best remedy for pain I have ever used is Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and I say so after having used it in my family for several years." It cures rheumatism lame back, sprains and swellings. For sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Julius Williams, of Elmwood place, has returned from a business trip west and will remain at home until after the holidays.

Mr. C. M. Dixon, a well known merchant, of Pleasant Ridge, Fulton Co., Pa, has a little girl who is frequently threatened with croup, but when the first symptoms appear, his wife gives her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which always affords prompt relief. EXODUS TO KLONDIKE.

Gold Hunters from Australia Booked for the Spring Rush.

San Francisco, Dec. 24.—Travel from Australasia to the Klondike will be very heavy next year, and the Oceanic Steamship Company is preparing for it. All the available space on the Mariposa, due here in February, and the Moana, due here in March, has been engaged. In the case of the Moana the bulk of the passengers will come from New Zealand, and permit is to be obtained from the Government for permission to erect berths in some of the space reserved for freight.

No passengers from Honolulu will be carried on this steamer, and tourists will have to depend on the regular boat.

First Pack Train Off.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Dec. 24.—Orders are received by the quartermaster of the Eighth United States Infantry to have the army pack train of the Department of the Platte, stationed here, leave for Alaska at the earliest possible moment. The pack train is in charge of Chief Packer Tom Mooney. He will have the entire outfit, consisting of ten expert packers and eighty trained and tried pack mules, on the cars to-day, ready to start. The destination of the pack train is Taiya.

Boats for the Stickeen.

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 24.—James C. Ollard, of Tacoma, has closed a contract for three twin screw steamers for use on Lake Teslin and the Stickeen River trade. The boats are expected to make sixteen knots an hour.

The Klondike Gospel Band.

Pittsburg, Dec. 24.—The Klondike Gospel Band of seven members, which left New York City Nov. 8 on an overland march to the Alaskan gold fields to establish there a rescue mission and hospital, have arrived safely in this city. They traversed the entire States of New Jersey and Pennsylvania on foot. At the close of each day's tramp, covering a distance of from twenty to twenty-five miles, they have held Gospel services, and their reception everywhere along the line was surprisingly cordial. School houses or churches were freely offered for their use, and crowded audiences were the rule.

FAVORS FOR THE TRAVELLERS.

The Canadian Minister of Customs Willing to Help Americans.

Ottawa, Dec. 24.—The Minister of Customs has received a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury at Washington inquiring if travelers on the way to the Alaskan gold fields by way of the Lynn Canal and the Yukon will have bonding privileges for their goods passing through Canadian territory, and has replied that it was the desire of the Canadian Government to afford every possible facility for the convenience of those using Canadian territory to reach Circle City or other points in Alaska.

At present, however, owing to the great distance between Lake Bennett and such places as Circle City, about 7,000 miles, it would be impossible to keep track of the goods, but as soon as responsible transportation companies were doing business a bond could be taken from them and the object accomplished in that way.

WARNER GETS FIFTEEN YEARS.

John Conway's Abductor Sentenced to Term in Clinton Prison.

Albany, Dec. 24.—Albert S. Warner, the kidnapper of John Conway, was yesterday afternoon sentenced to a term of fifteen years in Clinton prison. Warner was arraigned in the Trial Term of the Supreme Court before Justice Chester this morning. He pleaded guilty after a consultation with District Attorney Burlingame, and it was announced that he would be sentenced at 3 o'clock.

Warner was brought into court, and when asked why the sentence of the court should not be passed upon him he made a statement in which he said that he knew nothing about the kidnapping until twelve hours after the child had been stolen. He warned Blake, he said, that the plan would not work and advised that the child be surrendered, but Blake induced him to take charge of the boy. This, said Warner, covered his own connection with the case, and he added that his only mistake was in getting mixed up in an affair with which he had had nothing to do at its inception.

India Wants Gold Standard.

Calcutta, Dec. 24.—The Bengal Chamber of Commerce has sent an address to the Government urging that the time has arrived to adopt the gold standard. The address points out that it is four years since the mints were closed, leaving India without a currency system, asserting that the suspense is harmful to trade, and urging the Government to disclose any measures which it may have in contemplation.

Fitzsimmons' Ankle Sprained.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—Robert Fitzsimmons had just finished taking a bath and was in his bare feet, when his 4-year-old boy suddenly threw open the bathroom door. Fitz's right foot was caught under the door and severely jammed. The boy continued to push. The pugilist gave his foot a jerk to release himself and sprained his ankle. He will probably be lame for several days.

Miss Julia Marlowe Ill.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Dec. 24.—Miss Julia Marlowe, the actress, is seriously ill in this city, and has been compelled to cancel her engagement for the remainder of the week at the Grand Opera House. Miss Marlowe is suffering from an attack of malaria, and it was deemed advisable to cable her husband, Mr. Robert Taber, who is now playing in Sir Henry Irving's company in England.

PLOT OF THE SPANISH

Said That a Spy Will Be Sent to Assassinate Gomez.

TO JOIN NEW YORK CUBANS

Then to Proceed to the Island with a Filibustering Expedition—Startling Letter from Havana to Philadelphian Confirmed by Junta.

Philadelphia, Dec. 24.—The Press publishes a sensational letter written to a resident of this city by "a distinguished resident" of Havana, whose name is withheld for obvious reasons. The letter says in part:

"You know that the policy of Gen. Blanco has always been a combination of bribery and assassination. You will not be surprised, therefore, at what is to follow. The information has been given to me by a Cuban who, owing to the autonomist force, holds a position in the councils of the Captain-General.

A Spanish Spy.

"The friend tells me that Dr. Congosto has several schemes in store, but the most important ones, those that will give you a clearer insight into the methods of pacification that the Spaniards intend, are the following:

"Dr. Congosto has sent an emissary to New York. I do not know his name. He is a tall man, with full beard, black eyes and a marked Spanish accent, though I am not sure of his nationality. He has probably started already for New York, where he hopes to join one of the filibustering expeditions and reach the army under Gomez. He is to find out the depots of arms and the hospitals. When an occasion presents itself he is to murder Gen. Gomez. His recompense for all these services will be some thousands of dollars.

"My trouble is to understand where they will get the money.

A Cruel Alternative.

"The second scheme is with reference to overtures to be made to those fighting in the field for Cuban liberty.

"You know as well as I do the old man, Jose Roban, and you remember as well as I do that in the former uprisings he showed himself to be a Spaniard of the Spaniards. Now, his son Luis is the leader commanding the insurgent brigade in Sagua. For this crime the father was expatriated and sent from Sagua to Havana, where he now resides. Dr. Cognosto knows that Gen. Gomez has issued a proclamation ordering every leader to see that all emissaries who may present themselves with propositions of peace that are not based on the absolute independence of the island shall be sentenced to death. He further adds that all infractions of this order shall be considered treason. Now, Dr. Cognosto has conceived the idea of sending the father to the son with propositions looking towards autonomy, thus placing the son in the position of either shooting his father or being himself declared a traitor. The poor old man refused, but I know not how long he may withstand the pressure that is being brought to bear on him.

The Last Scheme.

"Dr. Congosto is endeavoring to secure the services of a prominent man in the United States. This prominent person is to come here, and on his return to the States is to declare that autonomy is an accomplished fact, that peace is firmly established and other foolish things.

"As if this could alter the real state of affairs; and as if Consul-General Lee were not here to tell the truth. And, by the way, I very much fear that if this gentleman does not take his departure in good time he is running the risk of being blown to pieces."

CONFIRMED BY THE JUNTA.

Say They Know Name and Whereabouts of Blanco's Emissary.

New York, Dec. 24.—At the Cuban Junta official confirmation was given to a story that Gen. Blanco has sent to this city from Cuba a man whose mission is to join one of the filibustering expeditions to the east coast of Cuba and secure the assassination of Gen. Gomez.

"Yes, we know all about Blanco's emissary," a representative of the Junta said to a reporter. "We know the steamship he is on and we know his name. He is not likely to join any of our expeditions."

It is believed, although denied at the Cuban headquarters, that the filibustering schooner James M. Haskell cleared from the Erie Basin yesterday with 500,000 rounds of ammunition, 2,000 rifles and many cans of dynamite.

THE POPE'S STATEMENT.

Majority of Italians Deplore Conflict Between Church and State.

Rome, Italy, Dec. 24.—The reception at the Vatican yesterday was largely attended by Roman Catholic dignitaries. Replying to the Christmas greetings, the Pope deplored the conflict between the State and the Holy See, which impartial minds desired to end. The majority of Italians, His Holiness continued, were against it, and it was wrong to fight the will of the people, who understood that political unity did not suffice to give them prosperity. Therefore, they desired the independence of the Papacy and the restoration of its rights. Peaceful citizens should not be confounded with the subversive factions whose aim was to set the cause of Italy and the rights of the Papacy in conflict. It had never been unworthy, and the State should make just reparation.

The Pope, who was in excellent health and splendid voice, blessed all present, including twenty-three Cardinals.

Mammoth Wheat Cargo.

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 24.—The mammoth tramp steamer Algoa sailed from Tacoma with the largest cargo of grain ever loaded in a single vessel, carrying 377,509 bushels of wheat valued at $312,690. The Algoa is bound for the northwest coast of Africa, and is expected to be about seventy days making the voyage.

Chicago Bank Winds Up.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—The Hide and Leather Bank has gone into liquidation. Its assets have been turned over to the Union National Bank.

Merry Christmas to all our friends.

The Press will not be issued tomorrow.

It is known now in political circles that William Hulskamper, of Elizabeth, is slated for the office of journal clerk of the house of representatives.

The Press calendar will be presented to our friends one week before it will come generally into use. The faithful carrier boys who serve the papers in Plainfield homes will deliver the calendars tomorrow morning, wishing all a Merry Christmas.

Such an effort as is now being made by Charles H. Hand to improve the general industrial and commercial condition of Plainfield deserves all the encouragement that it can receive in the way of co-operation of men whose whole business interests are centered in town. A live and aggressive Board of Trade can do a great deal for a town with the natural advantages that Plainfield possesses, and the essay of Mr. Hand to provide such an organization is meeting with hearty encouragement from all those who realize what results might be attained in the growth of local business if some of the capital that is now being invested in outside enterprises was diverted to the endeavor to provide as good investments at home.

From America to Russia.

The annual illustrated volume published yearly by the Honeyman Private Tours' party (the European party) has been issued and is fully as handsome as ever. Its title is "From America to Russia," and it has twenty-three photographs of the coaching tour and also of scenes in Norway, Sweden and Russia. Many of the photos were snap-shots by Mr. Estil, our townsman, and they are beautiful specimens of kodak work, notably the one of King Oscar's summer chateau on the Christiana fjord. One of the most attractive pictures is of the young Queen of Holland, who is to be crowned next August. The work can be seen at Estil's store, upon inquiry

Miss Lena Renneman, of Summit avenue, will spend Christmas with her parents at Warrenville.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. J. Harry Griggs, two-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Griggs, of New Brunswick, died last Wednesday evening after a short illness with pneumonia. The funeral was held today from the home of the bereaved parents, who have the sympathy of a large circle of friends and acquaintances in the borough.

Yesterday afternoon considerable excitement was occasioned when a horse owned by Mr. Rogers, the borough liveryman, took fright and ran away. The animal was fastened to a light wagon and he made extra quick time in running from the stables to the corner of North and Washington avenues. When the corner was reached the horse made an effort to turn and in doing so smashed the wagon into innumerable pieces and upset himself as well. Henry Stevens happened to be near at the time and he caught the horse before he could regain his feet and get away. Fortunately no one was in the wagon. The horse received a few slight cuts. The runaway attracted a large crowd of people who seemed to enjoy the fun.

THEATRICAL.

Christmas afternoon and evening Manager Edwards has the pleasure to announce to the patrons of Music Hall the talented young comedian, James J. Darling, and his own company, in Roland Reed's successful comedy, "Lend Me Your Wife." This is Mr. Darling's first appearance in Plainfield, although he has played in several of the surrounding cities to great success. The play is well known in the larger cities, and it has been one of Mr. Reed's most successful productions. An exchange, in speaking of the performance of the company that is to appear here tomorrow, says: "As 'Dick Easily,' in 'Lend Me Your Wife,' Mr. Darling had a role which admirably fitted him. He showed with marked clearness the lovable as well as the mischievous side of the character. Mr. Quinn made a manly 'Tom Bunting,' and John E. Dyer, in the role of 'Capt. Abner Tarbox,' was immense. Charles T. Catlin made a very natural father to 'Bessie.' Harry M. Peckham made a hit with his whistling in the role of 'Harry, the New Boy,' and his acting in the eccentric part was excellent. Harry Gannon and J. A. Hepworth played their parts satisfactorily. The ladies of the cast were all fine. Libbie F. Healy, who may always be depended on, played the role of the young wife in a captivating manner. Hortense Booth, as 'Hitty Tarbox,' looked pretty, and her movements were graceful. Florence Robertson, as 'Lottie,' was delightful, and the baby fretted and cried, as all babies do when you don't want them to." Secure your seats early.

TWENTY-THREE HURT BY FIRE.

Unexpected Explosion Starts a Panic in a Chicago Crowd.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—Fire broke out shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the basement of the five-story building at 104 Madison street, the first floor and basement of which were occupied by the Tosetti Cafe and Restaurant Company, and the second floor by the billiard parlors of Frank Mussey.

The blaze was insignificant at first and a crowd of persons gathered on the sidewalk in front of the building to watch the work of the firemen. About one dozen policemen were engaged in pushing back the throng, when a terrific explosion took place.

The building was wrecked, the windows, window gratings, sidewalk lights and manholes were hurled into the air and fell among the crowd. Dozens of persons were thrown from their feet and twenty-three were injured. Only one of them was seriously hurt.

The explosion caused a panic in the street, and in the frantic rush for safety which followed many persons were thrown down and trampled upon. Mussey's billiard parlors were filled with players when the explosion came, and the men made a wild rush for safety.

The fire spread rapidly through the building, which was nearly destroyed. The loss is $90,000. Traffic in the vicinity was suspended on the cable lines until midnight.

HERE'S A PENSION HAUL.

$4,000 for a Norwegian's Widow, Who Has Never Been in America.

Washington, Dec. 24.— A pension has been granted to the widow of Knud Knudsen, a soldier in the late war, the back pay of which aggregates over $4,000. The man was a native of Norway, and was married to the woman who now gets the pension in April, 1858. Knudsen emigrated to this country in 1861, enlisted Jan. 27, 1862, in Company H, Fifteenth Regiment, Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry, and died in the service Oct. 16, 1863.

In connection with the allowance of the claim the Pension Office makes the following statement:

"On Aug. 31, 1894, thirty-one years after the soldier's death, the widow, who had never left Norway, applied for a pension. Under the present laws she has title and the claim must be allowed, granting arrears of pension from the date of the soldier's death."

TO RETRY MRS. ATKINSON.

Wife of Governor of West Virginia to Face Jury Again.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Dec. 24.—C. M. Bennett, Prosecuting Attorney of Gilmer County, has set at rest all rumors about Mrs. Myra Camden Atkinson, the wife of Gov. George Welsey Atkinson, whose recent trial for forgery resulted in a hung jury. He announces that the second hearing of the case will begin some time early in January at a special term of court to be called by Judge Reece Blizzard.

Camden Sommers, a grandson of Judge Camden, and one of the interested parties, who was the chief prosecuting witnesses at the other trial, has been diligently at work since the first trial, and announces that he has obtained new evidence which will make the second trial more interesting than the first one. Mrs. Atkinson will leave here in a few days for a health-restoring trip to Florida before the trial.

To Strike if Wages Are Cut.

Fall River, Mass., Dec. 24.—Eleven thousand operatives in the Union, Sagamore, Borden City, Shove, Durfie, Chace and American mills are now planning to strike on Jan. 3. Ten thousand more threaten to go out on March 1 if the 10 per cent. reduction is put into effect at that time. The sentiment among the mill hands is overwhelmingly in favor of a strike, rather than submission to a cut in wages, already so meagre that they mean but a scanty existence. A committee of the operatives waited upon representative mill owners, the capitalists who practically control the field here, and presented three propositions to them.

Libels Drexel's Yacht.

Wilmington, Dec. 24.—George W. Childs Drexel's handsome yacht, Alcedo, was seized by United States Marshal Short here yesterday afternoon on a libel entered by John Braden Braden was a fireman on the Alcedo, and claims wages due to the amount of $172. He alleges ill treatment, and says he was abruptly and without provocation put off the yacht when it was on the coast of Norway in September. The Alcedo is now tied up.

Two Men Lynched.

Spokane, Wash., Dec. 24.—News has reached here from Colfax that Chadwick Marshall and John McDonald, alleged murderers of Orville Hayden, were taken from jail Monday night and lynched. The story was at first denied, but the stories brought here by persons who were in the town at the time confirm it beyond doubt.

Stage Driver Blames Gateman.

New York, Dec. 24.—William Crane, of Passaic, the driver of the big stage which was struck by a freight train on the D., L. & W. R. R. near Passaic on Wednesday night while crowded with thirty-six men, and women says the gates were up and that the gateman's negligence was to blame.

Perry Acquitted of Murder.

Philadelphia, Dec. 24.—Samuel Perry, the boxer, who knocked out Edward Gibbons in a boxing contest last March, killing him with the fatal solar plexus blow, was acquitted of murder in the second degree yesterday afternoon, after a three-days trial.

I. LEDERER.

NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED IN UP-TO-DATE LAUNDRY WORK.

We run the laundry and take care of all details, but you "boss" it. We do what you tell us to do. It may give you a new sensation to find that you get a domestic finish when you ask for it, and to discover that your collars are actually ironed in the way that the maker intended them to be ironed.

We are running a laundry with the most improved methods and appliances. We use pure water and good soap. We are using two things that are not commonly used in laundries—care and intelligence. If you have found a laundry that pleases you perfectly, we have nothing to say to you. If you have any reason to be dissatisfied, we would like to give you a practical demonstration of our way of running a laundry.

Tell us where and when to call for your work, when you want it delivered, and let us know any particular thing that you would like to have done with it.

We want you to understand that we are running this laundry for you, and that your wishes are to be regarded in every particular. We will give you just exactly what you want, if we can find out what that is. Perhaps you believe that it is impossible to have your laundry well handled without irritation and annoyance to you. We are sure that you are mistaken. May we have an opportunity of demonstrating it?

BEHRING SEA AWARD

Uncle Sam to Pay Canada's Sealers $464,000.

SO SAYS THE COMMISSION

It Was Not Expected that Canada Would Receive the Full Amount Asked For, Much Less the Entire Claim, with Interest.

Washington, Dec. 24.—The findings of the British-American Commission chosen to assess the damages for seizures of British ships in Behring Sea have been received by the State Department and the British Embassy. The strictest reticence is maintained on the general character of the findings, though it is admitted that the total award against the United States is $464,000, which includes principal and interest. A separate statement of the award, divided into principal and interest, is refused at this time.

It should be understood that the finding against this Government is no surprise, that being a certainty under the finding of the Paris Court of Arbitration that the United States had no right to close Behring Sea against foreign ships. The international commission's only duty was to assess the amount. This is considered, to some extent, a vindication of the State Department, which had sought to settle the question without a commission for $425,000.

The award now made exceeds this sum considerably, and besides this, there will be the expense of the arbitration, and also the possible establishment of some unfortunate precedents as to the obligation of the United States to pay estimated or prospective damages.

Eleven Years of Work.

The controversy has occupied the attention of the authorities here and in London for eleven years. At the outset the tone of the controversy was very belligerent, suggesting a possible resort to arms. This was following the seizure by the United States steamer Corwin of the British sealers Carolena and Thornton on Aug. 1, 1886. The facts of the seizure were not known until some time later, and meantime the Corwin had taken the Onward and Favourite.

The same policy of seizure and confiscation continued during the next sealing season, despite the protests of Great Britain, the United States ship Richard Rush taking the Sayward, Grace, Anna Beck, Dolphin, Alfred Adams, Triumph, Juniata, Pathfinder, Black Diamond, Lily, Ariel, Kate and Minnie, while the United States cutter Bear took the Ada.

Prospective Claims.

The claims for these seizures covered a wide range, beginning with the value of the vessels and outfits, and including not only the sealskins confiscated but also the value of skins which might have been taken if the ships had not been seized. This last feature of prospective damages caused the main contention.

In the case of each British ship the largest item of the claim was for estimated future catch. For instance, in the case of the Carolena the claim for the ship was only $4,000, while that for skins which might have been taken that year if she had not been seized was $16,667. Each ship estimated a prospective catch of from 3,500 to 5,000 skins, the value being from $3.50 per skin in 1887 to $12.25 in 1889.

The total of the claims, without interest, amounted to $439,161, and, with interest at 7 per cent. and other claims, the total reached $786,166.

GIFT TO SAMUEL SLOAN.

Solid Gold Service Given to President of the D., L. & W. Railroad.

New York, Dec. 24.—President Samuel Sloan, of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, was yesterday afternoon presented with a $16,000 gold table service by the officers and employees of the company he directs.

The presentation took place in the president's office, 26 Exchange Place, and was made by Vice-President Halden.

The venerable president made a feeling response, near the close of which he said:

"Gentlemen: I know that I have this day received evidence of your respect and friendship. I shall never forget this hour. But, my friends, I do not feel that I can accept this present. It would be against my principles. The most I can say to-day is that I will not accept it until I have had several days to think over the matter.

It was plain to be seen that Mr. Sloan does not believe in employers accepting gifts from employees.

No more princely gift has ever been given an employer by employees. The service is of solid gold, designed by the best Tiffany artists, and its magnificence is indicated by the fact that the tray, 14x20 inches in size, cost $6,000.

The occasion for the presentation is that Mr. Sloan will be 80 years old on Christmas. Mr. Sloan was born on Christmas day, 1817, in Lisburn, near Belfast, Ireland. He was brought to this city when 3 years old, and has lived here ever since. He was first employed in an importing house, and then drifted into the railroad business. At 9.30 every morning he reaches his office, and he works as hard as any of his clerks till he leaves at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Inspector of Customs.

Washington, Dec. 24.—Secretary Gage has appointed John V. George, brother of the late Henry George, an inspector of customs in the New York Custom House. Mr. George was a special agent of the Treasury, stationed at Clayton, N. Y., but was dropped a few months ago on account of a reduction in the force. As the law allowed a reinstatement within a year, the appointment was made.

Sailor Anderson to Hang.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 24.—John Anderson, who killed Mate Saunders of the schooner Oliver Pecker, was yesterday found guilty of murder in the first degree. Counsel for Anderson moved for a new trial, and if this is denied the case will be taken to the Supreme Court of Appeals, if funds are provided. As the case stands now, Anderson will be hanged for his crime.

"BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW."

Do you ever ask yourself why you keep chickens?

Is it for pleasure? If so, would not a little profit add to the pride and pleasu e?

Possibly it is because you wish to be sure of absolutely fresh eggs on your table. If so, would you not prefer to get the eggs during the winter rather than in the spring, "when everybody's eggs are fresh?"

We can make bricks in these days without straw but no one can make hens lay eggs in the wi ter months unless he supplies sp cial foods and care.

We aim to carry in our different stores everything that is necessary for the "Business Hen"—that is, the hen that pays for her board—and we would be pleased to hear from either large or small poultry raisers.

Among other things we would suggest:

Granulated Charcoal,	Poultry Feed,
Ground Oyster Shells,	Buckwheat Grain,
Chicken & Pigeon Grit,	Barley,
Granulated Bone,	Hemp Seed,
Meat Meal,	Millet Seed,
Clover Heads,	Sheridan's Powder.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The Park Club now has the satisfaction, if it is any, of being at one end of the list of competitors for the trophy in the Central Journal Bowling League. It is the wrong end, however, for, sorrowful to say, the Park Club now stands last in the contest for the championship. The Parks, if the truth must be told, have been rolling a very poor game. There are many good bowlers in the club, but some how they have been doing remarkably poor this year. Fred O. Ball, captain of the team, has rolled a good game and has been sadly handicapped by the poor support he has received. He is a good bowler and has done his best to carry the team to victory. At present the standing of the different clubs in the League is as follows:

BRAKEMAN KILLED IN A COLLISION.

Accident in the Jersey Central Freight Yard—Engineer Injured.

There was a collision in the freight yard of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, in Jersey City, this morning. One brakeman was killed and an engineer was badly hurt.

The accident happened shortly before 6 o'clock, near signal station No. 2, about half a mile from the Central Railroad ferry station.

One of the huge locomotives of the road was coming in from Newark, drawing a train loaded with beer kegs. It ran into a drill locomotive to which a single flat car was attached.

H. L. Haycock, a brakeman who was on the flat car, was hurled between the car and the locomotive and killed instantly. Charles Murtha, the engineer of the drill locomotive, was thrown against the side of his cab and several of his ribs were broken.

The accident was said to be caused by a misplaced switch. The tracks were soon cleared, and there was little delay to traffic.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Thomas Doud, of Duer street, is in Newark today on business.

Councilman-elect E. D. Moffett and wife will spend Christmas with relatives in Trenton.

Lietenant Frank Watson, U. S. A., stationed at Sheridan, Mich., is the guest of H. O. Newman, of West Fifth street.

B. C. Ball, of Erie, Pa., is spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Ball, of No. 1 Myrtle avenue.

Lawrence Doyle, of Richmond street, and John Conway, of West Front street, are home from Seton Hall College, of Orange, to spend Christmas vacation.

PASSING COMMENT.

Pothunters should be careful to note the signs posted about in various places by the Game Protective Society, giving notice that the land in question is a game preserve. The temptation is sometimes strong to poach upon a choice-looking section of land when there is apparently none near to take notice of the trespass, but this is a case where, after all, the game is hardly worth the risk, for a heavy penalty is provided for persons detected in the act, and the Game Protective Society is keeping a sharp watch on all its preserves.

* * * *

The holiday season is a most busy one for the employes of the express and railway companies, who are made to realize most vividly the extent of the increase in travel and the carrying trade which such a season as the present invariably brings. The delivery facilities of the express companies of this city have been doubled to meet the rush of the holidays, and even this does not relieve the strain upon the employes, who are taxed to their utmost, and present a worried and almost distracted appearance among the deluge of boxes and packages.

* * * *

The board of governors of Muhlenberg Hospital somerime ago extended a vote of thanks to the pupils in the Bryant and Lincoln public schools for their donation last Thanksgiving. On that occasion the children brought their donations to school and they were sent to the hospital together. They included 17 packages of cereals, 1 package of corn starch, 1 basket of grapes, 1 basket of apples, 3 dozen oranges, 3 pounds crackers, 1 dozen eggs, three quarts of cranberries, 1 pound prunes, ½ peck of potatoes, 1 chicken, 1 pound peas, 38 cans of fruit and 63 cans of jelly. The idea was such a good one that it is now proposed to continue the gift every year and allow the children to do what they can to aid such a worthy charity.

Miss Stella Opie and her brother, of Bridge Point, are the guests of their cousin, Miss Laura A. Holder, of West Fifth street.

Miss Eleanor T. VanDeventer, of Myrtle avenue, gave an informal tea Wednesday afternoon in honor of Miss Grace E. Overton.

NOTICE!

W. Gordon Williams,
Attorney and Solicitor,
304-305 Babcock Building.

Plainfield, N. J., Dec. 20, 1897.

M. Weinberger, Esq., Mgr. New York Clothing Co., Plainfield, N. J.

Dear Sir: Mr Harry M Jaquett has instructed me to accept your offer of 33 1 3 per cent of the wholesale value of his stock of hats, gents' furnishing goods, overcoats and clothing, the money to be spot cash.

Very respectfully,
W. Gordon Williams.
Attorney for Harry M Jaquett.

Bought the entire stock $6,000 worth of clothing and men's furnishing goods of Harry M. Jaquett, of 129 East Front street, at 33c on the dollar of the wholesale price. Mr. Harry M. Jaquett was one of the leading clothing merchants of this city, and nothing but the very best goods that money could buy were sold by him. As Mr. Jaquett has decided to retire from business, and hearing that we were in a position to buy for spot cash, the offer was finally accepted. Here is your opportunity to purchase the finest clothing and men's furnishing goods in the world for less than 1-3 the price that the other stores ask for inferior goods. A few prices will tell the facts.

MEN'S SUITS.

Men's fine all-wool double breasted black cheviot suit, Harry M. Jaquett's price $10, our price $4.50; Men's all-wool fancy cheviot suit, Jaquett's price $12, our price $4 75; a very good business suit in all-wool, Jaquett's price $9, our price $3 75; Men's imported all-wool clay diagonal suits in sacks or cutaways, Jaquett's price $17, our price $8.

Remember that Mr Harry M. Jaquett's entire stock is marked in plain figures, so that you can see a saving of 60c. on every dollar.

MEN'S TROUSERS.

Over 1,000 pair of the finest Men's trousers in the world at just ½ the price that Mr. Jaquett has them marked.

OVERCOATS.

Elegant Men's dress overcoats, silk lined, Jaquett's price $20, our price $8.00; Men's fine Kersey overcoats, Jaquett's $18, our price $7; all wool melton overcoats, Jaquett's price $14, our price $5; young men's fine dress overcoats, Jaquett's price 8, 10 and $14, our price 4, 5, and $6.

ULSTERS.

Men's fine ulsters, will positively be sold at 1-3 the actual value.

Men's Furnishing Goods.

In men's furnishing goods Mr. Harry M. Jaquett was positively the leader. The very finest neckwear, elegant dress shirts, and in fact everything in men's furnishings that a man can think of.

Note a Few of the Prices

HAPPY DAY FOR THE SICK.

YULETIDE FESTIVITIES THAT TOOK PLACE AT THE HOSPITAL

A Christmas Tree the Principal Feature of the Occasion—Remembrances for the Faithful Nurses—Many Guests Present.

Muhlenberg Hospital was the scene of much cheer and happiness last Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when the annual Christmas festivites were held under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Board of Managers. The usual Christmas tree occupied a prominent position in the large hallway, and at the proper time it was illuminated by William Madden, who for the past ten years has officiated in that capacity. The tree was well trimmed with lots of pretty things which were afterwards distributed to the patients at the hospital.

A pleasant feature of the celebration was the presence of nine members of Grace P. E. church choir under the direction of Mrs. Freeman organist. They rendered very effectively "Adestes Fideles," "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," "The Radiant Morn," (by request;) "O, Little Town of Bethlehem." The choir boys also sang several hymns appropriate to the occasion. Those who composed the choir were Kendall Mason, Harry Messrschmith, Doughlass Murphy, Roland Chandor, Walter Hockridge, Raymond Cohen, Frederick Pope, L. H. VanBuren and W. R. Cock. The latter is the oldest member of the choir, and is also one of the very faithful ones. The choir sang exceedingly well and reflected much credit on their teacher, Mrs. Freeman.

An interesting feature of the programme was the short address by President Goddard, of the Board of Managers. He made an appropriate speech which was full of cheer for Christmastide, and everyone enjoyed what he had to say.

There was a large number of the members of the Auxiliary Board present, also a number of visitors. After the exercises, each of the nurses, including Miss Moss, the superintendent, received kindly remembrance of the event celebrated. The gifts were all very useful and the givers won heartfelt expressions of thanks from all. The patients in the institution also received useful gifts, as well as fruit and candy. The gifts to the patients were distributed by the members of the choir present. After the festivities, Miss Moss very kindly gave an exhibition of the X-ray machine for the benefit of the visitors.

GOOD TIME FOR LITTLE FOLK.

An Interesting Programme at the Meeting of the Loyal Legion.

The special event of Christmas Day to a number of Plainfield little folk was the entertainment and Christmas tree given by the W. C. T. U to the Loyal Temperance Legion, which took place in the W. C. T. U. rooms at 4 o'clock in the evening.

A very pretty programme was carried out by the children, consisting of carols by the legion, solo recitations, a vocal trio, a motion song by a number of little girls, a pretty acted recitation by eight girls and a dialogue, "The Story of the Nativity," by children who personated shepherds, wise men, etc. A mandolin solo was also given by James Gordon Beekman, and much enjoyed by the legion. The principal event, however, was the distribution of gifts from the well laden Christmas tree. The younger girls received dolls, the older ones cups and saucers, while very professional-looking horns fell to the lot of the boys. The exercises concluded with the presentation to each child of a bag containing candy, peanuts and other goodies.

A Neat Holiday Number.

Among the papers that are devoted to strictly technical subjects, Compressed Air has the prettiest Christmas edition. This little journal is managed by Andrew Kenney and edited by former Mayor Saunders, of North Plainfield. A special feature of the holiday number is a description of a system for regulating temperature in buildings of all kinds, the particular instance cited being the house of Mayor Charles J. Fisk, of West Seventh street.

A Watch Night Service.

A union Christian Endeavor watch-night service will be held next Friday evening at Warren chapel. Commencing at 9 o'clock a social will be enjoyed, and at 11 o'clock the watch-night services will begin. A cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested.

Fell Off a Car.

A brakeman on a P. and R. freight train fell off a car at the North Avenue station last Saturday morning and received slight injuries. He was taken to his home in Jersey City. He will be able to return to work again in a short time.

YULETIDE SOCIABILITY.

Junior Dance at the Park Club an Enjoyable Affair.

Social life at the Park Club during Christmas week opened Christmas Eve with a Junior dance, one of the most successful dances ever held in the charming little clubhouse. There were about a hundred young people present, including the junior members and a number of their friends. The floor was crowded with couples while the attractions in the basement were largely patronized. The ball room was charmingly decorated with evergreen roping, that was festooned about the walls and rafters of the ceiling.

The dancing was continued until Christmas morning when the gay party broke up.

Mrs. J. H. Howell and Mrs. F. H. Ball acted as patronesses of the dance.

RUM AND CIGARETTES

UNBALANCED THE MIND OF A WEST-FIELDER—TRIED TO KILL HIS WIFE.

Suddenly Overcome by a Delirium He Grabbed a Butcher Knife and Tried to Carve His Wife Into Pieces—Was Subdued

William Gordon, a machinist, living on Broad street, Westfield, was seized with delirium tremens Christmas Eve, and attempted to kill his wife, pursuing her about the house with a carving knife.

Gordon has been drinking to excess of late, and was also a cigarette smoker. On Friday night he returned home early in the evening and seemed in fairly good spirits. He had been drinking more or less during the day.

Suddenly the delirium came upon him. The man became a demon and exerted his best efforts to kill his wife. The woman fled screaming with Gordon in full pursuit, brandishing the knife which he had seized from the dinner table. The screams of Mrs. Gordon attracted the attention of several of the men in the neighborhood and they ran and seized Gordon. It was with difficulty that the man could be held and disarmed, and he fought desperately until overpowered. Dr. R. R Sinclair was summoned and gave what relief it was possible to administer. The authorities at the Elizabeth General Hospital were telephoned to, but refused to receive Gordon, as he was too violent a patient to be handled in that institution.

Gordon was then taken before Justice-of the-Peace Hart and committed to the county jail, pending an examination as to his sanity. It is thought that the delirium may develop into a case of permanent insanity.

HIS PRESENT WAS A KICK.

A Martinsville Man Who Will Not Forget the Christmas of 1897.

Louis Ameit, a Frenchman living and working at Martinsville, will always remember Christmas Day, 1897. Saturday afternoon he was kicked in the right side of the face by a horse. The accident occurred in a stable on the place where Mr. Ameit works. Close by the stable several local sports were engaged in a friendly shooting contest. Just as a gun was discharged Mr. Ameit was standing back of the animal. The horse was frightened and raised both hind feet with great energy. As a result one hoof was planted in Mr. Ameit's face He was knocked down and for several minutes he was greatly bewildered. Some of his friends missed him and instituted a search.

As soon as possible Ameit was brought to Plainfield and taken to the hospital where he is now getting along well Fortunately he will not lose his eyesight, nor were any of his teeth knocked out. He will always have a scar on his face, however, in remembrance of the event.

Prof. Lewis' Lecture.

Prof. Edwin H. Lewis, of Chicago University, son of Rev. Dr. A. H Lewis, of West Seventh street, delivered a very interesting lecture in the Seventh-Day Baptist church yesterday afternoon to a large audience. The lecture was a comparative analysis of the ideas of Robert Browning and Lord Tennyson, as portrayed in their poems on human destiny. Browning's views, he explained, were more lofty than those of Tennyson.

Received a Fine Painting.

The clerks in Leggett's drug store presented their employer Christmas Day with a handsome painting, the work of Sydney Flower. Mr. Leggett presented each one of his clerks with a sum of money. In addition the clerks exchanged gifts with one another.

A Family Gathering.

Mrs. Theodore Adams had a family gathering at her home on Duer street Christmas Day. About thirty relatives were there to enjoy a good time. Several of the guests were from Metuchen and Westfield.

CHRISTMAS GOOD CHEER IN THE LOCAL CHURCHES

MUSICAL PROGRAMMES AND SERMONS APPROPRIATE TO THE DAY HEARD IN MANY PLACES.

Special Exercises Arranged for the Entertainment of Sunday-school Scholars—The Names of Many Who Participated in the Joyous Festivities.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

On account of the storm, the attendance at the Congregationl church yesterday morning, as at all the churches, was not as large as is usual on Christmas Sunday. The service was a beautiful and appropriate one, however. The voluntary, offertory and postlude were selections from Farmer's Mass in B flat; the responsive readings included the Benedictus and the Magnificat, and the hymns sung were the "Adeste fideles," "Angels from the realms of glory," and "He has come, the Christ of God." An unusually fine Christmas sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. Charles Lyman Goodrich, from Isaiah 53:1, "To whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?" The church was beautifully decorated with evergreen roping and wreaths in which holly and red immortelles were mingled. Two tables bearing bunches of red carnations and draped with smilax, stood on the platform, in company with a handsome palm.

The Christmas exercises of the Sunday-school were held in the afternoon, at the usual hour. The first number on the programme was an instrumental trio, a paraphrase of "Stilly night, sacred night," by Mrs. B. T. Barnes, organ; Mrs. M. E. Dwight, piano; and P. Ludwig Conde, violin. The words of the hymn were read by Miss Katherine Dwight, the three instrumentalists playing the air and accompaniment. The Christmas lesson was studied in the various classes, and the program also included Scripture reading and recitation, prayer by A. C. LaBoyteaux, carol singing by the school, a song, "Come to the manger in Bethlehem," by Herbert Glaentzer, and a song, "Who is He?" by Harold Nomer, the school joining in the chorus.

PARK AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH.

Christmas Sunday was pleasantly observed at the Park Avenue Baptist church by special services morning and evening. At the morning service there was special music by the large chorus choir, and a strong sermon on "The Christmas Sign" by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Richardson. The church was appropriately decorated with evergreen roping and wreaths.

The special exercises of the Sunday school were held at 7:30 in the evening, and were very enjoyable. The school marched into the church from their own room and were seated in the centre of the auditorium. A number of pretty carols were sung, led by the chorus choir of the church, and readings and recitations were given by Marion Dickinson, Violet VanWinkle and Lillian Fry. Exercises by the primary department occupied a part of the evening, consisting of a song, "Christ is Born," by the class; a recitation, "Little Christmas Stars," by Milly Odam, Mina Nankin and Chester Denton; a song, "The Sweet Story," by Lillian Cuming, and a recitation and song, "Happy Christmas Time," by the class. During the offertory the choir sang an anthem, "And He Shall Reign," with a soprano solo by Mrs. Wheaton A. Lowry. The address of the evening was by Rev. Charles Lyman Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, who spoke briefly and informally, but very helpfully, on "God's Unspeakable Gift to Us and Our Acceptable Gift to God."

TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH.

Previous to the Trinity Reformed church service in the Y. M. C. A. hall yesterday morning, Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., the pastor, offered kindly expression of appreciation on behalf of the congregation and himself to the members of the Y. M. C. A. who, during the past four months, have made the members of the society so comfortable while their own church is undergoing repairs. He also thanked the volunteer choirs that have from week to week assisted in the musical part of the service, and to the janitor, John Gattleson, he expressed thanks for his efforts in making everything comfortable and pleasant.

Following these few remarks, the pastor delivered an excellent, appropriate sermon on the subject of "The Manifesto of Christ." His words were attentively listened to by a good-sized congregation that enjoyed every part of the discourse.

The music during the service was rendered by Mrs. Alfred K. Willett, Mrs. J. H. Manley, Robert Clark and F. S. Cutter. Several quartette selections were given, and Mrs. Manley sang a solo very pleasingly. Arthur L Titsworth presided at the piano.

Mr. Schenck made the following announcements for the coming week: This evening at 8 o'clock the Christian Endeavor consecration service will be held. On Wednesday evening the regular prayer meeting will be observed, and the service will be one of interest to all. The subject will be "1897, Its Lessons," and as this will be the last mid-week service held at the Y. M. C. A. hall, there should be a large attendance. There will be no meeting of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society on Thursday afternoon, as the primary department of the Sunday-school will hold its Christmas entertainment at that time in the small hall. On Thursday evening the seniors will hold their Christmas entertainment in the large hall, at which time the Queen City Band under the direction of its leader, Benjamin LaVere, will be present with an orchestra. There will also be other pleasing features.

Next Sunday the congregation will meet for the first time in the new Sunday-school room at Trinity Reformed church, and will continue to meet there until the upper part of the sanctuary is completed. The services will be held at the usual hours, and no one need have any fears concerning the walls of the new room being damp The walls are now thoroughly dry and there will be no danger of anyone taking cold.

Last evening the members of the Sunday-school celebrated Christmas by presenting an appropriate programme. The attendance was so large that the gallery of the large Y. M. C. A. Hall had to be thrown open to accommodate those who desired to attend. The devotional exercises were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph.D., and the exercises were in charge of Mrs. J. M. Tier, superintendent of the primary department. The following recitations were given in an excellent manner: "The Education of Jesus," Anna Holder; "The Story Ever New," Anna Randall; "Peace on Earth," May Anthony; "Would You?" Bessie Randall; "Christmas Gifts," Albert Yaeger; "Christmas Carol," Emma Yaeger. Gussie Kreitling sang a pleasing solo, and the primary department joined in the chorus. The selection was "Jesus, the King of Glory." Interspersing the above the members of the primary department sang "'Tis the Christmas Time" and "Hallelujah for the Cross."

Interesting features of the event were the remarks by Pastor Schenck and Superintendent E. E. Anthony of the Sunday-school. The services closed with the singing of "Coronation," and the benediction by the pastor.

GRACE P. E. CHURCH.

At Grace P. E. church last Saturday morning the choir rendered 'The Heavens are Telling." from the Creation. The music was under the direction of Mrs. Freeman, organist, and the rendition was perfect and grandly admired by the large number of worshippers present.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

A beautiful Christmas service was held at the First Baptist church yesterday morning at which time an elaborate programme was rendered by the regular choir assisted by Mr. and Mrs. L H. Biglow, Jr., and under the direction of C. W. McCutchen.

The church was unusually attractive in its decorations. The use of greens suspended from the centre chandelier to every part of the church presented a pretty picture. The feature of the decorations was a large star made of greens which was placed against the upper part of the organ, and it was illuminated with thirty incandescent electric lights. The greens were tied prettily with bows of red satin.

The decorations were under the supervision of John G. MacLoughlin and a committee from the regular Christmas committee, and they deserve much praise for their successful efforts.

The programme of music consisted of several anthems by the choir, assisted by Howard Case, organist; P. Ludwig Conde, violinist; W. P. DeNike, 'cellist. There were soprano solos by Miss Harris, whose rich full voice seemed to be at its very best, and the very excellent singing of G. W. Smith, tenor, William Holmes, basso, and Mrs. Ward, contralto, were enjoyed exceedingly.

The decided feature of the programme was the rendition of "O, Blest Redeemer of Our Race," com-

GIFT TO MAYOR WILSON.

Borough Executive Remembered By His Subordinate Officials.

Last Saturday the marshals of the borough presented the Mayor with a valuable gold and silver-mounted umbrella. Chief Wilson delivered a short and pleasing address. The Mayor responded briefly expressing thanks for the evidence of kindly relation which he hoped would continue in the future as in the past. He also complimented the force on their neat, manly appearance and efficiency. The Mayor remarked that the umbrella would not, however, cover any violation of rules or deportment. In conclusion the compliments of the season were exchanged.

PILFERED FROM HOST.

LOUIS BROCK DIDN'T APPRECIATE THE SERVICES OF A STRANGER.

Robert Catling Took the Wanderer to His Fireside and There Fed and Clothed Him—Then the Tramp Committed a Theft

'Twas the night before Christmas when they met. Lewis Brock had no home, no money and no prospect of anything to eat on Christmas. Robert Catling had all those advantages and he felt happy over the fact. His family was away and the house on Woodland avenue, where they now live, was empty save for himself. He, too, was to go away on Christmas and join his family.

Catling took pity on Brock and treated him to a drink. Mellowed by the foaming liquid, Catling opened up his heart to the shivering outcast and took him home with him. There he clad him in warm underclothing and gave him an old overcoat to better withstand the chilly blasts. They dined together and Catling remembered that it was Christmas Eve. He had read how many a poor wanderer had been led to better things by some unexpected kindness. While, judging from Brock's appearance, he was not likely to be entertaining an angel unawares, he offered Brock lodging for the night.

Although Brock was an entire stranger to Catling the latter went to rest without fear of trouble for the morrow and with the happy consciousness of having done his duty toward mankind. But Catling's faith in mankind was soon to be severely shaken. When he awoke in the morning the stranger was gone. So were his best pair of shoes and his new razor. His vision of a merry Christmas suddenly faded away from before his eyes and he determined to spend the day in hunting for the man who had so abused his hospitality, instead of joining his family in their merrymaking. All day Catling hunted for Brock and his shoes. Late Christmas evening he entered Blimm's Hotel to find the wanderer there. He soon found Roundsman Frederickson and Brock was taken to the cold and damp jail to spend Christmas night. His overcoat and Catling's razor he had traded off for drink.

This morning the little tale of woe was related to City Judge DeMeza in the City Court. Brock was sorrowful, indeed, at the ending of his Christmas dream, so was Catling. He explained that rum had caused it all. He had been drunk, he said, and knew not what he did. He was very penitent. The Judge thought he needed a good lesson. He sentenced Brock to pay a fine of $25 or go to jail for sixty days As Brock has not twenty five cents, it looks as if he would visit Warden Blore.

KINDLY REMEMBRANCES.

Members of the Saengerbund Society Didn't Forget Their Helpers.

A large crowd assembled at Saengerbund Hall yesterday afternoon to celebrate Christmastide. There were about one hundred children present. The children furnished a programme of singing and recitations, and there were selections by the singing section. Prof. Eichorn, leader of the singing section, was presented with a purse of money by the members of the society. The presentation was made by President Haurand. Mrs. Gaub, wife of the janitor of the hall, was presented with a handsome rocking chair as evidence of esteem. M. Menzenbach, on behalf of the womens' auxiliary, presented the society with a substantial purse of money. President Haurand accepted the gift in a happy manner and thanked the donors heartily on behalf of the society.

The usual Christmas tree furnished plenty of amusement for the children, who were well remembered with useful and pretty gifts, after which refreshments were served in abundance to all.

On New Year's Eve the society will hold a dance and entertainment in their hall.

CHEERFUL THROUGH RUM

AND THEN THEY FELL INTO THE CLUTCHES OF POLICE SANTA CLAUS'.

A Variegated Assortment of Humanity Lined Up in Front of the City Judge This Morning—He was Merciful to Many.

"Sweet William" Kenney did not have a merry Christmas. He planned to spend it in Paradise alley, but lodged at the jail instead. He had been boarding at "Maggie" Benford's up in the alley of late. Christmas Eve he began to celebrate. He drank so much that he could not walk and Roundsman Frederickson picked up his little form and carried it to the lockup. The City Judge deemed a day in jail sufficient punishment and suspended sentence.

John Williams, an employe of Louis Coddington, the expressman, of Fanwood, was a companion in misery. He spent Christmas also behind the bars in the city jail. He partook too freely of the fermented stuff and could not take care of himself. Patrolman Saunders found him and locked him up. Sentence was suspended on him.

Tom Wallace was rather slow in his celebration of the day and forgot it until 4 o'clock Sunday morning Then he made up for lost time with such a tirade of abuse against his wife that Roundsman Flynn and Patrolman Higgins, heard it a block away. They investigated and told Wallace to be quiet. Then Wallace came down to clean out the police and Higgins took him away to jail. Once before, about a year ago, they had an adventure with Wallace. He drank too much and then went to the Seventh Day Baptist cemetery to get the left hind foot of a rabbit. He fell asleep there and was nearly frozen to death. This time the Judge fined him $5.

One bedraggled looking man celebrated his Christmas all alone. He camped out in front of the home of Fred Wenzel on Clinton avenue. He built a fire and prepared to start a settlement there. He was ordered away. "Not yet," was his reply. He remained. Chief Grant was telephoned for. He came. He saw. He conquered. The stranger capitulated at once and went to jail where he remained until this morning. Then he explained to City Judge DeMeza that he was the Honorable Thomas Moffett en route to Tennessee. Memphis was his home, he explained, and he was getting there as fast as possible for the cold winds of the north chilled his blue southern blood. It was warm enough in the county jail, suggested City Judge DeMeza. To the county jail went Friend Moffett for sixty days.

ST. MARY'S CHRISTMAS TREE.

A Pleasant Afternoon Spent By the Children of the Parochial School.

The children of St. Mary's school held their Christmas exercises yesterday afternoon in the parochial school hall, which was filled with pupils and their parents and friends The programme, published in The Press of Friday, was carried out. The programme opened with a chorus, "Adeste Fidelis," followed by "A Musical Dialogue," which was well rendered. While all the numbers were well given, special mention might be made of the piano trio, "Pas Redouble," by Masters A. and J. Traynor and Miss L. Traynor; the vocal solo, "God Bless You," by Master T. Mack, and the piano duet, "The Sleigh Ride," which received a hearty encore and was repeated. At the close of the programme Father Smyth made a short congratulatory speech, and Father Murphy introduced Santa Claus (J. H. Hillman.) After a short address Santa proceeded to dispense gifts to the children He was assisted by the ladies of the Sewing Circle and all the little ones were remembered with substantial gifts. Fathers Smyth and Murphy also received presents, after which the occasion was brought to a happy close.

Express Company's Big Business.

Never before in the history of the United States Express Company's business in this city has there been such a quantity of Christmas packages handled as was the case this year. Manager Mills says that the company did almost double the business in the Christmas line this year than ever before. Though he made every effort to make prompt deliveries, he found that Friday and Saturday it would simply be impossible to catch up. He secured permission to run his delivery wagons yesterday and it was not until last night that the packages were all delivered.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cohenhoven, of Newark, spent Saturday and Sunday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Leggett, of West Front street.

'DEATH TO AMERICANS'

Christmas Demonstration in Havana Against United States.

SWORDS AGAINST THE MOB

Shouts Against Autonomy and Blanco and in Favor of Weyler and the Volunteers — Seditious Documents Found

Havana, Cuba, via Key West, Fla., Dec. 27.—The Christmas saturnalia was brought to a close by a serious riot, which was quelled by the police, who used their swords.

In accordance with their custom, the Spanish population gathered Friday night in the Parque Central to celebrate Christmas by dancing and singing songs peculiar to various provinces of Spain. Almost all were armed with knives and clubs, fights being frequent between groups from different provinces. A large force of police was present, but there was no interference with the festivities until about 4 o'clock, when most of the crowd became frenzied from drinking aguardiente, and hostile cries were raised.

"Death to Americans!" "Down with autonomy!" "Down with Blanco!" "Viva Weyler!" "Viva los Voluntarios!" were some of the cries. Then the police closed in and a squadron of mounted gendarmes, drawn up in front of the German Club, charged with drawn sabres.

A panic ensued, the mob, in which were many women, flying in every direction, but the crowd was hemmed in on all sides by the police, mounted and afoot, who struck out savagely with their swords. This continued until the mob was thoroughly cowed, many being wounded, and then the police formed a cordon around the square and proceeded to make prisoners of the ringleaders of the demonstration.

Two hundred prisoners marched to Prefectura. Among them were many officers of the volunteers. On four of the officers were found bundles of circulars declaring Spain's honor had been compromised by granting autonomy, and calling on all loyal Spaniards to resist to the utmost. Copies of these circulars were also found scattered in the streets this morning.

No further details are at hand regarding Gen. Pando's operations in the Orient, but it is expected that a serious engagement has already occurred. News of the result is anxiously awaited at the palace.

A correspondent in Santa Clara writes that Gen. Gomez is again in the saddle and using all efforts to prevent the grinding of cane. Work on sugar estates is practically suspended. The proprietors of the Caracas estate, the second largest sugar plantation in the world, have been notified that the slightest attempt to grind will be the signal for the total destruction of this valuable property. The Spanish troops are chiefly in garrisoned towns and are unable to afford adequate protection. Six estates in Havana province were burned this week.

The rebels raided Encrucijada, a town of several thousand inhabitants, near Sagua la Grande, on the night of Dec. 21, and carried off all the supplies they found. Five days ago twenty-seven volunteers of Cumanayagua went over to the rebels.

COLONEL RUIZ'S DEATH.

An Alleged Statement from Consul-General Lee.

Havana, Dec. 27.—La Lucha has published a document claimed to have been authorized by United States Consul-General Lee, saying that Lieut.-Col. Ruiz was executed because he proposed peace in contravention of a decree issued by Gen. Gomez.

Reports from Pinar del Rio to the authorities say that two commissioners who were sent to propose peace with autonomy to the insurgents in that province have been hanged in conformity with the decree of Gen. Gomez.

Senor Antony Givin, the secretary of the autonomist party, who has for nearly a year past resided in the United States, has cabled to the Government his acceptance of a post in the Colonial Cabinet.

Rumors which have been circulated here that Sylvester Scovil, a New York newspaper correspondent, had been hanged by the insurgents, are untrue. It is reported that he and Senor Rafael Madrigal, the United States Consul at Sancti Spiritus, were the bearers of an important message from President McKinley to "President Masso" and Gen. Gomez. The condition of the concentrados is as pitable as it was during the administration in the island of Gen. Weyler, despite Gen. Blanco's relief decree.

A relief fund of $100,000 will hardly give the sufferers 20 cents each.

Spurrier Mystery Unsolved.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 27.—The police authorities after working incessantly on the case of Rev. Samuel Spurrier, who disappeared under mysterious and suspicious circumstances on Dec. 17, have reached the conclusion that he is still alive and that he adopted the name Samuel Stranger. That is the name given by a strange man to whom Frank Westfall, of Inglenook, gave breakfast on the day of Mr. Spurrier's disappearance. He said he was 71 years old, the age of Mr. Spurrier, and spoke familiarly of locations in Perry County, where Mr. Spurrier has been stationed in a pastoral capacity. Stranger's description accurately fits Mr. Spurrier, and the police confidently expect the clergyman's return when he wearies of roaming about the country under an assumed name.

Women Accuse a Judge.

Houlton, Me., Dec. 27.—Gov. Powers has received from the Maine Women's Christian Temperance Union's executive committee a protest against the reappointment of Judge Enoch Foster to the Supreme bench. They accuse him of gross immorality with the daughter of a barber in the Judge's home town of Bethel. The protest is signed by all the State officers and fifteen county presidents of the union.

Six Injured at Fire.

NO SENATE SILVER BILL.

North Dakota Senator Does Not Believe the Upper House Can Pass One.

Washington, Dec. 27.—During an interview Senator Henry C. Hansbrough, of North Dakota, who has always been counted as a free silver man, said:

"There is no danger of the passage of any 16 to 1 legislation by the Senate. I am quite sure that there is not a 16 to 1 majority in that body. With the present bright prospects for international bimetallism the majority of the American people are opposed to independent action on the 16 to 1 or any other revolutionary basis. I do not know of anything that would drive this country into financial revolution unless it be the narrow, radical and pig-headed policy of the silver standard advocates.

"Secretary Gage's radical declaration in favor of the gold standard is not in line with the platform of the Republican party. A special train carried a gold standard contingent to St. Louis last summer. The object of those gentlemen was to force their peculiar financial views upon the party. They failed to do it, because they met there the combined Republican wisdom of the country and better counsels prevailed. Had they succeeded in their purpose Mr. Gage would not now be Secretary of the Treasury.

"The President has earnestly endeavored to comply with the mandates of the convention which nominated him. He will not cease to urge other nations to join us in an international agreement, and the great mass of Republican voters will sustain him. The Wolcott Commission has done remarkably well. The Republican party under a solemn pledge to promote international bimetallism has been in power a little over eight months, and yet one of the great European nations has positively agreed to co-operate with us, while the great Bank of England met our commissioners half way. The conditions in Europe are ripe for a continuation of further effort on our part. To stop now would be suicidal. It would be almost criminal."

FOLLOWS A TRAGIC EXAMPLE.

Anna Wells, a Friend of Miss Herbert's, Commits Suicide.

Washington, Dec. 27.—Miss Anna Virginia Wells, daughter of Judge Lewis S. Wells, a prominent attorney of this city, committed suicide yesterday by shooting herself through the heart at her father's residence.

Miss Wells was an acquaintance of Miss Leila Herbert, and it was Miss Herbert's tragic death which brought on the fit of melancholy which caused her to end her own life in a similar manner. She was about 33 years of age, and a favorite among her large circle of society friends.

Miss Wells had met Miss Herbert at social functions and receptions, and, while not intimately acquainted with the daughter of the former Secretary of the Navy, she greatly admired her.

OLD COUPLE MURDERED.

Son on a Christmas Call Finds Dead Bodies of Parents.

Indiana, Pa., Dec. 27.—Milton Neal and his wife were shot to death by an unknown assassin at their homes near Jacksonville, nine miles southwest of here, some time on Christmas Day. Their bodies were found at 9 p. m. by their son Harry, who was passing the house and stopped to pay a Christmas call on his parents. Neal was one of the most prominent and prosperous farmers of the vicinity in which he lived.

The woman was killed with birdshot, the husband with buckshot. There were no marks of powder on his face, something which, it is said, would have been impossible to avoid had suicide been committed with a shotgun. There is nothing to indicate that the crime was committed for plunder, as in Mr. Neal's pocket was a $10 bill, and a $20 bill lay on the top of a dresser. Friends say they have a clue.

Buying Cattle for Cuba.

Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 27.—Senor Manuel Pichardo came here from Cuba recently, stating that he was detailed by the Spanish Government to buy cattle for the Spanish army in Cuba. He is now buying five hundred or six hundred a week. He said that two of the largest cattle importers of Cuba have agents on the way to North Texas to buy cattle for Cuba shipment, and they will buy three hundred and fifty to four hundred head daily. He complains that he is hindered in his work by the discriminations of the railways.

Superintendent of the Census.

Washington, Dec. 27.—One of the holiday stories of the day is that President McKinley sent one day last week for S. J. North, of Massachusetts, who was a special agent under Superintendent Porter in the eleventh census, and tendered the office of Superintendent of Census to him under the bill now pending in Congress providing for the taking of the twelfth census of the United States in 1900. Mr. North accepted the offer, and as soon as the bill passes will proceed to organize the nucleus of the force to be employed in the work.

Highwaymen Slay a Conductor.

Norristown, Pa., Dec. 27.—A trolley car of the Schuylkill Valley Traction Company was held up by four highwaymen at Swedeland, near here, at 10 o'clock last night. Conductor Charles Galloway of Norristown refused to give up his money and was shot dead. Three shots were fired at Motorman Matthias, but none took effect. After rifling the body of the conductor of the money and a good watch and chain, the robbers escaped.

The condition of Dr. Jones, of Grove street, does not improve and very slight hopes of his recovery are entertained.

Household Gods.

The ancient Greeks believed that the Penates were the gods who attended to the welfare and prosperity of the family. They were worshipped as household gods in every home. The household god of to day is Dr. King's New Discovery. For consumption, coughs, colds and for all affections of Throat, Chest and Lungs it is invaluable. It has been tried for a quarter of a century and is guaranteed to cure, or money returned. No household should be without this good angel. It is pleasant to take and a safe and sure remedy for old and young. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's, Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.

Louis Eaton, of East Fifth street, spent Saturday with friends in Brooklyn.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagah, Ind. Ter. Chief. This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and la grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Miss Emma Case, of New York, spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Case, of East Ninth street.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

—Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., will meet tomorrow evening and make arrangements to install their newly-elected officers the first part of January.

After hearing some friends continually praising Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Curtis Fleck, of Anaheim, California, purchased a bottle of it for his own use and is now as enthusiastic over its wonderful work as anyone can be. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—The U. S. Express Company secured permission to deliver goods yesterday. This was occasioned by the exceedingly heavy business of the holiday season. The business was the largest of any previous year.

Don't be persuaded into buying liniments without reputation or merit—Chamberlain's Pain Balm costs no no more, and its merits have been proven by a test of many years. Such letters as the following, from L. G. Bagley, Hueneme, Cal., are constantly being received: "The best remedy for pain I have ever used is Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and I say so after having used it in my family for several years." It cures rheumatism, lame back, sprains and swellings. For sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

James Dawe, formerly of Plainfield, spent the Christmas holiday in town with relatives.

Arthur Miller and family, formerly of Plainfield, but lately of New Orleans, are visiting Plainfield relatives.

Mr. C. M. Dixon, a well known merchant, of Pleasant Ridge, Fulton Co., Pa., has a little girl who is frequently threatened with croup, but when the first symptoms appear, his wife gives her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which always affords prompt relief. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

AN EIGHT HOUR BILL.

Congress to Consider an Amendment for Shorter Hours.

New York, Dec. 27.—While the labor unions in this country, and especially this city, are fast securing eight hours for a day's work, and 60,000 English mechanics are on strike for a shorter workday, any action taken by Congress in so amending the old eight-hour law as to cause its general enforcement on all Government work is a matter of the greatest interest to not only members of trades unions, but to every workingman in the country.

The old law, making eight hours a day's work on Government work, was so faulty that Attorney General Miller, in President Cleveland's Cabinet, declared that it could not be enforced. An amendment to the old law has now been drawn up, which it is claimed will be a great improvement over the old one, and the present Congress will act upon it.

This new bill will be read with interest by workingmen, and is as follows:

"An act to amend an act entitled 'An act relative to the limitation of the hours of daily services of laborers and mechanics employed upon the public works of the United States and of the District of Columbia,' approved Aug. 1, 1892.

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that section 2 of an act entitled 'An act relating to the limitation of the hours of daily services of laborers and mechanics employed upon the public works of the United States and of the District of Columbia, approved Aug. 1, 1892,' is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"Section 2. That any officer or agent of the Government of the United States or of the District of Columbia, or any contractor or sub-contractor, or if such contractor or sub-contractor be a corporation or association, then any officer, agent or employe thereof, whose duty or the duty of any of whom it shall be to employ, direct or control any laborer or mechanic employed upon any of the public works of the United States or of the District of Columbia, who shall intentionally violate any provision of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and for each and every such offense shall upon conviction be punished by a fine not to exceed $1,000, or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court having jurisdiction thereof. The term 'public works' shall be construed to include any article or property in process of manufacture or construction, contracted for, by or on behalf of the United States, and upon which any payment or payments, by way of installments or otherwise, is or are made by the United States, its officers or agents as the work thereon progresses, as well as to include any and all property, real, personal or mixed, the title or ownership whereof is vested in the United States, or of which the United States has exclusive direction or control. Each and every day in which the law of which this act is amendatory shall be violated shall constitute a distinct and separate offense, and shall be punishable as such; provided that nothing herein contained shall affect any criminal proceedings brought for a violation of the act of which this is amendatory, and pending at the time of the passage hereof."

MRS. BOOTH IMPROVING.

Physician Says She Can Never Be Her Former Self.

New York, Dec. 27.—There is a steady improvement in Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth's condition. The patient passed a quiet night and is favorably responding to treatment. It was said yesterday at the Presbyterian Hospital that Mrs. Booth's recovery is now looked for. The doctors do not say any more than that, but they declare that they are now fully confident that she will eventually get well. How long it will take they say they do not know, as her illness is still serious but not dangerous.

One of the physicians in talking about the case said something about it which puts a new aspect on the mystery and which will be heard with sincere regret by all the friends and well wishers of Mrs. Botth. He refused to allow his name to be used, but he has been attending the woman during her illness and is qualified to talk of her case, not only because of the fact that she is his patient, but because he is a physician of ability. He said:

"Mrs. Booth will now get well, but," and he shook his head, "she will never be the same Mrs. Booth."

INDIANS NOT BLAMED.

Government Officials Do Not Think They Fired Court House.

Washington, Dec. 27.—Government officials are rushing forward supplies to replace those burned in the Ardmore (I. T.) Court House. They have also ordered a thorough investigation to learn the cause of the fire.

Reports sent out at the time of the blaze stated that it was caused by Indians who resented the substitution of Federal for tribal courts. They wanted Indian justice, it was said.

But Indian connection with the fire is doubted by Government officials, because of the skillful manner in which the destruction of the Court House was brought about. Kerosene was distributed so effectively that the building and all the records were lost.

Suspicion is said to be directed toward some citizens under indictment, who hoped, by destroying the records, to escape trial.

The Rev. Mr. Taylor Dead.

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 27.—The Rev. W. W. Taylor, 86 years old, the oldest Presbyterian preacher in this State, died yesterday. He was graduated from Yale sixty years ago. At one time he was pastor of the church which President McKinley's wife's parents attended, and officiated at their marriage. In his career he had held many charges.

Food for Only Two Thousand.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 27.—George Ruth, of Flathead, Mont., reached Portland on the steamer Elder, having come direct from Dawson City, which point he left Nov. 5. Mr. Ruth says there were from 5,000 to 7,000 people in Dawson and that vicinity, and he estimates the provisions there are sufficient to winter only 2,000.

GERMANY AND CHINA

Former Does Not Know How Far She Will Be Permitted to Go.

THE POWERS WILL DECIDE

Prince Henry's Mission Characterized as a Spread-Eagle Display. Kiao Chou Bay Not So Desirable a Port as Has Been Pictured.

Berlin, Dec. 27.—China has occupied public opinion, to the exclusion of everything, throughout the week. The Government and the Foreign Office continue reticent, even the occupation of Port Arthur having failed to elicit any official statements, with the exception of a denial of the extravagant utterances of the Cologne Gazette and other usually inspired papers. The reason for this exceptional taciturnity lies in the simple fact that Germany herself does not know where she stands, or how far the other powers will permit her to go. Germany, Russia and France are still negotiating, and while there is strong pressure to bring about another joint action of these three powers in the far East, equally potent influences are working to frustrate such plans. It depends largely upon the outcome of these negotiations as to what instructions Prince Henry of Prussia will find awaiting him when he arrives at Hong Kong, early in February. In the meanwhile the mission of Prince Henry may be characterized as mainly a display of spread-eagleism.

A prominent diplomat said: "Russia's occupation of Port Arthur is permanent. She thereby secures a much-desired terminus for the Siberian Railroad, which will forthwith be extended from Vladivostock to Port Arthur, making Russia the undisputed mistress of Manchuria and the whole of North China. Her interests in China in no way collide with those of France, whose sphere of action is in South China. Between them is an immense territory, which may eventually be distributed between Great Britain, Germany and Japan. A movement is now on foot between Japan and Germany to arrive at an understanding, as Japan sees clearly that this course is the wisest. Russia will not tolerate Japan in Corea, as it would upset all the schemes she has been preparing for the past two years. Therefore Germany and England are the powers to which Japan must look for an alliance in the coming events.

From a missionary the correspondent here of the Associated Press learns that the Bay of Kiao Chou is by no means so valuable as at first believed. Part of the harbor freezes during three months of Winter and ice breakers are required to keep it open. The Hinterland is barren and treeless, and the nature of the ground necessitates the erection of costly, large fortifications in order to hold the bay and the adjoining territory against attacks. If Germany concludes to retain it she will have to spend large sums of money.

BRITISH GRAB IN CHINA.

Seventeen English Warships Off Chemulpo, Corea.

London, Dec. 27.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says:

"It is reported that seventeen British warships are off Chemulpo, Corea, southwest of Seoul, supporting the British Consul's protest, really amounting to an ultimatum, against the King's practically yielding the government of Corea into the hands of the Russian Minister.

"The protest is specially directed against the dismissal of McLeavy Brown, British adviser to the Corean Customs, in favor of the Russian nominee. The news has produced consternation at Seoul, which is heightened by the knowledge that Japan has a fleet of thirty warships awaiting the result of the British representation, that Japan fully supports. Japan is irritated by the arrival of Russian troops in Corea, and it is believed that she will oppose them.

"According to advices from Tokio, Japan has offered to assist the officers at Pekin in drilling the Chinese army, and to consent to a postponement of the payment of the war indemnity. Many of the viceroys and Pekin officials favor the proposal."

According to a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Shanghai, it is reported there, from reliable sources, that a British force landed at Chemulpo on Saturday and caused the reinstatement of McLeavy Brown. The same dispatch refers to "a native rumor that the Union Jack has been hoisted on an island in the mouth of the River Yangtse-Kiang."

Ten Lives Lost in a London Fire.

London, Dec. 27.—A Mrs. Jarvis and her nine children, the youngest a baby, were burned to death at 5 o'clock yesterday morning in a four-room cottage occupied by the Jarvis and two other families in Dixie street, Bethnal Green, London. The Jarvis family occupied the upper floor. The occupants of the lower floor escaped.

By a strange coincidence, Mr. Jarvis, the woman's husband, who had been suffering from consumption, died in the Workhouse Infirmary yesterday afternoon without having heard of the disaster. Mrs. Jarvis earned a scant livelihood by making matchboxes, and her rooms were filled with inflammable material.

Railway Employes' Federation.

New York, Dec. 27.—A movement is on foot to combine more than two hundred thousand railway employes in the United States into one big organization. The movement has for its purpose the amalgamation of the five organizations of engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen and telegraphers in one confederation, which bids fair to number in its ranks all the railway employes' organizations in North America.

Big Hardware Firm Fails.

Syracuse, Dec. 27.—Deputy Sheriff P. J. Cahill has closed the wholesale hardware store of Bradford Kennedy & Sons on executions aggregating $40,626.36. The liabilities of the concern are about one hundred thousand dollars and the assets $120,000. The assets consist of the stock, which is worth $70,000, and the book accounts, some of which are bad.

SUBSCRIBERS TO CONTROL IT.

The co-operative plan of conducting a newspaper is to be tried at Bloomfield by S. Morris Hulin, the owner of the Bloomfield Record. His idea is to form a stock company, guided and controlled absolutely in principle and policy in conducting the paper by the vote of those who are carried on the concern's books as subscribers to the paper. There are two weekly papers in Bloomfield, one of them being opposed to the setting off of Glen Ridge, the home of the wealthier class, as an independent borough. The Record sided with those who incorporated the borough because they couldn't get what they deemed to be their share of the improvements made in Bloomfield. Since it took that stand The Record says it has been boycotted, but without success, by the Bloomfield administration and its friends. Now Mr. Hulin says he is going to give the people of Bloomfield and Glen Ridge a chance to co-operate in continuing The Record as an independent paper.

PASSING COMMENT.

Christmas was a quiet holiday in Plainfield. It is always a day for home gatherings, rather than public amusements and social functions, and this year was no exception to the rule. There were family parties galore, and many a private Christmas tree in Plainfield homes.

The holiday season had been an active one. The special industries that thrive only at this season met with success.

The hope of a white Christmas was not fulfilled. 'Twas more of a speckled Christmas, in fact, with patches of snow here and there, the result of flurries of crystal flakes. The wished for snow not arriving, the consequent pleasures of sleighing and coasting were not added to the Christmas privileges of the Plainfield young people. There was skating, however, and excellent skating, too.

It may be a hard season for many but, nevertheless, it was a happy day. The Christmas trade had been at white-heat for the past week; many thousands of dollars had been diverted into local cash-drawers.

False Report Corrected.

The report circulated that Joseph Carbone, the North avenue fruit dealer, had violated the Sabbath observance law was groundless. As usual, Mr. Carbone closed his store at sundown Friday night, but during the evening he entertained a number of his friends and in going in and out of his apartments it was necessary to go through the front door of the store. The sight of the people going in and out of the store carrying the packages that Mr. Carbone had distributed as Christmas presents, probably led to the report.

A Sailing House Boat.

Today at Perth Amboy there will be launched a sailing house boat the property of F. H. Ball, of Myrtle avenue. This boat has been constructed under the direction of Mr. Ball who expects to enjoy a cruise next summer on Great South Bay near West Hampton. Mr. Ball and his family will go to Perth Amboy today and witness the launching of the boat. The boat is 60 feet over all, and will be rigged. It will have sleeping accomodations for eight persons.

Red Men Elected Officers.

A meeting of Miantonomoh Tribe of Red Men was held on Friday evening when the officers for the ensuing year were nominated. The nominations were as follows: Prophet, R. Slorah; sachem, Jos. Johnson; senior sagamore, Robert Hanglighter; junior sagamore, John Green, Charles Davis, David Thompson, John Hewitt; chief of records, Charles L. Holdstein; collector of wampum. A. J. Stiglitz; keeper of records, W. A. Westphal: treasurer, A. C. Allen; representive to the grand council, G. S. McGinnis; alternate, M. Leahy.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manuufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Sweeping Reductions in the

Cloak Department.

We do not intend to carry over any stock, therefore we begin early to cut prices on every cloak in the house.

The Misses' and Children's cloaks have been reduced, there are only about a dozen styles left, and in nearly every line the sizes run from 4 to 18 years.

This price-cutting in midwinter gives late cloak buyers a splendid opportunity to purchase reliable garments at a great saving.

CHRISTMAS IN CHURCHES

posed by E. J. Fitzhugh expressly for Miss Harris, who sang the composition in rare style, assisted by P. Ludwig Conde, with a violin obligato.

The pastor, Rev. Dr. Yerkes, preached a short appropriate sermon at the morning service, and his remarks were greatly enjoyed by all.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the Sunday-schools of the home church, East Third Street Mission and Mt. Olive Baptist church assembled at the church and celebrated Christmastide appropriately. Those who assisted the choir in the musical part of the services were P. L. Conde, violinist; Mrs. B. T. Barnes, pianist; W. P. DeNike, 'cellist; Howard Case, organist; Lindley Hillman, violinist; Walter Serrell, flutist.

The choir sang two anthems, and the balance of the musical programme was furnished by the Sunday-schools who sang carols. The feature of the musical service was the rendition of the "Cradle Song," from Berceuse, by Benjamin Goddard. This selection was played by W. P. DeNike on the 'cello, and he was accompanied by Mrs. B. T. Barnes.

Other features were the recitations given by Bulah VanWinkle and Ethel Webster. Both are little tots and they acquitted themselves with great credit.

The services were in charge of Superintendent R. K. Case, of the home school, and he was assisted by M. C. Dobbins, of the Mt. Olive school, and L. Warren Randolph, of the East Third Street Mission, also Rev. J. H. Creamer, of Orange, a temporary supply at the Mt. Olive Baptist church. During the afternoon Rev. Dr. Yerkes made a short address. L. H. Biglow, Jr., acted as precentor during the singing of the carols.

CRESCENT AVENUE CHURCH.

Christmas was remembered at the Crescent Avenue church yesterday at all the services with special music and addresses. The interior of the church was prettily decorated after the conventional fashion. Greens were used about the back and sides while the platform was partially covered with a tasteful arrangement of calla lilies, ferns and other potted plants.

The Christmas music at the morning services was rendered by the regular quartette choir of the church, which sang a number of special anthems. The pastor, Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, preached a very interesting discourse appropriate to the day at the morning service.

During the afternoon a union Christmas service was held by the Sunday-school of the church and its chapels in the church. The different Sunday-schools from Bethel chapel, Hope chapel and Warren chapel were well represented and the superintendents of the Sunday-schools and the pastors of the chapels assisted in the conducting of the services. The carols were sung by the united schools. There was one special carol sung by the girls of the primary department of the home Sunday-school and another by the boys of the primary department. The address was made by Rev. W. R. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST CHURCH.

Special Christmas services were held in the Seventh-Day Baptist church Saturday. Greens were used in the decoration of the sanctuary. In the morning there were several carols by the chorus choir and short addresses appropriate to the occasion by Rev. L. E. Livermore, Rev. A. H. Lewis, D. D., and Rev. A. E. Main.

In the afternoon at 3:45 o'clock the Sabbath-school held its special exercises. They were principally by the members of the primary department and consisted of recitations and songs. At the close of the service, after sun-

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

Holidays Seem to Interfere But Little with General Business.

New York, Dec. 27.—Dun's weekly reports show a remarkably large holiday trade, at many points the largest for five years. Moreover, at the season when wholesale business usually shrinks the pressure of demands for immediate deliveries, which results from unprecedented distribution to consumers, keeps many establishments at work that usually begin their yearly resting spell somewhat earlier. Instead of decreasing, the demand for products shows an unexpected increase in several important branches. Foreign trade continues satisfactory, even in comparison with the remarkable record of a year ago, when exports exceeded $117,000,000 in December. At New York the movement in three weeks has been not $2,000,000, or 7 per cent. smaller, while from cotton and Pacific ports it has been larger this year. Imports at New York, over $1,900,000 less than last year, indicate an excess of exports approaching $60,000,000 for the month. Bank failures at Philadelphia, due to individual operations, cause no disturbance, and commercial failures for the month have been less than half last year's to the same date.

The outgoing flood of grain is not checked by Chicago speculation, though more corn than wheat has been moving. Wheat exports, flour included, have been 3,698,321 bushels for the week, against 3,568,805 the previous week, and 1,546,443 a year ago, and in four weeks 15,766,895 bushels, against, 9,039,587 last year. Wheat has varied little, closing three cents higher for the week, after deliveries of surprising magnitude at Chicago, and corn closes nearly a cent higher. Cotton has also been moving largely, and has risen a sixteenth.

Cotton goods have further declined in prices of bleached, which meet active Southern competition, and the Fall River spinners insist upon a reduction of one-ninth in wages, other New England mills joining. Out of 101 New England works forty-five have passed dividends, fourteen at Fall River, with fifteen others paying 1 per cent. for the last quarter. The fall in the price of cotton, when the mills were holding heavy stocks of goods, placed this industry in a most embarrassing position.

Railway earnings reported for two weeks of December are 10.5 per cent. larger than last year, and fall very slightly below those of 1892, eastbound tonnage from Chicago being barely 1 per cent. smaller for three weeks. Failures for three weeks have been only $7,227,303, against $14,602,007 last year; manufacturing $1,924,192, against $5,877,387, and trading $5,001,587, against $7,983,981 last year. Failures for the week have been 292 in the United States, against 297 last year, and 22 in Canada, against 44 last year.

NICARAGUA CANAL.

A Western Engineer Has a New Idea for the Project.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Lyman E. Cooley, a well-known civil engineer, has started to enlist capital in the building of the Nicaragua Canal as a business proposition with what he believes is a certain income in sight to justify the expenditure of $60,000,000.

The renewal of constructive work on the canal with Chicago capital is the basis of the project. Mr. Cooley was one of the engineers of the Chicago drainage canal and is a ship canal champion. He has been prominent in connection with ship canal projects to connect the lakes with the gulf and the Atlantic Ocean. He has interested E. F. Cragin, and with several civil engineers and contractors they will sail from New York for Nicaragua on Thursday. Mr. Cragin assisted in getting money for the World's Fair and the Grant monument in New York.

The trip will be along the route for the canal laid out by Warner Miller's company. It is hoped to have a fair idea of the cost of construction and of the obstacles to be overcome on the gulf side. With many of Col. Ludlow's deductions Mr. Cooley does not agree, and he is confident the objections which the commission raised and which President Cleveland made the ground for opposing government aid to the canal will be found to be exaggerated.

The party will go unhampered by alliance with the old company or with Congressional champions.

TO CARRY GOLD SEEKERS.

Steamer Purchased by Company for Klondike Passengers.

New York, Dec. 27.—The steamer Brixham, which is being fitted out at the Ross Iron Works, at the foot of Twenty-sixth street, will leave Brooklyn on Jan. 5, one of the most fully equipped vessels which have yet been secured for the Alaska transportation trade. She has been acquired by the Boston and Alaska Transportation Company, a company having a capital of $200,000, of which the chief officials are as follows: President, Robert Snodgrass, of Harrisburg, Pa.; Vice-President and General Manager, D. H. Pingree (a nephew of the Governor of Michigan); treasurer, A. E. Cronenwett.

Although 265 passengers have already been booked through to the gold fields none of these will embark at Brooklyn, as the Brixham will sail for Seattle loaded with freight from here, and all her passengers will join at Seattle.

Another Effort to Save Durrant.

San Francisco, Dec. 27.—The last desperate move to save Theodore Durrant's neck from the noose on Jan. 7 has been made. An affidavit of the murderer's father has been filed, and upon it Horace Smythe, one of the jurors who convicted Durrant, was cited to appear for contempt of court. The affidavit says that Smythe has admitted to a number of persons that he did not vote to convict Durrant upon the evidence brought out at the trial, but upon information furnished him from outside sources.

Grain Rates Advance.

Milwaukee, Dec. 27.—Members of the Milwaukee Freight Bureau have received notice that, commencing with Jan. 1, the rate on grain, flour and millstuffs carloads from Minneapolis to the Atlantic seaboard points would advance to a basis of 10 cents on 100 pounds above the Chicago rate. The Chicago rate is 20 cents all rail, and the rate from Minneapolis would therefore be 30 cents all rail.

SHERIFF'S SALE—In Chancery of New Jersey. Between William C. Stanbery, complainant, and Eve M. Baker et als., defendants. Fi. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above stated writ of fieri facias, to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue at the Court House, in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all those certain tracts or parcels of land hereinafter particularly set forth situate, lying and being in the township of Fanwood, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey. Firstly:

WEDNESDAY, THE TWENTY-SECOND DAY OF DECEMBER, A. D., 1897,

First Tract—Beginning at a stone in the southerly line of the road leading from Scotch Plains to Westfield and corner of Nathan Marsh's land; thence with his line southeasterly forty-five degrees two chains and eighteen links to a stone in Noah Parses' line; thence with said Parses' line southwesterly eighty links to a stone; thence northwesterly through the house where it joins the next building two chains and nineteen links to a stone in the southerly line of said road; thence with said southerly side of said road northeasterly eighty links to the place of beginning. Containing more or less. Being the same lands conveyed to said James A. Baker, June 4, 1887, by deed recorded in book 189 of deeds, page 561, etc. Secondly:

Second Tract—Beginning at a corner of North First street and is Philip Radins' land; thence along his line a northeast course one hundred and three ft. to a corner of A. D. Baud's line; thence along his line one chain and forty-seven links in a course of north forty-two and a quarter degrees west; thence southwest one hundred and three feet; thence southeast one chain and forty-seven links to the place of beginning. Being the same lands conveyed to said James A. Baker, Febr ary 19, 1887, by deed recorded in book 187, page 226, etc.

Third Tract—Beginning at a point at the intersection of the northeasterly side line of Park avenue with the southeasterly side line of Bartle avenue; thence running northeasterly along the southeasterly side line of Bartle avenue one hundred and seventy-four feet to a point in said side line of Bartle avenue; thence southeasterly at right angles with said Bartle avenue thirty-seven feet; thence southwesterly parallel with Bartle avenue one hundred and seventy-six feet, more or less to the northeasterly side line of Park avenue; thence northwesterly along said side line of Park avenue thirty-seven feet, more or less, to the point or place of beginning. Being lot No. 1 on map of Bartle property, dated November, 1897, on file in Union County clerk's office.

Fourth Tract—Beginning at a point in the southeasterly side line of Bartle avenue said point being distant one hundred and seventy-four feet northeasterly from the intersection of the southeasterly side line of Bartle avenue with the northeasterly side line of Park avenue; thence northeasterly, along Bartle avenue sixty feet, more or less, to a point and corner of lands conveyed to Baker by George K. Parsell, said deed bearing date March 31, 1885; thence southeasterly along line of said Baker's land one hundred and twenty-one feet, more or less, to a point and corner in said Baker's land; thence southwesterly nearly parallel with Bartle avenue twenty feet to a point in other lands of said Baker; thence southeasterly ten feet, more or less, to a point another corner of said Baker's land; thence southwesterly along the southeasterly side line of Baker's land forty feet to a point; thence northwesterly making a new line through Baker's land one hundred and thirty-eight feet, more or less, to the point and place of beginning. Being lot No. 2 on above map. It is intended by this last described lot to include all the premises conveyed to James A. Baker described in deed of George K. Parsell and wife, dated March 31, 1885; also all the rear northeasterly portion of the premises conveyed to said Baker by the following deeds: Deed of Joseph M. Osborn, sheriff, dated June 15, 1871, and recorded in book 57 of deeds for Union county, on pages 513, etc.; and deed of Henry Hetfield and wife, dated May 6, 1872, and recorded in book 152 of deeds for Union county, on pages 171, etc.

Fifth Tract—Beginning at a point thirty-seven feet northasterly from Bartle avenue in a line drawn at right angles with Bartle avenue, said line beginning one hundred and seventy-four feet northeasterly along the southeasterly side line of Bartle avenue, from where the same is intersected by the northeasterly side of Park avenue; thence running southwesterly parallel with Bartle avenue one hundred and seventy-six feet, more or less, to the northeasterly side line of Park avenue; thence southeasterly along the northeasterly side line of Park avenue thirty-seven feet, more or less, to a corner of Baker's land; thence northeasterly along line of lands of Baker and line of lands formerly owned by Whitaker one hundred and seven feet, more or less, to a point another corner of Baker's land; thence southeasterly still following line of Baker's land and line of land formerly owned by Whitaker fifty-nine feet, more or less, to a point and corner; thence northeasterly along line of said Baker sixty-nine feet, more or less, to a point and corner of lot last above described; thence northwesterly one hundred and one feet, more or less along said lot to the point and place of beginning. Being lot No. 3 on above map.

To be sold in parcels and in the order and manner as directed in writ.

NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED IN UP-TO-DATE LAUNDRY WORK.

We run the laundry and take care of all details, but you "boss" it. We do what you tell us to do. It may give you a new sensation to find that you get a domestic finish when you ask for it, and to discover that your collars are actually ironed in the way that the maker intended them to be ironed.

We are running a laundry with the most improved methods and appliances. We use pure water and good soap. We are using two things that are not commonly used in laundries—care and intelligence. If you have found a laundry that pleases you perfectly, we have nothing to say to you. If you have any reason to be dissatisfied, we would like to give you a practical demonstration of our way of running a laundry.

Tell us where and when to call for your work, when you want it delivered, and let us know any particular thing that you would like to have done with it.

We want you to understand that we are running this laundry for you, and that your wishes are to be regarded in every particular. We will give you just exactly what you want, if we can find out what that is. Perhaps you believe that it is impossible to have your laundry well handled without irritation and annoyance to you. We are sure that you are mistaken. May we have an opportunity of demonstrating it?

GRAB AMERICAN LAND

Canadians Collect Outrageous Duties From the Yukon Miners.

THEY MUST PAY OR LEAVE

English Flag Raised on United States Territory, and Every Tent and Cabin Levied on—Sad Scenes on the Skagua Trail.

Dyea, Alaska, Dec. 27.—American miners throughout the Yukon country are beginning to complain bitterly of what they term the rapacity of the Canadian customs inspectors. F. K. Scott, an American prospector, who has been in the Lake Lindeman district for the last three years, says:

"The Canadians have taken possession of United States land and are demanding high duties on all articles bought by the Americans within six months. They are even levying toll on the clothing worn by our miners. These Canadian officers have left their post of entry at Tagish House, and are plundering every American tent and cabin on American soil, twenty miles inside the limit of Uncle Sam's territory.

"If Americans fail to pay the duties demanded their outfits are confiscated. The Canadians have taken possession of the whole country within ten miles of the seaports and have negotiated sales of American land and timber. They have sold licenses for the sale of liquors within twenty miles of the coast.

"One American near here had an outfit that cost $40. The Canadian customs inspectors demanded $40 duty on it. When the American declared that he had not so much money, the officer told him he had better go back to the United States, as paupers were not wanted in this country. This happened on American soil, as we claim it to be here.

"Here are some of the taxes the poor American miner must pay to Canada: Five dollars for a license to prospect, 25 cents per cord for the privilege of cutting firewood, $8 for a permit to put up a log cabin, 10 cents apiece for the logs he cuts for his cabin, 50 cents per ton if he cuts any grass for hay, $15 to record a claim, if he gets one.

"If a miner cannot make his claim pay and abandons it, the Canadian Government appropriates it, and the next man who wants the property must buy it from Canada.

"Many persons were unable to get over the Skagua before Winter, and so are camping along it until Spring. The Canadian officers at the port of entry, realizing that all these people would eat most of their grub before Spring, and hence have little to pay duty on then, came over here to force the people along the trail to pay their duties now instead of waiting till they reached the Canadian port of entry. Ignorant people are paying from 25 to 100 per cent. duties on their outfits, and it is claimed that few of them have been given receipts for the sums paid.

"Canadian officers are planning to cut mining claims to one-fifth the usual size in the new districts, so as to increase the Government revenue therefrom fivefold. Canadian police are here to either force the payment of duties or to confiscate miners' outfits.

"Moose and caribou have been nearly killed off along the Yukon route. There are a few grouse, and the American ptarmigan is here in large numbeds. The ptarmigan, in early Winter, is pure white, save his back. Later his tail and wings become black as a crow. In May he has become a beautiful brown all over. This bird must be wealthy to pay duty on so many suits if he crosses the line.

"President McKinley should give immediate attention to the settlement of the boundary question here. The Canadians are taking possession of much land bought from Russia by the United States. They are raising the English flag on our soil and firing military salutes to it every day."

Reindeer for the Yukon.

New York, Dec. 27.—The Rev. Dr. Sheldon Jackson sailed on the Cunard steamship Lucania Saturday morning, on his way to Norway, where he goes as the special agent of the War Department to buy 500 head of reindeer, which the Government is going to use in forwarding supplies to the miners throughout the valley of the Yukon River.

William A. Kjellmann, superintendent of the Government reindeer herd in Alaska since 1890, is now in Sweden on the same errand, and it is believed that he will have the new herd all selected by the time Dr. Jackson reaches his destination.

Dr. Jackson will go to Christiania first, and if the animals are not picked out he will go further north along the coast of Norway, probably as far as Hammerfest, the most northern settlement of Europe.

Dr. Jackson will also purchase complete outfits to go with the reindeer—sleds, harness, etc.—and also expects to hire several drivers experienced in the management of the animals, who will return with him, bringing their families with them.

After Klondike Funds.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 27.—The Portland Chamber of Commerce has sent the following telegram to Secretary of War Alger:

"It is feared by the people of the Northwest that the Government relief expedition cannot reach the Yukon in time to prevent suffering. The City of Portland is prepared, with your assistance, to equip and forward an advance expedition with enough food to relieve immediate wants. We are prepared to start an expedition with experienced volunteers and reach Dawson in sixty days if the department will apportion $10,000 of the relief fund for this purpose.

"Do not be deceived by reports emanating from interested speculators who have forwarded supplies to sell at high prices that there is food sufficient to prevent actual starvation."

Damages from Spain.

London, Dec. 27.—A dispatch from Madrid to a news agency here says that the United States have demanded of Spain $8,000,000 as indemnity to American traders for damages sustained through the war in Cuba.

"BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW."

Do you ever ask yourself why you keep chickens?

Is it for pleasure? If so, would not a little profit add to the pride and pleasure?

Possibly it is because you wish to be sure of absolutely fresh eggs on your table. If so, would you not prefer to get the eggs during the winter rather than in the spring, "when everybody's eggs are fresh?"

We can make bricks in these days without straw but no one can make hens lay eggs in the winter months unless he supplies special foods and care.

We aim to carry in our different stores everything that is necessary for the "Business Hen"—that is, the hen that pays for her board—and we would be pleased to hear from either large or small poultry raisers.

Among other things we would suggest:

Granulated Charcoal,	Poultry Feed,
Ground Oyster Shells,	Buckwheat Grain,
Chicken & Pigeon Grit,	Barley,
Granulated Bone,	Hemp Seed,
Meat Meal,	Millet Seed,
Clover Heads,	Sheridan's Powder.

CHRISTMAS IN CHURCHES

down, the Christmas tree in the church parlors was revealed to the wondering gaze of the youthful celebrators, and a box of candy and a toy was given to each of the children.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Services appropriate to Christmas were held at the First Presbyterian church last evening, when a special programme was presented by the choir under the direction of Organist MacClymont, assisted by W. P. DeNike, 'cellist; P. Ludwig Conde, violinist; George Audsley, flutist; and Mrs. B. T. Barnes, pianist. The choir consisted of eighteen voices and the rendition of the several anthems was much enjoyed. There were solos by Miss Catherine Glenn, soprano, and Miss Charlotte Messerchmith, alto.

At both the morning and evening services, Rev. C. E. Herring, pastor, delivered short addresses concerning the Christmastide festivities. The church was very prettily decorated with greens chiefly, which was the work of the members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the church.

HOLY CROSS CHURCH.

A fine musical programme was arranged for the Christmas service at Holy Cross church by George Hosking, organist and choirmaster It was as follows:

Processional Hymn—"Adeste Fideles." John Reading
Venite in B flat.....G. J. Elvey
TeDeum in G flat.....J. L. Hopkins
Jubilate in A flat.....John Goss
Introit—"Christians Awake! Salute the Happy Morn".....Wainwright
Kyrie in E flat.....Arthur S. Sullivan
Gloria Tibi / Credo } in C flat.....R. Redhead
Hymn—"Sing, O Sing, This Blessed Morn." H. Smart
Offertory Anthem—"Sing, O Heavens." B. Tours
Sursum Corda / Sanctus } in C flat.....R. Redhead
Communion Hymn—"O Little Town of Bethlehem".....J. Barnby
Gloria in Excelsis.....Old Chant
Recessional Hymn—"While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night." Traditional

FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

Christmas was celebrated in all due form at the First M. E. church yesterday. Owing to the storm, the attendance at the services was not as large as it would have otherwise been. Many of the small children were unable to venture out.

The front of the church was suitably decorated with evergreen roping. A large green star was suspended over the pulpit. A large evergreen tree was stationed at either side of the platform.

A special Christmas sermon was preached at the morning service by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the church. There were several Christmas anthems by the chorus choir and a solo by Miss Maud Mosher.

In the afternoon the Christmas exercises of the Sunday school were held in the church. J. W. Jackson, the superintendent, was in charge. The address was made by Rev. George W. Smith, the presiding elder. Recitations were given by Miss Gertrude Anderson and Miss Mabel Jenkins.

The primary department gave several songs and other selections. A recitation, "Seven Little Stars," was given by five little girls. Two of the little stars didn't show up on account of the storm.

In the evening the choir rendered several special anthems during the service. A solo was given by Miss Maud Mosher.

GERMAN REFORMED CHURCH.

Last Saturday evening at the German Reformed church the members of the church and Sunday-school enjoyed their Christmas entertainment. The programme consisted of singing of carols, and recitations by the scholars of the school, a tableau representing "Faith, Hope and Charity," by Miss Louisa Caspar, Miss Rosa Sutterlein and Miss Amelia Sutterlein. The pastor, Rev. George Hauser, made a short address which interested all present. After the rendition of the programme the committee in charge presented the scholars with useful gifts, also candy and fruit. The attendance was large, and one of the features was the beautiful Christmas tree, brilliantly illuminated and filled with good things.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH.

Christmas Day was auspiciously opened in St. Mary's church at 6:30 with high mass, followed with services at 7:30, 8:30, 9:30 and 10:30. The interior of the church was beautifully decorated with evergreens, including wreaths and roping of holly. The celebrant of the last mass was the rector of the church, Rev. Father P. E Smyth, while the assistant rector, Rev. Father Murphy, preached an able sermon suitable to the occasion. To the right of the main altar was erected a miniature representation of our Saviour's birthplace, while in the distance could be seen the Star of Bethlehem. The singing at the services was excellent, a large chorus assisting the regular choir. Miss Smith presided at the organ.

GRACE M. E. CHURCH.

At Grace M. E. church yesterday no special services were held. In the morning Presiding Elder Rev. G. W. Smith preached a strong sermon and baptized the infant son of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Johnston. In the evening the pastor of the church preached. Next Sunday special Christmas services will be held and an unusual attractive programme has been prepared.

Chief Wilson Surprised.

Friday night last the marshals of the borough called at the home of Chief Marshal Wilson and exchanged the compliments of the season. The chief was then surprised when he was presented with a valuable gold watch chain. The recipient accepted the gift with a few words of thanks, after which the men returned to duty.

Case Over the Term.

The suit pending between mill-owners along Greenbrook against the Summit Water Company, will be called at Somerville tomorrow, but owing to the illness of the father of the defendant's counsel, Mr. Riker, the case will be adjourned to the April term of court. Senator Reed represents the mill-owners.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Garrett Q. Packer and family are visiting friends in Philadelphia.

Photographer Loveland, of East Front street, has moved to Elizabeth, his former home.

Mrs. Tima Tiefer, of Brooklyn, will stay here over New Year's to attend to Mrs. Harry Becker in her illness.

Minor C. Smith and family, of Jersey City, visited Mr. Smith's mother, Mrs. Anna Smith, of the West End, Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Becker, of Somerset street, are happy over the arrival of a little daughter in their midst. The baby made her debut to the world Thursday night.

A. T. Shotwell, city treasurer of Fargo, Dakota, is the guest of his brother, John J. Shotwell, of College place. Mr. Shotwell was formerly a partner of J. T. Vail, in this city.

Borough Police Court.

Jack Frost, a gentleman of color, residing somewhere in Union county, was found on Somerset street last Saturday morning about 4 o'clock in a drunk and disorderly condition. This morning before Recorder Thomas he was given his preference between $10 or thirty days. He took the latter.

Last Saturday morning at an early hour Fred Diem, of Prideville, who is employed as a baker in this city, threatened to do his wife harm, and he also frightened his children. He was arrested on the complaint of his son, Fred Diem, Jr., but as the latter did not appear against his father this morning in court, the offender of the law was discharged. It is said that the boy was afraid to appear against his father.

Still Alarm of Fire.

Last Friday night about 9:30 there was a still alarm of fire that called out the chief's gig and one of the hose carriages. The fire was in a chimney at the home of Pierre Malli at Netherwood. It required one extinguisher to put out the fire and the damage was very slight.

ELECTRIC HAIR CUTTER.

An Instrument Which Will Crop the Head in Short Order.

You may have your hair cut by electricity now. David Seide, of Hartford, Conn., has just patented a little instrument which will do the trick in a few twinklings without the use of scissors or of the flame which is sometimes used as a substitute in up-to-date barber shops.

It is a compact metal tool, consisting in part of a comb. Of course, the tonsorial artist must always use a comb in this sort of work, inasmuch as it gives him a gauge for making the hairs of equal length as they are drawn through the teeth.

The instrument in question is connected with a little battery by a couple of wires. When he wishes to administer a hair cut, the barber presses his thumb upon a certain part of the tool, thus completing a circuit. The electricity instantly heats white hot a platinum wire which runs the length of the comb. Then all that is required is that the operator shall comb the hair of the customer with a few graceful waves of the little appliance, the incandescent wire burning it off at the proper length.—New York Journal.

The Church Maid.

The up-to-date churches now employ a church maid. One who enters a sanctuary in New York nowadays may see a slender figure in a plain black gown, with white cape and apron, moving around among the pews. She is, perhaps, dusting the hymnals, arranging the cassocks or putting notices in the racks. She will, however, come forward, answer your questions, direct you to the sexton, tell you the minister's hours, or advise you to whom you should apply for other information than she may be able to give. It is a part of her duty to remain respectfully near visitors, for strangers have been known to "lift" anything that strikes their fancy and walk off with it. The maid also cares for the minister's study and gives to the edifice many touches of which the janitor is incapable. The church maid has her hands full.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

LEARNING OUR WAYS.

EDUCATION OF THE CHILDRED OF THE LEGATION IN WASHINGTON.

The Present Minister of China Does Not Think He Would Have a Daughter's Foot Bandaged—Wife of Yang Yu's Secretary Would not Allow the Torture.

No better test of the gradual loosening of the bonds which for so many centuries have made China the most exclusive and least progressive of nations could be cited than the freedom with which the children of the Chinese Legation are now permitted to mingle with American playfellows.

It was, indeed, but a few years since the women of the legation were induce the women of the legation were induced to modify somewhat the absolute seclusion to which they were accustomed, Mrs. Tsin Kno Yin being the first to exchange social courtesies with the women of the Diplomatic Corps. Nor was this tremendous innovation accomplished without serious misgivings on the part of the Minister himself and considerable clever management on the part of his friends.

Mrs. Yang Yu, her successor, easily slipped into the way which had been opened for her, her picturesque appearance and charming personality making her a social favorite. At her first appearance in public, she was the object of much friendly interest and undisguised curiosity, but it soon became no uncommon event to see her in public surrounded by her little family.

The children were therefore early introduced to American customs, and under American tutors advanced rapidly in the language. The spirit of Freemasonry existing among boys made it a comparatively easy matter for the eldest son, a boy of eight, to make acquaintances and gain friends. He was placed in school, and possessing an unusually quick mind, soon acquired enough English to prosecute his ordinary studies in that language.

He became so attached to his school friends and American ways generally that when in April last a change in the Ministry was made the thought of turning his back upon it all was a source of the greatest grief to him.

The new Minister, Mr. Wu, being a protege of Li Hung Chang, and, therefore of the more liberal party, besides having studied law in London for four years, had, perhaps, fewer prejudices to combat upon coming to America than any previous Chinese Minister. Mrs. Wu, however, early made her entrance into Washington society, and the only son, a lad of 10, was immediately placed in a private school. Of course, his school life seems a little dull at first, as about all he can do is to sit and listen to the other pupils reciting, his teacher occasionally calling his attention to some particular object and requiring him to pronounce its name. However, Washington teachers have had considerable experience with the children of foreigners, and have consequently learned to adapt their methods to them with a goodly degree of skill.

Recreation time is quite a different matter, as games and toys, the universal language of boys, are fortunately about the same the world over. Balls, marbles, tops, hide-and-go-seek, &c., are as much the part of a Chinese boy's life as of an American's, and with these as passports Master Wu already boasts his circle of boy friends. He has even learned to ride a bicycle, but owing to his costume is obliged to content himself with a girl's wheel. Football is also a new game to him. The Fourth of July was the first fete day that Master Wu witnessed in America, and it seemed a very homelike celebration to him, as fireworks, especially firecrackers, are used on almost every fete occasion in China. The evening display in Washington, however, was a great revelation to him, as, though the Chinese were the first nation in the world to make and use firecrackers, and still continue to export them in enormous quantities, they know little or nothing of colored lights, and the brilliancy and magnificence of modern pyrotechnical displays.

Life, however, is very far from being all beer and skittles to Chinese boys. They are accustomed to spending many more hours a day at their studies than the ordinary American youth. Master Wu, besides his regular school work, has a Chinese tutor, with whom he is expected to work several hours a day at his studies in Chinese. Chinese parents are indeed exceedingly strict and careful in the training and education of their children, rarely turning them over to the nurses during their hours of play.

This cosmopolitan education of even a sprinkling of the younger generation seems bound to have its influence upon the ironclad customs of the old world and the free intermingling of these high-caste Eastern women with the well-bred women of other nations, has already begun to bear fruit. Mrs. Ho, for example, wife of the Secretary of Mr. Yang Yu, although herself the victim of bandaged feet, will not allow the feet of her daughters to be bound. Indeed, her three little children, all born in this country, had American nurses and were fed, clothed, and taken care of exactly as American children are.

When the present Minister was asked:

"If you had a daughter would you bind her feet?" an inscrutable look passed quickly across his face, as he said:

"Madame, I have no daughter."

"And if you had?"

After considerable hesitation, he slowly replied, "I do not think I should." This was a concession, as the Minister evidently takes great pride in the little feet of his wife.—New York Sun.

SCHEMING SON OF ITALY

HE HAS BEEN DUPING HIS COUNTRYMEN AT LINCOLN.

Told Them That "Big Boss" Would Pay Them More if They Bought Beer of Patsy—"Big Boss" Doud Ignorant of It.

A delegation of Italians, who are now employed at Lincoln in laying the water mains, called at The Daily Press office this morning complaining that a scheming son of "Sunny Italy" was swindling them out of their hard-earned wages in a manner that speaks well for the fertility of the brain of the wicked one. They wanted the rascality of the naughty Italian shown up so that they might live in peace once more. Although not long in this country, they had already learned of the power of the press.

Mark Doud, of Duer street, secured the contract for putting in the water mains at Lincoln and has had a gang of several scores of Italian laborers working there for the past month. The Italians have built several small shanties near Beachwood Heights, which is about a mile from Lincoln. Here they have been living and sleeping. Among their number is the scheming one who is known as Patsy. He acts somewhat in the light of a foreman of the gang that lay the pipe. Patsy has brought down on his head the wrath of all the Italian laborers there, who claim that he has been swindling them in a most outrageous fashion.

Thomas Doud, of Duer street, who has been giving his son the benefit of his long years of experience in the work, has in a measure overseen the carrying out of the contract. To the Italian laborers he is known as the "Big Boss." Both of the Douds, father and son, are popular among the men, who consider that they treat them fairly and squarely.

Now Patsy, it is claimed, has been telling his fellow-workmen that he was pulling a great stroke with the "Big Boss" and was one of his most valued assistants. Then Patsy, the Italians allege, came forward with the offer that to all men who bought a box of beer of him he would see that they received $1.50 a day, while those who did not take advantage of his offer would get only $1.25 a day. At one of the huts, it is claimed, Patsy found thirteen victims. In the meantime the Douds were entirely ignorant of what was going forward.

Several days ago Thomas Doud entered one of the huts and found a quantity of beer bottles there. He broke them at once and told the foreman that the men must not be allowed to have beer there or trouble would ensue. Patsy talked with the boss and was as mild mannered as could be wished but the men say he is still making trouble in their midst.

The delegation had prepared a communication containing an account of the trouble which had been turned over to the Italian expert of the office who also interviewed them and obtained the story of their troubles already related.

RETIREMENT FUND FIGHT.

New Jersey State Teachers Ready for the Fray at Trenton.

The New Jersey State Teachers' Association opened its annual session in Trenton yesterday afternoon. There were nearly 300 teachers in attendance. The afternoon session was devoted to the reading of various papers of educational matters.

One of the most interesting subjects to be considered by the association will be the teachers' retirement fund, which, it is anticipated, will lead to considerable discussion. Whoever is elected president of the association will nominate the teachers' representative on the board of managers of the fund. Among the candidates most talked of for president is Franklin Thorn, of Paterson.

Good Skating Now.

With no school for a week, the young people of the town have been rather at a loss what to do with themselves There has been skating for several days. Christmas Day it was good, but the snow fall of Sunday nearly spoiled it. What there is of it has been taken advantage of by scores of young people yesterday and today. Part of the snow has been swept off of Hyde's millpond and there a large crowd has assembled all day. Ohl's and Smalley's ponds furnish fair skating.

Valuable Dog With the Rabies.

A valuable hound dog belonging to Lewis Bimble, of Harrison street, was bitten by a mad dog about two weeks ago, and Mr. Bimble after that time kept the animal confined in a wire cage to see if any bad results were evident from the bite. Christmas Day signs of rabies began to develop. The dog frothed at the mouth and endeavored to bite through the cage. The animal's condition grew worse until yesterday, when the owner had it killed by a rifle bullet.

NO. 44'S BIG TIME.

Conferred a Degree, Elected Officers and Had a Sociable Time Generally.

The handsome quarters of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., in the Babcock building, were well filled last evening by members and visitors to witness the third degree conferred by the crack team of the lodge. The work was done in a thorough and beautiful manner and at the conclusion the team was enthusiastically complimented.

After the degree had been worked the election of officers for the ensuing term was had, with the following result: Noble grand, Nimrod Horton; vice-grand, Simon Mantz; recording secretary, Joseph F. Sheppard; financial secretary, Elias H. Bird.

Soon after the lodge business had been transacted a novel concert was given by several of the talented members of the society. It took form in the shape of a concert by the "Hungarian Band," who played strange melodies on odd and unique instruments, such as flour sieves, sprinkling cans, tomato cans and bass drums. On the back of each of the musicians was the musical note he was supposed to render, as well as the titles of the compositions played. Among the pieces were "The Citizens' March," "Down on the Sewer Farm," "No Martin Acts Here," "Let the Curfew Bells Ring," "Police (2) Step." The novelty was such an entertaining one that the "Band" was compelled to respond to numerous encores.

A banquet and smoker followed and during the intervening time recitations were given by Past Grand Stamets, of Westfield, Past Grand John H. Carney and Past Grand John Becker.

GAVE BLOWS FOR FAVORS

DESPERATE FIGHT BETWEEN A TRAMP AND A HERMIT.

Pensolpeter Gave Fire and Food, But the Surly Negro Demanded Money—Then Pistol Against a Big Shotgun.

In a small cabin, alone, about a mile from Basking Ridge, on the road to Liberty Corner, dwells a queer man with a queer name; Joseph Pensolpeter. When the winter wind howls and piles up barriers of snow on the lonesome highway, travelers stop at the shanty and warm up, and are welcome. If they are hungry, Pensolpeter has food and drink for them out of his slim store. Tramps look upon the hut as an oasis in the desert of their existence and in queer ways have shown their gratitude for little favors.

Whether or not old Pensolpeter had read the fable of the man who warmed the cold snake at his hearthstone, he took no warning from it, for when a big negro with an ugly look in his eyes banged at the window on Christmas night and demanded fire and food, Pensolpeter threw open the door and wished him "Merry Christmas!"

Seating the stranger in front of the stove, the hermit brought some bread and butter and meat, which the guest devoured greedily.

"That's good," growled the negro, using up the provender with the rapidity of a sausage mill. "Now I want money."

Pensolpeter said that he would be very glad if he had some money himself. Tightening his grip on a heavy cane he carried, the negro exclaimed:

"This is Christmas. I'm going to sleep tonight at the Basking Ridge Hotel and you've got to foot the bill. Come now," he went on menacingly, "fork over."

The hermit edged across the room toward his gun. Like a flash the negro sprang at him, raining down terrific blows with the heavy stick.

They grappled and fought around the room until Pensolpeter came within reach of his gun. Seizing it, he jumped back, but his antagonist was too quick for him. Before the gun was cocked the brawny negro wrested it away and with the strength of a gorilla smashed the stock to bits.

Whipping out a revolver, the negro attempted to end the fight with a murder. Pensolpeter had managed to fling open the door. Ducking to avoid the revolver bullet, he tackeled the negro low and with all his strength hurled him across the threshold headlong to the frozen ground. Then he slammed the door and poked the muzzle of the broken gun out of a window.

Bruised and bleeding, the negro struggled to his feet, saw the two eyes of a shotgun looking at him from the window and fled.

Charged With Forgery.

Andrew Gados, of Raritan, was arrested by Constable Totten, at Bound Brook, and placed in the county jail last week, on the charge of forging a promisory note for $35 on the Second National Bank. The name of George Yorick is alleged to have been forged on the note.

COAL GONDOLAS PLUNGED INTO A CHURCHYARD.

DISASTROUS WRECK ON THE CENTRAL RAILROAD THIS MORNING.

A Broken Brake Chain Caught in the Frog of a Switch and a Score of Cars Were Derailed—Several Plunged Across East Third Street Into Fence Around Friends' Meeting House.

A simple thing caused a disastrous wreck on the Centrail railroad at 8 o'clock this morning just east of the North Avenue station. The cause of the catastrophe was a broken brake chain dragging under a coal gondola and catching in a switch frog. It resulted in twenty cars being derailed and several of them shooting down the steep embankment at that point and plunging across East Third street into the fence surrounding the Friends meeting house. East Third street was blocked from traffic as a result.

Perched on the foremost car to go down the embankment was a tramp, who was stealing a ride. When the crash came and the cars were derailed the hobo hung to his position for dear life. As the cars plunged down the steep embankment and crossed East Third street and crashed into the fence and embankment surrounding the Friends' meeting house, the tramp still clung to his position, in fact, it all occurred so quick that he couldn't have did much else He was not hurt, but was terribly frightened. He made a bolt up the street as though his life was to be ended right there. He was not seen around the scene of the wreck after that.

The train was in charge of Conductor Bretts and Engineer Yetter, of Mauch Chunk. As the train approached the North Avenue station it slowed up for orders. One of the brakemen jumped from the train and ran ahead to get the orders. Operator Schermerhorn was waiting for the brakeman, and after the latter received the papers he jumped on the train and signaled for the engineer to go ahead. Engineer Yetter pulled the throttle and the train regained its speed quickly. He had scarcely got well under way before the accident occurred.

There were 145 cars on the train. About half way back the length of the train a brake chain, which had previously broken, caught in a frog in a switch and became fast. In an instant the cars piled up and formed a huge pyramid, and in a few seconds about twenty cars made a grand plunge down the embankment.

The cars in going over the enbankment struck a large telegraph pole and knocked it out of shape, besides breaking a number of telegraph wires. The ground was torn up on all sides and a large part of the fence enclosing the churchyard was smashed into kindling wood. Some cars were completely turned over, others were partially toppled over while several were badly smashed.

Several of the cars were thrown over on the east and west bound tracks for passenger trains, thus blocking traffic for a half hour. As soon as the wreck occured employes of the road at once began to clear the tracks so that the passenger trains would be delayed as little as possible. The east bound track was opened first, but for a short time the trains had to run for a distance on the east bound track for coal and freight trains, while the west bound trains were able to run on their regular track without interruption. Several of the early trains were held back as far as Fanwood for a time.

When the train parted the first half run as far as Park avenue before it was stopped. The last car on the first half of the train was derailed, but no damage resulted to it although that was the car that caused all the trouble. Fortunately the brakemen on the train occupied safe positions. They were not very close to the part of the train that left the track.

Soon after the accident Superintendent Adleman, of the street railway, and Manager Charles Runyon, of the telephone company, were on hand to look out for the wires that were broken. The wires were hanging dangerously near to the ground and pedestrians were likely to receive damage. The linemen, however, soon succeeded in getting the wires out of the way and repairing the breaks.

The wrecking train was sent for and it arrived at an early hour and at once proceeded to clear up the wreck. Much difficulty was experienced in getting the coal cars out of the street, as they were so far from the tracks and so tightly wedged in. Few of the couplings broke and the cars were kept together. The only thing that saved the Friends' meeting-house from serious damage is the high bank that surrounds the building. By the time the cars reached that point the great force obtained from the steep decline was lessened considerably. If anyone had been passing that point at the time they surely would have been killed, for they could not have got out of the way quick enough. Considering everything, it is indeed fortunate that no lives were lost

The railroad tracks were not torn up, although much debris was scattered along the roadbed for a considerable distance.

The wreck attracted many hundreds of people who remained during the entire morning to watch the work of clearing up the wreck.

HOUSEBOAT LAUNCHED.

Christened the "Sommerhein" by the Owner's Daughter.

Yesterday morning at 10:40 o'clock, the houseboat, "Sommerhein," glided into the waters of Raritan Bay from the docks of the Perth Amboy Dry Dock Company, at Perth Amboy, in the presence of its owner, F. H. Ball, of Myrtle avenue, and his family. As the stern of the boat touched the water the customary bottle was broken by Miss Sara Ball, daughter of the owner, and the houseboat was christened.

It is Mr. Ball's intention to spend the summer in the houseboat cruising about the Great South Bay. It is a sailing houseboat, yawl rigged, and capable of making fair progress. It is sixty feet long by twenty feet beam The boat is a very comforteble and roomy affair, very appropriate for the use for which it was designed. It was built according to Mr. Ball's ideas.

The "Sommerhein" will be fully rigged and equipped, and in the early summer will be towed to the Great South Bay, on the Long Island coast, where it will be used during the summer. Mr. Ball's family will spend the summer there, while Mr. Ball will commute back and forth to New York part of the time.

A Christmas Eve Marriage.

Last Friday evening at the home of Rev. Dr. D J. Yerkes, West Seventh street, took place the marriage of Miss A. Compton to George Cornwell, both of Park avenue. The groom is a well-known contractor in this city, and both he and his wife have a large circle of friends who wish them much joy. The bride wore an attractive traveling gown, and after the ceremony Mr and Mrs. Cornwell left the city on the 8:30 train. They will spend their honeymoon in Canada, and on their return will reside in the Hart building on Park avenue.

FIRST DANCE OF COTILLION CLUB

Casino Charmingly Decorated and Many Society People There.

The first dance of the season of the Cotillion Club was held at the Casino last evening, and proved a very successful affair. It was attended by most all of the young people of society circles. The Casino was charmingly decorated for the occasion. Arbors were arranged at either end of the hall and were decorated with vines and flowers. The decorations of the hall were in the Christmas colors, red and green, and evergreen and holly were largely used.

The first part of the evening was devoted to the waltz and two-step. After the serving of refreshments, the cotillion was danced and many pretty figures were introduced. The patronesses for the evening were Mrs. W. E. Lowe, Mrs. D. H. Rowland and Mrs. S. L. Schoonmaker.

Those present at the dance were Mr and Mrs. Marion S. Ackerman, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Jr., the Misses McCready, Evans. Smalley. Talmadge, Tracey, Yates, Holly, Walz Reinhart, Lowe, Wharton, Pierson, Abbot, Shroder and Compton; and the Messrs. Shepard, Murphy, Stewart, Ard, Cokefair, McGee, Cox, Myers, Murray, Stockton, Corlies, Schoonmaker, Dumont, Lovel, Dwight, Wharton, Wilson, Wright and Compton.

Editors' Banquet February 7th.

The executive committee of the New Jersey State Editorial Association, of which President H. C. Page, of the Bayonne Herald, is chairman ex officio, met at the Hotel Washington, Jersey City, yesterday, and arranged for the annual banquet, which will be held in Trenton February 7th next. Toasts will be responded to by different members of the association, and an address will be made by some leading newspaper man.

Paymaster George F. Hess Dead.

George F. Hess, seventy-six years old, died Sunday night at his home on Jefferson avenue, Elizabeth, as a result of a stroke of paralysis some time ago. He was paymaster of the Central Railroad of New Jersey for a quarter of a century. He leaves a widow and two daughters.

Camera Club Officers.

At the meeting of the Plainfield Camera Club held last evening the following officers were elected: President, H. H. Coward; vice-president, Louis Borsum; secretary, J. Hervey Doane; treasurer, H. W. Marshall; directors, G. W. V. Moy, R. L. Lee and Harold Serrell.

SURPRISED OLD FOLKS.

MISS NEWMAN AND W. T. OVERBAUGH WEDDED FRIDAY.

Daughter of Councilman C. J. Newman Eluded the Vigilance of Parents and Friends—Couple Married at Westfield

Walter T. Overbaugh and Miss Anna Belle Newman, a young couple of this city, succeeded in giving their friends and relatives a genuine surprise Christmas Eve by taking a trip to Westfield and getting married.

Overbaugh is a machinist, and was formerly employed at the Potter Press Works. His home is at 120 Elmwood place. Miss Newman is the daughter of Councilman Charles J. Newman, of 219 Richmond street.

The young folks have been friendly for several months, but it was not known that they were planning to unite themselves in marriage at the time the wedding took place.

Christmas Eve Overbaugh called at the home of Miss Newman and the couple went for a drive. Instead of devoting their time to sightseeing, however, they caused the horses' heads to be turned toward Westfield. On reaching that place they made their way to the home of Rev. N. W. Cadwell, pastor of the Westfield Presbyterian church, and made known the object of their call.

The pastor ushered them into the parsonage, and after asking a few questions, consented to tie the knot. The ceremony was performed at once in the presence of a few witnesses and the young couple returned to this city.

The fact of the marriage was not known among the friends of the couple until yesterday. H. L. Overbaugh, a brother of the groom, stated today to a Daily Press reporter that he did not learn of the marriage until yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Overbaugh have been living with the bride's parents since their marriage.

A reporter, who called at the house this morning, was informed that neither Mr. or Mrs. Overbaugh was at home. Mrs. Newman was seen, and stated that the marriage was no secret to her as she knew beforehand when it was to take place.

John M Crane in Town.

John M. Crane, superintendent of agencies, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, of Boston, Mass., is in Plainfield today on a business trip and to visit his family on West Eighth street. The many friends of Mr. Crane in Plainfield will be glad to learn that he is doing a very successful business in his present position.

Queen City Lodge Elect.

The following officers were elected at the meeting of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., held last evening: Noble Grand, Charles Young; vice-president, F. D. Fuller; recording secretary, R. J. Neal; financial secretary, Thomas Osmun; treasurer, J. P. Allis.

Christmas at Children's Home.

The Christmas tree at the Children's Home will be lighted tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

CHRISTMAS FESTIVITIES.

YOUNG AND OLD PEOPLE ENJOYED THEMSELVES HEARTILY.

Special Exercises at East Third Street Mission, Crescent Avenue Church and Hope Chapel—Presents Distributed.

A merry throng of young and old people gathered at Hope chapel last evening to enjoy the annual Christmas festivities. In addition to the members of the chapel there was a large number of visitors present. The chapel was prettily decorated with a number of incandescent lights, in the shape of a star, suspended over the platform.

The programme consisted of shadowgraphs which were shown upon a screen. Those who took part were the Misses Tracy and Miss Mabel VanDeventer. The characters represented were all comical. Other features of the programme was the singing of Councilman William N. Runyon, who, as usual, proved to be a great favorite, and the imitation of Santa Claus by Fred Wharton greatly amused the little folks.

Each scholar received an appropriate and useful gift from Santa Claus. The class of young men taught by Mrs. Hall remembered their teacher by presenting her with a valuable clock. Mrs. Clarence Leland, another teacher, was remembered by her class with a present. Mr. Stewart, sexton of the chapel, received a useful gift in the shape of $10. Nearly everyone was remembered with a present and thus the occasion was made a happy one.

The committee in charge consisted of Miss Tracy, Mrs. Hall, Miss Mabel VanDeventer, Miss Stewart, Miss Griffin, Paul Loizeaux, F. A. Droll, F. H. Andrews and William N. Runyon.

The Christmas festivities of the East Third Street Mission were held in the mission building on East Third street. The building was crowded with young and old who heartily enjoyed the entertainment. The exercises opened with devotional services led by L. W. Randolph, superintendent of the Sunday school. A short address was given by Rev. L. E. Livermore, welcoming the visitors to the mission. The following programme then followed: Recitation, "Christmas Welcome" by Albert Utzinger; recitation, "Babe of Bethleham" by Mary Frazee; violin duet by Messrs. Barnes and Beard; recitation, "Christmas Reflections" by Margaret Davison; recitation, "Hush" by Carl Vemer; selection by the Cliff Quartette; recitation, "Christmas in the Heart" by Miss Eva Killoran; recitation, "Harry's Letter," by Carrie Ulmer; carol by the school; recitation, "Santa Claus' Messenger," by Robert Mattox; recitation, "Don't," by Sarah Harper; vocal solo by Miss Jemini; recitation, "My Stocking," by Nettie Ammons; recitation, "Johnny, O! St. Nicholas," by Annie Clayton; song by the primary department; recitation, "Way to Santa Claus," by May Hearst; cornet solo by Whitney Frazee; "Little Reindeer's Song," by Emily Walsh; selection by Cliff quartette; "Christmas Day Round," by the primary department.

The Cliff Quartette was composed of Messrs. Braider, Dolliver, Smith and Jessup. The rooms were prettily decorated with greens.

Each member of the Sunday school received a box of candy and an orange at the close of the entertainment.

An audience that comfortably filled the Crescent Avenue church assembled at that place last evening to enjoy the annual Christmas festivities. John Leal, chairman of the committee of arrangements, made a short introductory speech in which he explained the various features of the programme, the first of which was a mandolin solo by Carl Pfeiffer, of the New York University. Mr. Pfeiffer played several solos during the evening and he proved to be a great favorite, as did also Frank O. Bristol, who gave some of his best recitations. He was recalled a number of times by the audience.

The most elaborate feature of the programme was a sketch entitled "Christmas Shadows," which was given by Frank O. Bristol, Mrs. Zabriskie, Miss Anna Richards, Miss Tracy and Master Cornwall A large sheet was stretched across the front of the room, and after the electric lights were extinguished the forms and actions of the participants were plainly visible. The story had to do with a man who had no love for Christmas and he disliked very much to see anybody enjoy the event. At different intervals he was sought by a number of poor people who wanted help, but he turned a deaf ear to all, until the latter part of the story. Then his heart was softened and he became

CURRENCY QUESTION

Report of Monetary Commission to Be Published Soon.

A BILL NOW BEING DRAWN

House Banking and Currency Committee to Grant a Hearing on the Proposed Legislation — May Be Supported by Western Senators.

Washington, Dec. 28.—The action of the House Committee on Banking, in voting to postpone the consideration of general legislation until after the report of the Monetary Commission, is causing much interest as to what the report will contain. The controversy between Secretary Gage and some of the Western Senators over the Secretary's declaration for the gold standard has led some Republicans to hope that the commission's report will not go so far as the plan of Secretary Gage in increasing the bonded debt.

The members of the committee were united in support of the gold standard, but some of them believe that the redundant mass of Government paper could be diminished without the issue of a large mass of gold bonds. If this should prove to be the character of their report it might be possible for Western Senators to support it who are not willing to support Mr. Gage's plan.

The report of the commission will be made public within the next ten days, and the full text will be furnished to the newspapers, to members of Congress and students of finance. The report will present a comprehensive plan for dealing with the legal tender notes, the banking system and the existing silver coins, in accordance with the recommendations of the three sub-committees appointed by the commission. A bill carrying out the recommendations of the commission will be prepared, but probably will not be ready for publication until a few days after the report.

Chairman Walker, of the Banking Committee, has intimated that no plan would be considered by the committee which was not presented in the form of a bill. The Monetary Commission proposes to meet his suggestion in this respect, and ex-Secretary Fairchild is at the head of a sub-committee which is now engaged in the preparation of a complete measure. Every branch of the report of the commission, including the protection of the fiscal department of the Treasury, will probably be comprehended in one bill, in order that the entire problem of the finances may be dealt with by the Banking Committee.

Chairman Walker has already been asked to grant a hearing to representatives of the commission, and it is probable that ex-Senator Edmunds and other leading members, including one or more of those from the South, will be heard in support of the report. It is understood also that the leading boards of trade will send delegations to Washington to ask hearings from the Committee on Banking.

BRITAIN'S BIG PACIFIC FLEET.

Four More Warships Arrive on the California Coast.

San Diego, Cal., Dec. 28.—The British cruiser Leander and the torpedo-destroyer Virago have arrived here on the way to Esquimault, B. C. The warships left England last August, and have maintained an average speed of twelve knots.

The Leander is a second-class cruiser of 4,300 tons and has a speed of sixteen knots. The Virago is one of several torpedo destroyers built last year. She is reputed to have a speed of thirty knots. The two vessels will coal tomorrow and will leave for Esquimault, calling at San Francisco on the way.

The cruiser Phaeton and the destroyer Sparrowhawk, are following the Leander and Virago, and are expected to arrive here within two weeks. The Phaeton and Leander are sister ships, as also are the Sparrowhawk and Virago.

With these vessels added to the Esquimault squadron, Great Britain will have the strongest fleet by far that has ever assembled in the North Pacific.

Killed in a Mine Shaft.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Dec. 28.—John Agnew and Thomas Kennedy met a horrible death yesterday in the Allen shaft. They had been sent down the shaft to cut the ice which prevented the carriage from running. Starting at the top, contrary to custom, they cut away the ice until the car had descended 200 feet, when it stuck. The men could not signal the engineer and the rope continued to coil on top of the bonnet of the car until its weight forced the carriage beyond the ice formation. The car then descended swiftly until the rope broke, when it fell 450 feet. The men were dashed to pieces. The engineer said he had warned the men to begin cutting the ice at the bottom.

Fourth-Class Postmasters.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Fourth-class postmasters have been appointed as follows:

New Hampshire — Intervals, Carroll County, Fred W. Dinsmore.

New York—Locust Valley, Queens County, S. S. Wood; Port Dickinson, Broome, Fred Greenwood.

Pennsylvania — Perrysville, Allegheny County, John English; Resort, Venango, N. O. Weaver; Vance Mills, Fayette, R. J. Humphries.

Peary's Latest Plan.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Lieut. Robert E. Peary is enthusiastic over his reception in England and the gift to him by Alfred C. Harmsworth, a wealthy Englishman, of the Windward, a fine ship which the explorer will use in his trip to the Arctic regions next year. Mr. Harmsworth also furnished funds for the expedition. Lieut. Peary said that the Windward would be sent to New York early in the Spring and that he would start North the latter part of July.

Poor Widow Besieged.

Greenwich, Ct., Dec. 28.—Mrs. Mary Yessen, who posed as an injured innocent in the $17.50 suit of Rockefeller vs. Yessen, has had judgments of $66 entered against her by tradesmen, and other suits for $500 have been brought. She tore up in a rage a check for $850, part of her legacy of $1,500 from Nicholas Cassidy.

ASKING CANADA'S AID.

To Send Fifty Armed Men with the Relief Expedition.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Clifford Sifton, Minister of the Interior, and J. A. McKenna, of the same department, by invitation of Secretary Alger, arrived here last night to confer with the Secretary relative to Klondike relief measures. The Secretary originally intended to go to Ottawa, but has been suffering from an attack of grip which confines him closely to his home. Secretary Alger hopes by a personal conference with the Canadian officials to arrange for the issue of a permit from the Canadian Government for fifty armed United States troops to serve as guards for the relief expedition to pass through Canadian territory. Another object of the conference is to adjust some customs questions that are involved in the sending of the expeditions, such as, for instance, the remission of duties on the food supplies that are to be sent in. Another object is to secure the co-operation of the Canadian mounted police, which it is not doubted will be cheerfully extended and will be of the greatest value through the thorough familiarity of these hardy men with the country through which the expedition must pass.

A cablegram has been received by the Secretary from Mr. Kjellmann, the Government reindeer herder, who is now in Alten, Norway, stating that he is busy collecting the reindeer needed for the transportation of the supplies to the Klondike.

The inquiries made by the War Department as to the feasibility of securing promptly an adequate supply of condensed foods is already bearing fruit, and samples are beginning to arrive of all kinds of dessicated vegetable preparations, many of them put up in compact and attractive forms. They include all the component parts of beets, spinach, turnips, parsnips and other vegetables.

CAN'T CONVICT THE ARMOURS.

Gov. Black Inclined to a Compromise in Oleomargarine Fight.

Albany, Dec. 28.—The State Department of Agriculture, the Attorney-General's office and the special counsel engaged in the prosecution of the Armour companies, of Chicago, for damages amounting to $1,700,000 for violations of the dairy laws in the distribution of oleomargarine throughout the State, find themselves in a predicament that seems to indicate failure to convict.

A recent court order which gives the State the right to examine the books of the various railroad companies, also refuses the State a change of venue and compels the Commissioner of Agriculture and the State counsel to prosecute the suits, of which there a score, in the counties in which the violation is said to have occurred. This would mean endless litigation.

The Armour people sought to make an agreement with the State authorities whereby if the suits were dropped they would agree to pay a certain amount and promise not to deliver any more unmarked oleomargarine in the State.

The proposition has been submitted to the Governor, and as a lawyer he is inclined to accept the plan.

LEITER OUT FOR GOLD.

Father of Chicago Wheat Plunger in a Remarkable Scheme.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—Levi Z. Leiter is out for gold as well as wheat, and on a scale that is likely to eclipse any previous operations in the Northwest Territory. It was announced yesterday that Mr. Leiter, the Canadian Pacific Railway, John W. Mackay, Ogden Mills and the Duke of Teck, were associated for the purpose of hunting for gold.

Mr. Leiter, who is here to aid his son Joseph in his great wheat deal, admitted that the report was true. He said he was not familiar with the details, but that operations would be conducted on a large scale, and on valuable concessions in the Northwest Territory secured by H. Maitland Kersey, former agent of the White Star steamship line, who was familiar with the country, and had had experience in mining. He also said that there were others interested in the plan, some of whom were of high standing and great influence in England.

SCROFULA

It is Foul Blood's Advertisement

But it is Soon Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Yes, Scrofula, if anything, may be called the advertisement of foul blood. It is the scourge of the world—offensive, painful, debilitating, stubborn and well nigh unendurable.

Outward applications do not cure, they only drive the difficulty to new quarters. Emollients may palliate, they cannot abolish the evil. There is but one sure way out, and that is to eliminate the taint from the blood.

There is one remedy that can effect this, and it is the only one that, so far as we know, has almost invariably succeeded—even where the system has been poisoned by long years of taint, and the ravages to be repaired are tremendous. That remedy is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this:

"My daughter was afflicted with impure blood. There were running sores all over her body and they caused her much suffering. We tried medicines that were recommended as blood purifiers, but could not see that they did any good. A friend told me about Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began giving the girl this medicine. The result was that she was perfectly cured after taking a few bottles. She has had no symptoms of scrofula sores since that time." MARIETTA M. SMITH, South Middleboro, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier. Insist upon Hood's; take no substitute.

Hood's Pills act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Household Gods.

The ancient Greeks believed that the Penates were the gods who attended to the welfare and prosperity of the family. They were worshipped as house hold gods in every home. The house hold god of to-day is Dr. King's New Discovery. For consumption, coughs, colds and for all affections of Throat, Chest and Lungs it is invaluable. It has been tried for a quarter of a century and is guaranteed to cure, or money returned. No household should be without this good angel. It is pleasant to take and a safe and sure remedy for old and young. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's, Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Marlor, of Roselle, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. MacClymont, of Washington avenue.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagah, Ind. Ter. Chief. This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and la grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

W. E. MacClymont and family, of Washington avenue, have gone to Germantown to spend a week.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

Mrs. Josie Addison and her son, Matthew Addison, of Brooklyn, spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Clark Mundy, of Stone street.

After hearing some friends continually praising Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Curtis Fleck, of Anaheim, California, purchased a bottle of it for his own use and is now as enthusiastic over its wonderful work as anyone can be. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Miss Edith B. Horton, of Craig place, is spending the holidays at Owego.

Don't be persuaded into buying liniments without reputation or merit—Chamberlain's Pain Balm costs no more, and its merits have been proven by a test of many years. Such letters as the following, from L. G. Bagley, Hueneme, Cal., are constantly being received: "The best remedy for pain I have ever used is Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and I say so after having used it in my family for several years." It cures rheumatism, lame back, sprains and swellings. For sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Miss Maud Acock, of Craig place, has gone to her home in Trenton where she will spend the holiday week.

Mr. C. M. Dixon, a well known merchant, of Pleasant Ridge, Fulton Co., Pa., has a little girl who is frequently threatened with croup, but when the first symptoms appear, his wife gives her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which always affords prompt relief. CHARGED WITH MATRICIDE.

Shaw Indicted for Killing His Mother and Grandmother.

Camden, N. J., Dec. 28.—Young Eli Shaw must stand trial for the murder of his mother and of his grandmother, the Grand Jury yesterday indicting him. Two new and heretofore unknown witnesses testified in support of the State's case.

When the investigation of the tragedy was resumed by the Grand Jurors this morning James Dunn and his wife, Sarah, who live at 238 Line street, two doors below the Zane home, were examined. Both swore to having heard two pistol shots fired on the morning of the murder. They say that the second shot followed the first by at least six minutes, and that it was fully five minutes after the second shot when they heard Eli Shaw's shouts.

This testimony contradicts Shaw's statements both as to the time and the number of shots. Mr. and Mrs. Dunn have not heretofore been connected with the tragedy, and their evidence was a surprise even to Prosecutor of the Pleas Jenkins. A number of the witnesses summoned were not examined. When Shaw in his cell learned of Grand Jury's action, he said:

"I suppose it's all right, but that don't prove me guilty."

MURDERED THE PRISONER.

Terrible Vengeance on a Man Accused of Following Women.

Bessemer, Ala., Dec. 28.—J. H. Howell, superintendent of Smith's Mines, at Alice, Ala., was arrested here last evening at the instance of Mrs. Thomas Collins, wife of a prominent merchant, who alleged that he had been following her and her daughter in a suspicious manner as they were on their way home. Howell was placed in the town jail.

Last night, about 8 o'clock, Collins went to the prison and quietly requested to be allowed to see Howell. The jailer led him to Howell's cell.

The instant Collins saw the prisoner he pulled a pistol and shot him through the heart. Howell fell back dead. Collins was arrested and taken to Birmingham. The only statement he would make was that he was glad he killed Howell. The dead man was about 40 years old and bore a good reputation.

America to Send Fleet to China.

Washington Dec. 28.—The State Department is maintaining a passive attitude while the European governments are squabbling over China but it is quietly getting a number of ships in readiness for trouble. Admiral McNair, in command of the Chinese squadron, has suggested that this be done in order that the interests of the United States may be protected, if necessary.

The Helena is on the way to China, and the Raleigh has been detached from the European squadron and is on the way to join Admiral McNair. The Concord, the Olympia and the Boston are also ready to be sent. The United States has settlements at twenty-five of the treaty ports of China, and it is to protect these that ships may be needed.

John Donaldson Dead.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 28.—Prof. John Donaldson, pugilist and boxing instructor, died here last night after an illness of three days. Donaldson was Corbett's former sparring partner and one of his trainers at Carson City.

He gave a pugilistic entertainment here a few days ago and went on a spree directly afterward. Donaldson fought Sullivan twice and many other important matches. Inflammation of the bowels is said to be the cause of his death.

Supplies for Russia.

Sydney, N. S. W., Dec. 28.—Russia is negotiating for a supply of frozen meats to be delivered at Vladivostock, from which place distribution can be made. Seven hundred tons will be required in twelve months. The Prime Minister and other Ministers have cabled to Russia, giving the terms for the delivery of the meat. Gen. French, who commands the military forces of the colony, says that he has not been consulted as to the advisability of assisting the Russian commissariat.

Chicago's Exodus of Millionaires.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—There is an exodus of millionaires from this city, and there seems to be reason for it. An inquiring spirit has inspected the records and learns that forty millionaires, controlling $130,000,000 in Chicago property, have become disgusted with the city and fled to other climes. These absentees take $8,000,000 a year out of Chicago and spend it in New York, Washington, Boston and Europe.

Comptroller Dawes Begins Jan. 1.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Charles G. Dawes, recently appointed Comptroller of the Currency, is expected to arrive here Thursday, and to assume his new duties on Jan. 1. Mr. Eckels, the retiring Comptroller, will leave to take charge of the Commercial National Bank of Chicago next Friday.

Leon and Ward Matched.

New York, Dec. 28.—Casper Leon and Jack Ward were matched to fight for the bantam-weight championship of the world yesterday afternoon.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

It is reported that Charles L. Kurtz will be a candidate for the Ohio Senatorship against Mr. Hanna.

A cinnamon bear escaped from its crate and took complete possession of an express car on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad.

Four more vessels will be added to Great Britain's North Pacific squadron, making it the strongest ever assembled in those waters.

RUSSIANS IN COREA

How the Czar Obtained Control at Seoul.

AN INSULT TO ENGLAND

The Britisher Acting as Financial Advisor Dismissed as the Result of Threats by Russia—The Corean Government Recognizes Russia.

Washington, Dec. 28.—The announcement of the determination of England and Japan to protest against the Emperor of Corea practically yielding the government of that country into the hands of the Russian Minister excites great interest here, where the story of Russia's invasion of Corea is well known.

A year or two ago Russia and Japan entered into a treaty of alliance, under which they agreed to assume jointly the responsibility of preserving the peace and providing a good government for Corea. In the division of responsibility Russia took command of the army, the police and the direction of the foreign affairs, Japan having the department of agriculture and other comparatively unimportant branches of the Government. The collection of revenue and the management of the finances were left in charge of an Englishman named McLeavy Brown, who held the title of "Advisor to the Finance Department and Chief Commissioner of Customs." It was his dismissal by the Emperor of Corea which had brought forth the English Consul's protest that the British war vessels are now on their way to Corea to support.

The Finances Improved.

It was Mr. Brown's duty to see to the honest collection of customs' duties and internal taxes and to prevent the Corean officials from plundering their own treasury, as they have been in the habit of doing in the past. Mr. Brown made a capable and satisfactory officer. During the first nine months of his administration the expenses of the Government were reduced $3,000,000 per year and the revenues were increased $2,000,000. One million dollars was paid upon the debt held by Japan, and Jan. 1 next that obligation, which amounted in all to $3,000,000, was to be canceled. There was a pleasing prospect that the entire indebtedness of Corea would be paid in another year, and that there would be a surplus for the construction of new buildings and other public improvements.

Early in November, however, to the surprise of all concerned, there appeared in Seoul, as a guest at the Russian Legation, a Mr. Alexieff, whose calling cards bore the title, in French, "Councillor of State and Agent of the Ministry of Finance of the Imperial Russian Government," and an inscription in Chinese, which read, "Superintendent of the Finances of Corea."

Pak Chung-Yang, the Minister of Finance at Seoul, declared that he was not consulted, and knew nothing about the matter. It seems that the Czar, finding it expedient to strengthen his hold upon Corea, induced or compelled the Corean Ambassador at St. Petersburg to enter into a contract with Mr. Alexieff to manage the Corean finances without ever consulting any of the authorities at Seoul.

The day after the arrival of Mr. Alexieff at Seoul he called upon the Minister of Finance, exhibited his contract and announced that he was ready to enter upon his duties. Mr. Pak explained that the Government was already enjoying the services of Mr. McLeavy Brown, and that the Corean Ambassador at St. Petersburg had no authority or right to interfere with the Finance Department.

The Russian Response.

Furthermore, the contract between the Government and Mr. Brown would not expire for three years and four months. The Russian Minister responded that Mr. Alexieff had been sent by the Czar to manage the finances of Corea at the request of the Corean Ambassador; that he was ready to enter upon his duties, and that if the Minister of Finance questioned the validity of the contract it would be considered a reflection upon his sovereign.

After a show of resistance by Corea and repeated threats by the Russian Mr. Brown was dismissed and Mr. Alexieff installed in his stead.

Mr. Brown appealed to the British Minister, who cabled the facts to London and asked for instructions, which had not been received when the latest mails left Corea. Since then the Corean Government has promulgated its contract with Mr. Alexieff, which gives him absolute control of the finances and authority to appoint and remove his subordinates.

The insult to Great Britain by the dismissal of Mr. Brown is sufficient excuse for the Queen's protest, and the appearance of the war vessels of both England and Japan in the Corean waters shows that these countries do not intend to sit idly by and see Russia take entire possession of the Hermit Kingdom.

British Forces Land in Corea.

London, Dec. 28.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Shanghai says it is reported there, from reliable sources, that a British force landed at Chemulpo on Saturday and caused the reinstatement of Mr. McLeavy Brown, who had been dismissed from the post of British advisor to the Corean customs at the instigation of Russia. The same dispatch refers to "a native rumor that the Union Jack has been hoisted on an island at the mouth of the river Yang-tse-Kiang."

NO NEED OF CHANGES.

Senator Sewell has given utterance to the following ideas concerning talk about a constitutional convention:

The fact is, we have too much law and too much legislation in the State. The only thing that we need particularly is a constitutional amendment providing for biennial sessions of the Legislature. The holding of a session of the Legislature every year is a useless expenditure of money. Now that we have general laws, under which a corporation for any purpose may be organized, it is an absolute waste of time and money to have annual legislative assemblies. There appears to be no demand from the people for a constitutional convention. Whatever demand there is comes from newspapers, whose reporters would, for purposes of agitation, amend the Declaration of Independence or the Lord's Prayer.

Among some political gossip the other day The Newark Advertiser told an interesting story about a Republican politician in Somerset county "who has been honored in many ways by his party and by the people." The narrative continued thus:

When Senator Reed and Assemblyman Van-Doren came before the electors of the county this man was fearful lest they would rival him in the affections of the people. In the light of what happened that is a justifiable inference. To prevent such a result he manœuvred to reduce their vote. They have incontrovertible evidence of this. He got one of his henchmen to put up a job which accomplished what was desired. Indeed, if the vote had been as close as it ordinarily is in Somerset, they would have been defeated. And the henchman who did the work now enjoys a lucrative office which is good for several years.

Can there really be any truth in that yarn? If so, who is the man?—Tribune.

President J. B. Dumont says that at the Council meeting tomorrow evening he will have the illegal proceedings of the last Council meeting expunged from the minutes. He says that after a body has adjourned a motion to reconvene cannot be considered.

—A horse owned by Henry Nitchwitz, of the borough, slipped and fell on Watchung avenue, near North avenue, early this morning. The street was very slippery and the horse not being sharp shod was unable to stand up. Several men standing near assisted the owner in getting the animal on his feet. A short time before the above accident another horse fell down at the same place. Neither accident caused any damage.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Sweeping Reductions

Cloak Department.

We do not intend to carry over any stock, therefore we begin early to cut prices on every cloak in the house.

The Misses' and Children's cloaks have been reduced, there are only about a dozen styles left, and in nearly every line the sizes run from 4 to 18 years.

This price-cutting in midwinter gives late cloak buyer a splendid opportunity to purchase reliable garments at a great saving.

PASSING COMMENT.

The St. Paul Dispatch, of St. Paul, Minn., is sending out to publishers throughout the country its holiday edition, and calling attention to the fact that the color portions were printed upon a Potter Web perfecting color press and the other portions upon the regular Potter Web perfecting presses of the concern. From both an artistic and a business standpoint the edition is a decided success.

Someone has suggested that it would be an excellent idea for the Audubon Society of this city to arouse public interest by preparing an exhibit of ladies' hats and bonnets from which all wings and feathers were excluded whose collection injures bird life. It is thought that the result of such an exhibition would be a convincing object lesson to both the fashionable milliners and their customers, and would result in the rise of a sentiment against the slaughter of the feathered innocents.

The latest development of the Klondike fad is seen in the new Klondike puzzle, which consists of a small pasteboard box with a circular cardboard enclosure in the middle, having a small opening at one side through which the operator strives to roll several small capsules loaded with shot, which jump about erratically. The idea is essentially the same as that of the famous pigs-in-clover puzzle, and already the Klondike puzzle is making its appearance in the family circle and in public places, where anxious-faced men and women spend their time in an effort to solve it, which becomes as absorbing as many of the more important duties of life.

* * * *

"Boxing Day" is the 26th of December, the day after Christmas, except when Christmas comes on Saturday, in which case "Boxing Day" is Monday. The bank holiday is kept on that day. It is equivalent to the day or days in the South, before the war, when the negroes were privileged to approach their masters and mistresses and claim "Chrismus gif." In England newsboys, postmen, errand boys and others claim small Christmas gratuities from any respectable person with whom they may have had dealings. "Boxing Night" is the night succeeding "Boxing Day, and is the special night for the production of the Christmas pantomimes.

THEATRICAL.

At Stillman Music Hall next Thursday will be seen the big melodrama success, "Cuba's Vow." Few melodramas of modern times have been heralded as having so many pleasing and attractive features as the new realistic and soul-stirring "Cuba's Vow," which had such a wonderful success at all the principal theatres in the United States last season. The cause of this play's phenomenal success is no mystery. The Cuban situation is one fraught with deep heart-absorbing interest to all classes of people.

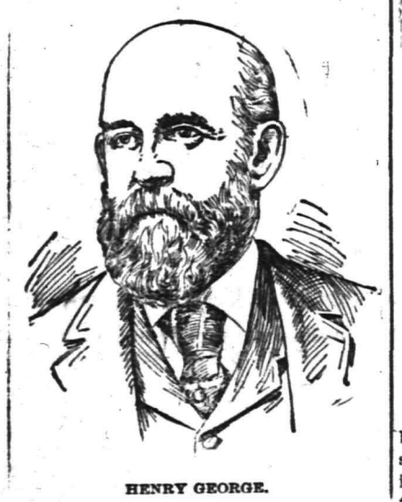
NIGHT IN NEW YORK.

THE TWELVE O'CLOCK DISTRIBUTION OF BREAD TO THE POOR.

Henry George Watched the Hungry Crowd at Fleischmann's Bakery and Then Wrote His Impression of a Civilization That Permitted Such a Scene.

In the New York World of recent date, Henry George wrote as follows concerning one unfortunate phase of Metropolitan life:

As suggested in your letter, I went before 12 o'clock to the Vienna bakery where slices of dry bread are distributed at that hour to those who ask for it. I found a large crowd of men standing on Broadway around the side door of the bakery waiting patiently for the distribution.



HENRY GEORGE.

I learned on inquiry that the bread left over from the bakery's trade is cut up and thus given away so long as it lasts. Between November and April a cup of hot coffee is also given at the same time to help these poor people to stand the cold, but at present all they wait for is dry bread.

A more striking evidence of the poverty which exists in the midst of wealth could hardly be imagined than their numbers and their patience in waiting for this morsel of food. It may, perhaps, increase beggary to give five cents to the man who stops you on the street and tells you he is starving.

Perhaps he may spend it in rum or in some other way that will do him no real good. Yet in the face of this crowd gathered at this bakery a man must feel degraded and ashamed if, having a cent in his pocket, he denies such an appeal for help from those who are miserable enough to ask it.

Such misery is but an incident that shows the general condition of labor. When, in such a city as this, we see so many who suffer from actual want of work—and there are great bodies not driven to such a pass, who are torn by the keenest suffering and anxiety—it is the proof of a state of things that cannot be paralleled in any heathen community in normal times. Savages often suffer from hunger and disease when failure of crops, incursions of an enemy or any great disaster cuts down their aggregiate supply of wealth. But here we have suffering from actual want in the very midst of abundance when the community at large has enough and to spare. On every hand there is the cry of "over-production."

This standing and waiting at midnight for dry bread in the heart of the wealthiest city on the continent and in the shadow of the richest churches is the proof of a crying injustice in the distribution of wealth—an injustice from which men, women and little children are dying in many forms, not the less surely because we may not stop to notice them. It is a proof of the general scarcity of labor where the means of supplying labor is most abundant.

Behind this there must be a fierce struggle for existence—the failure of business men, clerks driven to the weary struggle for employment, suicide, death in a thousand or other forms, crime and vice, in all degrees. For the one man who stands here at midnight begging for dry bread, thousands of men, women and little children must be suffering for want enough to maintain them.

And the natural corrollary of these men begging at midnight for a dry crust to appease their hunger is a serious manifestation our multi-millionaires who are given unearned millions by the same general cause.

On Both Sides.

A gentleman had a colored servant who could not be taught to serve things at the left hand of guests at the table.

At length the gentleman hit upon an ingenious expedient. Coats were then worn single breasted, and he told Peter that he must always hand the plates and other dishes to the guests on the buttonhole side. This plan worked admirably for some time; but one day there came a foreign guest who wore a double-breasted coat. Poor Peter, in dismay, looked first at one side of it and then at the other, and finally, casting a look of despair at his master, he exclaimed:

"Buttons on bofe sides, massa!" and handed the plate right over the gentleman's head.

When and Where.

"If you've any complaint to make, Private O'Flaherty, ye'll make them at once, and in my company, and not behind me back when you're alone wid every one else's present."—Brooklyn Eagle.

BAYADERE STRIPES HAVE RETURNED

Blouses to Be Very Much Worn—Decorations Will be Elaborate.

The blouse is here with emphatic declaration, and a blouse of some sort seems to be a fashionable necessity for all the woman who are slender enough to wear it with grace. Stout women are advised by one authority on fashion "to avoid it as they would the plague;" but a slight pouched affect in the front of the bodice is often becoming to generously proportioned figures

The latest winter blouse has a basque formed of either square tabs or scant frill, the former being the favorite model, as it adds less to the size of the hips. The effect of a long waist is essential to the good style of a blouse, and the narrow jewelled belt is another important feature. But this is rather expensive, and a very satisfactory belt can be made of black satin ribbon wide enough to wrinkle a little on a white or colored satin lining, and fastened with an oval cut-steel buckle.

The Russian blouse is properly a street garment, worn over a fancy bodice of silk or lace, and fastens up the front or not, as you choose, being sometimes turned back two inches on either side to show a pretty colored satin lining or velvet facing. It is decorated elaborately with braid and beaded trimmings and edged with handsome fur, and is altogether charming on the right woman. If you are very slight, the blouse is cut loose, to fall a little over the belt all the way around, but if not, it may be plain and close in the back, cut in one piece, loose in front, with the square tabs below the belt made long or short as they are most becoming.

Among the many devices for open-work effect in the blouse bodice is cloth cut out in leaves and various scroll designs, all edged around with fine gold or bronze braid, and made up over colored silk. A brown cloth over green is very elegant made with the front of the skirt and the back for a little way down from the waist of the embroidered cloth. Tabs of embroidered cloth fall over the plain cloth sleeves at the top, and all the edges are finished with a tiny band of sable.

Bayadere stripes, have come back from the past and are shown in various Vandyke, oval, and plain designs in both wool and silk, and especially among the new silks for evening dresses and fancy blouse waists. It is wise, however, to beware of this variety of stripe, as it is becoming to very few women.

Ready to Lynch Him.

Liberty, Mo., Dec. 28.—William S. Foley is on trial here for the murder of his mother and sister. This is Foley's second trial, the first having resulted in a hung jury. Upon the night of Nov. 17, 1896, Mrs. Bettie Foley and her daughter, Miss Fannie Foley, were shot down and killed at their home near here. William Foley was not suspected of the murder until his lack of emotion at the funeral had attracted general attention. A strong chain of circumstantial evidence was then discovered and he was arrested.

The feeling against Foley is very bitter. Two attempts to lynch him have already been frustrated and another attempt will probably be made if a verdict of acquittal is returned.

Civil War Hero Dies in Poverty.

Pittsburg, Dec. 28.—A man once wealthy and prominent died in abject squalor in a barn at Osborne, Pa., Sunday. He was Capt. George B. Hay, once the possessor of $750,000 and a hero of the Civil War. His brother, Charles S. Hay, who lived with him in the shanty, took charge of his body yesterday.

Their father founded Haysville, Pa. The brothers ran the steamer Minnesota before the war, and had their boat burned because they hoisted the Stars and Stripes near New Orleans, after the crew had hoisted the "Pelican" flag. They enlisted as privates in the Union army, and were commissioned captains.

New Pension Order.

Washington, Dec. 28.—A new order, the enforcement of which, it is believed, will expedite the disposition of pension claims now pending, has been issued by Commissioner Evans, of the Pension Office. It is as follows:

"Hereafter claims for increase of pension will not be considered within twelve months from the last action—allowance or rejection."

"The necessity for the new order," said an official of the Pension Bureau to-day, "grows largely out of the calls made on the office for a statement of the status of pending cases by members of Congress."

Russian Embezzler Arrested.

New York, Dec. 28.—Itzig Japko, who sailed under the name of Max Japko, and who is wanted in Russia for the embezzlement of 3,200 roubles ($1,600), was arrested yesterday after landing from the Cunard liner Etruria. He was much surprised when a Pinkerton detective took him in charge. Japko came in the steerage. He is 25 years old, and a blond mustache and the faintest symptom of a goatee adorns a shrewd but not striking face. He wore a crushed Alpine hat, blue eyeglasses and a long brown ulster.

Double Crime a Mystery.

Pittsburg, Dec. 28.—The mystery surrounding the double tragedy at Jacksonville on Christmas has not been cleared. The Coroner held an inquest, but being unable to decide whether Milton Neal and his aged wife had been murdered, or whether the farmer had shot his wife and then killed himself, he continued the hearing until Thursday.

Disastrous Fire at Charleston.

Charleston, W. Va., Dec. 28.—The wholesale grocery house of Lewis Hubbard & Co., was burned yesterday. The building was valued at $20,000; insured for $5,000; the stock was valued at $100,000; insured for $80,000.

Tompion—"Was Locke much of a fighter when he was in the army?" Hammer—"No, hardly that. In fact, he managed to keep out of battle altogether. But, then, you know, he was full of fight before he got to the front, and he has been full of it ever since the war was over. In the anture of things, a fellow must have a rest some time or other."—Boston Transcript.

NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED IN UP-TO-DATE LAUNDRY WORK.

We run the laundry and take care of all details, but you "boss" it. We do what you tell us to do. It may give you a new sensation to find that you get a domestic finish when you ask for it, and to discover that your collars are actually ironed in the way that the maker intended them to be ironed.

We are running a laundry with the most improved methods and appliances. We use pure water and good soap. We are using two things that are not commonly used in laundries—care and intelligence. If you have found a laundry that pleases you perfectly, we have nothing to say to you. If you have any reason to be dissatisfied, we would like to give you a practical demonstration of our way of running a laundry.

Tell us where and when to call for your work, when you want it delivered, and let us know any particular thing that you would like to have done with it.

We want you to understand that we are running this laundry for you, and that your wishes are to be regarded in every particular. We will give you just exactly what you want, if we can find out what that is. Perhaps you believe that it is impossible to have your laundry well handled without irritation and annoyance to you. We are sure that you are mistaken. May we have an opportunity of demonstrating it?

The Talk of the City.

It's of Interest to Our Readers Because It Refers to Plainfield People.

It's astonishing how good news will spread. From every ward and street we hear of our people talking about the workings of the little conquerer. Merit and honorable methods receive their just reward. So many cases are cropping up that it is next to impossible to investigate them all, but we have taken a few in hand and give them publicity for the benefit of our readers. Our representative obtained the following statement of facts in a personal interview. They are true in every particular and no stronger evidence can be obtained than home indorsement.

Mrs. Margaret Reville, of 732 West Third street, says: "For a long time I was troubled with a lame back and I never found any thing which gave me any relief until I obtained a box of Doan's Kidney Pills from L. W. Randolph's drug store and began using them according to directions. It was only a short time before I felt the good effects and from that time on I improved steadily under the treatment. My back had before pained me, and was so weak and sore that I dreaded to bend over and when I had a cold or over-exerted myself I suffered severely. I used several different kidney remedies but did not get little if any relief. I give Doan's Kidney Pills all the credit for my improvement. I think they are a fine remedy for a lame back. My experience with them has been very satisfactory and I do not hesitate to recommend them to any one suffering from kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

WOODFORD'S LAST NOTE

No Reason Known at the Capital for Spanish Irritation.

NOTE MIGHT BE PUBLISHED

No Reason for Withholding Except that the Previous Negotiations Have Not Been Made Public—Galvez Will Be Premier of Cuba.

Washington, Dec. 28.—The officials here are somewhat surprised at the exhibition of feeling at Madrid over the latest note of Minister Woodford, delivered to the Spanish Foreign Office the day before Christmas. While the note itself will not be made public at present, it is said that there is no reason whatever why it should be withheld save the fact that the preceding steps in the negotiations have not yet been published, and it is desirable when publication is made to preserve the complete chain of events in natural order. Possibly the correspondence will be shortly called for by Congress, in which case it is not likely to be withheld on grounds of public policy.

The last note presented by Minister Woodford was in answer to the Spanish note called forth by Mr. Woodford's first communication after his arrival at Madrid. In the initial note the United States Minister pointed out the interest of his country in an early termination of the present struggle in Cuba and asked when such a conclusion could be expected. The Spanish Government in its reply acknowledged the American interest in the matter, but suggested, after stating what it intended to do to ameliorate conditions in Cuba, that the United States could exercise its good offices by stopping filibustering. It is said to be a purely argumentative statement of the position taken by the United States, and the facts presented are substantially those so strongly set forth in the President's message to Congress, of which it was supposed the Spanish public had been fully advised through the newspapers. The most forcible statement in the note is based upon the facts collected and published recently by the Treasury Department exhibiting the great expense to which the United States had been put by reason of its effort to patrol an enormous coast line in the pursuit of a few filibusters, and the remarkable success of the Government officials in stopping these expeditions, as contrasted with the feeble efforts of the Spanish authorities to maintain a patrol around the island of Cuba.

All of these facts were included in Mr. Woodford's note, and while he put them in his own language in presenting them to the Spanish Foreign Office, it is said that the statements concern only events that have already been touched upon.

Rivera Arrives in Spain.

Madrid, Spain, Dec. 28.—The insurgent chief Rivera has arrived at Cadiz from Cuba. He will be incarcerated in a fortress. Rivera said he believed nothing would induce the Cubans to cease fighting before they attained independence. He justified the killing of Lieut.-Col. Ruiz, the Spanish peace emissary, as a means of arriving at this end.

Probably Gen. Rius Rivera.

The Rivera referred to in the above dispatch is probably Gen. Rius Rivera, who was the late Gen. Antonio Maceo's successor as commander of the insurgent forces in Pinar del Rio. Rivera was captured by the troops under the command of Gen. Hernandez de Velasco, on March 28, this year, in the hills near Cabazandas de Rio Hondo.

The New Cuban Cabinet.

Washington, Dec. 28.—The new Cuban Cabinet, which, with the Captain-General of Cuba, will form the executive organization under the new autonomous regime, will be announced during the present week. There is no doubt that Senor Galvez will be the first Cuban Premier.

SENATOR MORGAN'S WARNING.

Great Deal in the Chinese Problem that Interests Americans.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Senator Morgan, of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate, says there is a great deal in the Chinese problem that vitally interests Americans, and which seems to demand consideration from the State Department and Congress. He thinks that while the United States can take no part in the combination to obtain territory from China, she should be advised whether the territory to be ceded to other nations shall be absolute or only temporary.

If the cession is absolute, then American interests must be taken care of through the treaties between America and the countries to which the absolute cessions are made. If the territory is given up merely for a time, there will be a mixed responsibility.

Senator Morgan thinks it is a good place for the exercise of American diplomacy. He regards the German occupation of a part of China and the prospective occupation of other parts by other European nations as an effort to complete a cordon of offense to American commerce all the way around from Vladivostock to Marseilles, or to Liverpool.

Gen. Delgado Slain in Battle.

New York, Dec. 28.—News of a desperate battle between the Cuban and Spanish forces, fought on Dec. 24, was received by the Junta in this city yesterday afternoon. It is said that 500 Cubans and as many Spaniards were killed, the chief loss of the Cubans being the death of Gen. Ricardo Delgado, who was killed just before the close of the battle.

The battle was fought near Bahia Honda and the Cubans succeeded in landing a large expedition, to intercept which was the object of the Spaniards.

Watching for Filibusters.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Treasury officers are receiving frequent telegrams from Jacksonville, Key West and other Florida ports, reporting unusual vigilance to prevent the departure of any one of the several rumored filibustering expeditions. The Dauntless is being watched, and evidence meanwhile is being collected with the expectation of affording grounds on which to libel the vessel.

M'COY CHALLENGES FITZSIMMONS.

Will Fight the World's Champion for $10,000 a Side.

New York, Dec. 28.—Kid McCoy, the conqueror of Creedon, wired the following challenge to Fitzsimmons yesterday afternoon for a finish fight for the middle-weight championship of the world:

"I desire to challenge Robert Fitzsimmons to a finish fight for the middle-weight championship of the world. I have backing for $10,000, and wish to post the entire sum as a side stake.

"If Corbett does not meet Fitz, I am willing to take his place in any tournament Dan Stuart may arrange. I am anxious to meet Fitz and will waive every condition save one—he must meet me within the middle-weight limit. KID (CHARLES) M'COY."

The young middle-weight announced that he has backing for $10,000 and will post a forfeit as soon as called upon to do so. He desires to meet the present champion for a purse and a side stake of at least $5,000.

McCoy at once communicated with Dan Stuart, the promoter of the Carson fight last Spring, and offered to take Corbett's place in case the Californian fails to sign articles with Fitz.

"Even if Corbett is willing to fight," declared McCoy in his letter to Stuart, "I believe that I am entitled to the first chance. Corbett is a beaten man, while I have not yet been defeated. Fitzsimmons should take me on first and deal with Corbett afterward."

SINGERLY KEEPS HIS PAPER.

Record Stock to Be Assigned to Creditors of the Closed Banks.

Philadelphia, Dec. 28.—The conferees selected to formulate a plan of settlement of the affairs of the Chestnut Street National Bank and the Chestnut Street Trust and Savings Fund Company, of which William M. Singerly, proprietor of the Record, was president, and which closed their doors on Thursday last, last night presented a plan for the consideration of depositors and creditors. The chief measure suggested is the issuance of Record stock to secure creditors. In the course of a statement the conferees say:

"It is believed that if Mr. Singerly will continue to give his entire attention to the development of his great paper, the peculiar qualifications which enabled him to build up a property earning, it is stated, in the fiscal year 1896, $310,000 net, and earning also, it is said, in the last seven years an average annual net earning of $243,000, will enable him to do what not merely will be impossible under changed conditions—namely, to maintain the present great value of the property—but also to increase it."

Overman Wheel Company Fails.

Springfield, Mass., Dec. 28.—The Overman Wheel Company, of Chicopee Falls, Mass., with agencies in all the principal cities of the country, manufacturers of the Victor bicycle, made an assignment yesterday to President Bowman, of the Springfield National Bank. The liabilities are estimated at $539,000, and assets at $1,318,000. It is one of the most prominent wheel concerns in the country. A meeting of the creditors has been called for Dec. 31. The shops closed last night, throwing several hundred employees out of work.

They Object to Judge Paxton.

Washington, Dec. 28.—It is stated that organized railroad men are bringing pressure to bear upon the President to prevent him from appointing Judge Paxson, of Pennsylvania, to succeed Judge Morrison on the inter-State Commerce Commission. They are seeking the appointment of some good railroad man as a member. They contend that the commission as now made up is composed entirely of lawyers, and that it will never be what the law intended until some one familiar with the railroad business is made a member of the commission.

Christmas Tragedy in Mississippi.

Glendora, Miss., Dec. 28.—It is just learned that on Christmas Day at the plantation store of Charles L. Tanner, three miles from Glendora, a negro named Joe Hopkins, alias Snowball, murdered John W. Luckie and Sam Eskridge, two prominent white farmers, and robbed the store of a small amount. The negro brained Luckie with a shotgun, then fired two barrels into the body of Eskridge. Searching parties have been organized and the country is being scoured. If Hopkins is apprehended he will in all probability be lynched.

Traceable to Miss Herbert's Death.

Washington, Dec. 28.—The suicide of Miss Anna Virginia Wells, daughter of Mr. Lewis N. Wells, a well-known attorney of Washington, following so closely upon the death of Miss Herbert, has added to the gloom which pervades Washington society. Miss Wells was prominent in society of this city, and was a close friend to Miss Herbert, and her self-destruction is indirectly traceable to her friend's death. The funeral of Miss Wells will take place from the family residence this afternoon, and will doubtless be largely attended, as she had a host of friends.

CYCLING COMMENT.

L. I. Rogers has purchased a '98 Stormer of the Bard Cycle Co.

1898 Victor models will be on exhibition at the Bard Cycle Company's store tomorrow afternoon and evening.

The bicyclists of Hudson county and many other wheelmen have requested the Board of Freeholders of Hudson county to amend the plans for the proposed new boulevard, which is to extend from Jersey City west to Harrison, Kearney and the Passaic river. The bicyclists do not like the plans because they provide that the boulevard is to cross a trolley road in the Hackensack meadows. The wheelmen also object to the proposed boulevard extension from Weehawken to Hoboken unless the road shall cross the Erie tracks overhead. The Freeholders have the objections under consideration.

BASKET BALL.

The basket ball game which was played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Christmas day, between the first team of this city and a team from the German branch of the New York Y. M. C. A., resulted in a victory for the home team by the score 10 to 8.

a different man. The chief character was taken by Mr. Bristol. While the sketch was being given, Dr. B. VanD Hedges read the story in admirable style, adding very much to the interest of the sketch. Following this part of the programme a collection was taken to assist a worthy young man in the south who is studying for the ministry.

Everyone was then invited to retire to the room below where an abundance of ice cream and cake was served by the Christmas committee.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. William C Burt is ill at her home on West Seventh street.

Miss Alice Barker, of Grove street, is visiting friends in Fordham, N. Y.

Mrs. Joseph E. Mosher has been seriously ill for several days at her home on Fourth street.

Miss Jeanette Kohn, of West Front street, is entertaining her cousin, Miss Rosa Kohn, of Newark.

Miss Florence Curran, of East Mauch Chunck, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dickinson.

Councilman Ralph I. Tolles is confined to his home on Westervelt avenue with an attack of rheumatism.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Weber, of 49 Craig place, are happy over the arrival of a young son in their home.

Mrs. Walter L. Hetfield and daughter, Ouida Hetfield, of East Front street, are slowly recovering from serious illness.

The Honeyman party which left today for Old Point Comfort, Va., included Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Paul, of Central avenue. The party will return Saturday.

Howard Armstrong, of Brooklyn, who, together with his mother, Mrs. J. T. Armstrong, is visiting Plainfield relatives, is now confined to the house with chickenpox.

Miss L. N. Billings, formerly a teacher in the Plainfield public schools, is spending a few days as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. Dickinson, of the Jackson building.

Tiny Wormuth, of New York city, spent Sunday with his friend, Miss Carrie Heidt, of Kenoza Lake, N. Y., who is spending a few weeks at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. J. Luckey, of West Second street.

Commencing Jan. 1st, Thad Doane, Jr., will travel for Marks Brothers, manufacturers of men's fine shoes, 68 New Chambers street, New York. As a salesman Mr. Doane has few superiors, and Marks Brothers will no doubt receive many new customers through Mr. Doane's efforts in the New England States next week.

Wants Pay for His Work.

Summons have been issued in the Union county district court at Elizabeth in the case of S. Gold against L. Pollack. The plaintiff claims pay amounting to $72 for alleged services for time devoted by him in investigating buildings and interviewing the owners in the interests of Mr. Pollack at the request of the latter. He claims to have spent 27 days in the work. William Newcorn is the legal representative of the plaintiff and Councilman Walter L. Hetfield of the defendent.

Died Suddenly This Morning.

Mrs. Harriett Markham died suddenly this morning at the home of her friend, Mrs. Joseph Case, of Church street. Mrs. Markham complained of severe pains in her back and side and while Mrs. Case and her servant were rubbing the afflicted portion the old lady toppled over and died in a few minutes. Mrs. Markham was sixty years of age and quite well known to many Plainfielders. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

—Chas. Conover, of Elmwood place, was bitten by a dog yesterday afternoon while riding his wheel on West Front street in the West End. The break in the skin was very slight and the physician does not apprehend any serious results.

—The death of Mrs. Christiana Giles, wife of James T. Harris, occurred yesterday. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from her late home, 1253 West Seventh street. Interment will be made at Bound Brook.

PROMOTERS OF HAPPINESS.

Over a Hundred Poor Children Enjoyed the Pleasure of a Christmas Tree.

Last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wm. A. Woodruff on East Second street, there assembled about 110 poor children from all parts of the city. The event has been an annual one, but this year it was held under the auspices of the committee on domestic missions from the Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church, of which Miss Mabel Woodruff is the chairman. She was assisted in the work by Miss Grace Emmons and Miss Emma Line, members of the flower committee.

There was a beautiful Christmas tree filled with lots of good things. It was arranged so that every one of the children present received a toy, book, orange, game, popcorn, etc. The sight of so many children together was an interesting one and could not but touch the hearts of those who had arranged the affair. Among the number was a blind girl, who entertained the others by singing. The little ones had a jolly good time, and were sorry to leave the scene of the festivities.

The young women were assisted in their work by Mrs. Woodruff, whose experience in the Charity Organized Aid was very valuable at this time. No distinction was made at all, and every nationality and color received alike from the generous supply.

PROHETIC.

Nelson's Desire to Figure in as Fine a Picture as the "Death of Wolf."

Benjamin West's picture of the "Death of Nelson" is closely connected with an anecdote of the great sailor, says the Youth's Companion. Just before he went to sea for the last time he was present at a dinner, during which he sat between the artist and Sir William Hamilton.

Nelson was expressing to Hamilton his regret that he had not, in his youth, acquired some taste for art, and some discrimination in judging it.

"But," said he, turning to West, "there is one picture whose power I do feel. I never pass a shop where your 'Death of Wolfe' is in the window without being stopped by it."

West made some gracious answer to the compliment, and Nelson went on "Why have you painted no more like it?"

"Because, my lord," West replied, "there are no more subjects."

"Ah!" said the sailor, I didn't think of that."

"But, my lord," continued West, "I am afraid your intrepedity will yet furnish me with another such scene; and if it should, I shall certainly avail myself of it."

"Will you?" said Nelson. "Will you Mr. West? Then I hope I shall die in the next battle!"

A few days later he sailed, his strangely expressed aspiration was realized, and the scene lives upon canvas.

Controlled by Colored People.

There is a hospital for colored people in Savannah which is wholly supported by the colored people. Connected with it is a training school for colored nurses, and a number of well-trained sick-bed attendants have been taught there. The management of the hospital has never called upon the white citizens for aid, but has been supported solely by the colored people.

SOLONS DINED BY MAYOR

VERITABLE LOVE FEAST OF COUNCILMEN, OLD AND NEW.

Mayor Fisk Was the Genial Toastmaster and He Reviewed the Work of the City—Remarks by Several Councilmen.

Nobody said what they ought not to and what they did say was thoroughly in accord with the sentiment of the gathering. It was at a dinner given by Mayor Charles J. Fisk to the members of the Common Council of 1897 and to the victorious ones at the last charter election who are to make up the Common Council of 1898. The dinner was held within the portals of the Union County Country Clubhouse on West Seventh street last evening. Altogether it was a veritable love feast.

The Councilmen were not all there. The elements that promise excitement in the ranks of the new Council were not present. The Citizens were well represented at the board. So were the Republican chieftains. There were no signs of future trouble, however. Everything was as peaceful as could be wished. The hatchet had evidently been buried, for the present, at least. There was a feeling among the guests who are to make up the incoming Council that they were all in the game for the good of the city and were willing to work side by side toward that end. They tried to convey the impression that, as far as they were concerned, the expected division of the Council in party lines was not to be expected. They also said, with what truth it will be seen later, the new Council would be a very harmonious one.

Of course, Mayor Fisk, as host, presided at the head of the festive board. Max Wiertz had used his best efforts on the arrangement of the table and in the preparation of the dinner. The dinner was the culmination of the culinary art. A small wooden house occupied the central position on the table and was labeled "City Hall." The menu was a novel one filled with appropriate hits.

At the table were seated the Mayor, Fred. H. Andrews, James F. Buckle, Henry Leifke, John P. Homan, John Van Herwerden, of the Council of '98: William A. Westphal, Harold Serrell, A. C. Stebbins and John B. Dumont, of the Council of '97, and William N. Runyon, of the hold overs. Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh and Wm. T. Kaufman were also present.

There were thirteen of them, but then Will Runyon is always said to equal half-a-dozen men, so maybe the hoodoo won't work this time.

After the dinner came the speeches. Mayor Fisk made the genial toastmaster and opened the remarks with some of his wit. He settled down to something more substantial, however, and gave the newcomers some idea of the work that had been done in the Council in the past and what still lay before them. He referred particularly to the work of the street committee and the difficulties under which the committee had to work. He talked of the macadam roads which had made Plainfield famous, and the necessity of keeping them in condition. He explained the tax-rate and how a large portion went to the schools, the county and the State. He gave facts and figures in relation to it. He also touched on the work of the police and fire department. He referred at length to the growth of the city.

President Dumont was called on to answer for the outgoing Council and made a few remarks to the effect that the Council had done its best to aid in the progress of the city. Both Mr. Andrews and Mr. Buckle spoke for the incoming Council. Their remarks were more of a general character, however, and told little as to their ideas of municipal government.

Mr. Westphal answered to the toast "The West End," and spoke of that important quarter of the city, its wants and needs. Mr. VanHerwerden spoke on Netherwood and referred to its wish to have its share of the improvements and how it had suffered in the past. He expressed the belief that it would hereafter be treated with due consideration.

Mr. Runyon had a few remarks to offer as the only one of the hold overs. He believed that the new Council would be a very harmonious one and that much would be accomplished for the good of the city. Corporation Counsel Marsh was also called on for a few remarks.

Watch Night Service.

A watch-night service will be held in Vincent chapel Friday evening. It will begin at 10 o'clock. A preaching service will continue for an hour. The sermon will be by Rev. H. J. Johnston. A social hour will follow and the remainder of the service will be devoted to prayer, praise and testimony. The First M. E. church and the Grace M. E. church will unite for the service.

LIKES JAIL LIFE TOO WELL.

DID HIS BEST TO GET ARRESTED.

Threw an Apple Through a Drug Store Window—Will Spend Ninety Days in Somerset County Bastile.

Isaac King, colored, residence nowhere, was arrested last night on Somerset street by Marshal Schenck on a complaint made by Justice Mattison. All day yesterday King wandered about the borough trying to get in trouble so that he could be locked up. It was only a few weeks ago that he was released from jail, but he liked his winter quarters so well that he desired to return. Chief Wilson had his eye on King and was prepared to take charge of him should the occasion demand it. All went along nicely until last evening, when King distinguished himself by throwing a large apple through a pane of glass in Justice Mattison's drug store on Somerset street. This offense was sufficient, and Marshal Schenck promptly arrested King. This morning he was arraigned before Recorder Thomas. As he had no money he was obliged to take the ninety days given him. Later in the morning Marshal Schenck conducted the man to Somerville.

QUOTED THE RIOT ACT.

AN IMPORTANT CHARGE TO SOMERSET COUNTY GRAND JURY.

Judge Magie Impressively Referred to the Acts of the Officers of the Traction Company in Defying the Sheriff's Orders.

At the opening of the Somerset County Court yesterday Chief Justice Magie gave the Grand Jury a special charge in reference to the construction of the trolley road between Somerville and Bound Brook by the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company. He said that the information of the Court was that a corporation of this State had brought several hundred men, with tents for shelter and tools with which to work, from some foreign State. They had taken possession of a highway, obstructed the passage of the public, laid ties for a trolley road and for several days refused to obey the commands of the Sheriff of the county. The Chief Justice said that any corporation obstructing the highway was liable to indictment as a public nuisance, and all persons who were present and who aided and abetted the work could be indicted for riot. He charged the Grand Jury to find an indictment if the Prosecutor produced the facts to justify it.

While the Grand Jury was in session yesterday a number of the representatives of the Brunswick Traction Company arrived from New Brunswick, and were called as witnesses before the jury. It is thought that they are trying to have the New York and Philadephia Company indicted.

Chief Wilson and Marshals John Schenck, H. Wise and William Campbell, of the borough, are at Somerville today as witnesses in several cases before the Grand Jury which are of interest to North Plainfielders. Mayor Wilson is in attendance at court. One case which will probably be called is that of Milkman Sage against Recorder Thomas. The former thinks that he was unjustly fined for leaving his horse untied, and in consequence brought suit.

Watch-Night Services.

Christian Endeavorers are reminded of the watch-night services to be held at Warren chapel Friday evening. The social hour will begin at 9 o'clock, and at 11 o'clock the watch-night services will begin. Refreshments will be served during the early part of the evening under the direction of a committee from the society at Warren chapel.

Dissolution of a Firm.

The firm of Lancaster & Rogers, architects, composed of Fred L. Lancaster and A. C. Rogers, will be dissolved by the mutual consent of the partners January 1st. Lancaster will continue the business of the firm in its present offices in the Babcock building. Mr. Rogers will return to his occupation as builder.

Entertained with Cards.

Miss Mary Brown, of East Fourth street, gave a card party at her home last evening, in honor of her sister, Mrs. J. T. Armstrong, of Brooklyn, who is a guest at her home. There were just a few intimate friends present who enjoyed the hospitality of the hostess.

KRIS KRINGLE VISITS MANY SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.

WHEREVER HE CALLED THERE JOY ABOUNDED IN HEARTS OF BOTH YOUNG AND OLD.

Appropriate Programmes Rendered and Good Cheer Spread About—Sweetly Rendered Carols and Entertaining Cantatas Were Features.

WARREN CHAPEL.

Yesterday afternoon at Warren chapel the primary department of the Sunday school enjoyed themselves immensely celebrating Christmastide. The chapel was artistically decorated with evergreens and flowers, and especially attractive were the decorations about the platform. The exercises were in charge of Miss Mabel Gillies, superintendent of the department, and she was assisted by the other teachers of the school.

The programme opened with a concert recitation of the 23d Psalm and the Lord's Prayer, after which the school sang a carol entitled "Star of Bethlehem." Recitations were then given by Lizzie Davenport, Beulah Haggerty and Tillie Coddington. A pretty duet was sung by Jessie and Ethel Reynolds, and after the school sang a selection entitled "Praise Him," a closing recitation was given by Edith Squires. Miss Gillies then gave each scholar a useful and appropriate present, and in addition oranges, fruit and candy were distributed to them. The affair was a pleasant one in every respect and all enjoyed it fully.

The Christmas festivities for the older members of the Sunday-school were held in the evening, and the chapel was filled to overflowing with members and friends of the school. The opening part of the programme consisted of gramaphone solos under the direction of Mr. Waring, of New York. The selections were all good ones and pleased the audience. A vocal duet was then given by Ethel and Jessie Reynolds, followed with recitations by Tillie Coddington and Edith Squires.

The chief feature of the evening was the presentation to the pastor, Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of a house gown, a pair of slippers and a pair of gloves. All three articles are of the finest material. The presentation was made by Superintendent L. N. Lovell, who spoke in a pleasant and appropriate manner. The gifts were from the members of the Berean Bible class which is taught by Mr. McKelvey, and shows conclusively the high esteem and regard held by the members for their teacher. Mr. McKelvey responded, in accepting the gifts, and told in a neat speech how he appreciated such evidences of regard. The surprise was greatly enjoyed by all who knew nothing of the presentation until the time it was disclosed.

The rest of the evening was devoted to the distribution of candy and fruit to the scholars, and the serving of refreshments to all present. In the front part of the room near the platform a large Christmas tree was the attraction. It was beautifully decorated by the members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the chapel. The committee in charge of the evening's entertainment consisted of J. W. Gavett, chairman; Miss Maire, Mrs. C. A. Baynon, Miss Wood, Miss Swain, Mrs. J. W. Gavett and Robert Cook.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The primary department of the Sunday-school associated with the First Presbyterian church enjoyed their Christmas entertainment in the chapel of the church yesterday afternoon, and a jolly good time everyone had. The exercises opened with singing by the scholars. The selections were entitled "Children Can You Truly Tell" and "Beautiful Star," after which recitations were given by Russell Bird, Eva Kelly, Wilhelm Kline and Ruth Kline. This part of the programme was followed with the singing of a carol entitled "Once a Little Baby Lay," by the scholars of the school.

The last half of the programme proved to be a very enjoyable feature. Rev. C. E. Herring, pastor of the church, gave an illustrated lecture showing some very fine views of England, Ireland and Scotland. Mr. Herring was assisted by Mr. Searing, the electrician, who connected the lantern with the electric power. The children were highly pleased with the pictures. Following the above, each child present received a useful gift, thus making the affair complete in every detail. The exercises were in charge of Miss Bessie Blair, Miss Flora Petrie and Miss Blanche Fellows.

In the evening the older members of the school were entertained by a sleight-of hand performer from New York. The artist gave a very creditable performance and everyone seemed to be well pleased. Following the entertainment there was the usual distribution of gifts, including fruit, candy and oranges. The entertainment was very largely attended.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

A very successful Christmas festival was held last night by the Sunday-school of the Congregational church. A carefully-prepared and very enjoyable programme was given. An instrumental trio, composed of Mrs. B T. Barnes, organist; Mrs. M. E. Dwight, pianist; and P. Ludwig Conde, violinist, was of the opening numbers, and two solos were also given by Mr. Conde, and a piano solo by Miss Sadie Mae Howell. A comic song and recitation were F. O. Bristol's contribution to the entertainment, and other recitations were given by Arthur Robinson and Miss Aimee Emmons, while the musical part of the programme also included carols by the school and duets by Misses Agnes and Emma LaBoyteaux, and Harold Nomer and Thomas DeMeza. The exercises by the primary department were a very pleasant part of the evening, and consisted of a song by the class, and a recitation and song by seven little girls. The last number on the programme was a recitation, "The Story of Santa Claus," by Miss Katherine Dwight, during which Santa Claus, personated by F O. Bristol, entered with his pack. Much fun was afforded by the distribution of gifts to the primary department, especially by one very small damsel, who conversed familiarly with the saint. Candy and oranges were then distributed by the saint and a corps of assistants, after which the bells of the saint's sleigh were heard announcing his departure.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

Christmas was celebrated in all due form at Vincent chapel last evening by the members of the Sunday-school of the First M. E church. The festival was largely attended by members of the Sunday school and their friends, who completely filled the chapel.

In the afternoon the primary department held its festival. The principal feature of it was a cantata, entitled "The Court of King Christmas." The same cantata was given at the evening entertainment.

J. W. Jackson was the master of ceremonies at the evening celebration. The evening opened with a short devotional service and the singing of Christmas carols. Recitations were given by Miss Mabel Jenkins and Miss Ethel Gullberg. Then followed the cantata.

The scene was supposed to represent the Court of King Christmas, better known as Santa Claus, just before the departure of that dignitary to the realms below to distribute Christmas gifts. His gifts appeared in person as did the Christmas trees and stockings all with a plea to be taken along. Snowflakes and holly were also present. The cantata ended with the departure of Santa Claus.

The Snowflakes were impersonated by Nettie Cairns, Edna Kennedy, Henrietta Walsh, Ethel Gullberg, Virginia Anderson and Maud Disbrow. The Holly Berries were: Harry Hann, Claude Hann, Albert Coddington, Lawrence French, Edward Springer and Charles Lyman. Rhey T. Snodgrass made a very agreeable Santa Claus and acted his part well. His secretary was Roland Horne. The Postman was George McVoy. Prince Giftbook was inpersonated by Fred Lynn. Miss Gertie Greier took the part of Mother Goose, Will Conover of Robinson Crusoe, Miss Helen Whitney of Kate Greenaway and Miss Helen Joy of Baby Days, all giftbooks in the retinue of the Prince. George M. Rittenhouse, Jr., was Prince Playfellow with his chorus of Christmas trees composed of William Huff, Ray McDonald, Walter Ulrich, Carrie Mulford, Martha Codington and Lillian Snodgrass. They wore suits of red and white. Paul Pry was an inquisitive little fellow impersonated by Arthur Humble. Frank Conover took the part of Prince Bon-Bon and his chorus of Stockings consisted of Harvey Vail, Edward Mosher, Arthur French, Edna Moore, Carrie Gullberg and Hattie Dunlop. They wore costumes of pink and white. Mrs. Dolls, the mother of a great family, was represented by Miss Gertrude Anderson.

An address in rhyme was made by a small boy, Albert Codington, and he presented Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the church, with a basket of fruit. A little girl, Miss Virginia Anderson, presented Mrs. Snodgrass with

NOW THE HIRED MAN IS TO BLAME.

A Basking Ridge Milkman Finds More Trouble in Having His Horse Left Untied.

While the case of Milkman Sage, of Basking Ridge, against Borough Recorder Thomas is being considered at Somerville today, Max Georgia, employed by Mr. Sage, is confined in the borough lockup, charged with leaving Mr. Sage's horse untied. It will be remembered that sometime ago Sage was arrested for leaving his horse untied. The fine imposed he considered too severe. Consequently he commenced a suit against Recorder Thomas. The case has been hanging fire until today when it will be called at Somerville.

This morning Georgia thoughtlessly left the same horse untied in the borough. He was promptly arrested by a marshal, and taken before Recorder Thomas. The latter listened to the evidence, after which he imposed a fine of $10 or thirty days. As yet Georgia has not decided what he will do. His employer was not aware that his man was arrested for the offence until later in the day.

This forenoon Milkman Edward Cooper, of Washingtonville, called at the lockup and paid Georgia's fine of $10. While he was doing so, Mr. Sage appeared on the scene and wanted to know what the trouble was. He was informed by Marshal Whitely. He allowed Mr. Cooper to pay the fine and afterward he made out a check for the amount in favor of Mr. Cooper. Georgia was allowed to depart and finish his morning work of delivering milk to Mr. Sage's customers. Later Mr. Sage left for Somerville.

CLAIMS HE WAS DUPED.

FIVE HORSES TRADED FOR REAL ESTATE ON LONG ISLAND.

W. H. Francisco Charges That Two Dunellen Men Misrepresented the Value of Property and He Now Sues.

The day dreams of Wm. H. Francisco, horse dealer of the borough, are not realities. It was not the fault of his imagination, however, he claims, but of the deceit of others. As a result he is now suing the men who he says deceived him.

Some time ago Francisco brought a carload of horses east. Five of them he traded to Charles W. Johnson and Peter Staats, of Dunellen, who, he alleges, said that they intended to start in the livery business. In exchange for the horses Francisco was given the title to a piece of property on Long Island belonging to Johnson.

Now Francisco claims that Johnson represented the property to be a very valuable one and said that it consisted of eight building lots in the business portion of a town on the outskirts of Brooklyn. The lots were valued at $50 each. Francisco says he was told that they lay within twenty minutes walk of the Brooklyn trolley road.

Now the other day Francisco decided to see where his property was and started to make an investigation. He claims that only a man with the fabled seven-league boots could reach the trolley road in twenty minutes, as it is seventy miles away. These so-called building lots, he declares, are located in the wilderness of Long Island, five miles from any railway and on land that is estimated by the neighbors at being worth less than $5 an acre.

Francisco's attorneys, Codington and Swackhamer, have now started suit against Johnson and Staats in Justice Storms' court at New Market. The suit is brought for $200, the value of the horses, which Francisco claims were secured on misrepresentation. The case will come up for trial Monday morning.

Walter Titus Surprised.

A surprise party was tendered to Walter Titus, of Somerset street, last evening by a large number of his friends from this city and the borough. The young people assembled at the corner of Somerset street and Johnston's drive at 8 o'clock, and then proceeded to the home of Mr. Titus. The latter was completely taken by surprise for he had not the slightest intimation of the invasion. The committee in charge consisted of James Gunn and Frank Titus.

Chip Flew in His Eye.

Gilbert McGloin, aged eighteen years, a resident of Martinsville, was brought to the hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from a severe injury to his eye. He told those in charge at the hospital that he was struck in the eye with a piece of wood. It is supposed that he was cutting wood at the time and that a sharp piece flew up and struck the member. The cut is a severe one, but Dr. Ard is in hopes that he will be able to save the eye.

CROSS CENTRAL TRACKS.

ROUTE OF PROPOSED TROLLEY TO WESTFIELD SOMEWHAT CHANGED.

It is Now Proposed to Have the Street Railway Cross the Central Tracks at Garwood in Order to Run Into Cranford.

The public hearing appointed by the Westfield Township Committee on the question of granting a franchise to the Elizabeth and Westfield Electric Street Railway Company, was held at Etta Hall, Westfield, last night and early in the meeting it was discovered that no final action upon the question could be taken at that time, and that another similar meeting would have to be called later on by the Committee. This was caused by the application of the company for a slight change in the proposed route since the call for the meeting had been issued.

Instead of running the tracks all the way to Cranford upon the north side, the amendment proposes that the tracks cross the Central Railroad at Garwood and run from that point to Cranford upon South avenue.

The petition was received and the Committee appointed Jan. 14th as the date and Etta Hall as the place for the final hearing.

The large audience of citizens present was then invited to express its opinion upon the proposed route so far as it was not affected by the last amendment. The sentiment was decidedly in favor of the granting of the franchise, and had it not been for the fact that a meeting was to be held later, the meeting would have instructed the Committee to grant the franchise. Such a resolution was offered by W. G. Peckham, a Westfield lawyer, and was seconded by a score of voices. Before being put to a vote it was thought advisable to withdraw this resolution. Col. E. W. Hein, of Newark, the secretary of the company, made a speech upon the general question of granting the franchise. He stated that the new company was controlled by the owners of the Plainfield Street Railway Company, which had always kept its pledges and had never earned dividends upon its stock. He stated that the company was willing to pay the Township of Westfield five per cent. of its gross earnings annually, as is done in Plainfield.

Frank Bergen was present, and the meeting voted to hear him in behalf of his county trolley scheme. He said that people were asking who was behind his scheme. The people of Union county were behind it. He was prompted by the same motive which led him to work for the county road project. A trolley on South avenue would mean one later on the county road, and the result would be a narrow, congested thoroughfare on each side of the railroad with room only for the trolley and the sidewalks. The time when the county road could be widened is rapidly passing by.

Senator Foster M. Voorhees, counsel for the Traction Company, made reply to Mr. Bergen, stating that he was in favor of widening the county road if that was all Mr. Bergen wanted, but why, he asked, was it necessary to disfigure it with a trolley. The advocates of the county trolley scheme should not stop half way. If it was practicable to build a trolley and rent it, it was also practicable and much more profitable to operate it as well. Why let a monopoly step in and reap the profit of operation when the county could pocket that additional sum as well.

A number of other cititizens, including James O. Clark, Theodore McGarrah, L. G. Cohen, W. Morehouse, Ira Lambert, Col. George H. Starr, A. E. Pearsall and W. G. Peckham, also spoke.

Rathbone Sisters Elect

At a regular meeting of Minerva Temple, No. 4, Rathbone Sisters, held last evening the following officers were chosen for the coming year: P. C., Mrs. A. Mattis; M. E. C., Mrs. L. McComas; M. E. S., Mrs. A. D. Pope; M. E. Jr., Mrs. E. Hallard; M. of T., Mrs. S. J. Higgins; M. of R. and C., Mrs. E. K. Cox; M. of F., Mrs. E. T. Bowman; P. of I., Mrs. A. Ayers; G. of O. T., Mrs. M. Classen; trustee for 18 months, Mrs. M. Loughlin; 12 months, Mrs. B. Thatcher; 6 months, Mrs. Haberle. The installation will take place January 11th.

Installed Masonic Officers.

District Deputy Grand Master Howard installed the newly-elected officers of Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., last evening. There was a large attendance of members and the meeting was one of special interest.

The New Council.

Next Monday evening the new Council for 1898 will meet for the first time and organize for the year. At that time a president will be selected and the various committees will be announced.

MR. SINGERLY'S BANK

The Comptroller Says Voluntary Liquidation Is Possible.

MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS

If Creditors Accept the Plan and the Directors So Vote, the Expense and Delay of a Receivership Will Be Avoided.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Comptroller Eckels says, relative to the placing of the Chestnut Street National Bank in voluntary liquidation, in case the creditors of the bank accepted the plan proposed by the committee having it in charge:

"I have instructed the Deputy Comptroller, George M. Coffin, to at once call a meeting of the directors of the Chestnut Street National Bank to pass the necessary resolution and issue notice to the shareholders for a meeting to vote to go into voluntary liquidation. In addition, I have requested him to have the directors obtain at once the signatures of representatives holding two-thirds of the bank's stock, agreeing to vote for liquidation when the matter is presented at the meeting to be called. Having done this, I have stated that the Comptroller would then permit the bank to go into voluntary liquidation, after the vote is had, on evidence being furnished that the creditors of the bank have accepted the plan proposed by the committee in place of evidence of indebtedness from the bank. By having this arranged before voting it will enable the public to understand that immediately upon the consent of the creditors being obtained the bank will avoid the appointment of a receiver and the expenses and delay attendant upon a receivership avoided.

"I have studied the plan submitted with care, and am of the opinion that the creditors of the bank, the Trust Company and Mr. Singerly will be better cared for than by any method which can be devised in which all the assets represented by his various interests are handled under different agencies. Such a division of responsibility and of assets would necessarily entail disputes and result in expensive litigation as to the rights of this or that one in the property interests represented by him. It would also jeopardize the value of the asset which is the most to be looked for for the payment of the obligations due from the institutions with which he was connected and from himself. The importance of whatever action the creditors take being quickly determined arises from the wisdom of not permitting any asset to be unnecessarily dissipated, or any of the good will of any valuable property in which Mr. Singerly is interested lost.

"The situation is now in the hands of the creditors, and I believe that in following the plan outlined the end will fully justify their relying on the conservative management of those who have heretofore been successful in undertaking large financial matters."

INTERSTATE COMMISSIONER.

Appointment of Judge Paxson Not Definitely Determined Upon.

Washington, Dec. 29.—The announcement of Judge Paxson's selection as Inter-State Commerce Commissioner, to succeed Hon. William R. Morrison, seems to have been rather premature. There are several applicants for the position from Illinois, and the announcement which was made, with every indication of being reliable, has not deterred them in the least from actively pushing their claims.

From what can be learned at the White House it is not thought the appointment of Judge Paxson, of Pennsylvania, has been definitely determined upon, but that the question is still open. Besides the Pennsylvanian, the leading candidate for the position seems to be Judge Littler, of Illinois, who has the indorsement of both Senators from Illinois.

Senator Mason was seen yesterday, and he said that from what he could gather from his visit to the White House he thought the appointment would not be definitely settled until next week. The friends of Judge Paxson, however, still maintain that he will be Col. Morrison's successor.

One of the Murderers Arrested.

Norristown, Pa., Dec. 29.—Martin Conners was arrested at Ardmore yesterday, charged with being one of the gang that murdered Conductor Galloway on his car on Sunday night. He was identified by the motorman and by the three women who were in the car at the time. He denied having been in the neighborhood on the night of the murder. He put questions to the witnesses and endeavored to convince them that they were mistaken. He was committed for trial. Additional rewards have been offered for the detection of the murderer of Conductor Galloway. The total amount is now $725.

Horton Law Violated.

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 29.—Justice Woodward, in the Supreme Court, has handed down a decision on the legality of boxing as prescribed by the Horton law. The Justice holds that the spirit and intent of the law has been violated, and on the strength of such a conviction holds the boxers who were arrested in $100 bonds to keep the peace for one year. The attorney for the defense at once applied for an appeal. The decision was the result of the issue of warrants for the arrest of three boxers who were about to engage in a contest by a committee of ministers.

No Break with Germany.

Berlin, Dec. 29.—The National Zeitung emphatically contradicts the report which has been current in Berlin that the negotiations for mutual trade concessions on the part of Germany and the United States have been broken off. On the contrary, the paper declares, the negotiations have just begun.

Wage Cut Restored.

Beaver Falls, Pa., Dec. 29.—The proprietors of the Mayor Brothers pottery, at this place, have announced to their 250 operatives that the wage cut of 1894 of 12½ per cent. had been restored to them, thus making an advance of 14½ per cent. on their present wages, to date from Christmas Day.

FIERCE FIGHTING IN CUBA.

Spaniards and Insurgents Both Sustain Heavy Losses in a Battle.

Havana, Dec. 29.—A fierce engagement between a Spanish column under Gen. Aguirra and a numerous rebel band is reported to have taken place in Santa Clara, with heavy losses on both sides. A Madrid dispatch says that the insurgent leader, Juan Rius Rivera, has been sent to the Montjuich fortress in Barcelona. Rius Rivera said that he approved of the killing of Lieut.-Col. Ruiz, and added that if it had been in his power he would likewise have killed Gen. Pando when Pando invited him in his cell at the Cabaffa fortress to accept autonomy as a condition for his release.

Consul-General Lee cabled to the Washington authorities, asking for provisions, clothing and medicines to be distributed among the reconcentrados. He says that great quantities of quinine and cod liver oil are needed.

The culvert near Minas, the first station east of this city on the United Railroads of Havana, was yesterday blown up with dynamite by the insurgents.

Spanish Tales of Successes.

Havana, Cuba, Dec. 29.—According to Spanish announcements, the combined operations undertaken by Gen. Aguirre, in the province of Santa Clara, have resulted in the capture of an insurgent camp and the loss of twenty men killed to the enemy, the Spanish troops losing nine in killed and wounded.

Further Spanish reports say the Spanish troops have been engaged with the insurgents commanded by Napoles, and have captured an insurgent captain and seven armed privates.

A report is current here that the son of Calixto Garcia died recently from wounds received during the insurgent attack upon Guamo.

NEGRO MURDERER LYNCHED.

Confessed to Killing Two Men and Asked for Quick Justice.

Minter City, Miss., Dec. 29.—Joseph Hopkins, the negro who murdered two white men on Christmas Day at Glendora, a small inland town near this place, was captured by a posse at daylight yesterday morning on the James plantation, near Swan Lake. Hopkins concealed himself in a gin house, but was discovered by two negroes, who gave the alarm.

Hopkins fought like a demon before being taken into custody, and when arrested it was found the negro had been shot in three places. He was not fatally injured, however, and was taken to the scene of his terrible crime.

Hopkins confessed his guilt, and did not plead for mercy, but begged his captors to make quick work of him, and little time was lost in carrying out the request. A rope was placed about the negro's neck, and he was hanged from the limb of a tree. The body was then riddled with bullets and left hanging. Hopkins' record is a bad one, many recent crimes being attributed to him.

Miss Murphy a Debutante.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Senator and Mrs. Edward Murphy opened their beautiful home, on Farragut square, last evening for the debut of their youngest daughter, Miss Jennie. The suite of drawing rooms and dining hall were profusely decorated with holly and mistletoe. Shortly before midnight an elaborate banquet was served.

The pretty debutante, who greatly resembles her elder sister, Mrs. Hugh Grant, was attired in white tulle, garlanded with pink roses, the low neck finished with a spray of buds. She stood by the side of her parents, who introduced each in turn as the throng of guests passed by.

Durrant's Plea Denied.

San Francisco, Dec. 29.—Late yesterday afternoon the Supreme Court, after having heard the case argued in Chambers, denied the application of the attorneys for W. H. T. Durrant, the condemned murderer of Blanche Lamont, for a writ of probable cause.

It was contended by Durrant's counsel that Judge Baher erred in having fixed the date for the execution of their client within less than sixty days after the date upon which he was recommitted to the custody of the warden of San Quentin Prison. The Supreme Court, however, after hearing the points relied upon for reversal, denied the petition unanimously.

Babe Dies of Delirium Tremens.

Buffalo, Dec. 29.—A case of a child only fifteen months old dying of acute alcoholism has been reported to the Department of Health. The little one's death was without doubt the result of ignorance on the part of the parents. Another child, older than the one whose death was reported, is critically ill from the same cause.

Acquitted of the Charge of Murder.

Middletown, Ct., Dec. 29.—The jury in the case of Herman Sachs, charged with murder in the first degree in the alleged shooting of Bertrand L. Hotchkiss at his home in Killingworth, Friday evening, Aug. 27, returned a verdict of "not guilty" late yesterday afternoon. The jury was out three hours.

Household Gods.
The ancient Greeks believed that the Penates were the gods who attended to the welfare and prosperity of the family. They were worshipped as household gods in every home. The household god of to-day is Dr. King's New Discovery. For consumption, coughs, colds and for all affections of Throat, Chest and Lungs it is invaluable. It has been tried for a quarter of a century and is guaranteed to cure, or money returned. No household should be without this good angel. It is pleasant to take and a safe and sure remedy for old and young. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's, Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.

—The young men's class at the Monroe Avenue chapel has made a liberal donation towards the Christmas expenses of the Sunday-school.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.
At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagah, Ind. Ter. Chief. This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and la grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—A watch night service will be held in the Monroe Avenne M. E. church Friday evening. It will be the first service in the celebration of the first anniversary of the formation of the church.

Something to Know.
It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

—Lucetta Council, No. 28, Daughters of Liberty, will give a dance in Washington Hall, West Second street, Friday evening. Guttman's orchestra will furnish the music.

After hearing some friends continually praising Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Curtis Fleck, of Anaheim, California, purchased a bottle of it for his own use and is now as enthusiastic over its wonderful work as anyone can be. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—The revival meetings at the Seventh-Day Baptist church will be continued this week. This will probably end the meetings, however.

Don't be persuaded into buying liniments without reputation or merit—Chamberlain's Pain Balm costs no no more, and its merits have been proven by a test of many years. Such letters as the following, from L. G. Bagley, Hueneme, Cal., are constantly being received: "The best remedy for pain I have ever used is Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and I say so after having used it in my family for several years." It cures rheumatism, lame back, sprains and swellings. For sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—The Big Six Social Club will hold its first annual reception and dance at Washington Hall on the evening of January 13th. The music will be furnished by Guttman.

Mr. C. M. Dixon, a well known merchant, of Pleasant Ridge, Fulton Co., Pa., has a little girl who is frequently threatened with croup, but when the first symptoms appear, his wife gives her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which always affords prompt relief. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

NEWS FROM DAWSON CITY.

Claim Owners Have Reduced Wages to $10 Per Day.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 29.—The steamer Tees, from Skaguay, brought down five Klondikers, Richard Shaw, of Victoria, who left Dawson on Nov. 16, and three other Victorians, and T. Hanby, of Seattle, who started Oct. 27. The party leaving on the latter date ran out of provisions at Fort Selkirk and had to beg their way along, getting food at different camps, or, when it was not to be had, living on anything they could shoot.

Shaw came out by dog train, leaving Dawson after the ice formed. He passed fifty men along the river bound outward. They were all coming along with just enough food to last them. At Stewart River forty-three outfits bound for Dawson were frozen in. Two of the three rafts of beef, which were on the bars just above Dawson, were carried down the river right past the town by the floating ice.

On the night of Nov. 15 Jim Cary's saloon, at Dawson, was robbed of $20,000. Ed Lord, the bartender, and two other men, were arrested. At Fort Selkirk a man named Keeler was robbed of $8,000. Ed Jackson was arrested on suspicion.

Shaw says some of the men on the trails will not get down until the ice goes out in the Spring. Just before he left claim owners reduced wages from $15 to $10 per day, and men were threatening to go on a strike. Shaw stated that food was scarce at Dawson, but that the men now there have enough to last them through the Winter.

Maj. Rucker Leaves Portland.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 29.—The steamship George W. Elder has sailed for Dyea and Skaguay with 125 passengers and 500 tons of freight. Fifty horses and 400,000 feet of lumber were offered, but the Elder was unable to make room for them.

Among the passengers was Maj. L. H. Rucker, Fourth United States Cavalry, who goes to Skaguay and Dyea to investigate the passes and select the most feasible route for the Government Yukon relief expedition.

To Sail from Halifax.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 29.—There is a project on foot to start several steamers from Halifax for the Klondike next Spring, the first leaving in March, or perhaps earlier. Capt. James Farquhar, of this city, is now in England for the purpose of securing suitable steamers.

FITZ TO FIGHT AGAIN.

But He Will Take His Own Time About Making a Match.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—Martin Julian, manager of Bob Fitzsimmons, the heavy-weight champion, has this to say about the challenge issued by Kid McCoy for a fight at the middle-weight limit:

"It is almost ridiculous for McCoy to expect to take on Fitz for a go, and while I acknowledge he is a good one, I don't think he would stand any show.

"One thing I can positively say, and that is that Fitz will fight again. He and I came to that agreement a few nights ago, and he has left everything to my absolute control.

"When he and I had come to the agreement he said to me: 'You take entire control and I'll do exactly as you say and leave the whole affair to your discretion.'

"However, I am going to insist that all the men who go about talking fight whenever they feel like it shall accomplish as much and make as good a record as the present champion.

"I shall insist that Corbett fight Maher before I talk any kind of fight with him, and in due course of time, when McCoy has done as much and has done what I think will entitle him to any consideration whatever for the match, I shall accommodate him and make arrangements for the fight."

This is taken to mean that Julian thinks the champion needs some advertising, and takes this means of obtaining it. If Julian's conditions are to be observed before Fitz will fight again, Jim Corbett will be an old man. Both Brady and Corbett have said that the ex-champion will not enter the ring again unless it is to fight Fitzsimmons.

McCoy's challenge to Fitzsimmons was for a fight at the middle-weight limit, 158 pounds. No sane man will believe that Fitz can now make that weight and be strong. Whatever Fitzsimmons' claims may be, McCoy is generally recognized as the middle-weight champion.

Uncle Sam Too Sharp.

Washington, Dec. 29.—As a result of the orders issued by Secretary Gage and Assistant Secretary Spalding during the past three days, the filibustering expedition planned to leave Florida for Cuba on Christmas night has been broken up. Extreme vigilance was exercised by the Government officials, and the filibusters found it impossible to get away.

The expedition was to have embarked near Punta Gorda, on the west coast of Florida. A quantity of dynamite and other explosives were located by the Government officers near Punta Gorda, and the watch kept over them resulted in at least the temporary abandonment of the expedition.

Made a Stone Coffin for Himself.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 29.—Peter Ryan, a wealthy but eccentric citizen of Hopkinsville, who has had a stone coffin prepared for his burial many years, is dead, from blood poisoning, aged 87. Ryan had a fancy to rest in a grave that should be perfectly secure. He had two immense stone caskets hewn out, one for himself and one for his wife, and kept them on exhibition. His wife died some years ago. Her remains were sealed up in the stone sarcophagus, which was then sunk deep in the graveyard. His own coffin was placed beside her grave, and will now be used.

Fourth-Class Postmasters.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Fourth-class postmasters have been appointed as follows:

New Jersey—Hamilton Square, Mercer County, S. M. Robbins.

New York—Bouckville, Madison County, Fred A. Parker; Mottville, Onondaga, Mrs. Mary Evans; Reed Corners, Ontario, Fred H. Harris.

Pennsylvania—Medix Run, Elk County, Myrtle L. Barr.

STORY WAS WIDESPREAD

The Secretary's Alleged Purpose Was to Prevent Friction Between the President and the Administration—Not Alarmed Over Attacks.

Washington, Dec. 29.—For several days rumors have been flying about Washington to the effect that at the Cabinet meeting last Friday Lyman J. Gage, the Secretary of the Treasury, had tendered his resignation to the President and that the latter had declined to accept it. Owing to the fact that Mr. Gage has been out of town, it has been impossible to get a statement from him in regard to the report, but a correspondent obtained from a Treasury Department official the following statement:

"Secretary Gage, I believe, did offer the President his resignation. It might be supposed that under the circumstances and in view of the attacks made against his proposed financial measure that the Secretary would wish to give the President, with whom he has always been on close terms of personal friendship, an opportunity to relieve himself from possible trouble with the Western Senators, who have lined themselves up in antagonism to him. This is just what I think he did by offering to resign.

"In declining to accept his resignation the President put an end to all the talk about the existence of friction between himself and his Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. Gage will remain in the Cabinet, and the most cordial relations that have always existed between himself and the President will continue. Secretary Gage will take no back water; he will go right ahead and push his financial measure, and will stand by his guns and do everything in his power to bring about the adoption of his financial measure, which he believes will bring relief to the country, restore confidence and help business.

"The Secretary has been for some time the target for the attacks of certain Senators from free-silver States and of free-silver newspapers. He is willing to continue to stand up and take these attacks. They awake the opposition and do not hurt him."

Denied by Mr. McKinley.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Notwithstanding it was reported in Washington yesterday that Secretary Gage had called on the President on Saturday last and had offered to resign from the Cabinet, thereby removing any possible cause of friction between the Administration and Congress, after the Cabinet meeting the President denied the whole story. Mr. McKinley never makes a statement in regard to a member of his official family, but contented himself with contradicting yesterday's reports.

The story, which was widespread, was to the effect that the criticism of the Western Senators had decided the Secretary of the Treasury to offer to retire, lest his remaining in the Cabinet should embarrass the President. The story continued that the latter informed Mr. Gage he was perfectly satisfied with the Treasury official's position and would not consider the matter further.

A gentleman close to Mr. Gage said yesterday afternoon that on Friday last, immediately after the Cabinet meeting, Secretary Gage had related that while discussing the criticism of his financial plan in the Cabinet that day he had said to the President if his course embarrassed the Administration he (the Secretary) would willingly resign, but the President assured him that it did not, and that ended the matter. From this evidently arose the story of a verbal resignation.

SIX SAILORS KILLED AT SEA.

Foreyard of Ship Fell to the Deck, Carrying Nine Men with It.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 29.—A special from Bermuda reports a terrible accident at sea on the ship Vanloo, in which six lives were lost. The Vanloo, which is on a voyage from Cardiff to St. John, N. B., has put in there with loss of sails. She reports that on the 20th inst. the foreyard suddenly parted and fell to the deck with a crash, breaking into a thousand splinters. A number of men were at work in the rigging at the time and others were on deck immediately below.

Of nine who were carried down by the falling yard, or were struck when it descended, three were killed instantly and three others who took the chances of jumping into the sea were drowned, none of the bodies being recovered.

Only the day before this accident one of the crew met a terrible death by falling from aloft to the deck. The ship Vanloo belongs to Yarmouth, N. S.

Counterfeit Silver Certificates.

New York, Dec. 29.—The local banks have received notice that a new $5 counterfeit silver certificate is in circulation. The counterfeit purports to be one of the series of 1896, check letter C, face plate No. 22, back plate No. 12, and Treasury No. 2,852,687. It is printed from photo-mechanical plates on two pieces of very thin paper pasted together, between which silk threads have been distributed, but the silk is too heavy. The most noticeable defect is the numbering, which, although of good color, is much too small. Most of the shading on the face of the note, which in the genuine is made up of parallel ruled lines, in the counterfeit is solid black. The seal is darker red than the genuine, yet the shade of green ink used is lighter than the genuine, and much of the lathe work is poor.

Edge-Tool Makers Consolidate.

Pittsburg, Dec. 29.—Eighty per cent. of the edge-tool manufacturers in the United States have consolidated their interests and have arranged for the erection of a new plant near Charleroi, about four miles south of this city, on the Monongahela River. The concern will be known as the American Ax and Tool Company, and will have a capital stock of $2,000,000. It will employ over two thousand skilled workmen, and the average weekly pay roll will amount to $10,000. The consolidated plant will be in operation within six months.

When Mayor Wilson, of the borough, says that he is going to see to it that the property holders of that municipality keep their sidewalks clear from snow and ice this winter, we feel like patting His Honor on the back and saying, good boy! This morning the Mayor told us that that was his intention. When Mr. Wilson starts out to accomplish a certain thing it can be depended upon that when he gets through he has attained his end. In years past there has been altogether too many sidewalks in the borough that have been constantly menacing life and limb in the winter months by reason of neglect to keep them free from snow and ice.

Not a half-dozen members of the Legislature were at the State House yesterday, and no new developments were announced, except that the Candem newspaper men are still making a fight against George A. Frey for secretary of the Senate, and feel more hopeful of success than they did a week ago. They are throwing their support to Walter Edge, of Atlantic county, who was last year's journal clerk in the Senate. Several prominent Republicans of Atlantic county were there to urge Mr. Edge's claims, but Senators Skirm, Francis and Engle were the only Senators to be found in the corridors.

The Paterson Press reports that at a sale of property under the provisions of the Martin Act in that city yesterday a large number of buyers were attracted and the bidding was lively. The most important sale was that of the Ivanhoe paper mills. The tax claim was $12,352.50. There were no bidders and it was knocked down to the city at $14,000.

The New York Herald has a Washington dispatch showing that the United States government is annually being robbed of between $6,000,000 and $8,000,000 by the railroads which transport the mails and that this fraud has led to an increasing postal deficit where there should be a surplus.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Contributors for Happiness.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Noticing in yesterday's issue, under the caption "Promoters of Happiness," the allusion to the pleasant enterprise under the auspices this year of the Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church, by which a number of children received some simple Christmas gift, I deem it but just to say that the plan could not have been carried out but for the generous donations of books, games and toys from the Junior Endeavorers of the church, friends in the church and many others interested in the children. The oranges were a Christmas gift to the Relief Association by Messrs. J. A. Smith & Bro., and by the association to this work, giving one to each child.

Sweeping Reductions

in the

Cloak Department.

We do not intend to carry over any stock, therefore we begin early to cut prices on every cloak in the house.

The Misses' and Children's cloaks have been reduced, there are only about a dozen styles left, and in nearly every line the sizes run from 4 to 18 years.

This price-cutting in midwinter gives late cloak buyers a splendid opportunity to purchase reliable garments at a great saving.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

N. C. Mague, of Plainfield, was in town yesterday on business.

The Board of Education will meet next week in regular session.

Mrs. Anna Abbott, of Church street, is visiting friends in New York.

Miss Bennett, of North Plainfield, is visiting relatives in the borough.

Clarence Vliet, of Philadelphia, is visiting his sister, Mrs. W. Shiveley.

Mrs. R. J. Swackhamer has returned from a visit with out-of-town friends.

Miss Titsworth, of New Market, spent yesterday with friends in Plainfield.

Mrs. C. A. Coriell and daughter, Miss Edna Coriell, spent yesterday in New York.

The Borough Council will hold its regular January meeting next Monday evening.

The Foresters met last evening and initiated Wilson Fredericks into the mysteries of the order.

The public schools will reopen next Monday, after the scholars and teachers have enjoyed a pleasant vacation.

Master Percy Abbott is spending the holidays with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Abbott, at Somerville.

Among the Plainfielders who enjoyed skating on New Market pond yesterday afternoon were Miss Emmons, Miss Martin, Miss Anthony, Miss Bertha Jenkins, Sidney Titsworth, Nathan Titsworth, R. Phillips and Allan Laing.

A. G. Anderson, treasurer of the Dunellen Brick Works, made a payment on account to Isaac Stites yesterday in connection with the suit now pending between Mr. Stites and the works. In consequence the works were not sold to satisfy the claim.

Last Sunday two young men from the borough and one young man from Plainfield made themselves very obnoxious by their strange actions in the borough. They evidently had not recovered from their Christmas celebration. Their time was devoted to exchanging gates about the borough and carrying some of them a great distance.

It is now evident that a new freight house will not be erected in town this year, and possibly not this winter. The Central Railroad, it is said, has given orders to have every expense cut down, so that a good showing can be made for this year, and the company has not been desirous of starting any new work until next year. At present a freight car answers the purpose of a house.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

William Richardson is spending the day at North Branch.

Mrs. Joseph Clark has been seriously ill for several days but is now slightly improved.

A party of Netherwood young people are arranging to hold a dance at the Fanwood Club house January 7th.

Robert Walpole went upon a hunting trip yesterday afternoon and succeeded in bagging four rabbits.

George Giles, who recently had a stroke of apoplexy, is rapidly sinking, and his condition is thought to be very critical.

The interest in the proposed trolley line through Fanwood and Scotch Plains is very great in both places. It is said that the company has secured the consent of the property owners as far as the Terrill road, and every effort will be made by the citizens to aid the building of the road.

The Sunday school of All Saints' church held their Christmas festival last evening. A finely-decorated tree stood in the middle of the church and was brilliantly illuminated with candles. The children sang several Christmas carols, led by the rector, who presided at the organ, and carried on the service and made a short address. Several young gentlemen of the parish distributed the gifts and candy at the close of the exercises, and all the little ones seemed happy and contented. The only drawback to the occasion was the necessary absence of the faithful superintendent, Harry Robinson, through illness of some of the members of his family.

WESTFIELD

VARIOUS BITS OF NEWS.

WESTFIELD HAPPENINGS SERVED UP TERSELY FOR THE PRESS.

Many People Go and Come in the Pretty Suburban Town—Items Interesting Because of Their Brevity

Mrs. William Gale and her children are visiting friends in Camden.

William Siebenmorgen, of Elm street, has recovered from an attack of grip.

Miss Florance's dancing class will give a German in the Westfield Club house this evening.

Miss Florence Ernst, of Brooklyn, is the guest of Mrs. Arthur Spooner, of Mountain avenue.

Rev. J. Herbert MacConnell, of Auburn Theological Seminary, visited friends in Westfield yesterday.

Rev. Corydon C. Tyler, of Philadelphia, is spending a few days as the guest of his father, C. H. Tyler.

The Social Club held a successful reception and dance in its rooms in the Standard building last night.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will hold its annual musicale tomorrow night at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Harrison, on Broad street.

The Sunday-school of St. Paul's Episcopal church held its Christmas exercises in the church last evening. There were carols and recitations by the scholars and the distribution of presents.

The funeral services of Mildred, the two-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Shields, of North Broad street, were held at St. Paul's Episcopal church yesterday morning, Rev Charles Fiske officiating. The burial was in Fairview cemetery.

William Bruet, the chef at Ward's Hotel, Westfield, drank to excess yesterday and last evening he became very disorderly. He went upon the street and slapped the face of the first woman whom he met. He was arrested and placed in the lockup pending an examination.

Mrs. Emma Bridges gave a reception last evening, at her home on Dudley avenue, in honor of the Misses Rush and Everett, of Saratoga, N. Y., who are spending the holidays as Mrs Bridges' guests. The house was prettily decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. Dancing was enjoyed by the guests and at a late hour refreshments were served.

The Westfield churches are making arrangements to observe the week of prayer, commencing next Sunday, when a union service of several of the churches will be held in the evening. Tuesday evening there will be a union prayer meeting in the Baptist church, subject "The Church Universal;" Wednesday evening in the Congregational church, "Nations and Their Rulers;" Thursday night in the Methodist church, subject, "Families and Schools;" and Friday night in the Presbyterian church, subject, "Missions." The pastors will lead the meetings in turn, and Sunday January 9th there will be a second union church service.

TEACHERS' PENSION QUESTION.

Abolition of the New Jersey State Associations' Pension Committee.

The State Teachers' Association, by a vote of 52 ayes to 54 nays, yesterday defeated a resolution offered by H. E. Harris, of Bayonne, providing for the abolishing of the association's committee on pensions. This committee is the one that has done most of the work in connection with the passage of the teachers' retirement-fund law, and has recently been considering amendments to the law to be offered to the incoming Legislature.

Easy Chair for the Mayor.

This morning when Mayor Wilson, of the borough, called at his office in the lockup, he was agreeably surprised to find close by his desk a large easy chair. For sometime he was unable to understand what it meant, but later he was informed that the chair was a gift from Borough Recorder Thomas to His Honor. The latter accepted the gift in his usual pleasant manner, and thanked the donor heartily for it. The chair is quite an addition to the Mayor's office and His Honor will find it much easier to attend to the duties of his office in the future.

THEATRICAL.

All theatregoers should welcome the production of that favorite and sterling melodrama, "Cuba's Vow," which will be the attraction at Stillman Music Hall, Thursday night. It contains a company far superior in every respect to the one which presented it at the Star Theatre last season and made a wonderful hit. It has in addition a wealth of scenic environment fresh from the studios of that eminent scenic artist, Harley Merry, which is absolutely unrivalled.

For the New Year's attraction Manager Maze Edwards, of Stillman Music Hall, has secured the famous Gonzalez Comic Opera Co. who will present two popular operas on that day, the matinee bill being "Said Pasha," and evening "Fra Diarolo." The company numbers over 40 people, with gorgeous costumes, pretty girls, funny comedians and a clear cast of talented and well-known singers, Lizzie Gonzalez, a charming actress and soprano singer of high reputation. Reserved seat tickets are now ready at box office.

It is almost always unwise for a manager to make promises, as it is generally the case that something unforeseen happens to frustrate his plans. Andrew A. McCormick, as director of the Broadway Theatre Opera Company, announced that in the productions to be made by the new organization, "that which was frivolous and inane would be carefully avoided, while that which is legitimately diverting and comic would be assiduously sought after." The large and fine audience which assembled at the Broadway Theatre the first night were not disappointed; they found that the manager, at a time when horseplay and buffoonery had had the town in its thrall, had been able to fulfill his promise to the letter; that with a steady aim he had in reality pointed his arrow high and hit the bull's-eye square in the centre. "The Highwayman" fulfills all the hopes and promises of the managers and that portion of the public which is ever ready to support laudable efforts.

MR. PEDDLE TO GO SOUTH.

Has Accepted a Position With the Southern Railway.

Wm. H. Peddle, superintendent of the central division and branches of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, will, as has already been announced, leave the road Jan. 1st. He has accepted a responsible position with the Southern Railway, which, with its branches, traverses a large section of the south.

The main offices of the company are at Washington, D. C., though the president, Samuel Spencer, has an office at 80 Broadway, New York. The Southern Railway and its branches runs to Norfolk, Richmond, Va.; Atlanta, Ga.; Asheville, N. C.; Knoxville and Chattanooga, Tenn.; Louisville, Ky.; Birmingham, Ala.; Macon, Ga.; Palatka, Fla., and other important points.

Superintendent Peddle has been connected with the Central road for twenty-six years, and has always been regarded as an efficient official.

Mr. Peddle will be succeeded as superintendent of the Central by Geo. H Frech, of Roselle, at present trainmaster at the Communipaw station. Mr. Peddle will take up his residence at Washington.

To Build a New Theatre.

Plans are being formulated for the erection of a large theatre building in New Brunswick. The parties interested in the project are negotiating with the owners of the Waldron property on Dennis street, and if this site can be obtained the building will be erected in the spring. It is understood that those interested in the scheme are prepared to spend $40,000.

TO DIE, NOT TO LIVE.

A RABBI GIVES THE ONLY REASON WHY JEWS GO TO PALISTINE.

They Have No Desire to Make Their Homes There and the Russains and Roumanians Long for the Advanced and Civilized Countries of the West.

The Jewish Congress which met in Switzerland in the latter part of August, with the object of securing Palestine for recolonization by the Jews, has attracted widespread attention in this country, and has given rise to much comment and speculation. In reference to the matter the Rev. Dr. I. M. Wise, rabbi of the Plum Street Temple, Cincinnati, had this to say:

"The ancient kingdom of Judea was overthrown in the year 70, A. D., and the people became merged into other nations. Judea had ceased to be a nation, and all the heroic attempts to restore its nationality were signal failures. Those who voluntarily left Judea previous to the fall, or were carried away as prisoners, became subject to the laws of the land in which they lived, though remaining faithful to the laws of Moses. These wanderers from Judea saw that their brethren to the east and west of them were steadfast subjects of the land to which they had been migrated, and still remained steadfast to their religion, so that the conviction soon grew upon them that their religion was not dependent upon the preservation of a national Government.

"Of Jerusalem, its temple, altar, and the ancient cult they had only memories, but of their religion and the obedience of their brethren to the laws of the land of their adoption they had living examples. The religion, and their history therefore, became the center, to which the scattered particles of the nation gravitated. For eighteen centuries the Jews have lived and thrived on their religion and their history without social or national auxiliaries.

"So long as the Jews enjoyed equal rights with the other inhabitants of the country they were loyal citizens and true to their religion. When driven to desperation by persecution and intolerance they sought consolation in their religion and the ideal that a redeemer would come to lead them back to Palestine. But notwithstanding their hopes and prayers for such a consummation, they never evinced any particular desire to go back. They migrated from land to land, but not to Palestine. Some extra pious souls went there to die, but very few went there to live.

In Russia and Roumania, where the Jew was never treated as a human being, and his every ideal trampled under foot, the morning of redemption dawned under Alexander II. But under Alexander III, the Jews were again driven to madness and despair. Like their fathers of old, they fell back upon their Messianic ideals, in theory, and emigrated to all countries—except Palestine. One million Jews have left Russia since 1881, of whom certainly not more than 25,000 went to Palestine.

"These facts prove that the Jews even of Russia and the Balkan States do not wish and will not go back to Palestine under a Government of their own or any other Government.

"The so-called Jewish Congress in Basel was, properly speaking, neither a congress, nor Jewish. It was really a convention of some voluntary advocates of a plan for the relief of the Jews in the Orient. It was not Jewish because it represented neither the sentiments nor the religious propensities of the Jews as a body. The entire proceedings of the convention, as given through the press of this country, are that there were 200 delegates present, Dr. Herzl and Dr. Nordau were elected presiding officers and a telegram was sent the Sultan, thanking him for the kind and just treatment accorded his Jewish subjects.

"Throughout the civilized world there is no desire on the part of the Jews to return to Palestine, under any circumstances, and those who have had the best opportunity to return, and for whom the whole movement was originally planned, viz., the Russian and Roumanian Jews, are the last to take advantage of any such offer. On the contrary, they strive to get as far away from the Orient, as possible and seek the free, advanced, and civilized countries of the West.

"The whole plan is a dream of romantic and impractical minds, and will be forgotten as soon as the newspapers become tired of using it."—Cincinnati Gazette.

The Queen a Critic.

The Youth's Companion relates an amusing story of W. H. Preece, the well-known electrician, about the early days of the telephone. That the Queen might test the new invention, he put Osborne, Portsmouth and London in communication, and arranged that a band should play while her Majesty was at the other end of the instrument.

The Queen was detained, and before she arrived the band had been sent away. But a happy thought struck Mr. Preece. Why not himself act as the band? He stepped to the instrument and hummed into it "God Save the Queen," and asked if her Majesty recognized the tune.

"Yes," she said; "it was the national anthem—but very badly played!"

One Objection.

"How intense are the fires of love!" ejaculated the poet.

"Yes," answered the father of his marriageable daughters; "but they take an awful sight o' coal."

TOLD OF BUCK KILGORE.

His Jumping Match with a Texas Woman in War Times.

There are men in every quarter of the Union who will regret to hear of the death of Judge Constantine B. Kilgore at Ardmore, I. T. For eight years "Buck" Kilgore was a notable man in Washington. In person he was the typical Texan. Above six feet tall, above sixteen stone in weight, above the average Congressman in ability, above the average man in sincerity, straight as an Indian, and strong as an ox, "Buck" Kilgore was a marked man whereever he appeared. It was the kicking down of the door leading from the legislative chamber to the House lobby that gave him notoriety. It was characteristic of the man. He wanted to go into the lobby; the messenger shut the door in his face. He knew he had a right to go into the lobby without asking the consent of Tom Reed or any other man. He raised his foot, clothed in an enormous cowhide boot and kicked the door down and went his way. The notoriety that attached to him on account of the act was always distasteful to him.

During the war he was ordered home to assist in gathering up some deserters. One evening about dusk he was out in the country in quest of a deserter who had been off the "layout" for a year. He was very hungry and very weary. He called at a house by the roadside and there he found a woman just taking from the spit a nicely broiled chicken. The savor of the fowl made him ravenous. He had a Mexican dollar in his pocket, which he had carried for years and to which he was much attached, but he was bound to have that chicken and he pulled out the dollar and proposed a trade—the coin for the fowl. The lady said the chicken was for a sick friend and that she could not sell it.

"But," she continued, "I'll jump you for it."

"What do you mean?" said "Buck."

"I mean that we will see which can jump furthest from this doorsill out into the yard, and the one of us that beats shall have both chicken and dollar."

"All right; that suits me exactly," said "Buck." The dollar was placed on the dish beside the chicken and his gun was leaned against the wall by the door, and "Buck" slung his arms and made a temendous leap of over twelve feet. He recovered with difficulty, and when he turned to the door there was the lady with his cocked gun in her hands, with the butt against her shoulder and her finger on the trigger.

"Now, you just flirt the gravel down that road, young man, or I'll make buzzard's food of you before hell can singe a knat," she ordered.

There was shoot in her eyes and "buck and ball" in the gun.. So "Buck" "flirted the gravel," his bosom swollen with impotent rage and his mouth overflowing with eloquent profanity.

By this time it was dark. Over in a field "Buck" spied a gin house. He went to it and climbed in to the loft, laid down on the floor and was soon fast asleep. After a time he was awakened by voices down below. He listened and made the discovery that one was a female voice, and a moment later he realized that she was relating the "jumping" episode to her companion, who gave vent to peal after peal of laughter. There was the chicken and his dollar which he could see by the light of the tallow dip. Peering about he saw his gun also. There was a big hole in the floor of the loft, and just as the man took hold of the dish to eat the chicken "Buck" plunged through the hole and seized the gun. Before they recovered from their astonishment "Buck" roared out: "Madam, you just flirt the gravel back home, and as for this gentleman he and I will flirt gravel to the office of the Provost Marshal. He is the deserter I have been after for a week."

There was shot in "Buck's" eye now. The woman left. "Buck" recovered his dollar, ate the chicken, and before midnight surrendered his prisoner to the Provost Marshal. It was worth a journey across the continent to hear "Buck tell the story.—From the Courier-Journal.

JEWS IN THE TRANSVAAL.

Steps to Be Taken for Their Better Treatment by the President.

The Transvaal is one of the few countries with pretensions to consideration as civilized Powers that debar Jews from all participation in the legislative and municipal government. Moreover they are disqualified from filling any public office to which a salary is attached, while their schools are the only ones which receive no subsidy from the State. It is largely due to this that the efforts of the Boer Secretary of State, Dr. Leyds, to secure support at Paris and Berlin against the British Government have met with such signal failure, the immensely powerful influence of the Rothschilds and of the other great Jewish financiers who control the money markets of Europe being exercised against the Transvaal. It is to secure legislation removing all the disabilities under which the Jews now labor in the Boer Republic.

"We have parted forever," said the young man, sadly. "She is never going to even write to me again."

"Are you sure of that?" asked his sympathetic friend.

"Yes. She told me so in each of her last three letters."—Washington Evening Star.

"What is unconventional, Uncle Jim?"

"Unconventional? Well, it is being too good natured to get vexed with people who haven't any manners.—Detroit Free Press.

Living on Iron.

Disease Cured by Restoring the Vital Element of Life. Capsuloids, the Latest Discovery of Science Represent the Beginning of a New Epoch in the Practice of Medicine.

The most eminent physicians concede the absolute need of iron in the blood, not only to ward off anæmia, chlorosis and other diseases, but actually to maintain life which becomes extinct the instant the natural iron or Hæmoglobin is insufficient to attract the requisite amount of oxygen from the air cells of the lungs to the blood.

If you would be robust, healthy, strong, clear-brained and impervious to disease, see that your blood is rich with Hæmoglobin. A year ago this advice would have been ridiculous because no form of iron had then been discovered that could be taken up by the blood.

To-day, nineteenth century science makes it possible to infuse the blood with natural iron.

Dr. Campbell, an English physician, widely known for his scientific pursuits, has succeeded in extracting from the blood of healthy bullocks, iron or Hæmoglobin in natural form. This he has re-dissolved and enclosed in a soft, pointed gelatine covering to which the name Capsuloids has been given.

These little globes taken at mealtime, two or three times a day, are all that you require to cure you of any disease having its origin in the blood. They give health to the sickly child, strength to the exhausted woman, vigor to the over-worked man. In chronic ailments and diseases long supposed to be incurable the results accruing from the use of Capsuloids are almost miraculous.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price from the office of The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York City.

NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED IN UP-TO-DATE LAUNDRY WORK.

We run the laundry and take care of all details, but you "boss" it. We do what you tell us to do. It may give you a new sensation to find that you get a domestic finish when you ask for it, and to discover that your collars are actually ironed in the way that the maker intended them to be ironed.

We are running a laundry with the most improved methods and appliances. We use pure water and good soap. We are using two things that are not commonly used in laundries—care and intelligence. If you have found a laundry that pleases you perfectly, we have nothing to say to you. If you have any reason to be dissatisfied, we would like to give you a practical demonstration of our way of running a laundry.

Tell us where and when to call for your work, when you want it delivered, and let us know any particular thing that you would like to have done with it.

We want you to understand that we are running this laundry for you, and that your wishes are to be regarded in every particular. We will give you just exactly what you want, if we can find out what that is. Perhaps you believe that it is impossible to have your laundry well handled without irritation and annoyance to you. We are sure that you are mistaken. May we have an opportunity of demonstrating it?

DE LOME IS ANGRY.

American Relief, Not Intervention, He Says, and Defends Spain.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Mr. Dupuy de Lome, the Spanish Minister, expresses strong disapproval of reports that the relief measures adopted by the United States and co-operated in by Spain are a step toward intervention by this Government in the affairs of Cuba. The Minister characterizes such reports as an effort to mix politics with charity.

"This talk of intervention in certain quarters," he said, "has no other purpose than to embitter both countries and to divert the original essential purpose of alms-giving. The extension of aid to the sufferers in Cuba is no more intervention than was the action of all the nations of the world, including Spain, to extend help to Chicago after the big fire."

Turning to a dispatch just received from Dr. Congosta, Secretary-General at Havana, the Minister proceeded, quoting in part from the dispatch:

"It is not true that the Spanish authorities in Cuba are not equal to the situation. Succor is being given abundantly, and relief committees are in regular operation. In two of the provinces—Puerto Principe and Santiago—there has been no concentration. Forty plantations are grinding sugar. Many of the reconcentrados who are reported to be suffering are in such condition through an unwillingness to work. The energy with which relief measures are being conducted in Havana is shown by a glance at the Havana papers every day, where there are long lists of charitable donations from private parties. The Spanish Government has remitted all duties on relief supplies sent to Cuba, so that for every dollar of supplies entering Cuba Spain adds a considerable percentage.

"American help will be received with the spirit in which it is given, and the American Government, as Secretary Sherman expressed in his recent letter, offers the well-known generosity of the American people in the same spirit that they have accepted foreign help in cases of public calamity."

TO DINE SECRETARY BLISS.

Protective Tariff League Will Honor Its Retiring President.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Appraiser Wilbur F. Wakeman has been in Washington making the final arrangements for a notable banquet which the American Protective Tariff League will give to Cornelius N. Bliss, Secretary of the Interior, and the retiring president of the organization.

The Waldorf-Astoria, in New York, has been engaged for the banquet, which will be one of the most remarkable affairs of the kind ever given in this country. It has been arranged that the dinner shall be purely and distinctively American. American music will be provided, the bill of fare—not menu—will be printed in plain English, and on it will be found canvas-back duck, terrapin and all peculiarly American dishes. The wines and cigars will be of American production, and the attendance will be limited to patriotic Americans. It is expected that the entire Cabinet will be present, and possibly, the President.

Mr. Bliss was one of the organizers of the American Protective Tariff League and served as chairman of its Executive Committee until 1891, when he was elected president, which position he has occupied ever since. Mr. Bliss feels that, as Secretary of the Interior, he cannot consistently continue as president of the Tariff League, and has decided to resign that position. It is in recognition of his services to the cause of protection that this dinner will be given.

Speedy Trial for Eli Shaw.

Camden, N. J., Dec. 29.—Supreme Court Justice Garrison has ordered the Camden County Grand Jury to return the indictment against Eli Shaw at once, in order that he may have a speedy trial, and fixed Jan. 3 as the date of the trial. Prosecutor Jenkins, when informed of the action of the Court, protested against such an early date being set for the trial. He wanted a delay of at least a month in order to perfect his case.

On the Sea for 228 Days.

San Francisco, Dec. 29.—After braving one of the biggest storms encountered during her life on the ocean wave the British bark Nature has arrived here, 228 days from London. Forty per cent. re-insurance has been paid. She was thought to be lost. The ship was loaded with creosote, and many of the casks got adrift and leaked, filling the hold with dangerous gas.

Supplies for the Klondike.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Capt. D. L. Brainard, who is in Chicago making arrangements to advertise for bids for Klondike supplies, has been ordered to advertise for a prepared list of rations, consisting essentially of the army rations, for 1,000 people for 100 days, a weight approximating 250,000 pounds. These supplies are to be delivered at Dyea by Feb. 1.

Prominent Cattle Owner Killed.

Baker City, Ore., Dec. 29.—A telephone message from Canton City reports the killing of Peter French, a prominent cattle and land owner of Harney County, by a man named Oliver. A land dispute was said to be the cause of the trouble. French was probably the largest cattle owner in Oregon, his herds running into the thousands.

The British Fleet Said to Have Anchored at Port Hamilton.

JAPAN'S SHIPS ALSO THERE

The Entire Japanese Cabinet Has Resigned — Strong Ministry Demanded — Russia's Remarkable Contract with Corea.

London, Dec. 29.—A dispatch from Shanghai says the British fleet has anchored at Port Hamilton.

It is reported at Che-Foo that the Japanese fleet has also arrived at Port Hamilton.

The Globe says a private telegram has reached London announcing that over twenty British warships have arrived at Port Hamilton.

China's Difficulties Increasing.

Pekin, China, Dec. 29.—The German question is unsettled. China's difficulty is increased, owing to the uncertainty of the attitude of the powers. Germany's withdrawal from Kiao Chou Bay is said to be conditional upon her finding a suitable naval station elsewhere.

China is becoming alarmed at the present situation. The Government appears to be utterly powerless. No answer has been received from Russia concerning the proposed loan.

The Japanese Cabinet Crisis.

Yokohama, Japan, Dec. 29.—Owing to the failure of reconstruction under the Premiership of the Marquis Saigo, the balance of the Cabinet has resigned.

The newspapers demand the formation of a strong Ministry, capable of coping with the situation in the East.

Strengthening Gibraltar.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Reports received at the Navy Department indicate that the British Government is pushing the work of modernizing the great fortifications at the Rock of Gibraltar with all speed, and that no less than five thousand Spanish workingmen pass daily over the lines to and from their work on the fortifications. A large number of the heaviest pieces of artillery are being put in place, a great dock is under construction, and the plan of defense permits of the absolute protection of a vast British fleet under the guns of the fortress.

RUSSIA'S CONTRACT WITH COREA.

Remarkable Document Under Which the Czar Seized the Finances.

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 29.—The peculiar and remarkable contract under which Russia seized the Corean finances and customs, and thereby forced out McLeavy Brown, the representative of English interests, has been translated. It is as follows:

"In accordance with the commands of the Emperor of Corea, the Corean Minister Plenipotentiary in Russia, Min Yong Hwan, having requested the imperial Russian Government to send to Corea an official versed in finance, whose functions would be to transact all the financal business in Corea and to take charge at the same time of her customs, the Russian Government acceded to the request and directed Mr. Alexieff (described as "member of the Great Council") to proceed to Seoul, where he recently arrived.

"Now, therefore, the Corean Minister of Foreign Affairs and the Russian Minister, acting on behalf of their respective governments, have consulted as to the duties to be henceforth undertaken by Mr. Alexieff, and have agreed as follows:

"Mr. Alexieff is appointed as advisor to the Corean Finance Department and as Superintendent of Customs. The various departments and offices of Corea shall conduct the financial affairs appertaining to them in accordance with the recommendations and directions of the financial advisor, and shall supply him with whatever documentary assistance or aid of any other kind he may require. The financial advisor shall specially provide a suitable person to superintend the Corean customs in lieu of the present occupant of that post. The Superintendent of Customs shall report to him all expenditures and receipts. Should the financial advisor have occasion to leave his post he shall previously select a competent locum tenens, and shall make him discharge his duties during his absence. The person so selected must be approved by the Corean Government and the Russian Government. In the event of the financial advisor returning to Russia he shall not leave Corea until a successor has arrived to discharge his duties. The period of this engagement is unlimited."

It is dated Oct. 5. It will be seen that Russia not only seizes the finances and customs of Corea, but proposes to forever hold the same, notwithstanding that in her treaty with Japan after the China-Japan war she specifically agreed to join Japan in maintaining the independence of Corea, and not to do any act that would jeopardize Japan's influence there.

ENGLAND NOT IN IT.

She Declines to Become a Party to the Seal Agreement.

London, Dec. 29.—Lord Salisbury, the Premier, has written to United States Ambassador Hay in response to America's latest proposals in the Behring Sea controversy, requesting that Great Britain should enter into an agreement with the United States, Russia and Japan to stop sealing.

Great Britain declined to enter into such an agreement. Lord Salisbury says, in substance, that he has communicated with the Canadian Government, which has the foremost interest in the sealing question, and that Canada is unwilling to become a party to such an arrangement as is proposed by the United States. Therefore England, continues Lord Salisbury, whose interest is but slight, would not be justified in acceding to the proposals.

Lord Salisbury's answer emphasizes the policy of Great Britain not to interfere in Canada's foreign relations.

Triple Killing in Kentucky.

Barbourville, Ky., Dec. 29.—Reliable news has been received here of a triple killing in a saloon row at Manchester The victims were Will Burdy, James Philpot and Bob Gregory.

"BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW."

Do you ever ask yourself why you keep chickens?

Is it for pleasure? If so, would not a little profit add to the pride and pleasure?

Possibly it is because you wish to be sure of absolutely fresh eggs on your table. If so, would you not prefer to get the eggs during the winter rather than in the spring, "when everybody's eggs are fresh?"

We can make bricks in these days without straw, but no one can make hens lay eggs in the winter months unless he supplies special foods and care.

We aim to carry in our different stores everything that is necessary for the "Business Hen"—that is, the hen that pays for her board—and we would be pleased to hear from either large or small poultry raisers.

Among other things we would suggest:

Granulated Charcoal,	Poultry Feed,
Ground Oyster Shells,	Buckwheat Grain,
Chicken & Pigeon Grit,	Barley,
Granulated Bone,	Hemp Seed,
Meat Meal,	Millet Seed,
Clover Heads,	Sheridan's Powder.

a large stocking of candy. Gifts were presented to Clarence Mills and Miss Gertrude Sharp, who have assisted in the music at the sessions of the Sunday-school during the last year, and to Sexton Kennedy. Several other gifts were distributed to teachers and classes and then boxes of candy and oranges were passed to the members of the Sunday-school.

The committee in charge of the entertainment consisted of Mrs. D. S. Dunavan, chairman; Miss Persis Snodgrass, Miss Margaret Cory, Miss Elsie Horne, Mrs. N. Y. Hull, Miss Whitney and Miss Edna French.

MT. OLIVE BAPTIST CHURCH.

The members of the Mt. Olive Baptist church Sunday-school, together with their friends, had a good time last evening celebrating Christmastide, and the church was well filled with a jolly crowd. The exercises were in charge of Superintendent M. C. Dobbins and a faithful corps of teachers. The programme was opened with devotional exercises conducted by the superintendent, after which recitations were given by Cathy Mitchell, Bessie Mitchell, Garfield Perkins, Maude Reed and Frank Crouse. Vocal solos were also given by Claude Kingslow, Lawrence Mitchell and Anna Fisher, while the school sang "Echoes of Bethlehem" and "Joy to the World," and a vocal selection was given by five little girls, entitled "Five Beams." The above numbers were very well given.

A special feature was the gramaphone exhibition given under the direction of Robert Love. The various selections were all good and pleased the audience.

The last part of the programme was devoted to the distribution of useful gifts to the scholars, and each member was nicely provided for. The large Christmas tree used was decorated with lots of pretty things, and many of the gifts were displayed in that way.

GRACE P. E. CHURCH.

The Sunday-school of Grace Episcopal church held its Christmas exercises last evening. The audience assembled at 7:30 o'clock in the church, which was prettily decorated with greens After a processional, "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing," the Lord's Prayer was repeated and a carol, "Ring the Merry Christmas Bells," was rendered by the choir. The lesson was then presented to the school and addresses were made by Rev. E. M. Rodman and Rev. Floyd Appleton. The carol, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," was sung during the evening to music written by Cleveland Howard, of this city. The benediction was pronounced and the scholars then marched to the parish house adjoining the church, where a Christmas tree was arranged. "There's a Wonderful Tree, a Wonderful Tree," was sung by the school, and Christmas gifts were then distributed to all.

MONROE AVENUE CHURCH.

The Christmas entertainment at the Monroe Avenue church last evening consisted of the presentation of a cantata, entitled "Christmas Fairies." The programme opened with singing by the scholars, after which Superintendent Walter McGee entertained the audience with several appropriate readings. The cantata was cleverly presented by the following persons: Stella Anderson, Emma Scribner, Clara Scribner, Ada Rogers, Emma Lude, Margaret and Florence Phillips, Emma Dodds, Grace Cowling, Jessie Burt, Edna Phillips, Etta Randolph, Beulah Kline, Sophie Saums, George Whitney, Charles Burt, Madison Squires, Raymond Pugh, Vaughn McGee, W. Williams, Sidney Gilbert, William Mattox, Lizzie Foster, Bertha Wenzel and May Beekman.

After the presentation of the cantata, Walter McGee appeared as Santa Claus, and distributed candy and fruit to the children. The committee in charge consisted of Miss King, Miss Florence Burt and Miss Charlotte Beekman.

A RECEIVER APPOINTED.

Andrew Love, Sr., Will Settle Up the Affairs of the Sanitary Company.

The request made by one of the directors of the Plainfield Sanitary Company has been granted. Yesterday afternoon Vice Chancellor Emery at the Chancery Chambers in Newark appointed a receiver for the company. Andrew Love, Sr., was the man chosen by the Vice-Chancellor for the position of receiver. He is a retired merchant residing on Duer street. The appointment was made on the application of D. C. Ivins, through his counsel, as already stated in this paper.

The assets of the company were stated to be $25,000, and the liabilities $9 000. The company owns a plant consisting of the crematory, horses and wagons.

The receiver will be sworn in before Special Master in Chancery John H. VanWinkle, in this city, today. While Mr. Love has not announced his plan of action, it is understood that the business of the company will be continued until the receiver has completed his duties, and then the company will be re organized and started anew. Owing to the peculiar position in which the company is placed, the work of collecting the garbage and ashes could not very well be stopped without great inconvenience throughout the city.

Broke Her Arm by Falling Downstairs.

While Mrs. Edward Marcellus, of East Third street, was coming downstairs at her home yesterday she slipped and fell to the bottom of the stairway. In falling she struck her arm against the banister, with the result of breaking it near the shoulder. A member of the family, who was in another part of the house at the time, heard the noise caused by the fall and ran to the hall where Mrs. Marcellus was lying prostrate on the floor. Dr. Carman was sent for. It was only a short time ago that Mrs. Marcellus' young son was kicked by a horse and lost the sight of one eye in consequence.

—A meeting of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club has been called for tomorrow evening. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance as the arrangements for the next season will be announced, and some important amendments to the constitution will be proposed.

WANTS HEAVY DAMAGES.

Sarah O'Brien's Suit Because of Charge Made Against Her.

Sarah O'Brien, of this city, has brought suit in the Circuit Court against George M. Phillips. She asks $5,000 damages.

She was a servant in the employ of Mr. Phillips. He had her arrested, charged with stealing a shawl and two rugs. She was indicted, but the prosecutor dismissed the case because he was satisfied of the innocence of the girl. For damages to her reputation the girl asks relief.

Ferryboat in a Crash.

The swift ebb tide before dawn this morning caused an accident on the North River front that disabled the ferryboat Fanwood of the Jersey Central Railroad and kept several hundred passengers detained in midstream for nearly an hour

The port paddle wheel of the Fanwood was torn off just as she was making the slip at the foot of Liberty street by a freight car float of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the craft locking, both swung out in the river unmanagable and were swept down stream.

The Fanwood had left Communipaw at 5 o'clock, and as the outgoing tide was running strong the boat was steered down stream so as to give her plenty of leeway to make the slip.

It was an hour before the Fanwood put in her slip. No one was hurt.

Five Contagious Diseases.

Nothing but routine business troubled the Plainfield Board of Health at the regular monthly meeting of the Board held last evening. The report of Health Inspector Addis showed that at the beginning of the month there had been five cases of contagious disease quarantined in the city. Six new cases had been added during the month and the quarantine relieved on five, leaving six cases still remaining. During the month he had made 54 visits at houses containing contagious disease and 181 inspections.

Dance at the Seminary.

The nine members of the Senior class at the Young Ladies Seminary gave a dance in the Seminary hall last evening. About fifty young people from this city were present and included many of the older pupils at the school and their friends. The hall was charmingly decorated in red and green, evergreens and holly forming the principal decoration. The evening was spent very enjoyably.

Hurt His Shoulder.

While Expressman Hartpence, of the U. S. Express Company, was coming down stairs from Lawyer Marsh's offices on Park avenue yesterday afternoon, he fell a considerable distance, and his left shoulder was severely strained. He will be unable to work for several days.

THE DAILY PRESS.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1897. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

AN EVENTFUL YEAR IN CITY AFFAIRS ENDED.

THE COMMON COUNCIL OF '97 COMPLETED ITS CAREER LAST NIGHT.

There Was Much to Do to Finish the Year's Work and the Council Worked Late to Do It—Speeches Followed—Important Reports Received From Committees.

It required an adjourned and a special meeting of the City Council last evening to close up the business affairs of the city for the past year. President Dumont and all of the Councilmen except Mr. Tolles were present.

On a motion of Mr. Barrows the latter part of the minutes of the last meeting was expunged from the city records as illegal, owing to the fact that the Council had adjourned.

The bond of Constable Aaron Mattox was received and filed, also the bonds of Mrs. F. C. Lounsbury securing her property against any further lien, as provided for at the last meeting of the Council.

Elston M. French asked the Council to lower the sidewalk grade between Plainfield and Grant avenues on West Fourth street. The matter was referred to the new street committee to be appointed next week.

In a communication the Plainfield Electric Light Company stated that new lights had been placed as directed by the Council. The annual reports of the Collector, Treasurer, and Judge were received and filed. The report of the Police Board was read in place of Chief Grant's report, for the reason that all of the salient points in the latter's report is to be found in the former report

Chief T. O. Doane, of the fire department, reported 43 alarms during the year, of which number 29 were box calls, 13 telephone calls and there was one break, making a decrease of 18 over last year. The loss on buildings was $10,571.42; insurance, $70,800; loss on contents, $10,423.70; insurance, $85,000. There were 10 fires caused by defective chimneys; 7, cause unknown; 3, kerosene; 4, sparks from a locomotive.

The annual report of Chief of Police Grant showed the total number of arrests to be 640, and the fines collected amount to $1 212, as against 682 arrests made last year and $1,290 collected from fines. The total expenses of the department were $14,639.71 out of which amount $12,601 47 was paid for salaries.

City Judge DeMeza reported that 614 cases had been brought before him during the year, of which number 129 were committed, 194 fined, 219 sentence suspended, 49 discharged, 11 untried, 11 out on bonds and 1 sent to the asylum. He also reported that he had paid over to the City Treasurer $849.17.

Building Inspector Doane reported that 231 permits had been granted during the year. The reading of Chief Doane's report of the fire department was dispensed with, and the same action was taken with the report of the committee on streets and sewers. However the report of the committee on sewers, was presented by Mr. Frost. It was as follows:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON SEWERS.

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Plainfield:

Gentlemen—We have the honor to submit herewith our fourth annual report for the year ending December 31st, 1897.

There has been 409 feet of eight-inch sewer constructed during the year, making 2,373 miles of completed sewer at a total cost of $166,083.07 to date.

There have been 372 houses connected with the sewer since the beginning of this year, making a total of 1,077 connections. These 1,077 sewer connections represent the displacement of at least 1,200 cesspools and probably 600 outhouses. Allowing $7.00 each for cleaning 1,000 cesspools and $3.00 each for 400 vaults, and interest at 5 per cent. on the $20,000—the approximate cost of construction of 1,700 cesspools and outhouses—there will be a total of $12,200 as the cost of maintenance for one year of a partial system of sewage disposal by cesspool and vault, with their accompanying soil pollution, personal discomfort and unsightly appearance. Against this the maintenance of the present system of 24 miles of sewers cost $3,000, and the interest on the construction bonds for the past year is $6,000, making $9,000, a sum which will be lessened each succeeding year until the bonds are paid off. The cost per capita of population in 1897 is about 60 c. (sixty cents.)

The estimated flow of sewage per 24 hours is 825,000 gallons, or about 60 gallons per capita of the population at present receiving the direct benefit of the sewers.

The purification and disposal of the sewage at the city farm has been successfully prosecuted throughout the year and without any more actual offense than is frequently produced by farm barnyards or city backyards and horse and cow stables.

A detailed statement of expenses of the entire sewer system is appended. Considerable work on the city farm was done which will not have to be repeated; tools have been bought to cover the need of some years to come: the settling of the beds and of embankments has been well cared for: the uselessness of a "Superintendent" other than the Street Commissioner, who should always be an engineer, has been thoroughly demonstrated. and the experiment of cultivating the land for crops for profit by the city as a farmer has been proved too costly for repetition. The city can never expect to get the cost of the labor and seed and marketing from the resulting crops. The present resident laborer in charge of the beds, McMahan, is a very intelligent and capable man and, with the use of one horse (which should be owned by the city) through the year, and additional help from time to time for eight months of the year, can probably care for the disposal of the sewage; the land lying between Front street and Dunellen avenue should be leased temporarily until it is needed for its primary purpose of purifying sewage, and its care meantime should not be charged to the sewer maintenance account.

If the fee for inspection of house connections is raised to $2.00, the proceeds will almost, if not quite, meet the cost of maintenance of the pipe system; the fee is so small that there cannot be any reasonable objection to it as it places the cost of maintenance on the parties directly benefited.

Respectfully submitted,
Geo. H. Frost,
Ralph I. Tolles,
Elliot T. Barrows.

Plainfield, Dec. 29th, 1897.

Hon. Common Council, of the City of Plainfield, N. J.

Gentlemen:—Your committee on streets and sewers beg to submit their report for that part of the work relating to streets for the year ending December 31, 1897.

Next to the security afforded by fire and police protection, nothing comes closer to the people in municipal life than the condition of the streets. Formerly only those owning horses felt its influence, but with the advent of the bicycle and the majority of our people using it, there is a continual cry against uneven, wet and muddy streets.

The march of improvements during the past few years has been particularly unfortunate to the streets of our city. Sewers, house connections and trolley roads have practically ruined the macadamized streets through which they were laid; and, at the present rate of limited appropriations, it will be some years before they are back to their former state.

The question of road building has assumed national proportions; the United States Government having created a "Road Division" to the Department of Agriculture and started to co-operate with local committees for better roads; and all over the country, even from the farming districts, comes the cry for better traveling facilities. The building of the road is but the first step; to invest in telford and macadamized streets and then allow them to disintegrate and go to ruin, is most unbusinesslike and a waste of public money. There are two great foes of macadamized streets, narrow tires and reckless sprinkling, but the time is not far distant when tires and sprinking must be controlled by the municipalities through which they run. The tire question is a State one, but it is feasible, and we believe it would prove a popular measure to have the city sprinkle its own streets. The active co operation of each householder in cleaning and raking their street frontages will also be a great way towards relieving the city of a part of the burden of street cleaning, and will tend to create a sentiment at large for better streets; the town street should be the public park. There is no higher evidence of taste, refinement, enterprise and intelligence of a community than well-kept streets. Ill kept, badly laid public streets speak of public poverty and narrowness, and an absence of that spirit which should possess every citizen loyal to his city's interest and wisely attentive to his own.

Plainfield has seventy miles of streets and roads, twenty-five miles of which are macadamized and Telford, balance dirt; ten of the latter being unaccepted. To clean the macadam and scrape and roll each dirt street once each spring and fall would cost about $8,000. Surely all will admit that this is as little as should be done for looks and cleanliness, yet the last year we were only able to set aside $2,000 for that purpose.

In mapping out the work for the year, the committee were unanimous that a certain amount of re-macadamizing should be done. Central and Grant avenues were promised the previous year, but had to go over to this. These, with Front street from Grant avenue to Berckman, Grove, Somerset, Elm place and parts of Park avenue, Watchung avenue and Washington street, a total distance of 4 1-10 miles, were re-macadamized, at a cost of $6,962.82, nearly one-half the total appropriation. West Ninth street was macadamized by the property owners from curb to curb, and is today the best conditioned street in the city, a monument to the public spirit of the citizens. The work was done by contract with Captain Hand under the supervision of the Street Commissioner, at a cost of $972, the city allowing $360 in lieu of street repairs.

Money spent on dirt streets is the most discouraging feature of street work. A fair example of its results is seen in the section surrounding the Lincoln School on Berckman street. There was spent here, on Midway avenue, Berckman and East Second streets, $569.64, and apparently nothing to show for it. To open Watchung avenue there was spent $397.48, including storm inlets and extension of storm sewer.

These two items represent nearly one-sixteenth of the total appropriation. This part of Watchung avenue will have to be macadamized early in the coming year, and while the city cannot afford to allow more than ten cents for sixteen feet in the centre, or fifteen cents from curb to curb per running foot, yet as this opens one of the main highways to the city, it would seem advisable to depart from the policy of the last two years and appropriate a specific sum for the purpose.

Other streets that should be macadamized during the coming year are: Front, West of Grant avenue and East of Berckman street, West Fourth street, East Fifth street, Westervelt and Sandford avenues, and parts of Eighth street, Plainfield, Park, Madison, Putnam, Watchung, Crescent and Belvidere avenues.

The amount appropriated for repairs and maintenance of streets at the beginning of the year was $16 000. Subsequently, from unappropriated balance, a further sum of $1,400 was allowed for storm-sewers and culverts and $100 for trimming trees. Of this appropriation, $17,296.35 was expended for street work, which, together with $1,738.23 spent by the City Street Rail. way for crushed stone as their share of repairs on streets over which they run, and $340.27 spent by citizens to extend the macadam in front of their residences to the curb, makes a total of $19,374.85 disbursed under supervision of the Street Commissioner. The amount spent for street, storm-sewer and culvert work, exclusive of street cleaning, was divided amongst the wards as follows: First, $4,184.14; Second, $2,118.23; Third, $2,607.69; Fourth, $4,945.31.

As this shows that the Fourth ward received nearly one-third of the appropriation, it should most effectually refute the aspersion cast upon the street committee, that this ward was neglected by its not having a representative on it.

In order to demonstrate whether Plainfield was receiving full value for money spent upon it, the committee, at the suggestion of Freeholder Hubbard, secured Mr, Fink, Union county road builder, to superintend a part of the work on East Front street; his time was given, the city paying his expenses, some $21. For this we desire to publicly thank him. After using our plant and noting our soil condition, etc., we are assured by him that we can do street work at the lowest possible price.

For many years past each street committee has had to face the problem of disposing of surface water. Thanks to the confidence and liberality of the present Council the incoming one has been relieved of a large part of this burden.

The topography of Plainfield is such that in some sections grades necessarily run to depressions, while in others large tracts are drained to one point, which, with shallow gutters and small culverts, renders certain streets impassable and cuts them nearly to pieces after every storm. The corner of Eighth street and Grant avenue drains sixty-two acres. The congestion was here relieved by enlarging the culverts and re-laying them in cement. The corner of Grant avenue and Second street drains one hundred and forty-four acres. Here a twenty-four inch sewer was run under the gutter to below Front street, where it empties into an open trench leading to Green brook.

Culverts at Second and Front streets were enlarged and re-laid in cement.

Front street, opposite Compton avenue, Front street near Rock avenue, Albert street and the intersection of Washington and East Sixth streets were drained by intake basins leading into storm sewers. Two surface cesspools were placed in East Second street between Wasnington and Richmond; the latter should be connected to a storm sewer as soon as possible. All these improvements have given satisfaction and a detailed statement as to cost will be found in detailed report of the Street Commissioner.

At the request of property owners on Central avenue, between Randolph road and Elizabeth street, an ordinance was passed establishing the grade of the street at that point. This necessitated a depression, and a surface cesspool should be placed as soon as sidewalks are laid.

There are still two bad sections which should be treated this coming year, Plainfield avenue under the railway bridge drains 54 acres. Water from here is forced through Second street to Grant, which should be cut off at Plainfield avenue and thence drained into Green brook. After each heavy storm water stands to the depth of four to five feet under the railway bridge at Clinton avenue.

As the C. R. R. of N. J. has neglected to clear the outlet drain, though repeatedly notified to do so, the work should be done by the city as soon as possible.

All who use the streets are aware of the dangerous and uncomfortable open depressed gutters, and it should be the policy of this city to culvert them as fast as possible. During the year new ones were laid on both sides of Park avenue and Second street, Elm place and Orange street, Putnam and Kensington avenues, Eighth and Central avenue, Eighth and Park avenue, Ninth and Park avenue, Watchung and LaGrande avenues, and Watchung and Fifth street.

Iron pipe gutters were placed at the foot of First and Second places on Ninth street, and Westervelt avenue and Orange street. All this work, as well as the laying of crosswalks, was done by our employes at a lower price than formerly paid under the contract system. All petitions for crosswalks during the year were granted to property owners who had already laid their sidewalks. But one only was broken during the year by the use of the steam roller.

Total number of walks laid, forty-three; divided amongst the wards as follows: First, 6; Second, 11; Third, 9; Fourth, 17. Total cost, including repairs and renewals of old crosswalks, $881.11.

There seems to be an impression that this necessary article is ordered with no thought other than looks, but on the contrary they were ordered only on such streets as needed them to preserve the sidewalks and gutters, or to fill gaps where the majority of the property owners had previously laid. There were 19,284 feet laid during the year, divided among the wards as follows: First, 2,138; Second, 5,539; Third, 6,245; Fourth, 5,362.

It seems almost incredible that there should be any opposition to the policy that the traveling public have the right to a clean, good and fare sidewalk. One vacant patch neutralizes the whole. Severe criticism was occasioned in some quarters, and largely from those who were not called upon to lay. In many cases property owners of their own accord laid large sections without being called upon to do so by the city. This in several instances amounted to over one thousand feet each. Up to the present year, streets, like Fourth, west of Plainfield avenue, Grant avenue, Eighth street west of Plainfield avenue, Plainfield avenue south of Seventh street, Stelle avenue, Madison avenue, south of Ninth street, and Watchung avenue east of the brook were almost entirely without sidewalks. These are now nearly laid or under contract. Total number of feet laid during the year, 25,347, divided among the wards as follows: First, 2,045; Second, 6 743; Third, 9,979; Fourth, 6,580.

There are some 2,000 feet on Watchung avenue and East Ninth street in the hands of the committee to be laid by the city, but we feel that the larger part of this will be done by the owners rather than have the extra expense occasioned by the city's action.

The committee had thirty-four meetings during the year, with a full attendance.

We feel that the continued criticism as to the condition of the streets is justified, and for that reason we have made our report long and full of detail, trusting that as the needs of the streets are known, the public will support the incoming Council as to liberal appropriations to overcome what is apparent to all.

In closing, we beg to thank the Council for their uniform courtesy and liberal and loyal support during the year.

Respectfully submitted,
George H. Frost,
(Signed) R. I. Tolles,
E. T. Barrows.

Chairman Serrell of the committee on assessment and collection of taxes, submitted a report of the work accomplished by the committee during the year. It was as follows:

Plainfield, N. J., Dec. 27th, 1897.

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, N. J.

Gentlemen:—Your committee on the assessment and collection of taxes begs to submit the following as its report for the year 1897, just drawing to a close.

At the outset of its work your committee's attention was directed to the report referred

CHRISTMAS FESTIVITIES AT MANY CHURCHES.

SANTA CLAUS CONTINUED HIS ROUNDS IN PLAINFIELD AND SCOTCH PLAINS LAST NIGHT.

The Annual Christmas Tree for the Little Ones at the Children's Home Was Held Yesterday Afternoon—Gifts Were Presented—Enjoyable Entertainments Held at Episcopal Churches.

The Sunday-schools of most of the Episcopal churches and the Children's Home held their Christmas festivals last evening. They were as follows:

HOLY CROSS CHURCH.

The Christmas festival of Holy Cross Sunday school was held in the parish building last night. There was a very large attendance of scholars, their parents and friends, and many late comers were obliged to stand during the entire evening. Upon entering one was struck with the beautiful effect of the handsome Christmas tree, which was tastefully decorated with an abundance of beautiful ornaments. The exercises consisted of singing of Christmas carols by the school under the leadership of George Hasking, choirmaster, and an appropriate address by the rector, who told an interesting and beautiful legend of the Christ Child.

Then, amid a merry jingle of sleighbells, came jolly old Santa Claus, impersonated by Charles Western. He was warmly greeted by the children, and Superintendent Benj. R. Western made him an address of welcome. The good old Saint had a pleasant word for everyone as he distributed the presents. There were books, games, dolls, sleds, skates, knives, drums, guns and toys of every description for the little ones, and appropriate presents for the older scholars, teachers and officers. Superintendent B. R. Western received a handsome engraving mounted in a large gilt frame Mrs. Murphy and the Rector were the recipients of handsome presents. Then after a short speech by Old Santa who told the children to be good until next year when he would call to visit them again, he called for his reindeers, and amid the jingle of sleighbells, departed for his home at the North Pole.

CHURCH OF THE HEAVENLY REST.

One of the best Christmas entertainments ever held at the Church of the Heavenly Rest took place last evening in the parish house. Everyone present was in for a good time and they had it The first part of the evening was devoted to the presentation of a programme consisting of singing by the school, and recitations by Agnes Van Norden, Nellie Morgan, Agnes Henry and Alice Ashworth Superintendent Moore made lots of fun for those present by his introduction of the "Wild Man of Borneo" together with the "King of the Cannibal Islands." It was a performance similar to that given by Punch and Judy and proved to be a great fun-maker.

Mr. Moore distributed presents to everyone in the audience. Considerable fun was occasioned by this part of the programme. Councilman Leivers, who has for many months been endeavoring to secure an electric light on Jefferson avenue, received as a present a toy lamp-post. Charles Graves, who recently lost a valuable horse, was presented with a toy-horse, while Mr. Morgan was given a spade, rake and hoe with which to employ his spare moments. Other presents given consisted of books, knives, games, candy, fruit, etc. Those present all decided that they had enjoyed themselves better than ever before.

CHURCH OF THE REDEEMER.

The Church of the Redeemer was the scene of a brilliant and glorious occasion last evening, when the children of the Sunday-school held their Christmas tree and festival. A special service and programme of music had been prepared, and the children of the Sunday-school sang out their Christmas carols with much sweetness and power. A large tree, beautifully decorated and splendidly illuminated, was the cynosure of all eyes. The gifts for the children were of infinite variety, and all were pleased and delighted with them. The rector, Rev. W. Montgomery Downey, made a very happy and appropriate address upon "The Best Christmas Gift." All the congregation present agreed that it was the happiest Christmas festival the parish has ever known. The inmates from the Children's Home of Plainfield participated in the service and received Christmas remembrances

SCOTCH PLAINS BABTIST CHURCH.

The Christmas exercises of the Scotch Plains Baptist church Sunday-school were held in the church last evening. A very interesting programme was rendered by the little ones. H. L. Hall, of Fanwood, impersonated Old Santy to perfection, much to the delight of the children. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Braker, was remembered by a purse of money. Mr. Allen, cornetist, of the Sunday school, was given a gold medal by the Sunday school. Each child received a present, a box of candy and an orange. The committee in charge deserved great credit.

CHILDREN'S HOME.

Christmas tree exercises were held at the Children's Home yesterday afternoon. At 4 o'clock the children, to the number of twenty, marched into the parlor of the home singing a Christmas carol. In the centre of the room was a large tree prettily decorated with candles and various ornaments. The candles were lighted and the children gathered about and received gifts of clothing, books, toys, games, candy and oranges. The boys of the Cranford Town Improvement Association sent a generous donation of nuts and oranges, and the girls of the association will send a number of scrap books made by themselves. The children were allowed to enjoy the tree until 5 o'clock, when supper was served. Appropriate gifts were also presented to Mrs. Sarah E. Hendrickson, the matron of the home, and to her two assistants. Besides about thirty visiting friends of the institution, there were present Mrs. Horace Kimball, president, and Mrs. C. W. McCutchen, Mrs. Martin I. Cooley, Mrs. Rebecca Lloyd, Mrs. Ruth C. Leonard, Mrs. H. Peck and Miss Ella Serrell, of the board of managers, and Rev. Floyd Appleton, curate of Grace Episcopal church.

SUPERINTENDENT MAXSON HONORED

Made President of the New Jersey State Teachers' Association.

One of the most successful sessions of the New Jersey State Teachers' Association adjourned at Trenton yesterday, after electing its officers for the coming year.

The question of summer schools was discussed, and it was finally decided that the association should declare in favor of such institutions for the further improvement of teachers desiring to benefit by them.

The report of the committee on resolutions on the movement to change the entrance age of pupils to kindergarten schools only from five to four years was adopted.

The report of the treasurer showed the association to be financially healthy.

The nominating committee reported as follows:—For President, Henry M. Maxson, of Plainfield; vice-president, Miss Georgia Craton, Newark; treasurer, H. E. Harris, of Bayonne; trustees of retirement fund, Miss Elizabeth E. Allen, of Hoboken, and S. E. Manness, of Camden. They were unanimously elected.

The officers-elect were officially introduced to the delegates, and as each accepted the honors of the office, in brief but appropriate remarks, they were greeted with applause.

To Enlarge the Hospital.

It is a fact that cannot be denied that the Board of Managers of Muhlenberg Hospital are quietly but surely devising means to enlarge the above institution. For a long time it has been too small to meet the requirements of the hospital and the managers are now obliged to meet the fact squarely in the face. Just what will be done has not yet been decided, but something definite will probably be settled upon at the meeting of the board.

Endeavor Watch Meeting.

The Christian Endeavor Local Union will hold a watch meeting in Warren chapel tomorrow evening. There will be a social time with light refreshments from 9 o'clock to 10:45 o'clock. A meeting for prayer, praise and testimony will be held during the next hour. All Endeavorers in the city and borough are invited to attend.

Trial Was Postponed,

The case of Peck & Co. against Heideloff, on contract, which was set for trial in Justice Mosher's court yesterday afternoon, has been postponed one week.

An Important Meeting.

The meeting of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will be held this evening in the Casino of the Union County Country Club.

Important News.

The third page of the Press contains several columns of important local news today.

—Edward White will place on sale tomorrow one hundred fine long coats and jackets for children. They will be sold at half their value.

WANTS RECIPROCITY

Progress of the Negotiation With the British Government.

IN DOUBT AS TO CANADA

Probable that England Would Like All Her Colonies Included in the Benefits, but the Seal Matter Complicates the Situation.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, has just recovered from a long and painful attack of rheumatism which has kept him in bed for a good part of the last three months. The fact that he was able to call at the State Department Tuesday led to reports that coincident with Lord Salisbury's declination of the proposition to stop pelagic sealing Sir Julian had renewed reciprocity negotiations. His call, however, had no significance, as Sir Julian did not know of Lord Salisbury's answer at the time he visited the department.

As to the reciprocity negotiations, they have progressed steadily through Mr. Adam, First Secretary of the Embassy, and Sir Julian will now be able to give the mater personal attention.

The main desire of the British West India Colonies is to secure the 20 per cent. reciprocity reduction on sugar. What will be offered in exchange has not yet been determined.

May Include Canada.

At the outset the negotiations were confined to the British West Indies, but the present indications are that efforts will be made to include Canada among the colonies receiving the advantages of reciprocity. How far this can be done in view of the failure of the Behring Sea negotiations is not clear, but it is probable that the British Government will prefer to have the negotiations embrace all the colonies, including Canada, instead of repeating the course when the last reciprocity treaties were framed of confining them to the West Indian possessions.

In this connection it may be stated that Mr. Kasson, the special commissioner of the United States, charged with the conduct of the negotiation of reciprocity arrangements and treaties under the tariff act, has not undertaken to consider the subject of reciprocity with Canada. This is due to the fact that the subject of reciprocity, pure and simple, as described in the tariff act, has become so involved with the seal question and other issues as to become practically inseparable from them, and so the entire subject of Canadian relations appears to remain in the control of ex-Secretary Foster.

As to Arbitration.

It has been expected that the recovery of Sir Julian would permit active steps on the British-American treaty of arbitration. There is no present prospect, however, that anything will be done on that subject.

Up to this time no negotiations have been opened between the Ambassador and the State Department. Both governments have signified a favorable attitude towards reopening negotiations, but the British Government will take no steps whatever until assurance is at hand that a treaty will be ratified by the Senate.

It is said that the answer of Lord Salisbury on the Behring Sea question, which has been briefly reported by cable, adds no new phase to the case, as this declination was foreshadowed by the answer of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, declining to stop pelagic sealing.

Fourth-Class Postmasters.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Fourth-class postmasters have been appointed as follows:

New Jersey — Kingsland, Bergen County, John McGarry.

New York—Accord, Ulster County, William O. Haines; Appleton, Niagara, Fred L. Wyman; Clear Creek, Chautauqua, Nina M. Saunders; Coomer, Niagara, W. N. Lewis; Highland, Ulster, Frank F. Simpson; Hurley, Ulster, Charles Du Mond; Kyserite, Ulster, Philetus Kortright; Mineville, Essex, Edgar A. Podmore; Mombaccus, Ulster, Eugene Torwillinger; Moriah Centre, Essex, A. Le Roy Woodruff; New Baltimore, Greene, Stephen T. Whitbeck; Richmondville, Schoharie, Charles B. Brown; Ridge Road, Niagara, William C. Reed; Stormville, Dutchess, Thomas Prevoost.

Pennsylvania — Kizers, Lackawanna County, H. Jansen Cook; Manchester, York, Moses Gohn.

Depositors Accept the Plan.

Philadelphia, Dec. 30.—Depositors and shareholders of the Chestnut Street National Bank and the Chestnut Street Trust and Savings Fund Company continue to sign agreements declaring their approval of the plan for the voluntary liquidation of the affairs of the two institutions devised by Messrs. Earle and Cook, the assignees of the trust company. Many depositors called at the bank yesterday and signified their willingness to accept the plan.

Deputy Comptroller of the Currency Coffin says that the signatures of more than two-thirds of the shareholders required by law before a bank can go into voluntary liquidation have already been secured.

Maj. Handy Seriously Ill.

Augusta, Ga., Dec. 30.—Moses P. Handy, special United States Commissioner to the Paris Exposition, is seriously ill at a hotel in the fashionable suburban district of this city. Maj. Handy, accompanied by Lieut. A. S. Baker, U. S. N., aide to the special commissioner, together with Mrs. Handy and Mrs. Baker, came to Augusta on Dec. 17, suffering from nervous prostration. He has been steadily confined to his room ever since, with no signs of immediate improvement.

Hawaii Treaty Gains.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Senator Cushman K. Davis, chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, discussed with the President yesterday the status of the Hawaiian treaty under the new condition of things. Both the President and the Senator believe that the demonstration of the European powers in China has strengthened the treaty, and that it is now possible to ratify it in its present form. It will be taken up immediately after Congress reconvenes.

TRIED TO KILL THREE PERSONS.

Then the Angry Boarder Took His Own Life

Camden, N. J., Dec. 30.—Eaton Johnson, 22 years old, last night attempted to murder Earnest Fellows, Mrs. Fellows and their son Frank, 13 years old, by shooting them at their home, No. 226 Erie street. He dangerously wounded Fellows and inflicted a slight wound in the boy's thigh and a flesh wound in Mrs. Fellows. Johnson then shot himself, dying instantly.

Johnson, who was a ship carpenter, came here from Richmond, Va., about five months ago, and boarded with the Fellows family, to whom he was related. He fell in arrears for his board, and last night, it is said, was ordered from the house.

Last night when the family was at supper he came for his trunk, but was told he could not have it until he paid his back board, amounting to $7.50. Then he drew his pistol and fired at Fellows, the ball taking effect in the neck, close to the spinal column. Mrs. Fellows ran screaming into the yard. Johnson followed and fired, the shot glancing along her side. He next turned on the boy, who was calling for help, and shot him in the thigh. After firing another shot at Fellows, which went wide, he killed himself. Johnson was formerly employed at Dialogue's ship yards. He was unmarried.

SOCIETY ORGANIZED FOR MURDER

Arrest of Nine Foreign Miners at Pottsville Discloses Its Existence.

Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 30.—Nine foreigners were arrested here yesterday for wrecking a saloon. The proprietor of the saloon, also a foreigner, was ordered by them to leave the place and refused to do so. His place was then smashed to pieces. At the hearing he appeared, revolver in hand, and a friend accompanied him with a shotgun. The accused men were held in bail for trial.

The arrest of these men has brought to light the existence of an organized band of foreigners for the purpose of self-protection and the punishment of enemies. One branch at New Philadelphia, a mining village, has twenty-nine members. Nearly all the members are foreign laborers. Weekly dues are paid in for a defense fund. The society has signs, grips and passwords.

Residents of Silver Creek and the neighborhood are terrified. They fear to make any move against the organization, but the police are quietly getting evidence against it. It is known that these men have sworn to take the lives of a constable, an attorney and a well-known citizen of New Philadelphia. This has been sufficient to make the whole population afraid.

COAL MINERS ON STRIKE.

Honey Brook Men Go Out Again. Trouble Is Feared.

Hazleton, Pa., Dec. 30.—Trouble has again developed in the Honey Brook district of the Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal Company, and yesterday morning 2,000 men were thrown out of employment because 500 stripping employes at work on the surface went on a strike. Twenty-five men were reported absent on Monday, and Superintendent Jones, to discipline them, sent them home Tuesday. The union men took a hand in the matter and made a demand upon the superintendent for their reinstatement.

This was refused, whereupon the stripping hands left mine No. 4 yesterday morning, and, proceeding to No. 5, induced the men there to follow. The other hands were thus forced to quit. It was Superintendent Jones who refused to grant any concessions when the last great strike was precipitated. Unless some concessions are made this time it is feared that serious trouble will follow.

Bank Officials Arrested.

El Reno, Oklahoma, Dec. 30.—Gustav Thelan, president of the tock Exchange Bank; Michael Eichoff, cashier; Charles A. Newman, assistant cashier, and Louis Eichoff, a member of the Board of Directors, have been arrested on the charge of receiving deposits when the bank was known to be insolvent. A big meeting of the stockholders was held at which great excitement was manifested, and several of the speakers declared that they were ready to lead a lynching party. The bank had $66,000 in deposits when it went under, but will probably not pay more than 25 cents on the dollar.

Neighbors Could Not Bear to Look Upon Her—A Grand, Complete Cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla After Others Failed.

"I was taken with neuralgia in my head and eyes. Not long after this, a scrofula sore appeared on my left cheek, extending from my upper lip to my eye. Other sores came on my neck and on my right arm and one of my limbs. They were very troublesome and painful and soon became great running sores. My face looked so bad that some of my neighbors could not bear to look at me and advised me to wear a bandage, but I feared this would irritate the sore and make it worse. So I Could Not Hide the Sores.

My niece, who was familiar with a case similar to mine, which had been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, urged me to try it. Finally I was persuaded to do so, and in a short time I saw it was helping me. The sores began to heal and the neuralgia in my head was better. In a few months the sores on my arms and limbs all healed; those on my neck gradually disappeared and now they are all gone. I have never had any symptom of scrofula since. One large scar on my right arm is all the sign that remains of my terrible affliction. The neuralgia is also cured." MRS. J. M. PUBLIC NOTICE.

Township of Fanwood, } ss.
County of Union }

Public notice is hereby given that application by petition has been made to the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood for the consent of said committee to construct a street railway over and upon the streets and avenues in said township, known as Second street extension, Park avenue, Forrest road, Midway avenue and North avenue between the Township lines of the Township of Westfield and the City Line of the City of Plainfield; that said petition has been presented by the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company, a corporation organized under the laws of this state; that said petition was filed with the clerk of the Township of Fanwood, on the twenty-first day of December, 1897; that the road intended to be constructed, operated and maintained, is a double track street railway and the motive power to be used thereon is electricity to be supplied from overhead wires, supported by poles, and the streets through which the same shall extend, are as above mentioned.

The Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, has fixed Thursday, the Sixth day of January at eight o'clock in the evening as the time, and the Excelsior Hall in the said Township of Fanwood as the place in which said Committee will consider said application and will give a public hearing to all persons interested therein.

Household Gods.

The ancient Greeks believed that the Penates were the gods who attended to the welfare and prosperity of the family. They were worshipped as household gods in every home. The household god of to-day is Dr. King's New Discovery. For consumption, coughs, colds and for all affections of Throat, Chest and Lungs it is invaluable. It has been tried for a quarter of a century and is guaranteed to cure, or money returned. No household should be without this good angel. It is pleasant to take and a safe and sure remedy for old and young. Free trial bottles at L. W. Randolph's, Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.

The marriage of Miss VanArsdale to Charles W. Harden will take place this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride on Jackson avenue. The groom is a resident of Newark.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

Miss Trautman, the bookeeper of the Bard Cycle Company's store on North avenue, has gone to Westfield to take charge of the company's branch store in that place.

Don't be persuaded into buying liniments without reputation or merit—Chamberlain's Pain Balm costs no no more, and its merits have been proven by a test of many years. Such letters as the following, from L. G. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Miss Robinson, of Paterson, is visiting at the home of Miss Charlotte DeMeza, of West Second street.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagah, Ind. Ter. Chief. This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and la grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Mrs. Abbott, of Crescent avenue, is visiting friends in Washington.

Rev. Floyd Appleton, of Park avenue, is recovering from an affliction of the eye.

Mr. C. M. Dixon, a well known merchant, of Pleasant Ridge, Fulton Co., Pa., has a little girl who is frequently threatened with croup, but when the first symptoms appear, his wife gives her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which always affords prompt relief. THEATRICAL.

The attraction at Stillman Music Hall tonight will be "Cuba's Vow," a melodrama in five acts with comedy. It tells a pretty love story, and the curtain is falling for the last time before the audience can tell whether or not it has all ended happily. The play is mounted very handsomely.

For the New Year's attraction Manager Edwards has fortunately secured the well known comic opera organization, the "Gonzalez Opera Company," which will present two beautiful romantic operas. At the matinee the laughable opera, "Said Pasha," will be presented. This is one of Stahl's most famous compositions and abounds in beautiful music and ludicrous situations. The evening opera will be Auber's immortal "Fra Diavolo," with its stirring situations, delightful music and thrilling climax, including the most vivid death scene and fall from the "rocky pass" in the famous Italian mountains. The seats for both performances are now on sale.

Is there a plot? No. Is there a problem? No. Could the piece by any stretch of the imagination be called anything else than a comedy? No. Is there any fun, pretty girls, good music, singing and dancing? Yes, and plenty of it; for, in fact, Blaney's big success, "A Railroad Ticket," which will be seen at Stillman Music Hall Monday night, headed by Burt Haverly and Laura Biggar, with a very strong supporting cast, comes recommended as one of the farce comedy hits of the season.

PASSING COMMENT.

The newspaper will become a luxury if the industry recently started in Sussex county thrives. At the Augusta Creamery skimmed milk is being converted into cheese, several hundred pounds being made every week. The cheese is then shipped to Vermont, where it is made into paper. When the plan is perfected, cheese newspapers will be the thing, and when the reader has devoured the contents he may then proceed to eat the newspaper.

Though it is not generally known that Mayor Wilson, of the borough, is one of the largest real estate owners in both city and borough, it is a fact that he is. What seems remarkable, however, is that the Mayor has never given but one deed for land in either city or borough, and that to M. I. Cooley for a piece of property in the borough. It is the acquisition and ability to hold real estate that has made many great fortunes.

* * * *

Time is, indeed, a wonderful thing; even a few seconds sometimes makes an incomprehensible difference in things that are to occur in this world. And so it was Tuesday. Had the engineer on the train that was wrecked on the Central near the North Avenue station received a telegram a minute before he did there would have been no such catastrophe. When the train passed through Fanwood railway employes at that station noticed that the fateful brake-chain was dragging. The operator telegraphed to the Plainfield station as soon as possible, telling the engineer to hold the train till the chain could be fixed. Operator Schermerhorn took the telegraphic ticks down on the yellow blank and gave it to the brakeman to carry to the man at the throttle. But in the meantime the chain had caught in the switch-frog and—well, it would have been just as well if the telegram had never been sent from Fanwood. The only consolation in the incident was that it showed the vigilance of the railway employes.

The Common Council of 1897 closed its labors, last evening, and now exists only in the memories of the people. The year has been an unusually eventful one as far as the Council has been concerned. Its doings have been watched by the people with more than the usual interest. Next Monday, the new Council that is to look after the affairs of the city for the next twelve months will begin its sessions. Everybody is anxious to know what measures the Council of '98 will take, how they will handle the question of the streets and sewers, what change there will be in the tax rate, and a score of other muncipal problems of much importance to the property owners and taxpayers of the city. Meanwhile the new councilmen smile knowingly and say nothing.

The Boards of Health of the cities of Elizabeth and Rahway have ordered the ice companies in their respective cities to keep skaters off the frozen surface of ponds where they expect to cut ice this winter. It is feared that disease will be transmitted in that manner. The action of the Board is in accordance with a state law. The Board of Health of North Plainfield took similar action sometime ago and it has been enforced in the borough. At New Market, however, where a large crop of ice is annually gathered, there is no such restriction and scores of young people go to the pond every day of the skating season.

WANTS AN EXTENSION OF TIME.

Contractor Christmas Cannot Finish His Work Within Time Limit.

The ground is not exactly ideal for digging sewer trenches and Contractor Patsy Christmas is badly handicapped in his work. By his contract, he is called upon to complete the laying of the sewers on Stelle avenue, Watchung avenue, Hillside avenue, Berkeley avenue, Orange place and Somerset street by January 1st. That will be impossible and he is going to petition the Common Council for an extension of time in which to do the work.

Christmas has now laid 1350 feet of sewer on Plainfield and Stelle avenues and now has 200 feet more to lay to complete the Stelle avenue job.

There is now about four inches of frost in the ground and it is necessary to burn sawdust and kerosene to enable the laborers to break through the frozen surface.

Contractor Christmas wants to wait the rest of his work until the ground is in better condition for excavation and will enable him to leave it in some kind of condition. The remaining work to be done consists of several short jobs of 300 feet each on the streets already mentioned. The prospect of having Somerset street torn up in mid winter is not very pleasing and it is propable that Christmas's request will be granted.

Important Changes Made.

Two important changes have been made in connection with the management of the Jersey Central Railroad. George H. Frech, of Roselle, formerly trainmaster, and several years ago a telegraph operator in this city, has been appointed superintendent of the New Jersey Division of the railroad vice W. H. Peddle resigned as already stated in the Press. J. T. Olhausen, son of General Superintendent, J. H. Olhausen, of Elizabeth, has been appointed trainmaster in place of G. H. Frech. The changes will take effect January 1st.

Advised Not to Pay Election Officers

All bills against the city were reported correct at the meeting of the Common Council last evening except those presented by the election officers. Mr. Baker stated that the Corporation Counsel had advised the Council not to pay the election officers bills.

HAND CAUGHT IN PLANER

EDWARD FEIRING MET WITH A SERIOUS ACCIDENT YESTERDAY.

His Arm Was Drawn Into the Planer—The Noise of the Machinery Prevented His Screams From Being Heard.

In the roar of the machinery at the Pond Tool Works, yesterday afternoon, the cries for help of Edward Feiring were drowned. Meanwhile, his hand and arm was slowly being crushed. Just in the nick of time, before Feiring was drawn into the planer, his cries were heard and the machinery stopped.

Feiring lives on Harrison street, North Plainfield. He is employed in the Pond Tool Works where, of late, he has been in charge of one of the large planers. Yesterday afternoon, while working there, his left hand caught between the bed of the planer and the cogs. He was unable to release it from the dangerous position and had a very narrow escape from loosing the entire arm, which would have soon been crushed to pieces.

As it was, the hand was badly crushed and the flesh torn from the elbow to the tips of the fingers. The wound bled freely and Feiring lost a large quantity of blood. He suffered terrible pain while his arm was being removed from the machine.

In the meantime a carriage was telephoned for and the injured man was taken to the Muhlenberg Hospital, but there being no physician at the hospital at the time, it was thought best to take Feiring to the home of a physician. Dr. Frank Hallock, of Park avenue, was the first to be found and he gave the necessary treatment, after which the patient was taken to his home.

Later in the evening Dr. Hallock was summoned as the lacerated arm started to bleed again. The doctor was obliged to take twelve stitches in the wound. The great loss of blood was caused by the breaking of the main artery. As yet it cannot be ascertained whether or not Feiring will lose his arm or hand. The arm is very much swollen and the patient suffers terrible pain.

Election at Unity Lodge.

Election of officers was held at the meeting of Unity Lodge, No. 102, Knights af Pythias, last evening, and resulted as follows; Chancellor commander, R. H. Loughlin; vice-chancellor, Frank Rathbun; prelate, A. W. TenEyck; master of work, Geo. Bedford; master of finance, J. VanWinkle, Jr.; keeper of records and seals, Frank Putnam; inner guard, William Johnson; outer guard, Chas Sandberg; master af exchequer, S. Humpston; representative to the Grand Lodge, Frank Putnam; alternate, J. VanWinkle, Jr.; trustee for three years, Bateman Thatcher. The officers will be installed at the meeting next Wednesday evening.

Dolliver's Wheel in Court Again.

The case of Charles Aklund, formerly of Brooklyn, but of late of this city, charged with stealing a bicycle owned by Charles M. Dolliver, of Manning avenue, will be called at Somerville today by the Grand Jury. The wheel was taken about two weeks before Christmas, and Aklund was arrested in this city and arraigned before Recorder Thomas, of the borough.

Owing to insufficient evidence the case was thrown out. Recently Prosecutor Dungan asked Recorder Thomas for the papers in the case and he has now placed it in the hands of the grand jury.

A Social Afternoon.

Mrs. Wirt, a member of the woman's section of the Gesang and Turn Verein, gave her sister members a pleasant reception in the hall on Somerset street yesterday afternoon, in honor of her wedding that occurred several weeks ago. The feature of the affair was sociability, and before the members departed for their homes refreshments were served.

On a Broadway Cable Car.

Alex. Mallinson, the North avenue druggist, had an experience with a Broadway cable car in New York yesterday. He attempted to alight from the car when the car started and Mr Mallinson went toward the street with great force, bringing up suddenly on the side of his face. A scratch on the side of his nose was the result.

Borough Sidewalks Clean

Borough Street Commissioner Conover deserves much credit for his efforts, this morning, in cleaning off the sidewalks of the borough. He commenced work at 4 o'clock and by the time the boroughites got around they were able to walk to any part of the town with comfort.

The Hospital Full.

There are at present eighteen patients at Muhlenberg Hospital, and the accommodations are about exhausted.

—The second reception, to be given by the Helping Hand Society of Grace church, will be held in the parish house this evening at 8 o'clock.

—The case of Milkman Sage against Borough Recorder Thomas was called by the Grand Jury at Somerville yesterday, and after the testimony of one witness was heard the case was thrown out.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

Contractors to Investigate Preliminary to Making a Bid.

Washington, Dec. 30.—A party of fourteen gentlemen, representing a number of prominent contractors, will sail to-day from New York on the steamer Finance for Nicaragua. They will make a personal investigation of the surveys of the Nicaragua Canal, not as representatives of the canal company, but simply as business men. Their purpose is to thoroughly study the canal, and if they are favorably impressed they will on their return make the canal company an offer to dig and build the canal for a certain sum.

They will further agree to complete the canal, so that the naval force of the United States can pass through it before they demand one cent of payment. The gentlemen of this party favor the Menocal survey, but are open to conviction as to the others. They represent, among other contractors, those who are now completing the Chicago Canal, and also the firm which built the Russian canal from St. Petersburg to Kronstadt.

They cannot make their proposition to the government, but will do so to the canal company, who, they expect, will in time lay it before the Washington authorities.

FREAK A LA DARWIN.

Remarkable Specimen of Humanity Received in a St. Louis Hospital.

St. Louis, Dec. 30.—W. L. Brebracht, a remarkable freak received at the City Hospital, is regarded as a striking proof of the Darwinian theory. Brebracht was born with seven fingers on the right hand, six on the left, and only two toes on each foot. Closer examination showed that the patient had cleft hands and cleft feet. His spinal column is bent in a manner unlike anything ever seen in a human being. The curvature closely resembles that of a horse. The shoulders are also shaped like those of a quadruped, and indicate a much greater adaptation to physical endurance than is possessed by the average human shoulder.

Brebracht does not object to examination, and answers all questions cheerfully. He has inherited from his mother and her ancestors, he says, these striking evidences of man's ascent from a lower order of being.

FIRE AND EARTHQUAKE.

Hayti Gets Both the Same Night, and 3,000 Persons Are Homeless.

Port au Prince, Hayti, Dec. 30.—At 11 o'clock Tuesday night a fire, which assumed considerable proportions on account of lack of water to supply the pumps, broke out and destroyed 800 houses, including a number of warehouses, a hotel, the Church of St. Joseph and its parsonage. About 3,000 persons were rendered homeless.

Yesterday morning at 6.40 o'clock there was an earthquake, the disturbances running from north to south, lasting half a minute, and causing slight cracks in the earth. There were no accidents, but the population was greatly alarmed.

Finally Forced to Close.

Brunswick, Ga., Dec. 30.—The Merchants and Traders' Bank of this city failed to open its doors yesterday morning. The capital stock of the bank is $100,000. Some months ago there was a plan to put the bank in the hands of a receiver, and ever since the depositors have been withdrawing, and the bank has been losing outside business to such an extent that it was finally determined to close.

Missing Minister a Wanderer.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 30.—The missing preacher, the Rev. Samuel Spurrier, is believed to be wandering towards Canada. It is said he stopped with M. A. Sammon, in West Pittston, last Friday night said he was going to Canada, and left the next morning.

DUNELLEN STORE IN FLAMES.

The Fire Broke Out at Midnight and Destroyed the Building.

Last night at 12 o'clock a fire broke out in the fruit and candy store conducted by Mr. Lusardi on North avenue, Dunellen, and the building and entire contents was destroyed. Mr. Lusardi closed his place about 10 o'clock in the evening and left a fire burning in a stove in the rear part of the store. It is not known exactly what caused the fire, but the supposition is that it caught from the stove and set fire to the building. The fire was discovered by John Tingley, Jr., who was on his way home from the New Market pond, where he had been skating. He alarmed the neighbors and it was not long before the fire department turned out. By very hard work the firemen were able to save the adjoining buildings which were very close to the burning structure. The fire made a very bright light and Chief Grant, of this city, says that he was able to see the blaze. The building was only one story and not very large, although it contained a big supply of fruit, candy, tobacco, etc. The firemen were handicapped as usual by not having an abundant supply of water. However, they did great work in confining the flames to the one building. The firemen worked for nearly two hours before they finally extinguished the fire.

The business was owned by Alex. Lusardi, of this city, and conducted by his brother. There was $250 insurance on the place and contents, and the policy was in the American Fire Insurance Company, of Philadelphia, and held by J. C. Pope & Co., of this city. The loss is about $500.

A VICTORY AT BASKET BALL.

The Plainfield Y. M. C. A. Defeated The Newark Y. M. C. A. Team.

The basket ball team of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. won another victory last evening by defeating the crack team of the Newark Y. M. C. A. in the latter's gymnasium. Last year, the Newark boys defeated the Plainfield team three times.

The game last night was a very interesting one and proved an exciting one from start to finish. The Newark team took the lead at the start while the visitors suffered from the strangeness of the place. At the end of the first half, the score stood 12 to 6 in favor of the home team. In the second half the Plainfield boys braced up and played a fierce game that was not to be withstood. They rapidly decreased Newark's lead and in the last few minutes of play, had tied them. A foul by one of the Newark players was all that was needed. The Plainfielder threw the goal and the game was won by the Plainfield team by one point, 17 to 16.

The Plainfield team was composed of Long, E. Moraller, Egan, M. Moraller and Smith. They played well together, and it was by their excellent team work that they won the game.

OAK TREE.

Miss Annie Caufield, of Trenton, is the guest of Miss Quinn, of Park avenue.

The framework of the new residence of Judge Steele on the Cregier property has been set up and the house will be ready for occupancy in the spring.

The skating on the ponds near Oak Tree has been good during the last few days. The snow has been brushed off the ice and many have enjoyed the skating.

The Sunday-school of the Marconnier chapel will hold its Christmas festival this evening in the chapel. A programme of musical selections and recitations will be rendered during the evening. A Christmas tree and Santa Claus will follow.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manuufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Fred E. Smith, of Mercer avenue, is confined to the house with a severe cold.

THE FIRES OF LIFE.

Five-sixths of the food we eat goes to keep us warm. Death by starvation is really death by cold. If the nutrition of the body is insufficient, the body itself is consumed. Growing thin or wasting away is a process of burning up. To stop the process, increase nutrition, supply fuel.

DeLONG'S EMULSION of COD LIVER OIL is the remedy needed in all chronic or wasting diseases. It affords material for food, for growth, for increasing strength and energy. It cures throat and lung troubles.

—The meeting of the "Sixteen Social Sisters" whist club will be postponed on account of sickness until Tuesday of next week, January 4th, at which time they will meet at the home of the president on East Fifth street.

—An evening of recreation and pleasure is offered by the Twilight Social Club, of this city, at their tenth grand ball, to be given in the Crescent Rink New Year's Eve, (to-morrow night). The dances given by the Twilights in the past have been most enjoyable, and the one tomorrow evening will be no exception. All should take this opportunity of enjoying themselves and of dancing the old year out and the new in. An excellent supper will be served and the best of music furnished by Rogers.

PARKS DEFEATED AT WHIST.

The Team of the Elizabeth A. C. Won by One Trick.

The Park Club whist four met its first defeat for the New Jersey Whist Associaton trophy last evening at the hands of the Elizabeth Athletic Club team. The match was played in Elizabeth. It was an exciting one throughout and was a close fight to the end. The Elizabeth team finally won by a score of 11 tricks to 10. The Elizabeth A. C. team consisted of Messrs. Saltonstall, Weeks, Lane and Odiorne. The Parks were represented by Messrs. McCutchen, Howell, Rogers and Reed. The Parks are still in the lead for the trophy, however, despite their defeat last night.

A Musical Christmas.

The annual Christmas entertainment of the Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school will be held this evening in the large Y. M. C. A. Hall. The attraction will be the Queen City Band, of this city, under the leadership of Benjamin LaVere. The band will render a very choice programme of music. Friends of the church and school are cordially invited to attend.

August Arnold Indicted.

August Arnold, of Bound Brook was indicted by the Middlesex County grand jury, Tuesday, for atrociously assaulting Albert Lee, of Bound Brook on November 17 He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set down for January 4th.

An Old Offender

Charles Cashen, a resident of North Plainfield, and an old offender, was arrested by Marshal Kliner for being drunk and disorderly. This morning Recorder Thomas gave hm ten days as punishment to fit the crime.

BIG FLEET TO BACK IT UP

British to Use Canadian Pacific Ships—May Send More Troops—Bismarck Anxious for German Eastern Policy to Succeed.

Shanghai, Dec. 30.—It is reported here that the Admiral of the French fleet has hoisted the French flag on Hai-Nan Island, which is between the China Sea and the Gulf of Tonquin. The Chinese offered no opposition.

London, Dec. 30.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Singapore confirms the report of the seizure of Hai-Nan Island by the French.

According to a special dispatch from Shanghai, the British Admiralty has requisitioned three of the Empress steamships, belonging to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

Berlin, Dec. 30.—The Tageblatt says Prince Henry of Prussia will visit the Mikado and the King of Corea.

Its Kiel correspondent says a further force of marines will start for China in January.

According to the Nueste Nachricten, of Leipsic, Prince Bismarck disclaims all responsibility for Germany's policy in China; but he approves it and wishes it executed with energy on the assumption that it implies an entente with Russia.

Hai-Nan Island is off the south coast of China, and separates the Gulf of Tonquin from the China Sea. It has an estimated area of 12,000 square miles and a population of 1,000,000 Chinese, exclusive of wild tribes in the interior. Some of the mountains in the centre rise above the snow line. It has several large rivers. The coasts are generally rocky, but the west coast is low and the south coast has some good harbors. Timber is a principal product. This is sent to Annam, Siam and Singapore. Other exports are rice, sugar, wax, pearls, coral, salt and a little gold and silver. Its capital is Kiong-Choo, a populous city on its north coast.

Japanese Diplomat Says the Powers Do Not Threaten Her.

Washington, Dec. 30.—The rapid movement of events in the far East continues to be an absorbing topic in diplomatic circles. There is no further talk of the United States as a possible factor in the contest, as the recent understanding at a Cabinet meeting is accepted as removing this government from the field of controversy.

At the same time an eminent authority on international affairs said that a situation might develop when the United States would be called upon to go much further than protect American interests at the treaty ports in China. This situation would come, he said, if the scramble for Chinese territory went to the extent of the extinction of China and the complete absorption of the old empire by foreign nations.

A leading Japanese diplomat said: "No event has occurred thus far to indicate that China is about to be divided among the powers. The only tangible fact is that Germany has occupied Kiao Chou Bay and Russia has a fleet at Port Arthur. But Germany's action was taken to collect an indemnity for an indigniy to German missionaries, just as she enforced indemnity from Hayti. Beyond this, Germany may seek to establish a naval station at Kiao Chou, and thus have a naval base of operations on the Pacific. But that does not involve the taking of any considerable portion of Chinese territory, and it is yet to be shown that Germany will take more than a coast port and such land immediately adjacent as to give the port proper facilities.

"If it comes to taking territory, the course of China must not be overlooked. While China is weak from a military and naval standpoint, yet she has an enormous number of men ready to take the field, while the entire force of Germans at Kiao Chou cannot exceed a few thousand men. Even a weak nation is strong in defending its own territory. There are reports that Japan would aid China in an extremity, but there is nothing in that. Japan, doubtless, will act alone, if there is any reason for acting at all. Thus far, however, I know of no steps that Japan has taken, or contemplates, towards taking part in the controversy. My impression is that she will remain an independent and neutral observer. Her position will be much stronger by such a policy than it would be by an alliance at the outset. As an observer, if she sees that the partition of China is at hand, doubtless she would have some part to take, but for the present there is no evidence that such an emergency is near."

A Chinese diplomat said: "The alleged official statements coming from the Chinese Legation have been unwarranted, as the Legation has not received a word from Pekin since the first notice was sent that a German force had landed at Kiao Chou, without previous notice to the Chinese Government. It is felt, however, that many of the reports as to the seriousness of the situation, particularly those from Shanghai, are overdrawn. Judging from the press dispatches, there appears to be little doubt that the original purpose of Germany to enforce an indemnity has now developed into securing a naval station at Kiao Chou, and possibly more teritory, on the ground that Germany is entitled to a return for her service during the China-Japan war. But it appears to be overlooked that Germany has received distinct returns for those services in the granting of large concessions, which, at the time of the grant, were considered as most valuable to Germany.

"As to the Russian fleet at Port Arthur, that is not a surprise. A Russian fleet was Wintered at a Chinese port last year, with the consent of China, as it involved no sacrifice of territory. What the outcome will be it is difficult to say, but it is felt that an amicable settlement will be made, possibly by the granting of coast stations, but without any serious dismemberment of territory."

FITZ SAYS HE WILL FIGHT.

Agrees to Take On Both Corbett and McCoy Upon Certain Conditions.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—Martin Julian, on behalf of Bob Fitzsimmons, has announced that the champion, in deference to the wishes of the public, will meet both Jim Corbett and Kid McCoy, but upon certain conditions, named by him, only. In the first place, any fight must be for at least $10,000 a side and the largest purse offered. As to McCoy, he must meet Choynski before he is taken on by Fitz. As to Corbett, he must show his sincerity by first defeating some good man. Sharkey, Maher or Choynski will do.

Julian says that Fitzsimmons' determination never to enter the ring again was sincere. That before his fight he made his wife a promise to that effect. He says, further, that both he and Fitz have been for weeks trying to persuade Mrs. Fitzsimmons to withdraw her opposition, but that they have only now succeeded. The main reason that Fitz makes the condition that Corbett fight some good man first is that he does not think Jim is sincere in his desire to meet Fitz again. Julian says it took Fitz five years to drag him into the ring last time, and they propose to have some assurance of his sincerity before the champion takes him on.

Corbett Ready to Sign.

New York, Dec. 30.—William A. Brady, Corbett's manager, discussed the condition imposed by Fitz at length. He reiterated what he had said so often, that the only man Corbett will meet is Bob Fitzsimmons.

"Corbett will never fight Maher, Sharkey or Choynski," said Brady, decidedly. The only pugilist he will agree to make a match with is Fitzsimmons. Jim lost the fight with the Australian at Carson City through carelessnes. As it was, he had all the better of it up to the time he was knocked out.

"Corbett is thoroughly in earnest about another contest with Fitz, and he will sign articles any time the Australian names. If he thinks Corbett is bluffing, I will post $2,500 with Dan Stuart, George Siler or Louis Houseman as a forfeit for a match."

McCoy Accepts Conditions.

New York, Dec. 30.—Kid McCoy was in great spirits when he heard of the announcement that Fitz would take him on. He at once telegraphed to his brother Homer to make the match and put up a certified check for $1,000 to bind it. He said that he was perfectly willing to meet any one in his class whom Fitz named, but would prefer meeting the champion first.

Sibley Sues for Alleged Libel.

Franklin, Pa., Dec. 30.—Patrick C. Boyle, editor of the Oil City Derrick, was arrested yesterday on an information made by ex-Congressman Joseph C. Sibley, charging him with criminal libel. Boyle immediately furnished bail. The prosecution is based on articles published during the recent campaign.

Mr. Sibley is the wealthy free-silverite who three years ago bitterly attacked President Cleveland in Congress, calling him "a combination of brains, belly and brass."

Sweeping Reductions

in the

Cloak Department.

We do not intend to carry over any stock, therefore we begin early to cut prices on every cloak in the house.

The Misses' and Children's cloaks have been reduced, there are only about a dozen styles left, and in nearly every line the sizes run from 4 to 18 years.

This price-cutting in midwinter gives late cloak buyers a splendid opportunity to purchase reliable garments at a great saving.

The Talk of the City.

It's of Interest to Our Readers Because it Refers to Plainfield People.

It's astonishing how good news will spread. From every ward and street we hear of our people talking about the workings of the little conquerer. Merit and honorable methods receive their just reward. So many cases are cropping up that it is next to impossible to investigate them all, but we have taken a few in hand and give them publicity for the benefit of our readers. Our representative obtained the following statement of facts in a personal interview. They are true in every particular and no stronger evidence can be obtained than home indorsement.

Mrs. Margaret Reville, of 732 West Third street, says: "For a long time I was troubled with a lame back and I never found any thing which gave me any relief until I obtained a box of Doan's Kidney Pills from L. W. Randolph's drug store and began using them according to directions. It was only a short time before I felt the good effects and from that time on I improved steadily under the treatment. My back had before pained me and was so weak and sore that I dreaded to bend over and when I had a cold or over-exerted myself I suffered severely. I used several different kidney remedies but did not get little if any relief. I give Doan's Kidney Pills all the credit for my improvement. I think they are a fine remedy for a lame back. My experience with them has been very satisfactory and I do not hesitate to recommend them to any one suffering from kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED IN UP-TO-DATE LAUNDRY WORK.

We run the laundry and take care of all details, but you "boss" it. We do what you tell us to do. It may give you a new sensation to find that you get a domestic finish when you ask for it, and to discover that your collars are actually ironed in the way that the maker intended them to be ironed.

We are running a laundry with the most improved methods and appliances. We use pure water and good soap. We are using two things that are not commonly used in laundries—care and intelligence. If you have found a laundry that pleases you perfectly, we have nothing to say to you. If you have any reason to be dissatisfied, we would like to give you a practical demonstration of our way of running a laundry.

Tell us where and when to call for your work, when you want it delivered, and let us know any particular thing that you would like to have done with it.

We want you to understand that we are running this laundry for you, and that your wishes are to be regarded in every particular. We will give you just exactly what you want, if we can find out what that is. Perhaps you believe that it is impossible to have your laundry well handled without irritation and annoyance to you. We are sure that you are mistaken. May we have an opportunity of demonstrating it?

KLONDIKE'S PETITION

Three Men Sent to Ottawa to Protest Against Severe Laws.

NO DANGER OF STARVATION

The Consensus of Opinion Among Returning Miners Is that There Will Be Supplies Enough to Last Through the Winter.

Dawson City, N. W. T., Nov. 25, via Seattle, Wash., Dec. 30.—The miners here have commissioned three men to go immediately to Ottawa and present a petition to the Canadian authorities reciting the reasons why the new mining laws are unjustly severe.

The petition is the result of several conferences of committees composed of the most intelligent citizens and aliens of the Klondike.

What Returning Miners Say.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 30.—E. Barrington, one of the passengers on the steamer Alki, speaking of the situation in the Klondike, said:

"There is no need of any one worrying over their friends' starving. Of course, provisions are not plentiful, and supplies should be taken in in the Spring, after which time all the provisions in the country will be exhausted."

Speaking of the rush to file claims, Mr. Barrington said: "For some time before I left the Commissioner's office was unable to accommodate the miners, and the men stood in line for days, with the mercury 40 degrees below zero, in order to file claims. The biggest sensation in the way of a strike was No. 43, on Hunker. It paid $45 to the pan. If it had not been for the exodus to Fort Yukon, 100 claims would have been worked on Bonanza, Eldorado and Hunker creeks this Winter."

Living in Tents.

S. W. Foote said a great many people went past Dawson City in boats with the floating ice, unable to make a landing. Many people are living in tents at Dawson, though the temperature is away below zero. Good strikes have been made on Lucky Creek, a tributary of All Gold. Sulphur Creek is also turning out well.

"On the way out we encountered good weather nearly all the time," said Foote. "We left Dawson Nov. 21. Part of the way we threw off our coats and went in shirt sleeves and bare hands. It was only 15 below zero then. At the Chilkoot summit we encountered a fearful snow storm and were lost for a time. It lasted all the way from the head of Linderman to the summit. One man went ahead with a stick, poking it in the snow, to find the hard path to walk on. Beef and mutton at Dawson is being sold at $1 to $1.50 per sack, while bacon and beans brought $1 to $1.25 per pound. There was plenty of sugar at 30 cents per pound. The claims are all taken within a radius of forty-five to fifty miles of Dawson."

J. D. Barnes stated that the Alaska Commercial Company and the North American Transportation and Trading Company have declined to receive any more gold for safe-keeping, as their safes are full. T. H. Mallory believes that the output next season will be between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000.

No Starvation.

Edward Conrad, when asked if there is danger of starvation at Dawson, replied emphatically: "No, sir. There is not a surplus of food, but there will be no starvation." When asked for an opinion on the Government expedition, he said: "It is a humbug, and I doubt if it can get to Dawson before the ice breaks. The men who came out and say that starvation lurks there are the men who were there only a few weeks, got discouraged, homesick, and cry starvation as an excuse for coming out."

On Nov. 20 the English church, known as "The Klondike," was destroyed by fire. Two or three adjoining cabins were also burned.

To Assist Maj. Rucker.

Vancouver Barracks, Wash., Dec. 30.—Eleven packers with sixty-nine mules, in charge of Lieut. Ryan, of Fort Robinson, have arrived from Chicago. The party will proceed to Dyea on the next steamer to assist Maj. L. H. Rucker in selecting a route for the Government relief expedition.

HAS NO BROKEN HEART.

Booth-Tucker Says Mrs. Ballington Booth Is Working in the Hospital.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—Commander Booth-Tucker, of the Salvation Army, who arrived in Chicago Tuesday night, says that Mrs. Ballington Booth is now doing from three to eight hours' work a day from her bed in the hospital, and that her condition never has been serious. The bulletins which announced her as dying of a broken heart, he says, are in Ballington Booth's handwriting, and the physicians in charge have been instructed not to talk.

Mr. Booth-Tucker pronounced the whole story of the cause of Mrs. Booth's illness an attempt on the part of Ballington Booth to stir up a breeze against the Salvation Army. He had investigated the story of the insult said to have been offered Mrs. Booth at the Willard Hall meeting in Chicago, and had found it to be entirely false.

Mrs. Booth Much Better.

New York, Dec. 30.—Mrs. Ballington Booth is now steadily improving at the Presbyterian Hospital. She is making slow progress, but it is sure, though it will be a long time before she will be able to leave the hospital.

$2,000,000 to a Hospital.

Philadelphia, Dec. 30.—By the will of Mrs. Henrietta R. Fales Baker $2,000,000 is bequeathed to the Pennsylvania Hospital. The will was probated yesterday, and the bequest is made contingent upon the death of the son and daughter of the testatrix without issue. The estate is estimated at over $2,000,000.

Showman Hager Dead.

Toledo, Ohio, Dec. 30.—W. D. Hager, one of the best known showmen in the country, died at Wauseon yesterday from cancer of the stomach. For the last fifteen years he has been one of the managers of the Barnum & Bailey show. He recently contracted to manage Buffalo Bill next season.

SEALING BILL SIGNED.

Taking or Importing the Animals or Skins Is Now Forbidden.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Ex-Secretary Foster had a conference with the President yesterday, after which the President approved the bill "prohibiting the killing of fur seals in the waters of the North Pacific Ocean," passed the day Congress adjourned for the holidays.

The act prohibits the killing of seals by American citizens, except as they may be taken on the Pribylof Islands by the North American Commercial Company. It also prohibits the importation of sealskins into the United States, whether "raw, dressed, dyed or manufactured." The penalty for violation of the law is a fine of not less than $200 or more than $2,000, or imprisonment for not more than six months, or both, for each offense, including the forfeiture to the United States of the vessel, its tackle and cargo.

Big Legal Battle.

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 30.—Within a few days one of the greatest legal battles ever fought in this city will commence before the Court of Common Pleas. The case is that of the City of Cleveland against the Lake Shore, Big Four, Pennsylvania and Cleveland & Pittsburg railroad companies, and involves the title to millions of dollars' worth of property on the lake front.

The railroad tracks originally ran along close to the water's edge, but for years the companies have been filling in the lake until large tracts of land have been created. This ground is now claimed by the city. A brilliant array of legal talent has been employed on both sides, and the contest will be watched with great interest.

To Cruise Around the World.

Washington, Dec. 30.—The warship Mohican, which has been thoroughly overhauled at the Mare Island Navy Yard, has been turned over to the training service and will be put in commission about Jan. 10 under the command of Commander Book, lately the Captain of the Marion. Most of the officers on the latter ship will be transferred to the Mohican. This ship is to recruit about 150 apprentice boys on the Pacific Coast, and probably will start with them about the middle of January on a cruise around the world. According to present plans, some time will be spent among the South Sea Islands, where the American Navy has not been represented to any extent since 1883.

Blanco's Home-Rule Decree.

Havana, Dec. 30.—Capt.-Gen. Blanco has issued a decree announcing the lines upon which the home-rule government is established. The Governor-General and executive assume charge of foreign affairs, war and the navy, and, with five autonomical secretaries of supreme justice and interior (Finance, Public Instruction, Public Works, Posts and Telegraphs, and Agriculture and Commerce), with the President of this council, constitute the responsible government.

The new officials will take the oath of office at 9 a. m. on Jan. 1, and will immediately assume charge of their departments.

President Invited to New York.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Yesterday afternoon a delegation consisting of Warner Miller, William Brookfield, Charles G. Moore, ex-Mayor Schieren, of Brooklyn; Benjamin Ash, of Newark, and Secretary Locke, representing the National Association of Manufacturers, called upon the President and invited him to attend the annual banquet to be held at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, on Jan. 27, at the close of the convention of the association. The President said he would take the invitation under consideration. The members of the committee think, from their interview, that he will attend the banquet.

Had No Faith in Banks.

Niles, Mich., Dec. 30.—Lawrence Walters, an aged farmer, residing three miles north of Wayland, Cass County, had no faith in banks, and, instead, placed his savings, consisting of about $2,500 in greenbacks, $4,000 in government bonds, notes, mortgages and other valuable papers, in a tin pan. This he buried beneath the floor of his barn some months ago. He has been in the habit of visiting the hiding place every day to see if his fortune was safe. When he made the customary visit yesterday morning he discovered that robbers had been there, for his fortune had disappeared. The old man is almost crazed over his loss.

Quay Buys a New Home.

Pittsburg, Dec. 30.—A real estate sale of political significance is the purchase by Senator Matthew S. Quay of the Hare place at Osborn, Allegheny County, valued at $75,000. The late Thomas Hare purchased the property about twenty-five years ago from Gen. George W. Cass, then president of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad.

Senator Quay and his family have for many years lived at Beaver, and deferred moving principally for political reasons. He and the organization leaders, C. L. Magee and State Senator Flinn, will now live in the same county.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company has received a sample of the new '98 Crescent wheel. It is the model equipped with the chain. The wheel has several new features that make it an improvement over last year's style. It is now on exhibition.

The Bard Cycle Company have received a letter from the Overman Wheel Company, makers of the Victor bicycle, in which it is stated that the company's financial embarrassment will probably be only temporary. That will be pleasing to many Plainfielders who contemplated buying Victors next season.

The Eldridge wheel has made its appearance in Plainfield. The Eldridge Bicycle Company has received its first shipment of models in the city and they are now on exhibition in the company's salesrooms on Park avenue. Manager Thomas A. Cuming has greatly improved the appearance of the salesrooms and the new wheels make a pretty show. They are built of the finest material and are the product of the best workmanship. The public is invited to inspect them.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The Westfield Athletic Club lost two out of three games on its own alleys, Tuesday evening. The opponents were the bowling team from the New Jersey Athletic Club. The scores of all the games were unusually high and the visitors really performed wonders by their high scores on strange alleys. Westfield captured the first game by a score of 927 to 845. The second game went to the visitors, Westfield, 797, N J. A. C., 879. The New Jerseys also captured the third game by a score of 918 to 903, a remarkable game.

The second game between the bowling Bachelors and Benedicts of the Park Club will be rolled on the club alleys this evening. The unexpected victory of the Bachelors last week has made them utterly confident of victory tomorrow night. The Benedicts have been practicing, however, and promise to administer a severe drubbing to their unmarried friends on the occasion of the second game. They explain that the first game was only lost by them to give interest to the conflict Tomorrow night they will have a large gathering of their wives and families out to witness the sad fall of the Bachelors. The latter have laid in a stock of rabbits feet and other charms and are all prepared for the battle. However it goes, the game is bound to be exciting.

Mrs. Olendorf and Miss Helen Olendorf, of Bound Brook, returned home yesterday after visiting Plainfield friends.

HOW THE SOLONS DINED.

THE APPROPRIATE MENU AT MAYOR FISK'S DINNER.

Every Dish Received a Title Appropriate to the Gathering—The Councilmen Appreciated the Hits.

There are many Plainfielders who will read with much interest the following menu of the dinner given by Mayor Fisk Tuesday evening at the Union County Country Club to the Councilmen of 1897 and 1898. There are many features about the menu that furnished much fun for those who attended. Below is the card:

Prohibition oysters
Soup
Green turtle a la Republican
Relishes
Better street lights
Gas that will burn without patent appliances
Cheaper water
More improvements and less taxes
Fish
Red snapper, Citizens' sauce
Poor farm potatoes Hothouse cucumbers
Releve
Saddle of Reindeer, shot in the Netherwoods.
Holland aroma
Stuffed peppers Jelly.
Entrees
Rubber tire sweetbreads (make the Chief walk)
West End Park fresh mushrooms
Roman punch
Combination punch, flavored with Cedar Brook Farm old apple
Roast
Ruddy ducks, trapped on Leland avenue
High license port wine sauce
Dessert
Cheese, coffee, crackers, etc.

Accompanying each card was another card to which was attached a quill pen, and printed thereon was the following:

The storm came from the west.
The machine is at rest.
Some of 'em tried to jest.
But the "Citz" they got the best.

A BENEFIT SHOOT.

Neaf Apgar's Friends Rally to His Aid in a Substantial Way.

The Newburgh Gun Club, of Newburgh, N. Y., are arranging a benefit shoot for their brother-sportsman, Neaf Apgar, which will be held January 26th and 27th at Pine Point, on Orange lake, where the club's house is managed by Mr. Apgar. It will be remembered that a few weeks ago Mr. Apgar was the unfortunate victim of a shooting accident while hunting in the woods. The accident laid him up, and now his friends have rallied to his aid in a substantial way. There is probably no better known crack shot in New Jersey than Mr. Apgar, who for many years resided at Evona. While living here he was a member of the Climax Gun Club. That organization has decided to buy one ticket for the benefit for each of its members, just as an expression of goodwill for Mr. Apgar. A large party of local shots will attend the event in person.

In conjunction with the Newburgh Gun Club, the Orange Lake Yacht Club will unite in entertaining the visitors. If the weather is cold enough there will be ice-boating. No regular programme of events will be offered, but the affair will be arranged to suit the pleasure of the participants. Prizes are offered to the actual value of over $150.

The many friends of Mr. Apgar in New Jersey will be glad to hear of the great success of the affair for his benefit.

A Delightful Programme.

The following is the programme to be presented at the fourth entertainment in the Y. M. C A. Star Course to be given New Year's night. The artists are J. Stuart Blackton, cartoonist; Will Lyle, banjoist:

Comic cartoon drawing.....Mr. Blackton
Banjo solo—"Banjo Jingles".....Mr. Lyle
"An Evening at a Sociable".....Mr. Blackton
a. Recitation—"Dot Garten Gade."
b. Song—"Then Mamma Kiss Papa for Me."

EVENTFUL YEAR ENDED.

to it of a special committee charged with similar duties during 1896, and following along the lines thus laid down it has endeavored to advance the work of adjusting property valuations; and taking collectively the work of our able assessor with that of the committee and the natural increase of valuations, it finds that while $7,531,489 was the amount of the valuations during 1896, the valuations for 1897 amounted to $7,735,830, an increase of $204,341.

Your committee realizes that an equitable comparison and adjustment of property valuations is a labor of greater magnitude than is usually supposed, and that it must necessarily be the work of several years of careful, conscientious, impartial, painstaking effort.

During March, April and May, and as the result of resolutions adopted by the Council your committee wrestled with the problem of delinquent taxes and had several public sessions with citizens who applied for an adjustment and settlement of their past due taxes. This procedure was preliminary to beginning the operations of the law known as the Martin Act. The result of these efforts was the collection of $2,166.28 in back taxes.

On May 29, 1897, application was made to the Circuit Court for the appointment of Commissioners under the Martin Act, the Court granting the petition of the City and appointing Mr. Frank Bergen, Mr. A. B. Carleton and Mr. J. F. Hubbard as such commissioners.

These gentlemen have had public hearings through the summer and fall past and have made admirable progress with their duties, and will soon have located and formulated their report upon all properties locatable and where the taxes due are of consequence.

During the year the Collector has been receiving the sewer tax, and of the sum total of $41,578.47, less than $2,000 remains unpaid.

Of the property taxes levied for 1897, and amounting to $194,942.91, about $100,000 has been paid up to December 20, 1897, at which date said taxes became delinquent.

Much criticism has been publicly indulged in with reference to the present increased rate of taxation, but your committee believes that the general public does not understand or appreciate the conditions bearing upon this question.

The first questions of the well balanced mind are, what do others pay and what advantages do they get, and how do the same compare with what we pay and what we get.

Our present rate, even with the increase of this year, is exactly the same as the rate of Westfield, our near neighbor, and both are very much lower than the rate of Brooklyn, N. Y., which ranges from $2.66 to $4.64, according to the ward and its location.

In comparison with Westfield, their county and township tax is .70 against our .53; their State school tax is .28 against our .27; their town government and lights, .60 against our city tax of .58, and their school tax .70 against our .60.

We exceed their rates in the library tax of .14 to nothing; sewer tax of .12 to .11; poor tax of .07 to .04, and fire tax of .21 to .085; but it must be borne in mind that our domicile is larger, older, more important, and we are able to lend them assistance.

One of the impossibilities is to get something for nothing—all good things come high.

A place with an extremely low valuation is invariably non-progressive, and vice versa. We should seek to encourage from outside our limits such additions to our population as will bring us wealth, and business and social prestige; and the conditions and advantages that attract desirable citizens are not the outgrowth of a parsimonious spirit. In proportion to the benefits derived, the greatest burden on the taxpayer is the county assessment of .53 out of our rate of $2.52, which amounts, in the total, to $40,999.89.

Many of our people overlook the fact that the more we increase our valuations, the more we pay the county, and that the rate of taxation bears no necessary relation to the burdens of the taxpayer; that from the standpoint of our own interests, it would be much better to put our rate very high and our valuations very low, and only at such a figure as would produce the necessary revenue.

It is hoped that in the coming year the work of the Board of Assessors may be productive of good results in equalizing and adjusting property valuations not only more perfectly than has heretofore been possible, but in many instances not hereto ore reached or brought to light.

Respectfully submitted.
Harold Ferrell.
John T. Baker.
Geo. H. Frost.

Resolutions were offered by Mr. Baker providing for the transfer of $1,350.98 from the general fund to the sewer fund, and for the borrowing of $5 000 to meet the notes falling due this month. Mr. Barrows offered a resolution that there be an extension of time from January 1st, 1898, to May 15th, 1898, so that Contractor Christmas will be able to complete the work of extending the sewer system. Street Commissioner Gavett reported that Mrs. Mary French, 684 694 West Seventh street, had failed to lay a sidewalk as ordered. Mr. Barrows then stated that all but 947 feet of walk, as ordered, had been laid, and he offered a resolution that a walk be laid in front of Mrs. French's property and that a lien be placed on the property for the payment of the same. This concluded the business of the adjourned meeting. The call for the special meeting was read by Clerk MacMurray.

The first business considered was the adoption of the building ordinance as amended. The ordinance relating to the appointment of Overseer of Poor and Commissioners of Appeal was also adopted on third reading, and the resolution illegally adopted and considered at the last meeting was called up and adopted in a legal manner.

The business of the evening being completed, the members indulged in a few remarks. Councilman Barrows was the first speaker and he addressed his remarks to the President of the Council. He stated that the year just passed had been an especially hard one for all the members who had worked for one common purpose. He considered the present time a sad one, as it was a time for the breaking of associations He closed by wishing him happiness and prosperity in the future.

President Dumont responded in his usual quiet manner and he expressed deep feeling at the separation soon to take place. He said that he was no more entitled to honor than other members of the Council, but if by reason of length of service, or acquired knowledge gained by that service he had become more fitted to attend to certain duties, he was glad to be able to give that experience to those who had not become so thoroughly acquainted with the affairs and government of the city. He mentioned the courtesy extended to him by all the members of the Council, and after thanking them for their kind expressions, he wished all success in their undertakings and happiness in their homes.

After Mr. Dumont's remarks there was hearty applause, and Councilman Runyon followed with a few remarks. He expressed regret that the Council was soon to lose so many members. He considered that during the year every member had held honest differences, and that every member had gained the respect of the other ten by conscientious work He remarked that no one had had any personal axes to grind, and that the retiring members carried with them the highest regard and esteem of those remaining.

The next thing on the programme was the adoption of the minutes of the meeting so that all of the business of the year could be closed up. This being done, President Dumont announced the adjournment of the Council for 1897.

An Afternoon Tea.

An afternoon tea was given yesterday afternoon by the Misses Bowen, at their home on Watchung avenue. The young ladies who assisted in receiving were Miss Pierson, Miss Annie Miller, Miss Edith VanBoskerck, Miss Katharine Wood, Miss Anna Miller, Miss Marjorie Coe, Miss Kathleen Ryder, Miss Shepard, Miss Edith Clapp, Miss Constance Holt, of Brooklyn, and Miss Edith Plummer, of New York. Mrs. Malcolm McKenzie and Mrs. John Doull Miller presided at the tea table. The decorations throughout the house were holly and red ribbons. Sprays of holly were scattered over the dining-room table, while from the chandelier were suspended wide red ribbons which fell to the four corners of the table, where they terminated with large sprays of holly.

BACHELORS CHAGRINED.

DEFEATED AT BOWLING BY PARK CLUB MARRIED MEN.

The Single Men Were Too Sure of Victory—Benedicts Were One Man Short—Ex-Mayor Hegeman Had His Side's Mascot.

How it happened nobody exactly knows. Only when the Mayor discarded his cutaway and allowed the full glory of that witch-like scarf he wore to flood the alleys with its radiance, the pins fell before it as clay pigeons before Senator Reed's gun, and before the Bachelors were aware of it the Benedicts had won. It all happened over at the Park Club last night. The second of the series of matches between the Bachelors and Benedicts of the club was rolled. The married men won out by just twenty pins.

The Bachelors took the first game rolled last week. Peter Matthews, who captains the single contingent, has explained, however, that it was all a put up job on his part. The ladies enjoy the games and to give them another chance, he lost the game so that it would be necessary to roll the third and deciding game of the series. Of course, Captain Matthews says the Bachelors will win the last game of the series. The deciding game will be rolled next Thursday night.

If the truth must be told, there was a scarcity of married men at the clubhouse last night. The best efforts of Fred Ball, who captained the Benedicts, could only produce nine. To fill the vacant place on the team, "Mr. Medley" was introduced. Every member of the team rolled one frame of his score and "Doc" Thiers was given the extra one. In consequence the Benedicts rather lost heart at the opening of the contest. Puffed up with pride at their first victory, the Bachelors swaggered about and pitied their married friends. The Bachelors started in as if they meant to wipe up the alleys with the other team. Nobody bowled well, however. When they missed downing all the pins with the first ball, they promptly rolled the other two wide of the mark.

The Bachelors had eleven pins to the good on the first frame and they walked away from the Benedicts, thanks to sundry strikes and a few spares, until the single delegation were 98 pins ahead in the sixth frame. Senator Reed had attempted to find the head pin over in the alleys with grievous results, while even Captain Ball forgot himself. Peter Matthews was the only solace of the Benedicts and he came in for all the noise. The effect was visible in his score and the betting ran high as to whether he would finally score an even hundred

It was former Mayor Hegeman's turn at the dummy, or rather "Mr. Medley," and he slipped off his coat for the first time in the game. Everybody had been remarking on his brilliant necktie and Lenox had even found it sufficiently warm to enable him to warm his hands by it. When the pins saw that tie, they trembled. When the ex Mayor delivered the ball they fell. When his turn came he opened with a strike and followed with two more in the eight and ninth frames. That broke the luck, and strikes fell so thick and fast on the Benedict side of the score-board that they had to get Senator Reed to assist in keeping it.

The Benedicts began to awaken to a realization that their time was at hand. They began to root in that good old-fashioned way as in days of yore. "Clinton Avenue" Randolph and Meredith Dryden apparently forgot where the head pin was. Peter Matthews borrowed "Doc" Thiers' hat as a mascot and scored seven on one frame.

The noise grew deafening and the Bachelors started down. The ninth frame of the Benedicts included six strikes and their opponents were in despair. Then came the windup. Matthews admitted that they were gone. But the windup began to change matters. The Bachelors woke up from their doze and rolled again. George Worth reminded the rest that he had rolled on a championship team and ended in fine style. Then the Benedicts became rattled and the pins would not fall. Even that scarf failed to bring them. At last, it all lay between "Doc" Thiers and Peter Matthews. "Doc" didn't mind the noise. He sat on the ball, then eyed it and a spare was a matter of course. Not so the genial Captain of the Bachelors. He mistook the corner pin for the head pin and woundup with 8. The Benedicts had won by 20 pins.

Great was the jubilation from that side of the house. "Wait until next week" suggested the Bachelors. Now a strange thing exists. The Bachelors are perfectly sure that they will win the odd game but the Bene-

PASTOR GIBSON FIRED.

Mt. Olive Members Vote to Oust Him From the Pastorate.

Rev. Philip S. Gibson, whose troubles as pastor of the Mt. Olive colored Baptist church have attracted attention for the past few months, was disposed of in quick order by his congregation at the monthly church meeting Wednesday night, and as a result he is out of the pastorate. The board of deacons of the church held a meeting Tuesday night and at that meeting Charles Barber, one of the trustees, preferred a charge of adultery against the pastor,

Nothing was made known of this matter until the following night when at the church meeting the deacons rendered a report sustaining the charge and recommending that Mr. Gibson be removed from the pastorate.

The members voted almost unanimously to adopt the report. The pastor arose and protested, but the sentiment remained averse to him. It was then voted to pay Mr. Gibson the salary due him up to January 1st, at which time his relations with the church are to cease.

The pastor was much surprised at the action of his flock whom he thought to be favorable to his remaining in the church. He is trying to figure out what has become of all the people who were pledged to support him.

Rev. Mr. Creemer, of New York, will remain in charge of the church at present.

OUT OF P. M. CONTEST.

J. T. MACMURRAY WILL NOT ASPIRE TO REPRESENT UNCLE SAM

His Private Interests Have Shaped Themselves so That He Will Not Try to Succeed Mr. Hetfield—Mr. MacDonald's Chances.

The politicians, especially of the Republican persuasion, as well as the majority of citizens, will be interested in the following letter made public by City Clerk J. T. MacMurray today:

To My Plainfield Friends—I believe it to be my duty at the present time to announce to the friends who have so generously interested themselves in my behalf, that my private interests have recently so shaped themselves as to render it advisable for me to withdraw from the field as a candidate to succeed Mr. Hetfield in the position of Postmaster.

And in connection therewith it is both my pleasure and my privilege to express to them the deep sense of graditude I feel for the loyal support given to my candidacy by them. and I beg to add that such evidence of their confidence and friendship will always be treasured among my choicest posessions.

With renewed assurances of mr hearty appreciation. believe me. gentlemen, to be Very truly yours,

James T. MacMurray.

Dated, Plainfield, N. J., Dec. 31st, 1897.

The withdrawl of Mr. MacMurray from the contest for the best government office that Plainfield can claim, leaves the field practically to J. Fred MacDonald, who has been contesting Mr. MacMurray for the appointment Politicians and those who know the inside trend of affais generally concede that Mr. MacDonald will now be Plainfield's next postmaster.

SANTA VISITED THE JUNOIRS.

Franklin Council Combined Business and Pleasure Last Night.

The members of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., held an important meeting last evening at which time the following officers for the ensuing term were elected: Councilor, T. E. Currin, Jr.; vice-councilor. E. F. Sheppard; assistant recording secretary, C. E Johnson; conductor, George Bolsterli; warden, E. R. Pope; inside sentinel, William Demarest; outside sentinel, Henry Palmer; trustee Harvey Thorn; representative to State Council, Ephriam Compton; representative to Funeral Benefit Association, David Bodine.

After the transaction of the evening's business the Christmas celebration took place, an annual event in this lodge. There was the usual Christmas tree, brilliantly illuminated and filled with small but useful and ornamental presents. The room was darkened and thus the effect from the tree was fully appreciated.

Santa Claus appeared in the form of Harvey R. Thorn. who kept his fellow-members in a state of continual laughter. The fun was occasioned from the fact that the recipient was obliged to open his package before leaving the room. The married men received gifts that they can put to good use in their homes, while the bachelors were presented with gifts that will be useful in their business. It was nearly 12 o'clock when the festivities came to an end, and all were sorry that the time had passed so quickly.

—Do not forget to stop at Leggett's and take a box of "Huyler's" for New Year's calling.

—Do not forget the grand ball of the Twilight Social Club tonight in the Crescent Rink. Everything will be done to make it pleasant for those who tatend.

CHRISTMAS CANTATA RENDERED BY THE BAPTISTS.

MORE OF THE CHURCHES CARRY OUT PROGRAMMES APPROPRIATE TO THE HOLIDAYS.

"The Christmas Excursion" the Title of the Brilliant Efforts of the Baptists—In Each of the Churches Old Santa Claus Made the Children Happy.

FIRST BABTIST CHURCH.

A well-arranged and pleasing Christmas programme was presented to the primary department of the First Baptist church Sunday-school yesterday afternoon under the direction of the superintendent, Mrs. Powlison. The lecture room, where the entertainment was held, was attractively decorated with greens and flowers by the teachers of the department. The programme consisted of recitations as follows: Opening address, Beulah Rogers; "Letter to Santa," Randolph Chandler; "Suppose," Earl Oakley; "Two Lights," Miriam Hall; Clair Francisco, Bertha Manning; "Electric Santa Claus," Josephine Serrell; "Kris Kringle," Jerry Manning; "A Tidy Housekeeper," Elizabeth McGee; "Why," Herbert Stine; "Foxes Christmas Party," Wallace Pearce; Anna Morrison; George Rogers; "Why I am Glad for Christmas," Ethel Webster; Marguerite Serrell; Beulah VanWinkle; May Batchelor; "We Four Little Girls," Miriam Hall and Hazel Corinne. A song, entitled "Shoemakers," was rendered by George Rogers, Russell Miller, Walter VanWinkle and Wilwood Weber. There was a vocal duet by Ethel VanWinkle and Marguerite Serrell.

Santa Claus appeared later in the person of G. F. Brown, and he pleased the little folks by presenting them with useful gifts, in addition to boxes of candy.

In the evening the senior members of the school and their friends gathered in large numbers to enjoy one of the best entertainments ever held at this church. It was a Christmas cantata entitled "Santa Claus' Home, or the Christmas Excursion," by Fannie J. Crosby, with music and dialogue by W. Howard Doane. It was given under the direction of Mrs. L. H. Biglow, Jr., assisted by Mr. Biglow and W. O. Chapman, together with the regular committee. The decorations were in charge of Miss Ella Serrell. The different characters represented and those who took them are as follows: Santa Claus, Geo. F. Brown; Frost Queen, Miss Margaret Harold; Snow Flake, Miss Alice Needham; pictures in Santa Claus' house, Elsie Brokaw; Hanko and Panko, dwarfs, Jerry Manning and Eugene McLoughlin; Maid servant, May Serrell; quartette, George Smith, William Holmes, Mr. Douglass and Harry Drake; Mr. Vim, L. H. Biglow, Jr., Mr. Wait, Harry Drake; Mr. Scribbler, Herbert Case. Those who took part in the cradle scene were Mrs. DeWitt C. Brokaw, Beulah VanWinkle, Miss Ella Serrell, May Batchelor, Cathy Rocap, Will Flanders and chorus.

The music throughout was very pretty. While it was necessary to leave out some unimportant parts, the balance of the cantata was perfectly rendered. Howard case presided at the piano, and was assisted by P. Ludwig Conde on the violin, and Walter Serrell with the flute.

At the close of the cantata each scholar received a box of candy in remembrance of the joyful occasion. There was a very large attendance of people and the room was hardly large enough to accommodate all that desired to attend.

PARK AVENUE BABTIST CHURCH.

The members of the Park Avenue Baptist Sunday-school and their friends had an opportunity for a thorough good time last night at their Christmas festival. The lecture room was appropriately decorated with evergreen roping and wreaths, and at the right of the improvised stage a well-laden Christmas tree blazed with electric lights.

The first part of the evening was occupied with an exhibition of magic by Professor Plate, of New York. A bewildering succession of pretty or comic tricks was given, the entertainer proving himself a clever, original and delightful magician.

After about an hour of entertainment, enjoyed by old and young alike, the bells of Saint Nick's sleigh were heard, and the old saint, represented by J. M. Hawkins, entered the room and distributed the gifts from the well-filled tree. A doll or some other pretty gift was given to each member of the primary department, candy and oranges were supplied to all the classes, and a number of special gifts were presented to prominent Sunday-school workers. A mechanical toy, representing a bicycle racer hard at it, fell to the share of Thomas A. Cuming, a small music box was an appropriate gift for Deacon T. I. Runyon, precentor of the school, while a tiny bank recalled to David Runyon's mind the business which occupies his less frivolous moments. Most important gift of all, however, was that presented to Rev. J. W. Richardson, a generous purse, presented by his appreciative parishoners.

TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH.

The children's Christmas entertainment for the members of the primary department of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school occurred yesterday afternoon in the large hall of the Y. M. C. A. building. The programme was arranged and presented under the direction of Mrs. Randall, and was opened with a song entitled "St. Nick," by Bessie Randall, Anna Holder and Anna Randall. This was followed with recitations by Anna Holder, Bessie Randall, Elsie Tier and Mae Anthony. A recitation entitled "Why we keep Christmas" was composed and recited by Lucy Coriell, while Gussie Kreitling sang an appropriate selection. Presiding at the piano was Miss Nettie Kreitling, who played in her usual efficient manner. Following the rendition of the programme refreshments were served to those present, and a general good time was enjoyed by all.

In the evening the older folks were entertained with a selected concert of a high order by the members of the Queen City Band, under the leadership of Benjamin LaVere. During the evening Mr. LaVere gave a cornet solo. The work of the band was appreciated exceedingly by the audience. Each scholar in the Sunday-school received the usual box of candy as a remembrance of the happy event.

During the evening Superintendent E. E. Anthony was greatly surprised, when Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph.D., on behalf of the Sunday-school presented him with a handsome armchair. There was an exchange of compliments, and Mr. Anthony thanked the donors heartily for their beautiful gift.

GRACE M. E. CHURCH.

One of the best Christmas entertainments of last evening was the one held at Grace M. E. church. The church was crowded to the doors with members and friends of the church and Sunday school. The following programme was presented under the direction of Superintendent John Valiant:

Mrs. Powell and Miss Most received presents from their classes. Dyckman Winckler appeared as Santa Claus and distributed gifts.

Services in Trinity Reformed Church.

Sunday morning the congregation of the Trinity Reformed church will return to their church edifice after several months' absence and take possession of it once more. The main body of the church is not yet ready for occupancy, but the lecture room on the first floor is now complete and there the services will be held Sunday next and on all Sundays until the main auditorium is ready to be occupied. The services of late have been held of late in the Y. M. C. A. hall.

—The drug stores of this city will remain closed tomorrow from 1 until 6 o'clock p. m.

HIS HANDS BADLY BURNED.

Robert Pierce Set Fire to Decorations and Then Tried to Put Out the Flames.

A serious burning accident occurred last evening about 10 o'clock in the appartments in the Jackson Building occupied by Mr and Mrs. Robert Pierce. Mr. Pierce was home during the evening while Mrs. Pierce was attending the performance at Music Hall. Mr. Pierce went to the kitchen, for an article and was obliged to light the gas. The gas fixtures were decorated with tissue paper which caught fire from the lighted match. In an instant a large flame shot upward. Mr. Pierce made an attempt to put it out with his hands. The result was that both hands were frightfully burned from the tips of the fingers to the wrists.

In the meantime, H. L. Hall, who occupies another apartment, smelled smoke and he came out into the hall and found Mr. Pierce fighting the flames. He gave his assistance at once and soon the fire was extinguished.

Mr. Hall had difficulty in finding a physician, and he was unable to find a drug store open. He finally succeeded in getting Dr. Clawson. A little later Mrs. Pierce returned and when she was informed as to what had occurred she fainted, and it required strong stimulants to bring her to. Mr. Pierce is employed by Scheuer, the Front street grocer, but will be unable to work for sometime.

A LOVIMG CUP FOR HIM

JOHN BROOKS LEAVES POTTERS WITH ESTEEM OF ALL EMPLOYES.

A Solid Silver Expression of Their Regard for the Man Who Has Been Connected With the Company Thirty Years.

Superintendent John Brooks, of the Potter Press Works, ended his long term of service for the company today, and the regard in which he is held by the men over whom he has been placed, was shown by the presentation of a handsome silver loving cup to their retiring superintendent.

The entire affair came as a surprise to Mr. Brooks, who saw nothing about the works when he returned from lunch at 1:15 o'clock. The men were all at work at their benches and the usual order of things was apparent The superintendent went to the upper floor, and the men were immediately assembled in the east end of the large machine shop and a small platform was improvised.

The machinery was stopped and a message was sent for the superintendent to come below.

Thinking that an accident had occured to the machinery, he hurried to the first floor and there found the employes to the number of 300 gathered about the platform upon which the loving cup was placed. Beside it stood Fred Sears, who has been in the employ of the company longer than any other of the men. He made an appropriate presentation speech.

Mr. Brooks replied in a few well chosen words, thanking the men for the expression of their regard.

The cup was inscribed as follows: "Presented as a token of esteem to John Brooks, the retiring superintendent, by the employes of the Potter Printing Works, Plainfield, New Jersey, Dec. 31, 1897."

Mr. Brooks has been in the employ of the Potter Company for thirty-one years, and has been in the factory in this city ever since its establishment, eighteen years ago.

He leaves to take charge of the works of the Cornwall Printing Press Company of this city.

WEDDED AS THE YEAR WANES.

Miss Cora VanArsdale Becomes Mrs. Charles Harding.

The marriage of Miss Cora VanArsdale, daughter of Peter VanArsdale, of Jackson avenue, to Chas. Harding, of the Prudential Insurance Company, of Newark, occurred yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride. Rev. H. J. Johnston performed the ceremony beneath an arch and floral bell in one corner of the parlor. Thomas Whitlock, of Bound Brook, and DeWitt Conover, of Somerville, stood up with the bride and groom. The bride was gowned in white organdie over white silk.

After the wedding supper Mr. and Mrs. Harding left for Philadelphia, where they will spend a few days. On their return they will reside in Newark. Those who witnessed the marriage were: Mr and Mrs. Harding and son, Mr. and Mrs J. VanArsdale, of South Branch; Mrs. M. VanArsdale, Mrs. Woods of Pluckamin; Mr. and Mrs. Whitlock, of Bound Brook; Miss Ten Eyck DeWitt Conover, Mr. and Mrs. B. Conover, of Somerville; Mrs. Schenck, Miss Schenck, Mrs. Powell Miss Smith and Miss Vroom, of Plainfield. The wedding march was played by Miss Vroom, an intimate friend of the bride.

Water wagon, cost and repairs		195.35
Street signs		11.00
Rent of yard		60.00
Storm sewers		1,098.00
Culverts		1,741.00
Crosswalks		881.11
Total		$17,296.35

The amount paid for work on Sycamore avenue was for moving hydrant and grading across sidewalk of West Front street, and is the only expense incurred by the city in the opening of this new avenue.

By agreement it will be macadamized by the property owners.

The Plainfield Street Railway Company furnished stone for its proportion of cost of macadamizing 1,738.23 tons

Property owners furnished stone for macadamizing to curb	340.27	"
Received from rent of horse roller	20.00	"
Stone paid for by city	4,180.55
Total stone for 1897	6,279.05	"

The amount paid for labor was $8,346. During the year 25.34 lin. feet of flagging were laid and 19,284 lin. feet of curbing.

I have issued during the year 372 permits for sewer connections and deposited $372 therefor with the city treasurer to the credit of sewer account. I have also furnished location of Y branches and curb connections for plumbers, but the inspection of connections has been done by Mr. Addis, inspector, for the Board of Health, the Board receiving $15 per month from the city for such service.

During the year 70,000 lineal feet of sidewalks have been staked for grade and about 20,000 feet additional levels have been run for the purpose of establishing and investigating grades.

It is hoped during January, 1898, to complete a map showing grades on all streets where established, and where streets are improved outside the district covered by the revised grade maps.

The subject of the work done on the streets and of their future needs will be fully treated in the report of the committee on streets and sewers. Respectfully submitted.

A Quiet Marriage.

The marriage of Miss Barbara Walters, of New Haven, Conn., to William W. St. John, city editor of the Daily Press, was solemnized quietly yesterday morning in the "Little Church Around the Corner," East Twenty-ninth street, New York. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. C. Houghton, rector of the church.

—VanSickle, the North avenue butcher, is prepared for the holidays with a good stock of poultry and meats, and he charges no more than other butchers.

—A. C. Rogers states that the announcement that he is to retire from the business of an architect is erroneous. He will open an office in the Babcock building.

J. K. Dalley, who for some time past has been living with his daughter, Mrs. Levi Kline, of the borough, has gone to his former home at Three Bridges, where he will remain for a time.

ENGLAND MAKES READY

Report That She Will Call Out Her Naval Reserve.

DUE TO CRISIS IN THE EAST

Big Fleet of Commercial Vessels at Her Command—Montreal Has Rumors of Dispatch of 3,500 Troops to Vancouver for China.

London, Eng., Dec. 31.—A news agency announces that the British Naval Reserves will be mobilized.

The step is taken only upon occasions of greatest emergency, and that the Britsh are foremost in arranging for such a contingency at this time is infallible proof that England means to have a say in the partition of China, if there is to be one.

A similar step, but on a smaller scale, was taken when Emperor William, of Germany, sent his famous message to President Krueger, of the Transvaal. It bluffed Germany then, but there is much doubt whether the bluff will be successful this time.

If the report be true that Great Britain has decided to muster her naval reserve, she will have at her command within a very short time a fleet of swift commerce destroyers that can be matched by no other nation in the world. Marine experts say that at least seventy-five steamships capable of an average sustained speed of sixteen knots and over will be at England's direction. These vessels can be made ready quickly for active service, and the only difficulty would be in the mobilization.

Thus the fleet of commerce destroyers at England's command would be much greater than the combined reserve fleets of Russia, Germany and France. All the great ships of the Peninsula and Oriental, the Transatlantic, the two big Australian lines, the Empress and the Pacific, the Indian Mail, the New Zealand Mail, the Castle and the Canadian Pacific lines and many other vessels are subject to the call of Great Britain. The captains of the ships are all Royal Navy Reserve men and most of the officers are on the reserve rolls.

Co-operation Between England and Japan.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—A special from Minneapolis says: "Advices from Ottawa indicate that the British Government is preparing to actively resist Russian occupation of Port Arthur and Russian influence in Corea; also that the co-operation of the Japanese fleet with that of Great Britain is a well settled fact.

Information has been received from an inside source that the Ottawa government, thirty days ago, notified the Canadian Pacific officials to be in readiness for the immediate transportation from Montreal to Vancouver and Esquimault of 3,500 men, the contingent consisting of engineers, gunners and deck officers.

According to the information at hand the road has prepared for handling 10,000 men, five trains being held in readiness for this service.

The officers included in the first contingent are intended to reinforce the Japanese fleet, which is said to be very short on engineering talent and deficient in gunnery. The dispatch adds that a secret agreement has been concluded between Great Britain and Japan, by the terms of which the Russian pretensions in Corea are to be overcome and Russian aggrandizement in Asia permanently checked.

Capt. Ronald Rolfe, R. N. (retired), on inspection service, just returned from the West, on his way to England via New York, says that in his opinion the force above referred to is intended to increase the efficiency of the forts as Esquimault and relieve the crews of the North Pacific squadron. He declines to discuss the probability of an Anglo-Russian imbroglio, but asserts that in case of actual hostilities the British Asiatic squadron is of sufficient strength to enforce any demands Great Britain may have to make. He denies that there is any probability of any Anglo-Japanese alliance, remarking that England's combining with a fourth rate power like Japan would be a confession of weakness that does not exist. Capt. Rolfe asserts with positiveness that the contingent to be sent West is not for Japanese reinforcement, but rather to be used as a reserve for the fleets in operation should a naval war result from the present complications in the Orient.

HAI-NAN NOT SEIZED.

Report that France Had Taken China's Island Denied.

Paris, France, Dec. 31.—The officials of the French Ministry of Marine regard the reported occupation of the Island of Hainan, off the south coast of China, by the French fleet as untrue. A semi-official contradiction has been issued of the report that the French flag had been hoisted over Hainan.

British War Ships Off Chemulpo.

Peking, China, Dec. 31.—The supercession of Mr. J. McLeavy Brown, the British Superintendent of the Corean Customs, is engaging the attention of the British Government. Four British war vessels are understood to be off Chemulpo.

No Requisition for Steamships.

London, Eng., Dec. 31.—The officials of the Canadian Pacific Railroad here say they had no knowledge of the British Admiralty having made a requisition for three of the Empress steamships belonging to that company, as reported in a special dispatch from Shanghai, and they believe the statement to be without foundation.

Ex-Minister Hubbard Predicts War.

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 31.—Col. Richard B. Hubbard, of Tyler, ex-Governor of Texas and former United States Minister to Japan, is in Dallas. Ex-Governor Hubbard is paying particular attention to the crisis now pending in China, and with United States Senator Morgan, of Alabama, believes the United States will soon be forced to intervene. He said:

"The greed of the Russian bear and the ambition of Germany now being manifested in an effort to dismember the Chinese Empire seriously threatens the peace of the world.

"I do not believe that those European countries that are seeking to gain substantial footholds in the Orient care one rap for the acquirement of such territory as will come into their possession should their efforts succeed, but are intent upon securing the vast deposits of gold that lie in almost every mountain of Corea, Japan and China. The other great nations of the earth will not stand idly by and watch this being done. England cannot afford to let rivals like Russia and Germany outstrip her in such fashion. The United States cannot afford to have her great and fast-growing commerce with the countries of Asia throttled. All appearances are very ominous. The war clouds seem to be heavy and drawing near. I may be mistaken, but I do not see how strife can be avoided. The United States may not necessarily become involved, for circumstances may greatly modify present conditions, but war over the Orient will come, and in my opinion is close at hand."

UNCLE SAM WATCHES EUROPE

Apprehension Felt that Germany Covets Islands in the Pacific.

Washington, Dec 31.—The State Department has received a number of cable dispatches from the United States Ministers at Pekin and Tokio about the situation in China. A close watch for developments is also kept by the diplomatic representatives of this country at Berlin, London, Paris and St. Petersburg.

While the officers of the State Department maintain that this Government has no direct interest in the partition of China, they are keeping thoroughly posted in regard to matters in the Orient.

There is an apprehensive feeling in official circles over the situation. This is due to the possibility that Germany and perhaps other European countries may endeavor to extend their operations to some of the islands in the Pacific.

The character of the dispatches from Ministed Denby at Pekin, and Minister Buck at Tokio will not be disclosed by the Department, but it is intimated there that according to these advices the policy of European nations has not assumed definite shape.

ARRESTED FOR PENSION FRAUD.

Former Examiner in Pension Office Caught by U. S. Marshal.

New York, Dec. 31.—James A. Jordan, formerly a special examiner employed in the Pension Office at Washington, D. C., was arrested at Seventh avenue and Fourteenth street yesterday by United States Deputy Marshal Hurley. The prisoner, who has been indicted in Washington for forgery and bribery, waived all requisition formalities. He was taken back last night to the national capital for trial.

The alleged forgery and bribery was in connection with the pension papers of George W. Van Marter, a private in Company H, First Michigan Light Artillery. The latter, who had been granted a pension for his services during the Civil War, in 1894 applied for an increase of pension money. The application was turned over to Jordan for investigation, and the examiner, after a visit to Grand Rapids in December, 1894, reported favorably on Van Marter's case.

This was on the strength of two affidavits as to the old soldier's disability, purporting to have been made by Nathaniel Woodfield and William J. May. These affidavits were afterward found to be forgeries.

When the discovery of the fraudulent character of the Woodfield and May affidavits was made in October last, Jordan, it is charged, offered James R. Fritts, a clerk in the Pension Bureau, $150 to abstract from the files and destroy the papers in the Van Marter case. Then, it is said, Jordan fled from Washington and has since been in hiding.

Ohio Senatorial Contest.

Washington, Dec. 31.—The near approach of the Ohio Senatorial contest is causing much anxiety in official circles. The feeling among members of the administration is very strong, and the fate of Mr. Hanna is anxiously awaited. At the White House it is said the President seldom expresses his opinion as to the fight being waged upon his friend, but it is known that he eagerly seeks news from the contest, and is kept in close communication with the Senator. Ohio people differ in their opinion as to the outcome of the fight, but the feeling is gaining that Mr. Hanna cannot be returned. In this event it is thought the Republicans in the Legislature, after prolonging the deadlock for some time, will make efforts to unite on a compromise candidate. A Hanna Republican, however, said yesterday that he thought the claims of the Kurtz faction were greatly exaggerated, and he expects to see the bottom fall out of the whole opposition before the Legislature begins to ballot.

Secretary Sherman to Retire.

Washington, Dec. 31.—It is probable that Secretary Sherman will retire early in the new year, in which event he will be succeeded by Ambassador Hay. The aged statesman had intended to retire some time ago, and would have done so had not the newspapers demanded it imperatively. Now that the storm is over, however, Sherman has virtually decided to give up the cares of office. Col. Hay's experience fits him for this position, and he and the President are in correspondence in regard to the matter.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1 per bottle at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

Mrs. W. W. Lewis and her daughter, Abbie, who have been visiting Mrs. George H. Babcock, of West Eighth street, will return to their home in Westerly Monday.

Don't be persuaded into buying liniments without reputation or merit—Chamberlain's Pain Balm costs no no more, and its merits have been proven by a test of many years. Such letters as the following, from L. G. Bagley, Hueneme, Cal., are constantly being received: "The best remedy for pain I have ever used is Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and I say so after having used it in my family for several years." It cures rheumatism, lame back, sprains and swellings. For sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Miss Louise Ayres, of Westerly, R. I., who is visiting Mrs. J. G. Miller, of Watchung avenue, spent yesterday with friends in Dunellen.

After hearing some friends continually praising Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Curtis Fleck, of Anaheim, California, purchased a bottle of it for his own use and is now as enthusiastic over its wonderful work as anyone can be. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

George Burke, of Westerly, R. I., who is a freshman in Stevens Institute, spent yesterday with his college friend, Nathan E. Lewis, of West Eighth street.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We know of no better remedy to cure a cough or cold than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it quite extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagah, Ind. Ter. Chief. This is the only remedy that is known to be a certain preventive of pneumonia. Among the many thousands who have used it for colds and la grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons who have weak lungs or have reason to fear an attack of pneumonia, should keep the remedy at hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—Special Christmas exercises will be held at Warren chapel next Sunday afternoon, at which time there will be a distribution of prizes among the scholars in the Sunday-school.

Mr C. M. Dixon, a well known merchant, of Pleasant Ridge, Fulton Co., Pa, has a little girl who is frequently threatened with croup, but when the first symptoms appear, his wife gives her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which always affords prompt relief. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

NEW SEALSKIN LAW

Terms of the Exclusion Act Signed and in Force.

RIGID IN REQUIREMENTS

Certificates Under Oath and Examinations Will Be Required to Guard Against Imports of Barred Skins or Garments Into This Country.

Washington, Dec. 31.—The Secretary of the Treasury, with the approval of the President, has issued regulations under the act signed Wednesday, prohibiting the taking of sealskins by American citizens except on the Pribylof Islands, and inhibiting the importation into this country of pelagic sealskins.

The regulations provide that no sealskins, raw, dressed, dyed or otherwise manufactured, shall be admitted to entry in the United States except there be attached to the invoice a certificate signed by the United States Consul at the place of exportation that said skins were not taken from seals killed within the waters mentioned in said act, specifying in detail the locality of such taking, whether on land or at sea, and also the person from whom said skins were purchased in their raw and dressed state, the date of such purchase and lot number.

Consuls shall require satisfactory evidence of the truth of such facts by oath or otherwise before giving any such certificate. It is further provided that no fur sealskins, raw, dressed, dyed, or otherwise manufactured, shall be admitted to entry as part of a passenger's personal effects, unless accompanied by an invoice certified by the United States Consul.

All fur sealskins, whether raw, dressed, dyed or otherwise manufactured, the invoices of which are not accompanied by the certificate above prescribed, are directed to be seized by the collector of customs and destroyed.

Every article manufactured in whole or in part from fur sealskins, to be imported into the United States, is required to have legibly stamped thereon the name of the manufacturer and the place of manufacture and shall be accompanied by a statement in writing, under oath of the manufacturer, that the skins used in said article were taken from seals not killed at sea within the proscribed waters mentioned, specifying the locality in details, and also the person from whom said skins were purchased in their raw and dressed state, the date of said purchase and the lot number.

It is also provided that when an application is made to a Consul for a certificate under these regulations the invoice and proofs of origin presented by the exporter shall be submitted to the Treasury agent designated for the purpose of investigation.

All articles manufactured from sealskin, and imported into the United States, shall have the linings so arranged that pelt of the skin, or skins underneath, shall be exposed for examination, and all such skins or articles, whether imported as merchandise or as part of a passenger's effects, are required to be sent to the Public Stores for careful examination and inspection, to prevent evasion of the law.

All garments of this character taken from the country may be re-entered on presentation of a certificate of ownership from the Collector of Customs of the port of departure, which certificate shall have been obtained by the owner of the garment by offering the same to the collector for inspection before leaving this country.

In speaking of the scope of these regulations, Assistant Secretary Howell said that neither the law nor the regulations would be made to apply either to skins or garments made of skins shipped to the United States and actually on the ocean Wednesday morning, Dec. 29, the time the act was signed by the President. Evidence of the time of shipment, however, would be required.

M'KENNA WILL BE CONFIRMED.

Storm of Protests Has Little Influence Upon Senators.

Washington, Dec. 31.—It seems probable that in spite of the storm of protests against Joseph McKenna, his nomination as Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court will be confirmed.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, to which the nomination was referred, has more than forty judicial nominations before it, and a special meeting may be held next Thursday. The McKenna case will be the first taken up.

A prominent member of the committee said yesterday that not a Senator had been found who antagonized the nomination in such a way as to lead to the belief that he would vote against confirmation.

Only One Hope Left.

Atlanta, Dec. 31.—The Supreme Court of the United States has just refused an application for a new trial for Mrs Elizabeth Nobles, convicted of the murder of her husband, on the ground that the question of insanity was never brought up.

She is, therefore, under sentence of death from the Superior Court of the State, and the only hope of saving her life rests with the newly created Pardon Board, to whom all applications for executive clemency have been referred. The crime was committed in June, 1895 and her accomplice was a negro.

14 Years for Killing Father-in-Law.

White Plains, Dec. 31.—James Kelly, of Lewisboro, was yesterday afternoon sentenced to fourteen years and six months' imprisonment in Sing Sing for killing his father-in-law, Charles Mead. Kelly eloped with Mead's daughter. When the runaway couple returned there was a row, during which Kelly shot and killed Mead. He was convicted of manslaughter in the second degree.

Shaw Pleads Not Guilty.

Camden, N. J., Dec. 31.—Eli Shaw, when arraigned yesterday, pleaded not guilty to two indictments charging him with the murder of his mother and grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Shaw and Mrs. Emma Zane. His trial will begin on Monday and will probably take a week or more.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

At midnight tonight, the year 1897 will pass away and the year 1898 will catch its first glimpse of the world. The departing year has brought both pleasure and pain into the world; it has seen many strange and wonderful things. In Plainfield it has been an eventful year. There have been many changes in the city during the last twelve months, many new people and things have risen to prominence. Especially has it been a year to be remembered in municipal affairs. A movement of disatisfaction, which smouldered for many months, finally burst into flame before the charter election and the Citizens' ticket, the outgrowth of the movement, carried everything before it. In the social life of the city, the Spielkarfenfest was the greatest event of the year. It left behind it pleasant memories that will be treasured in the hearts of the good people in Plainfield for many a day and a welcome addition to the treasury of Muhlenberg Hospital.

And now, in the last days of the last month, we see a movement, with energetic spirits behind it, for the advancement of the industrial and commercial growth of the city—the plan for a new Board of Trade. As yet too early to predict what it will exactly accomplish, it has the air of enterprise and aggressiveness that mean much.

The year has been a banner one in the career of The Daily Press. It has retained its independence and won many to its support by its fair and honorable treatment of all questions that have come in its path. The Press has grown in circulation and influence during the last twelve months and has extended its domains by the addition of Westfield and Lincoln, where The Daily Press is now as eagerly sought after each evening as in Plainfield. The Press has advocated many reforms for the improvement of the city and borough, and many of them have finally been adopted, or are in a fair way to win recognition in the near future.

The Press has much to thank the Plainfield and North Plainfield merchants for in their liberal support of its advertising columns, which now teem with up-to-date advertisements, and the good people of the city and borough for the long list of subscribers that now fill our books. Our constant effort during the new year will be to give our friends and patrons every advantage that enterprise and careful management can secure. And so, dear readers, we bid farewell to 1897, and wish you all a Happy New Year.

No Daily Press will be issued tomorrow.

SHOPLIFTER CAUGHT.

A Prominent Society Woman Detected Stealing in a Local Store.

The employes at J. W. Gavett's store had an encounter with a shoplifter yesterday. The woman, who is well known in social circles in this city, was seen to conceal a piece of china under her cloak and soon afterward left the store. One of the clerks of the establishment followed the shoplifter across the street and into the postoffice, where she stopped to place the stolen article in her handbag. The clerk stepped up and cooly inquired of the woman whether she wished to pay for the article or to have it charged.

The knowlege that she had been detected in the theft caused the woman much embarrassment. She sent the article back to the store later in the afternoon.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

The condition of Mrs. Stevens is reported as being much better.

Mrs. John Tingley is much improved from her severe illness.

Geo. Schroppe, of North Plainfield, was the guest of friends in town yesterday.

Merle Larrabee, of Mystic, Conn., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Larrabee.

Miss May Apgar has returned from a visit with her sister, Mrs. Sherman Cooley, of Flemington.

Ludlow Frazee has finished the work of painting the house owned and occupied by Isaac Stites.

Miss Edna A. Demarest, of Newark, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Schenck, of Jackson avenue.

Samuel Richardson, of North avenue, remembered several of his friends this week by presenting them with boxes of cigars.

Mr. Lusardi, of Newark, was in town yesterday, looking after the interests of Alex. Lusardi, whose place was burned Wednesday evening.

Miss Louise Ayres, of Westerly, R. I., who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Miller, of Watchung avenue, Plainfield, was the guest of friends in the borough yesterday.

Randolph Clawson, of Church street, fell on some ice a few days ago and sustained severe injuries that detains him at home. His condition, however, is not serious, and he will soon be out again.

The following Sunday-school officers have been elected at the M. E. church: Superintendent, George Schenck; assistant superintendent, T. J. Todd; secretary, R. M. Apgar; treasurer, Alfred Apgar; organist, Miss Emma Apgar.

At the meeting of the Borough Council next Monday evening the trolley ordinance will be adopted by sections. It will not, however, be adopted on its third reading until the February meeting of the Council. The ordinance relating to the introduction of water in the borough will be adopted on its third reading next Monday evening.

Several boroughites who passed Alex. Lusardi's place of business last Wednesday evening, say that they saw a lamp burning in the store, and it seems to be the general opinion that the lamp was the cause of the fire. It was at first thought, as stated yesterday, that the fire was caused by the stove, but this theory is not very strong at present. Wm. A. Woodruff, Plainfield's popular insurance agent, held the policy on the building and contents and not J. C. Pope & Co., as previously stated. The insurance was adjusted yesterday afternoon by Mr. Woodruff.

At the meeting of Wm. G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held last Tuesday evening the following officers were elected: Councilor, Frank Humpstone; vice-councilor, Harry Dodwell; conductor, Fred Herlick; warden, John Smalley; inside sentinel, George Apgar; outside sentinel, Jacob Snell; trustees, Adam Herlick; Louis Snyder; representative to State Council, J. Newton Apgar; representative to the Funeral Benefit Association, Frank Humpstone. The members of the council have written to State Secretary Mier and asked him to install the officers at the meeting to be held a week from next Tuesday. If Mr. Mier cannot attend, the officers will be installed at the next meeting.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Mrs. Braker is confined to the house with the grip.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., met last evening

The regular meeting of Goodwill Lodge, K. of P., will be held this evening.

A special church meeting will be held in the Baptist church Tuesday evening.

A number of Scotch Plains sports attended a cocking main held at Stony Hill Monday evening.

Fanwood Council, Royal Arcanum, have been invited to attend a public installation given by Cranford Council Tuesday evening, January 4th.

THE SUNDAY LESSON.

INTERNATIONAL SERIES, WITH COMMENTARY BY DR. STEARNS.

Golden Text—This is my beloved Son, in Whom I am well pleased.—Matt. iii 17.
Jan. 2, 1898.

Let me at the beginning of our study of the gospel by Matthew, in which we are to continue for six months, quote a few pregnant sentences from "Studies in the Gospels," by Rev. Henry G. Weston, D. D.: "The Bible is a history of the contest between Christ and satan for man and his dwelling place; of redemption provided by God proceeding from His love, with love determining the method and the end. The gospels are the history of that part of redemption which was wrought by the Lord Jesus Christ in His earthly life, death, burial and resurrection. The point of view of and the purpose in each gospel determine in every case what shall be inserted and omitted. The Old Testament closes with the Jewish nation looking for the fulfillment of the prophecies of a king who shall reign in righteousness, under whom the earth shall be filled with the glory of the Lord. Matthew is the gospel of the Jewish king rejected, resulting in the rejection of the nation, until the church, His body, shall be gathered out of all nations. In the Old Testament God is for His people; in the gospels He is with His people; in the Epistles He is in His people. These three, God for us, God with us, God in us, are the method and the end of the Divine dealing, holiness eternal in the heavens, incarnate on earth, embodied in the saints."

7. "O generation of vipers who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come." Chapter i. gives the genealogy of the King from Abraham to Joseph, the husband of Mary, who was of the royal line through Solomon, son of David. Luke iii. gives the genealogy of Mary, but through Nathan, the son of David. Math., i., 1, declares that Jesus Christ is the inheritor and fulfiller of all things promised to David and Abraham.

8. "Bring forth therefore fruits meet for repentance," or, as in the margin, "answerable to amendment of life." Paul's preaching also was, "Repent and turn to God and do works meet for repentance" (Acts xxvi., 20). The teaching of all Scripture is that by nature we are away from God; God is calling us to come to Him, even as He called Adam from his hiding place in the garden, and has ever since been seeking lost sinners. When we turn to Him, He receives us graciously, forgives us freely and makes us His children through Jesus' blood.

9. "And think not to say within yourselves, "We have Abraham to our Father." Even to our Lord Himself these people said proudly, "We be Abraham's seed," but He replied, "If ye were Abraham's children, ye would do the works of Abraham," and then He told them very plainly, "Ye are of your father, the devil" (John viii., 33, 39, 44). It will not do for us to say, "I am a member of the church, I have been baptized, my people are all Christians, I do the best I can," etc., as if any of these could save us. There must be a true reception of Jesus Christ as our own personal Saviour and a wholehearted reliance upon His merits only.

10. "Every tree which bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down and cast into the fire." Both in the Old Testament and in the New the believer is compared to a tree. See Ps. i., 3; Jer. xvii., 8, and compare our Lord's words in Math. xv., 13, "Every plant which my Heavenly Father hath not planted shall be rooted up."

11. "He shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and with fire." John sought not honor for himself, but he loved to point to the mightier than he, whose shoes he was not worthy to bear. We have not the right spirit if we ever seek any glory for ourselves. Repentance and the forgiveness of sins are God's free gift and make us to be surely saved, but being saved we must be filled with the Spirit in order to serve Him and bear the fruit which will be to His glory and make manifest that we are His.

12. "Whose fan is in His hand, and He will thoroughly purge His floor and gather His wheat into the garner, but He will burn up the chaff with unquenchable fire." May there not be some reference here to the fire of the last verse? Compare the harvest time of chapter xiii., 40-43. I have heard people pray for the fire, and I have wondered if they were even ready for the Spirit.

13. "Then cometh Jesus from Galilee to Jordan unto John, to be baptized of him." Consider where He had been for the last eighteen years since He said to His mother at Jerusalem, "I must be about my Father's business." He had certainly been about that business, but how and where? In the humble home and carpenter's shop of Nazareth, subject to Joseph and Mary, willing and obedient and waiting God's time for public work. We need to lay this to heart also.

14. "But John forbade Him, saying, I have need to be baptized of Thee, and comest Thou to me." So John was ever humble and ready to lay himself at Jesus' feet. When they told John a little later that all men were following Jesus, he replied, "I am not the Christ, but sent before Him; the friend of the bridegroom rejoiceth because of the bridegroom's voice; this my joy therefore is fulfilled" (John iii., 26-29). Just a voice; anything or nothing if only Christ is magnified.

15. "And Jesus answering said unto him, "Suffer it to be so now, for thus it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness." This was His consecration to His public work, a life of constant and manifest death to self that He might glorify God, manifest and declare His Name and fulfill all that had been written of Himself in the law, the prophets and the Psalms. As His witnesses there is no other way for us than self renunciation.

16. "Lo, the heavens were opened unto Him, and He saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and lighting upon Him." Heaven is always witnessing what is going on on the earth, and, though there may be no outward manifestation as here, yet it is even so.

17. "And, lo, a voice from heaven, saying, This is My Beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased." It is written in Luke iii., 21, that Jesus was praying and in John i., 32, that the Spirit abode upon Him. Here are very plainly the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. The Spirit must have been always in Christ, but here is a special ministry of the Spirit at the beginning of His public work.

Sweeping Reductions

in the

Cloak Department.

We do not intend to carry over any stock, therefore we begin early to cut prices on every cloak in the house.

The Misses' and Children's cloaks have been reduced, there are only about a dozen styles left, and in nearly every line the sizes run from 4 to 18 years.

This price-cutting in midwinter gives late cloak buyers a splendid opportunity to purchase reliable garments at a great saving.

NOTICE TO ALL INTERESTED IN UP-TO-DATE LAUNDRY WORK.

We run the laundry and take care of all details, but you "boss" it. We do what you tell us to do. It may give you a new sensation to find that you get a domestic finish when you ask for it, and to discover that your collars are actually ironed in the way that the maker intended them to be ironed.

We are running a laundry with the most improved methods and appliances. We use pure water and good soap. We are using two things that are not commonly used in laundries—care and intelligence. If you have found a laundry that pleases you perfectly, we have nothing to say to you. If you have any reason to be dissatisfied, we would like to give you a practical demonstration of our way of running a laundry.

Tell us where and when to call for your work, when you want it delivered, and let us know any particular thing that you would like to have done with it.

We want you to understand that we are running this laundry for you, and that your wishes are to be regarded in every particular. We will give you just exactly what you want, if we can find out what that is. Perhaps you believe that it is impossible to have your laundry well handled without irritation and annoyance to you. We are sure that you are mistaken. May we have an opportunity of demonstrating it?

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Township of Fanwood, } ss.
County of Union }

Public notice is hereby given that application by petition has been made to the Mayor and Council of the Borough of Fanwood for the consent of said Mayor and Council to construct a street railway over and upon the following streets and avenues in said Borough; Park avenue, Midway avenue, Forrest avenue and North avenue; that said petition has been presented by the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, a corporation organized under the laws of this State; that said petition was filed with the Clerk of the Borough of Fanwood, on the twenty third day of December, 1897; that the road intended to be constructed, operated and maintained, is a double track street railway and the motive power to be used thereon is electricity to be supplied from overhead wires, supported by poles, and the streets through which the same shall extend, are as above mentioned.

The Mayor and Council of the Borough of Fanwood has fixed Monday, the tenth day of January, at eight o'clock in the evening as the time and the Fanwood Fire House in the said Borough of Fanwood as the place in which said Mayor and Council will consider said application and will give a public hearing to all persons interested therein.

The Mayor and Council of the Borough of Fanwood.

Extraordinary After-Holiday Sale

—Something hitherto unknown in furniture and carpet lines. After this our greatest of all holiday seasons, we find odd lines, single sets and not to be duplicated patterns in both furniture and carpets—they will not be held over, altho' new and good. A great sale meant to awaken attention and bring all New Jersey's closest buyers to our doors has been planned—'tis now in full sway. It's of a great stock, embracing much of the cream of holiday lines, all newly marked

At Prices with No Profit to 'Em

—honest, actual wholesale cost to us. Yet we'd rather have the cash and room for full Spring lines than the goods themselves.

CORBETT ISSUES A CHALLENGE.

Offers to Give Fitzsimmons $1,000 When He Signs Articles.

Cincinnati, Dec. 31.—James J. Corbett yesterday afternoon issued a remarkable challenge to Robert Fitzsimmons. Corbett offers Fitzsimmons $1,000 the day that Fitz signs articles of agreement; $1,000 when he steps into the ring; $1,000 if he lasts ten rounds, and $2,000 if Corbett wins, to prove, as Corbett puts it, that he is not an ungenerous foe. The challenge was forwarded to Fitzsimmons this afternoon.

Accompanying the challenge is a deposit of $1,000 to guarantee that Corbett will fulfill all the conditions of his challenge. Another condition is that if Fitzsimmons whips him Corbett will concede him to be the champion pugilist of the world and retire from the ring forever.

Corbett and Fitz Will Surely Fight.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—Tom O'Rourke makes a sensational allegation in the Corbett-Fitzsimmons paper duel now being waged in Chicago and elsewhere. Before leaving for New York O'Rourke said:

"Corbett and Fitzsimmons are paving the way for a return battle already agreed upon. The talk about McCoy, Choynski and Maher is all a blind. Corbett and Fitzsimmons will meet again, and Corbett will win. The men understand each other. They are getting a world of advertising now, and when the match is made they will reap a rich harvest."

O'Rourke added that while in San Francisco he learned the inside of the Carson City fight and the future plans of Corbett and Fitzsimmons.

CANADA TO AID MINERS.

Will Act with Our Navy Department for Klondike Relief.

Washington, Dec. 31.—The arrangements effected between Mr. Sifton, in behalf of Canada, and the War Department, contemplates that the relief expedition shall be executed jointly by the United States Army and a force of the mounted police of Canada, which constitutes the military arm of the Dominion. The United States force will proceed with the relief stores to Skaguay, where they will be joined by the Canadian mounted police, about forty in number, and the two forces will then proceed together to the points where the relief is to be distributed.

The determination as to Skaguay is, however, still open. The Canadian officials concede much latitude to the American authorities in the actual distribution, recognizing that the expedition is fitted out on this side, although a considerable part of the work will be done on the Canadian side of the border. No duties will be imposed on the stores carried by the relief expedition.

Mr. Sifton also held a conference with Secretary Gage and discussed the unsatisfactory condition of customs regulations along the border and at coast ports where goods are received by one country for transportation to the other country. It was the mutual feeling that an improvement of the system could be made and negotiations are in progress which are hoped to effect changes advantageously to both sides.

Fourth-Class Postmasters.

Washington, Dec. 31.—Postmasters have been appointed as follows:

Connecticut — Roxbury, Litchfield County, G. W. Hurlburt.

New Jersey—Harrisonville, Gloucester, J. S. Stewart.

New York—Arden, Orange, William Viner; Colliersville, Otsego, P. R. Southworth; Farmersville, Cattaraugus, Russell Hubbard; Fishkill Plains, Dutchess, W. Bonney; Jeffersonville, Sullivan, Conrad Metzger; Unionville, Orange, S. C. Hayne; Venice Center, Cayuga, A. M. Sisson.

Pennsylvania—Arendtsville, Adams, J. C. D. Lower; Center Bridge, Bucks, Mrs. Mary Bowlby; Markleysburg, Fayette, Francis Morrison; Shoemakersville, Berks, H. S. Madeira.

Post Office at Westlake, Sussex County, New Jersey, has been discontinued.

Criticise the Sealing Bill.

London, Dec. 31.—The Standard and the Daily News indulge in sarcastic comments as to the probable increase in the cost of sealskin garments in America owing to the new legislation. The Daily News asks what the shopkeepers will say when they find fair Americans coming to London for sealskin jackets. It adds:

"The bill seems hardly made for enforcement; more likely it is intended to cover a diplomatic retreat."

National Bank for Alaska.

Washington, Dec. 31.—Application has been made to the Comptroller of the Currency by S. P. Young, of San Francisco, for the necessary papers preliminary to the establishment of a national bank in Alaska. The letter received from Mr. Young does not indicate in what town the new banking institution is to be located.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Water is very scarce in Kansas, and in some parts of the State it has to be hauled many miles.

Prince Bismarck's physicians have advised him to abstain from all work for some time to come.

John R. McLean has decided not to leave Washington to take part in the Ohio Senatorial contest.

The French physician, Apostoli, has prevented bad effects from the use of X rays by grounding the metallic circuit.

The cost of the famine in India is officially announced as $6,000,000, irrespective of charitable contributions of $8,750,000.

It was reported in Ottawa that the British Government is making active preparations to resist Russian occupation of Port Arthur.

President McKinley has accepted the invitation to attend the banquet of the National Association of Manufacturers in New York next month.

Heavy rain and melting mountain snow have caused floods in Western Washington, the damage from which is estimated at $1,000,000.

Governor Taylor, of Tennessee, has called an extra session of the Legislature to elect a United States Senator and look after seventeen other subjects.

Contractor George W. Green, colored, and worth $100,000, was fatally hurt by explosion of dynamite which he thawed before a fire at New Rochelle, N. Y., yesterday.

MR. MORRISON OUT TO-MORROW.

The Fight Against Ex-Judge Paxson Still Bitterly Waged.

Washington, Dec. 31.—The term of office of William R. Morrison, Interstate Commerce Commissioner, expires to-night, and there will be a vacancy in the Commission until Congress meets and acts upon the nomination of ex-Judge Paxson, which the President will make soon after the Senate convenes. The law does not allow Mr. Morrison to hold over until his successor is appointed.

The fight against Judge Paxson is still bitter. Senator Morgan, in his last interview with the President, again pressed the claims of Daniel T. Littler, of Illinois, who is Senator Cullom's candidate for that position. The President is very anxious to please the Illinois Senators, especially Mr. Cullom, to whom he has already offered the vacancy.

Mr. Cullom under no circumstances will accept the place. His present term in the Senate will not expire until 1901, and the redistricting of his State will probably insure the election of a Republican Legislature that will probably elect him his own successor.

THE GREATER NEW YORK BALL.

An Affair That Promises to Outdo London and Even Paris Expected.

New York, Dec. 31.—The Ball to celebrate the Inauguration of Greater New York, to be held in Madson Square Garden to-night is expected to cast in the shade any fancy dress spectacular ball ever attempted in this country. Besides the prizes offered for the handsomest women, prettiest costumes and best sustained characters, many novelties will be introduced. The promoter has attended the Covent ball of London, the Grand Prix in Paris, and desires to let New Yorkers see something of an even more elaborate character. There have been engaged one hundred professional dancers to take part in quadrilles at intervals during the night. These dancers will not be of the cheap roof garden type.

A handsome perfumed fountain will be erected. There will be a contest of French throw aways and a flower fight. One of the features of the entertainment will be a calcium quadrille. For this event the Garden will be darkened and powerful calcium lights with all the hues of the rainbow will be showered on the dancers.

SILVER MEN TO CONTROL.

Democratic Congressional Committee to Be Reorganized After Recess.

Washington, Dec. 31.—Soon after the reassembling of Congress the Democratic Congressional Committee will be reorganized. Both Senator Faulkner, the present chairman, and Lawrence Gardiner, the secretary of the Executive Committee, are to be replaced, according to the present plans. It is understood that Mr. Faulkner does not wish to be retained.

The reorganization will place the management of the campaign securely in the hands of the ultra-Chicago platform men. Representatives Richardson, of Tennessee, and Hinrichsen, of Illinois, are candidates to succeed Senator Faulkner. Richardson contemplates being a candidate for Speaker of the next House, if the Democrats should carry it. It is likely, therefore, that he will not be placed at the head of the committee, and that Hinrichsen will be chosen.

House Republican Caucus.

Washington, Dec. 31.—It is understood that the Republican members of the House will caucus during the second week in January. An effort will be made to bring about an understanding relative to the civil-service reform question, and to take some action which will prevent the introduction of a bill by the anti-reform men to change the law. Seventy Republicans have announced their opposition to the present system, but as there are 202 Republicans in the House, those who are content with prevailing conditions are in a large majority. The caucus will name the members of the Congressional Campaign Committee.

Legislation for Alaska.

Washington, Dec. 31.—The Senate and House Committees on Public Lands and on Territories are at work on legislation for Alaska, preparing the way for action by the two houses. The matter has been talked over in committees and there will be some decisive action shortly after the holiday recess. The chief problem is to provide for a better government. Secretary Bliss recommended in his annual report that Alaska be made a regular organized territory. The sentiment of the committee is that the time is not yet ripe.

Big Safe Works Closed.

Hamilton, O., Dec. 31.—The large works of the Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Company have been closed on orders from Judge Neilon, who appointed D. D. Fittou receiver for the company last week. On orders from the court Receiver Fittou borrowed the money to pay all the employes and the announcement was made to the large force of workmen that the plant would be closed indefinitely.

An Iowa Bank Closes.

Oskaloosa, Ia., Dec. 31.—The Farmers' and Traders' State Bank closed its doors yesterday. The following card from the directors was displayed: "This bank will receive no more deposits, but will at once pay its depositors in full as fast as their claims may be presented." The bank has found business unprofitable and the stockholders decided to quit.

Killed a Woman with His Fist.

Cincinnati, Dec. 31.—A Millwood, W. Va., special says news is received there that James McCoy of Mud Run, near Ripley, killed his sister-in-law, Miss Shamblin, by a blow of his fist. He had forbidden her to go to school, but she took her books and started. He followed and struck her a heavy blow on the neck, killing her instantly. He has not been arrested.

Colorado Mines Close Down.

Denver, Colo., Dec. 31.—As a result of an order by an executive committee of the Miners' Union of Colorado, calling upon the men to demand higher wages or strike, the Rex Coal Mining Company has closed down its two mines at Louisville, throwing between 200 and 300 men out of employment.

"BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW."

Do you ever ask yourself why you keep chickens?

Is it for pleasure? If so, would not a little profit add to the pride and pleasure?

Possibly it is because you wish to be sure of absolutely fresh eggs on your table. If so, would you not prefer to get the eggs during the winter rather than in the spring, "when everybody's eggs are fresh?"

We can make bricks in these days without straw, but no one can make hens lay eggs in the winter months unless he supplies special foods and care.

We aim to carry in our different stores everything that is necessary for the "Business Hen"—that is, the hen that pays for her board—and we would be pleased to hear from either large or small poultry raisers.

Among other things we would suggest:

Granulated Charcoal,	Poultry Feed,
Ground Oyster Shells,	Buckwheat Grain,
Chicken & Pigeon Grit,	Barley,
Granulated Bone,	Hemp Seed,
Meat Meal,	Millet Seed,
Clover Heads,	Sheridan's Powder.

SCIENCE AT DREXEL INSTITUTE.

An Interesting Talk by Miss Ellen Rushmore Before the Young Friends.

Miss Ellen Rushmore, of Drexel Institute, entertained the Young Friends' Association and their guests Wednesday evening at the meeting-house with a delightful talk on domestic science.

She gave a brief account of the founding of Drexel and Pratt Institutes, and of the courses of study pursued there. Their great success was due to the growing conviction that there was need of more practical equipment for the struggle of life.

Miss Rushmore then described in detail the work done by students of domestic science at Drexel. Besides the practical work, instruction is given in the chemical composition and nutritive value of different articles of food, and their comparative cost, also a special study of dietary for the sick.

The public schools of Philadelphia, where girls from eleven to fourteen years of age receive instruction in domestic science, furnish opportunities for observing methods of teaching, and later in the course, students have classes of their own, inmates of various charitable institutions of the city, who gladly avail themselves of this privilege.

That the importance of manual training is being more generally recognized, is evinced by the fact that demands by public schools for teachers in branches of this work are rapidly increasing. At present the west is in advance of the east in this respect.

At the conclusion of her remarks, Miss Rushmore gave a demonstration of chocolate making, and those present bore ample testimony to its excellency.

THEATRICAL.

Morrison's company will be at Stillman Music Hall Tuesday of next week in Bayle Bernard's version of Gothe's immortal "Faust."

For an evening of good laughter and a sure cure for the blues, one could not find a more enjoyable medium than Chas. E. Blaney's "A Railroad Ticket," with two of the cleverest farce comedy stars on the stage today—Burt Haverly and Laura Biggar. This attraction will be seen at Stillman Music Hall Monday night.

On New Year's Day everyone likes to be happy, and the way to have that spirit pervade your mind is to spend the day in a pleasant manner. What will be finer, then, than after your New Year's dinner to attend the comic opera performance at Music Hall tomorrow afternoon and night. A different programme is presented at each performance. The company is said to be a creditable one.

NEW GOLF LINKS NOW.

PLAINFIELD'S POPULAR CLUB MAKES A RADICAL CHANGE.

Present Clubhouse and Grounds Not Large Enough and 101 Acres of Fine Farm Land Have Now Been Leased.

The members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club were out in force last evening. For some time past there has been in the air rumors of radical changes in the arrangements for the coming year and everyone was interested.

George A. Chapman, the president of the club, presided over the meeting and explained at length what the trustees had done. The interest in golf has increased to such an extent that the present course on Plainfield avenue has become inadequate. Saturdays and holidays last summer it was overcrowded and there was no remedy for it. A great many persons were unable to enter the club simply because there was no room for more players. After carefully investigating all the available farms in the neighborhood, the trustees finally leased the farm of Dayton L. Melick on Woodland avenue, just south of the cemetery. This covers about 85 acres of land and includes a house and barn. Adjoining this on the south they have leased 16 acres from John Melick. Each of these leases is for five years from March 1st, 1898, and includes an option to the club to purchase the properties for $10,000 and $1,215, respectively.

Several amendments to the constitution were adopted. Heretofore any member of an active member's family had the privilege of playing on the course. This privilege has been withdrawn and in place of it any member of an active member's family may be elected to associate membership, paying annual dues of $3. In this way all persons using the course will contribute something to the expenses.

Provision was also made for non-resident members with dues of $12 a year and no initiation fee. Several other minor changes were also made. The new course will be laid out as soon as possibe, but the old course will be maintained until the new one is ready.

BACHELORS CHAGRINED.

dicts know that they are going to be victorious on that occasion. The members of the club are anxiously awaiting the next game for somebody must be suffering under a delusion.

There was some talk about destroying the scores or killing the reporters so that the scores should not be published. They are given below, however, with the request that they be viewed charitably:

STARVATION IN CUBA

Spanish Correspondent Tells Horrible Stories of Misery.

LUIS DELGADO MURDERED

Said to Have Been Assassinated by Agents of the Government—Gen. Pando Meeting with Many Serious Obstacles—Food for the Sufferers.

Havana, Cuba, Dec. 31.—The correspondent of the Madrid Imparcial, who has ridden over a greater part of the island, writes to his paper that he saw at St. Jose Lajas, this province, 4,500 reconcentrados thrown into the streets or dying in wretched huts, mere living skeletons. He states that 10,000 have died within a year. Most of the reconcentrados, he says, do not care to work when they leave their homes. They carried with them all their belongings, and have gradually sold these. Their physical strength is wasted, and they need a helping hand to lift them even from the gutter.

Great Suffering.

Correspondents of El Diario de la Marina describe the horrible misery, due to fevers and sickness, in Santa Clara. Many are abandoned without shelter or medical assistance. The winter season increases the suffering among them. The women are half nude, with their naked infants wasted with cold and hunger.

The insurgents have burned 15,000 tons of sugar cane on the plantations Santa Rita and Andrea, and large fields at Bermejo, Matanzas Province; in all, it is estimated, 30,000 tons.

General Bernal, in Pinar del Rio, ordered several companies to engage groups of insurgents, but the troops met bands, some of 150, others of 250 men and experienced unusual loss. The bands are augmented by pacificos and concentrados who have lately joined the insurgents. Gen. Bernal ordered several men to be shot who were capturned after joining the insurgents.

A party of 200 infantry and twenty cavalry under Col. Raoul Arango has gone eastward on a commission. The Spanish forces have had several skirmishes at the Delicias Farm with the insurgents under Gen. Maximo Gomez. Gen. Alejandro Rodriguez has left the neighborhood of Havana and gone to Limetes, Matanzas, where he is awaiting the arrival from Santa Clara of 1,500 cavalry under Brig.-Gens. Suarez and Candenas.

Luis Delgado Killed.

On Sunday last, in this province, Leader Luis Delgado was assassinated by two of his neighbors, who had induced him to confer with them. It is supposed they were government agents.

At La Gaya farm, in the southern part of Puerto Principe, the insurgents established over a month ago a well-fortified camp, built two houses for offices, began to collect horses and reconstructed forty-five miles of telephone line to La Luisa farm, the camp of Leader Menocal, who commands the insurgent forces at Las Tunas.

Gen. Pando, failing to continue his march into the insurgent stronghold, in eastern Cuba, on account of insurmountable obstacles, has been compelled to construct a military line and posts along the River Cauto to Bayamo. He reports an extensive zone, sheltering thousands of insurgents, which cannot be invaded, as he has no posts to supply his troops with food.

Obeying the orders of Gen. Blanco, Lorenzo Cordero left Pinar del Rio for the camp of Gen. Mayia Rodriguez and Col. Perico Diaz. They refused to allow him to speak of politics under penalty of death. Then he tried to remain with the insurgents, but was compelled to return to the city.

According to a report from Spanish sources at Esperanza, Santa Clara, a party of insurgents fired into that town on Saturday night. Bullets struck a number of residences, and one bullet went through the sleeve of Senorita Valdes, daughter of the Mayor of the town.

Weyler's Address to the Queen.

Madrid, Spain, Dec. 31.—Gen. Weyler in his memorial to the Queen Regent on the subject of President McKinley's message to Congress, says he is honored by the attacks made upon him, and his conduct as Governor-General, he insists, was that of a soldier animated by honor and patriotism.

Such attacks, he says, will do him no harm, as they are aimed at him simply because he has done his duty. He continues, however, that "since the message contained insulting observations on the Spanish troops in Cuba," he believed it to be his duty to address a protest to the Crown.

Gen. Weyler affirms that the so-called pacificos whom he concentrated in the fortified districts were the prime abettors of the rebellion.

Death of Mrs. Bogart.

The death of Mrs. Joseph M. Bogart, of 306 East Sixth street, occurred this morning after a serious illness lasting about one year. The deceased was 54 years old, and was born in London, England. She came to this country when young and has lived for the most part in Plainfield and Somerville.

She leaves three daughters, a son and a husband. The funeral services will be held Monday afternoon next at 2:30 from the house on East Sixth street.

Case Decided in Favor of Boy.

The contract case of Howell Thatcher, "by his next friend," Lawyer Angleman, against Charles Debele, was tried yesterday afternoon before Borough Recorder Thomas. The defendant was represented by Lawyers McNabb & Clark. No new evidence was submitted from that offered last week, but the jury was out only fifteen minutes when it returned with a verdict of $108 and costs in favor of the boy.

—There will be open house at Hope chapel on New Year's Day, and the usual turkey dinner will be served from 2 until 8 o'clock p. m.

Being Certain!

We know that many people who have bought Pianos from us have come here with the idea that knowing nothing about Pianos themselves, they could put their trust in our judgement and feel safe.

Good reputation is a first requisite in business, especially a Piano buiness; and our reputation is so good that we have yet to hear of a buyer of one of our Pianos who wasn't perfectly satisfied.
